Pearson's Foreign Policy Is Attacked

OTTAWA (CP)—The government faces Commons non-confidence votes on its foreign policy today while pressing at the United Nations for fresh international action in the Middle East crisis.

Both Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin informed the Commons Tuesday that the government is seeking some form of UN intervention to replace the emergency force now being pulled out of the Egyptian - Israeli border area.

The non - confidence motions came Tuesday as the Commons began a two-day money supply debate that threw open the door for a full-fledged foreign policy debate opposition MPs had been seeking.

Mr. Pearson confirmed reports that Canada is suggesting expansion of the UN Truce Supervisory Organization in Jerusalem and shifting some of its personnel to the Egyptian-Israeli border.

The organization now has some 120 observers and is charged with checking the Israeli borders with Syria and Jordan. It has supervised the truce along these borders since 1949.

The UN Emergency Force, disbanded last week by UN Secretary-General U Thant at the demand of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, had been stationed on the U.A.R.'s frontier with Israel since 1956.

Mr. Martin put it this way: "The UN Truce and Supervisory Organization . . . has certain powers under the mixed armistice commissions created by the Security Council which she would enable it, together with certain other powers, to act as an effective international presence and a UN body to keep the peace between conflicting parties."

Mr. Martin also said he had suggested to Mr. Thant that UNEF might be reconstituted in some form.

The Tories non-confidence motion, from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, criticized the government for ignoring repeated Commons requests for a debate on international problems which are so serious and dangerous that they could lead to World War III." It also criticizes the government for failing to make clear and unequivocally policies on Asia and the Middle East.

David Lewis (NDP — York South) proposed a sub-amendment taking on these words: "And in particular, this House regrets that the government has failed to do, everything in its power to press the United States to stop the bombing of North Vietnam, as a necessary preliminary to negotiations to end the war in Vietnam."

Mr. Lewis said the first part of his sub-amendment "is taken word for word from the admirable speech made on May 15 by the president of the privy council (Walter Gordon) requesting the stopping of the bombing by the United States."

To earlier Commons questioning, Defence Minister Hellyer said the 800 - man Canadian UNEF contingent will be among the last to be withdrawn from Egypt's Gaza Strip. The withdrawal might take several weeks. Present plans call for the troops to return to Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the UN force was contaminated by the order to disband and Egyptian troops now dominated the western bank of the Gulf of Aqaba. The U.A.R. had ordered total mobilization of its 150,000-man army reserve and had a regular army of some 175,000 within Egypt and 40,000 in Yemen.

"I think that one of the major reasons for the terrible danger we now face in consequence of what is taking place in the Middle East is the direct result of the Vietnam situation.

"In the Middle East Nasser has predicted that the time is opportune for him to re-establish himself again as the leader of the Arab countries."

An alternative UN force had to be set up or the world organization would become impotent. The UN had spent its time last week passing resolutions and debating about Article 19 "yet the problem facing the world has not been brought before the assembly."

Two Unions Working Together

OTTAWA (CP)— The 115,000-member Public Service Alliance of Canada and 105,000-member Canadian Union of Public Employees have developed a "working relationship," the organizations said in a joint statement today.

The announcement was made by Alliance President Claude Edwards and CUPE President Stanley Little. The organizations are the largest public service unions in Canada, and the second and third largest unions in Canada after the United Steelworkers of America.

The statement said top officers of the unions have been meeting and "have worked out machinery to co-ordinate common activities and work on common problems."

"Both organizations will maintain their existing structures but in the interest of public service employees on every level we feel it is important that the activities of public service unions be closely co-ordinated."

The alliance represents employees in all departments and agencies of the federal government. CUPE represents employees of municipalities, public utilities, hospitals and a wide variety of public boards and commissions.

The organizations have arranged a preliminary joint conference of public service employees' organizations in Toronto June 2-4. Representatives of the Canadian Federation of Government Employee Organizations, which co-ordinates activities of provincial civil servants, have been invited.

The alliance is the major employees' organization involved in collective bargaining with the federal government.

Canadians To Be Last Withdrawn

OTTAWA (CP)—The 800-man Canadian contingent in the Middle East will be among the last to be withdrawn under plans to pull out the United Nations Emergency Force, Defence Minister Hellyer said Tuesday.

He said the withdrawal will take several weeks but did not indicate immediately when it is to begin.

A Defence department spokesman said all the Canadians still are in the Gaza Strip, mainly at Rafah and El Arish.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked whether it is true that the Canadians have been left without transport and arms by action of the Egyptians.

Mr. Pearson replied that there is no evidence to support that statement. He said he had heard nothing to that effect until it was raised by Mr. Diefenbaker.

About 625 Canadian members of the 3,400-man force are at Rafah. They are mainly service units such as engineers, ordnance, medical, dental, signals, pay and electrical-mechanical specialists.

An RCAF contingent of about 20 men and three Caribou aircraft plus about 10 army movement control personnel are at El Arish.

The remaining Canadians are in various UNEF contingent headquarters at the force headquarters near Rafah.

Wartime Minister Dies at 78

EDMUNDSTON, N.B. (CP)— J. E. Michaud, retired chief justice of the Queen's bench division of the New Brunswick Supreme Court and a former member of Parliament for Restigouche-Madawaska, died at his home here Tuesday. He was 78.

A native of St. Antonin, Que., Judge Michaud was first elected to the House of Commons in a by-election in 1933 and was re-elected in 1935 and 1940.

A member of Prime Minister MacKenzie King's war cabinet, he was appointed Fisheries minister in 1935 and transport minister in 1942. He also served temporarily as public works minister and justice minister during the prolonged illnesses of Works Minister P. J. A. Cardin and Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe.

Motorcycle Firms Blame Licences for Sales Cut

TORONTO (CP)— Spokesmen for Ontario's motorcycle industry blame the new provincial licensing law for a 18.5 per cent drop in new motorcycle registrations.

R. L. Polk and Co. (Canada) Ltd., statisticians for the industry, said motorcycle registrations during the first four months of 1967 dropped to 2,183 from 2,417 in the same period last year.

Industry claims the new legislation makes new riders break the law to learn. Under previous rules bike owners with a 90-day learner's permit or a car driver's licence could legally ride without a test.

At present, the new law, implemented Jan. 1, this year, requires owners to undergo a test and there are no learning permits. Owners may also sweat an affidevit before the end of June stating their previous motorcycle experience.

J. T. Manley, president of F. Manley and Sons, Ltd., the province's Honda dealer, and president of the Motorcycle Distributors Association said the market may be off as much as 20 per cent.

"It's a fact the market is off from last year. We attribute this almost entirely to the legislation."

Victor Williamson, vice-president of the Manley company, said sales of smaller bikes usually bought by novices, have slipped to 30 per cent of the total from 50 per cent.

Records for the first three months show a drop in the number of accidents involving motorcycles to 145 from 168 and a decline in injuries to 93 from 131.

Registration begins Dec. 1, and by the end of March this year there were 16,428 registered motorcycles compared with 14,626 at the same time last year. This makes for a drop in accidents per 1,000 registrations to 8.8 from 11.6 and a similar reduction in injuries to 5.7 from 9.1.

The transport department points to an Ottawa training school operated by the Ottawa Safety Council with the cooperation of the Canadian Motorcycle Association Inc. as an example of providing newcomers to motorcycles with training and space to qualify legally for a motorcycle licence.

Europe's Legalized Gambling Kept Free From Corruption

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

ROME — My European edition of the New York Tribune informs me that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York has decided to augment his state's new lottery program "with more drawings and wider facilities for buying the lottery tickets."

Government - sponsorship of gambling is now 20 years old in Italy, and it grows steadily more popular. Italy's state-run soccer pool — called "Totocalcio" — takes in about 170 million lire a year, from both domestic and foreign sources.

About five million Italians play the soccer pool each week, eighty per cent of them men, and the majority living in Naples or the south, where people are poor and dreams are hard to come by.

It is mostly the working class that supports the pool. Although the chance of winning the top prize is 1¼ million to 1, thousands of bettors have misgivings about encouraging legalized gambling in the U.S. because crime is so well organized a big business in the States.

Besides, the stakes are so much higher in the affluent U.S. As far back as 1950, a U.S. Senate subcommittee investigating interstate crime reported that more than $20 billion was gambled that year alone on sporting events. It may easily have doubled in the intervening years of prosperity — which would make it greater than the sum Italy spends for everything in one year.

The Italian gamble only on soccer; no other sport arouses more than a faint interest here, which has allowed the government to keep the gaming spirit under good control. Whether legalized betting in America could be kept out of greasy hand worries many more people than the moralisers who naively look upon all gambling as a sin.

Tennis Club Lists Officers

CAMPBELLFORD — About 25 tennis players, most of them teenagers, gathered last week to organize projects for the year.

New officers of Campbellford Tennis Club are: honorary president, Capt. Harry Frost; president, Eric Meyers; vice-president, Jim Bennett; secretary, Virginia Morris; treasurer, Ken. Kingston; grounds chairmen, Bob Connor and Gerald Robertson; supervisor of instructors, Eric Meyers; senior directors, Elden Ibey, Evan Meyers and Trevor Clarke. The executive was chosen from among the teenage members, with the addition of three adult directors.

One of the year's projects is the replacing of the club house roof. Dates chosen for the club championship competitions are Aug. 26 - 27. Janice Mitchell will be responsible for the purchase of a used refrigerator and Ken Ibey will lend the lawn inside the fenced area.

Bowl-O-Drome Tournament Champions

John McCoy of Belleville and Treston's Betty Hyatt took top honors at the annual combined men and women's five-pin bowling tournament, at the Bowl-O-Drome, on the week-end.

McCoy rolled 2205 to win the men's under 210 average tournament.

Hyatt captured the women's open with a score of 2339.

In the men's competition, Bob Riley placed second with 2285, followed by Ross Jimpey with 2269, Ron McCoy with 2224 and Gerry Grills with 2173. All are from Belleville.

Four 300-plus games were rolled by the men, led by Bob Sills' 336 and followed by Bob Jobes' 326, Ron McCoy's 313 and Bob Kleer's 305.

Out-of-town women bogged the spotlight in their tourney with two Stirling women chasing Betty Hyatt to the wire. Verna Woodbeck was second with 2236 and Earla Crossman third with 2190. Belleville's Madeline Jones placed fourth with 2015.

Two 300-plus games went to winner Betty Hyatt with 313 and to Earla Crossman with 306.

ANAF News

The planned events in which the Duke of Edinburgh Unit will be actively engaged in during Veterans' Week are as follows: for Sunday June 11th it is hoped that all veterans will attend the Memorial Services to be held on Zwicky's Island. On Monday, June 12th No. 49 Ladies Auxiliary, ANAF, will be having a Centennial dinner, commencing at 6.30, with a social and entertaining evening after the dinner is over. On Wednesday, June 14th, probably the most urgently needed event of the week will be the Blood for Peace donors clinic, held in cooperation with the Red Cross traveling clinic.

It will be set up in the Memorial Hall of the ANAF Club at 197 Front St. Every one able to donate blood is invited to attend. The hours will be from 3.30 to 4.00 and 6.00 to 8.30 p.m. On Friday, the entertainment chairman and his committee will have a gala Centennial dance with plenty of prizes, fun and music. All members and their guests will be very welcome on Saturday, June 17th, the sports chairman is hoping to have a Centennial darts tournament, all members are eligible. This date is at present only tentative. More detailed information will be published in the next few editions of the paper about these events and any others that may be added.

President George Chatterton wishes to thank all those who helped in any way during the Veterans Week display window and those willing workers who assisted in its preparation.

Still in hospital in Belleville are Cdrs. Coc Chapman (still no visitors), Hank Boyle and Bert Herrington while Cdr. Al Newman is still confined to his home.

Robarts Disagrees With View Provinces Should Be Sovereign In Drafting of Constitution

TORONTO (CP) — Premier John Robarts Tuesday republished provincial supremacy views of Ontario Attorney-General Arthur Wishart and went on to win an almost unanimous approval of his Confederation of Tomorrow conference next fall.

Speaking during legislature debate on his conference proposal, Mr. Robarts countered Mr. Wishart's statement that the provinces are "sovereign states in our own right."

The premier said the British North American Act gave the federal government an identity and "it is the senior government."

Mr. Wishart had contended earlier in the legislature that the provincial governments originally gave the federal government a portion of their powers as sovereign states.

The legislature backed by a vote of 70 to 1 Mr. Robart's resolution asking for approval of the conference and rejected 18 to 15 a Liberal amendment which criticized him for failing to win the support of the federal government for the conference.

The single "nay" vote was ruled by Speaker Fred Edwards now when George Ben (L—Toronto Bracondale) tried to abstain on the recorded vote. Mr. Morrow said abstentions were against the rules of the house.

The premier defended his relations with the federal government, declaring his relationship with Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson "has always been the most amicable indeed."

"I have great admiration for the prime minister as an individual and as a Canadian."

During the Confederation conference debate, Elmer Sopha (L—Sudbury) said the Wishart proposals would "balkanize the country."

Mr. Ben said he objected to government members demanding a formal vote when no one had spoken out in opposition to the resolution.

He said the speaker had previously allowed Mr. Sopha to abstain from voting and declared that a precedent had been set. Mr. Sopha said, however, he had never abstained on vote.

Opposition Leader Robert Nixon, obviously dismayed at the disarray in Liberal ranks, walked out of the house muttering to a colleague that "at least everyone was asked."

Earlier, the house defeated 86-to-15 an amendment proposed by Mr. Nixon, which regretted that such a conference had been proposed "without recognizing the unique position of the government of Canada, which has a predominant responsibility for strengthening Canadian unity and changing the shape of the Confederation."

In other developments:

—Premier John Robarts said the federal government should consult with the provinces before implementing any recommendations of the Carter royal commission on taxation.

—Attorney-General Arthur Wishart introduced an act repealing the Rail Taskforce Act, Act of 1882 which purported to give the first authority to exercise powers in the province. A ruling in 1956 found the Ontario act was ultra vires—beyond the power of a provincial legislature.

—Syl Apps (PC — Kingston and the Islands) appealed to the legislature and Premier Robarts to hold the Confederation of Tomorrow Conference in Kingston's Memorial Hall. Elmer Sopha (L — Sudbury) said the Windsor proposal for a park "balkanize the country."

Later during the vote, Mr. Ben said he objected to the government members demanding a formal vote when no one had spoken out in opposition to the resolution.

He said the speaker had previously allowed Mr. Sopha to abstain from voting and declared that a precedent had been set. Mr. Sopha said, however, he had never abstained on vote.

In other developments:

—Premier John Robarts said the federal government should consult with the provinces before implementing any recommendations of the Carter royal commission on taxation.

—Highways Minister George Gomme introduced an act repealing the Rail Taskforce Act, Act of 1882 which purported to give the first authority to exercise powers in the province. A ruling in 1956 found the Ontario act was ultra vires—beyond the power of a provincial legislature.

—Syl Apps (PC — Kingston and the Islands) appealed to the legislature and Premier Robarts to hold the Confederation of Tomorrow Conference in Kingston's Memorial Hall. Elmer Sopha (L — Sudbury) said the Windsor proposal for a park is a problem to be studied by the firm's management and not the Ontario Securities Commission.

Mr. Robarts told the legislature his government will state its views on the Carter report at a meeting of the federal-provincial tax structure committee here June 13.

"We of course will take the position that no unilateral action—if that is the term—should be taken with regard to the Carter commission report," he said.

"We think there should be the fullest consideration of any changes and the provinces before those changes are made. . .

"I would think it would be impossible to do it in any other way because there are many constitutional questions involved and there are many matters that affect the provinces very particularly."

The premier, replying to a question by NDP Leader Donald MacDonald, said he also would suggest to the conference that Carter recommendations be considered in conjunction with those of Ontario's fourth committee on taxation, which is expected to report next month.

Mr. Robarts told the house a "task force" has been studying the Carter report for the provincial government. Treasury since the report was first published.

Robarts Wants to Have Say In Any Tax System Charge

TORONTO (CP) — Premier John Robarts said Tuesday the federal government should consult with the provinces before implementing any recommendations of the Carter royal commission on taxation.

Fishermen Drowned

ATIKOKAN, Ont. (CP)—Two American sports fishermen were drowned Monday when their boat was overturned in a lake 35 miles north of this northwestern Ontario community. A third was rescued by two Canadian fishermen who heard the four shouting for the water.

Provincial police said the accident occurred in deep, 6-mile - long Clearwater West Lake.

They identified the victims as Lee W. Stewart, 54, and John Stewart, 24, both of Chicago. Fred Zarbock, in his early 70s, of Wheaton, Ill., was treated for shock in Atikokan Hospital. His rescuers were Jack Gill and James Franklin Adams, both of Willard.

Stewart's body was recovered Monday. Dredging operations were continuing for his companion.

Atikokan is 130 miles west of the Lakehead.

Quebec Historian Dies at 89

MONTREAL (CP) — Canon Groulx, who dedicated more than half a century to book writing and speaking to the cause of Quebec nationalism, died Tuesday. He was 89. One of 13 children of a lumberjack-farmer, Canon Groulx achieved renown as an author and historian and taught history at the University of Montreal.

Canon Groulx was awarded a Canada Council medal for 1961-62.

Hospital Auxiliary Views Treatment of Poisoning

NAPANEE — It is regrettable that more young mothers did not attend the meeting of the Hospital Auxiliary last week, to see the film on treatment of poisoning given there at the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto. No matter what precautions may be taken there is always the chance that a small child will get, hold of a substance which can poison a child if taken in quantity. This applies to aspirin, usually—often taken properly, but one of the substances which can poison a child if taken in excess.

The showing of the film and the question period which Dr. Brand Scrapirone conducted pointed out the need of haste if the child is believed to have swallowed any substance, which might be poisonous. Speed is of prime importance.

The object in calling the hospital, ahead of time is to enable it to have everything ready so that treatment can begin as soon as the doctor reaches there. Tell them what he has swallowed, so that the correct treatment will be available. Two things should be remembered, it was learned. Immediately call the doctor and the hospital, and take the child to the nearest hospital so that emergency treatment can be given as soon as possible.

J. F. (Jerry) Adams, the business administrator of the hospital, described the courier service which has been in operation since the hospital opened. Miss Irene Wagar has names of drivers who will drop what they are doing immediately and make a fast trip to Kingston for a diagnosis which is not available in this hospital. The result is then telephoned to this hospital. This is an advance which will be poisonous if swallowed.

The ways and means committee reported that approximately $125 was realized from the dessert-bridge-whist party on "Hospital Day". This is to be the beginning of a fund which will be set aside for the purchase of a much needed electric surgical unit which will cost approximately $1,000. The money will be raised as quickly as possible. Proceeds from the rummage sale and sale of cooked foods planned for June 2 and 3 will be added to this fund, and from the garden party scheduled for September 13. The auxiliary is planning on at least one special fund-raising event each month.

Mandy Macdonald has presented a painting to the Hospital Auxiliary, which will be on display in windows of the stores of the town in turn and tickets will be sold on it. The draw will be made at the garden party.

Not all committee reports were received since some of the chairmen were regrettably absent. Mrs. Clifford Crawford gave a favorable report on the gift shop and coffee bar. The escort service for the X-ray and physiotherapy departments is practically indispensable now, the meeting learned, however as some find it necessary to drop out.

Free Methodist Church Buys Building Lots

NAPANEE — The Napanee Free Methodist Church has purchased two building lots opposite the exit from the Lennox and Addington County General Hospital and has received its building permit from Richmond Township. The permit has been approved by the Ontario Municipal Board.

The present building on Water Street has been inadequate for years, especially for the Sunday School. There is no possibility of expansion, as no land is available adjoining the church property. Since the church is in an industrial zone, further expansion is still difficult. The members have known that something must be done and buying property on which a building can some day be erected is the preliminary step. There are no immediate plans for erecting the structure, a spokesman stated.

The church expansion committee elected at last week's annual meeting consists of A. C. Collins, Ward Wartman, Alan Gregg, Theo Winker and Mrs. Hubert Wartman.

The minister is the Rev. Gordon Hammond.

Israel Rejects Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin said Tuesday night his proposal to move the United Nations Emergency Force to the Israeli side of the Gaza Strip border was unacceptable to Israel.

Mr. Martin intervened in a speech by Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary North), former defence minister, who asked what had happened to the proposal the Canadian government made when Egypt's President Nasser first objected to the UNEF presence.

Mr. Martin said the proposal had been made to the Israeli ambassador in Ottawa before U Thant ordered cessation of UNEF operations. The Israeli foreign ministry rejected the proposal.

Mr. Harkness said the proposal had merit, and he regretted it wasn't accepted. It was a mistake to ask the United Nations force on only one side of the border in the first place. It should have stretched the length of the border, Mr. Harkness said.

New Route for Gas Pipeline In North Ontario Possible

OTTAWA (CP) — A surprise plan that could involve a new natural gas pipeline route across Northern Ontario emerged Tuesday when the National Energy Board was about to open hearings on an application to twin the current 30-inch line.

N. John McNeill of Toronto, a senior vice-president of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., asked the board for a two-week adjournment to let Trans-Canada and the three big gas distribution companies that are its major customers work out agreement on a revised project. Several alternatives to twinning are already being talked about.

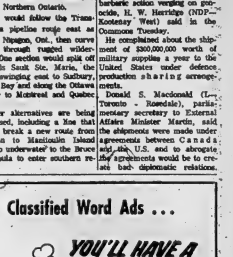
After nearly nine hours of discussion, Board Chairman I. N. McKinnon announced an adjournment of the hearing until Wednesday, May 31, when Trans-Canada will be asked to report on the progress it has made towards resolving the issue with its distributors.

A recurring theme in the discussion was the shortage of natural gas supplies in Ontario and Quebec expected in the delivery year starting next Nov. 1. Demand is expected to exceed supply by at least 23,000,000,000 cubic feet, about 10 per cent of this year's consumption.

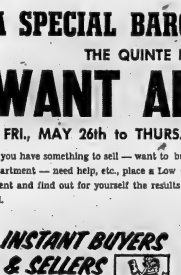
One of Trans-Canada's "big three" customers, Northern and Central Gas Co., already has drawn up a plan for an entirely new 36-inch line from Winnipeg to the Northern Ontario.

This would follow the Trans Canada pipeline route east as far as Nipigon, Ont., then curve south through rugged wilderness. One section would split off towards Sault Ste. Marie, the Sudbury - Algoma - Sudbury - North Bay and along the Ottawa Valley to Montreal and Quebec City.

Other alternatives are being discussed, including a line that would break a new route from Nipigon to Manitoulin Island and go underwater to the Bruce Peninsula to enter southern Ontario.



Arms Sale Under Fire



OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's continuing willingness to sell arms to the United States is a matter of serious worry to people, H. W. Herridge (NDP—Kootenay West) said in the Commons Tuesday.

He complained about the shipment of $20,000,000 worth of military supplies a year to the United States under defence production sharing arrangements.

Donald S. Macdonald (L—Toronto - Rosedale), parliamentary secretary to External Affairs Minister Martin, said the shipments were made under agreements between Canada and the U.S. and to abrogate the agreements would be to create bad diplomatic relations.

Ottawa Play Criticized By Festival Adjudicator

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A play about a family of Scottish settlers in Cape Breton in the early 19th century was criticized Tuesday night by adjudicator Guy Beaulne of the Dominion Drama Festival for direction which he said failed to define characters or how the audience was to view the production.

The Dauphin Players of Ottawa presented The Blood Is Strong by Toronto author-broadcaster Lister Sinclair.

Mr. Beaulne said the play was "lacking theatrical invention, a bit shy in its expression, but with interesting moments of action and interesting moments of acting."

He said he felt defeated as a spectator because it seemed director John Knight treated the audience to follow the tale as in a storybook, but touches of realism, such as water leaking from a bucket, destroyed this theory.

The lighting started with a "beautiful opening" but deteriorated and costumes looked too new.

"My feeling is that it has not been an entirely successful production. Some of the actors find their characters, but were not helped, maybe, by the director."

Among individual performances, he singled out Alice Van Dine as Mary MacDonald, wife of a Scottish settler yearning for his highland home.

"This is a very interesting actress . . . with warmth and presence," Mr. Beaulne said. Some of her scenes were "moments of insight."

Tonight, the Vernon Players from the British Columbia present Gilliam, a two-act comic tragedy written by three journalists who combined as playwrights for the first time to produce the work.

The festival continues until Saturday night, when final awards will be made. All plays this year are Canadian as a tribute to Centennial Year.

SHIFT OPERATIONS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The Canadian military operations at Goose Bay, Labrador, will be turned over to the transport department Aug. 1 but the Royal Canadian Air Force will not be pulling out completely, as had previously been expected, an official said the air force will have about 30 men behind to operate the air traffic services.

Person-to-person Show Will Be Revived With New Frills

NEW YORK (AP) — Jon Aarons, co-producer of Edward R. Murrow's old Person-to-Person. is putting together many ingredients of the old show and adding some new elements. He hopes the basic recipe will work again next season on a new show called Good Company on ABC.

At the moment, the set-up consists of Aarons, a staff of five, three mobile units and F. Lee Bailey, the criminal lawyer.

Bailey will drop in on the famous, the interesting and the off-beat in their homes.

In the old days, before jet planes and television tape made it possible, Murrow was anchored in a New York studio and interviewed the subjects electronically in their homes. It was live. It was achieved with the help of big crews, fancy equipment and a lot of money.

"We hope to tape our shows Friday and run the shows the next Thursday—and leave in the fluffs in," Aarons said. "The perfection that television has achieved by voiding out anything untoward has resulted, I think, in the loss of a lot of its charm and excitement."

Aarons is working on his invitation list and already has acceptances from the acting Redgraves family and J. Paul Getty the oil millionaire, plus other well-known people. Murrow says he prefers at this early stage to conceal.

Dean Martin Country Club Has Entry Fee of $25,000

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If you like to play golf, are young and vigorous and happen to have $25,000 handy, you might be able to join the Dean Martin Country Club.

That's right, you might not. There are only 600 memberships available, and you also have to be considered good chap, actor. That is also going to be the criterion at the Dean Martin CC.

Having a golf-and-tennis club named after him is the latest development in the amazing saga of Martin, born Dino Crocetti 50 years ago June 17, 400 at Steubenville, Ohio, barber.

"Well, this here club is going to be the greatest," he explained. "We're not putting any money into it; just lending my name. The money is coming from some very good sources which I can't divulge at this time. Later I will.

"The setup is this: We're selling 600 memberships at $25,000 apiece. That's 15,000,000 bucks, which is what it will take to build the course. We'll also have 10 tennis courts, and those memberships will go for $5,000.

"I don't think we'll have any trouble selling 'em. People come up to me every day and say they want in. But we're not just taking everybody. We're screening each applicant not only on their ability to pay, but most of all on their character. There are ways of finding that out.

"What we're looking for is young people on the go. Not just actors, but lawyers, doctors, people from every walk of life. They don't have to be billionaires, either. We're working it out with my partner, Al Hart of City National Bank, where a fellow can pay $5,000 down and the rest over a three-year span.

"The accent is going to be on youth. The trouble with most golf clubs is that they're filled with old guys sitting around playing gin rummy and waiting to die. I'm especially against old people, but they just don't make for a lively atmosphere at a golf club."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Why can't American film - makers cross the kind of line that was awarded the directors of Europe?

It is the system, says Roger Corman, cobbles his wonder of the exploitation movie.

"Take a director like Fellini," says the 41-year-old Corman. "With production costs being low lately, he can make a feature for $300,000. In addition, the Italian governments may give him a subsidy of $300,000, so the picture costs only $300,000 in all."

It's an entirely different deal in Hollywood. "You can't afford to experiment—unless you have a subject which in itself is sensational enough to allow it."

The producer - director feels he has such a film now. It's called The Trip, and it's no travelogue. The story concerns what happens to a young man, played by Peter Fonda, under the influence of LSD.

He started as a film maker at 28 when he filmed Monster from the Ocean Floor for $18,-000. The film grossed $130,000 and brought Corman $80,000. He was off and running.

Lately he's been aiming at more prestige. Twentieth Century-Fox, for example gave him $2,000,000 and a topflight cast to make the gangland epic, The St. Valentine's Day Massacre.

Science Council's Head Urges Series of National Projects

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada should follow Expo 67 with a series of spectacular national projects to capture the imagination of its people, the chairman of the Science Council of Canada said Tuesday.

Dr. O. M. Solandt said Expo has made an important contribution to national unity at home and Canada's image abroad.

He told the Ottawa Canadian Club Expo proves Canada has what it takes in people, resources, energy and imagination.

A series of "major happenings" would maintain this involvement and sense of unity.

His suggested projects:

—Large-scale use of satellites for many types of communication including television. Canada's large size and scattered population created a unique interest in making her a communications leader.

—A transformation of the grain delivery system from top to bottom. Dr. Solandt called this a problem ripe for solution by systems analysis.

—A major development of the Arctic and sub-Arctic starting with an experimental mining town to serve as "a pilot project for development of techniques for living happily there."

—Greatly increased foreign aid as a major contribution to world peace, using some funds now devoted to military needs.

Dr. Solandt said his projects are science-based and indicate the future involvement of science in social and economic problems.

The government's top adviser on science and research was the first chairman of the defence research board. Before his appointment to head the science council he held key research positions with Canadian National Railways and de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd.

He gave his audience quiet predictions Tuesday that within 10 years communications space satellites will come into widespread use; lasers will replace microwave systems; digitization and automatic switching will be applied to all forms of information; and videophones will come into service.

The technical problems in all these areas will be submerged by the social and cultural problems they create, Dr. Solandt said.

Satellite TV, allowing foreign powers to transmit directly into TV sets around the earth, will mark a turning point in communications, he said. The blighting of educational TV will affect the growth of the Canadian character.

He said he is conservative about the development of transportation in Canada by the year 2000. It would still be a society based on the auto, although this would not apply to city centres.

He foresaw automated control on main freeways as the only way of increasing capacity but discounted predictions that surface travel in 20 years would hit the 300 m.p.h.-500 m.p.h. range. He expected 200 m.p.h. would be a better guess.

There would be supersonic jets soon but no regular rocket travel by the year 2000. Intercity travel would be by short- or vertical-takeoff aircraft.

Dr. Solandt said the delivery system for Canadian grain was devised in the days of horse-drawn loads. Grading, collection, elevator and shipping would all require major changes.

Automation would bring more affluence to society, not mass unemployment, and to avoid the severe social problems of affluence by adopting automation would be "simply not acceptable."

Dr. Solandt said Canada lacks even "one first-class computer" and will never have one unless it makes a determined effort to train the lead in use of computers for information systems.

In the field of the health sciences, he said, scientists are on "the verge of understanding" the nature of cancer.

But he doubted any sudden discoveries would wipe it out because it was basically "several different diseases." He predicted it would be under control by the year 2000.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

QUESTION: We are taking some visitors to Niagara Falls. Could you tell us other attractions in the district for both adults and children? Also which is the better route, the American or the Canadian?

ANSWER: We would suggest that you go by way of Toronto and return by way of Syracuse and the New York Thruway. It is about 75 miles longer by the American route but the traffic should be lighter on the Thruway than on the Queen E., especially at this season when the blossoms are out. The Niagara Falls are of course, the outstanding attraction but there are other things of interest to both children and adults in the district.

Queen Victoria Park on Niagara Parkway is a good place for your picnic lunch. It is a 186-acre park beautifully landscaped and offering a wonderful view of the falls. The flowers are lovely and the whole park is illuminated at dusk.

The Skylon Tower, rising 775 feet above the falls, has elevators which take one to the top for a magnificent view of the falls. Three levels at the top of the tower include revolving dining room, lounge and observation deck. Open daily 8 a.m. to 1 a.m., adult $1.25, children 50 cents.

Boat rides to the falls are available. Maid of the Mist leaves every 20 minutes during the period May 24 to Oct. 10. Fare is $1.15 including waterproof clothing.

Table Rock House has an elevator which descends for a close-up of the falls. Second floor has exhibits which include replicas of the crown jewels of Britain and Scotland.

Seagram Tower rises 300 feet above the falls. The fourth floor has been designed for photographers and has tinted windows and built-in light meters; open daily May 1 to Sept. 15.

Louis Tussaud's English Wax Museum, at the Sheraton Foxhead Motor Inn features lifelike reproductions in wax of the world's most famous people, open daily, adults $1, children 50 cents.

Antique Auto Museum, 1871 Falls Avenue, displays a fine collection of early electric, steam and gasoline powered automobiles. Among those owned by Al Capone, Charles Lindbergh, Duke of Windsor, and Mussolini, adults $1 children 50 cents.

Whirlpool Aero Car (Niagara Parkway is a cable car, carrying passengers high over whirlpool basin.

Ripley's Believe It or Not Museum at the Park Motor Hotel is a collection of more than 500 unbelievable exhibits.

Oneida Observation Tower is a 341 - foot structure overlooking the falls and has the Royal Canadian Mounted historical exhibits tracing the history of the Dominion since 1873.

The Aquarium of Niagara Falls, N.Y., is for people who wish to cross the border. Very popular visit; children, it features performing dolphins and other aquatic species, open daily, adults $1.65, children 85 cents.

MORE ON EYRO

There will be an eight per cent sales tax on all dining and accommodations as is the custom in the province of Quebec, when you visit Expo. Some of the European restaurants at Expo also charge 12 per cent service charge which is the custom in Europe in place of tips.

We advise people not to go on weekends, as it is so crowded you will have trouble getting in to see the best pavilions.

Expo and Middle East Bring LBJ Flying to Canada Today

MONTREAL (CP) — President Johnson of the United States arrived at Montreal International Airport in suburban Dorval today to start a trip to Canada that includes a visit to Expo 67 and a meeting in Ottawa with Prime Minister Pearson.

His plane touched down at 10:35 a.m. EDT.

The president and his party were met by Paul Martin, Canada's external affairs minister, and Lionel Chevrier, commissioner-general for state visits.

Also on hand was W. Walton Butterworth, U.S. ambassador to Canada.

The greeting took place on tarmac as Mr. Johnson stepped off the jet.

The president, some of his party and Mr. Chevrier and Mr. Martin then walked about 50 yards to the presidential helicopter which they all boarded for the 10-mile trip to Expo.

The rest of the American group boarded two other helicopters for the trip.

The helicopters took off at 11:07 a.m. EDT.

Pearson and President Johnson will meet early this afternoon at Mr. Pearson's official summer residence on Harrington Lake to discuss "certain current developments in world affairs."

A statement by the prime minister's office shortly after 10 a.m. EDT finally cleared up 12 hours of confusion about arrangements for the U.S. president's surprise visit to Canada.

Mr. Johnson will visit the U.S. pavilion at Expo 67 in Montreal "during the morning," the statement said.

He then will fly by U.S. helicopter from the Expo island to Harrington Lake, 20 miles north of Ottawa in Quebec's Gatineau Hills. Arrival there is expected "shortly after 1 p.m. EDT."

The prime minister and the president will have lunch at Harrington Lake followed by a discussion. Mr. Johnson's helicopter will take him to Ottawa International Airport later in the afternoon where the presidential jet will be waiting to fly him back to Washington.

Discussions between Mr. Johnson and Prime Minister Pearson are expected to include diplomatic efforts to ease the threat of war between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

Sources indicated that Mr. Pearson first heard about Mr. Johnson's plan to visit Canada only Wednesday when U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk called the prime minister twice early in the day.

Today is the U.S. national day at Expo and the American embassy announced Wednesday that a gift to Canada will be unveiled at the U.S. pavilion at 11:45 a.m. The president is expected to leave for Ottawa immediately after the ceremony.

Mounties Hold Back Farmers

Mounties link arms Wednesday to hold back a crowd of chanting French-Canadian farmers who surged against the front doors of the Parliament Buildings. A window in the entrance door was broken and two others cracked in the mob scene. (CP Photo)

Subsidy Boost Likely

Angry Farmers Get Half Pledge

OTTAWA (CP)—The government beat a little Wednesday in the face of a huge tension-filled farmers' rally seeking higher milk prices marked by the surging charge of a predominantly French - Canadian group against the front door of the Parliament Building.

John Dolmer, president of the Ontario Farmers' Union, said Agriculture Minister Joseph Greene and Forestry Minister Maurice Sauve had agreed to ask the Federal cabinet for more money for the dairy industry. Others indicated the government is willing to add $15,000,000 to the present dairy subsidy.

The cabinet ministers' reported promise to seek more aid for the dairy industry came at a meeting with leaders of the farm delegation, the second of the day, after acrimonious remarks by Quebec delegates aimed at Greene and Sauve.

Chants demanding higher milk subsidies broke out after some of Mr. Sauve's remarks. Farm leaders later claimed the ministers spoke of words rifled the aggressive crowd.

Mr. Sauve told the crowd from the speaker's platform the farmers should have started their campaign for a better deal a decade ago. And he and Mr. Greene favored $5 a hundredweight for manufacturing milk, but had to consider the government's ability to pay.

One farm official compared Mr. Sauve's remarks with throwing gasoline on a fire. After the meeting ended, farmers swept to and over the speaker's platform in a stream and made for the Centre Block door.

The RCMP threw up a 30-man linked-arm barricade to block the entrance.

A window pane was smashed before the RCMP gained control. Two other panes were cracked. The front door to the Centre Block and other doors were locked to prevent the milling crowd from streaming in.

Most of the mob that charged the door, 1,500 strong at the outset, pressed around the entrance for four hours. They dispersed after Forestry Minister Sauve advised that farm demands would be placed before the cabinet before June 10. Also, new meetings would be held with farm leaders to discuss agriculture policy.

The rush on the entrance occurred after more than 10,000 eastern farmers demanding higher income covered most of the lawns in front of the Parliament Buildings for an early-afternoon protest meeting.

The RCMP, who had managed to keep the platform clear of pressing bodies during the meeting, gave way in the rush and took a new stand at the door.

Demonstrators beat on the door with placard staves. A taxi in their path was rocked. RCMP officers, careful to provoke no incidents, ignored the shouts and arm-waving of the boisterous, but non - violent crowd as it surged against the door.

The heavy oak outer doors were closed as an additional barrier behind the Mounties. Officials said they could recall no other time when the Commons doors were locked to Canadians.

Either, farm leaders who organized the demonstration rejected bitterly when they got no promises after prosecuting their demands to the front rank of the cabinet inside the Parliament Buildings.

Lionel Sorel, president of the Quebec - based Catholic Farmers Union, accused the government of deception in not giving specific answers. John Dolmer, president of the Ontario Farmers Union, said the government arranged the cabinet session agenda so that farm leaders would have no chance to discuss the brief.

Drive Yields Booty

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. command announced today that a record number of 337 Americans were killed in action in the bloodiest period of the Vietnam war last week, mainly in fighting around the demilitarized zone which now has been extended of southern enlisted troops following its invasion a week ago.

The American command said the last U.S. marines and South Vietnamese units have withdrawn from the southern half of the zone, taking with them a wealth of captured booty plus thousands of civilian refugees.

Among the captured items were 180 North Vietnamese gunmen seized Wednesday along with 7,000 mortar shells.

The casualty report listed 337 Americans killed, 2,222 wounded and 31 missing during last week. In addition, 241 South Vietnamese troops were reported killed and other allies, twenty the South Koreans, reported 50 dead. Communist losses were 2,464 killed. All this made the week by far the bloodiest of the war.

The week's casualties brought U.S. losses for the war to 10,253 dead and 61,425 wounded by unofficial tabulation.

Women 'Capture' Minister

LUCKNOW, India (Reuters)—About 200 angry women imprisoned a state minister in his car for two hours Wednesday and fought a pitched battle using their teeth and nails against women "home guard" volunteers who tried to free him.

Thirty women — 18 home guards and 12 demonstrators — were injured in the clash.

Thant Irked, Deep Split Shown in UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Diplomats here saw little hope today to concrete UN action to relieve the current tension in the Middle East, as they awaited a report from Secretary-General U Thant on his peacekeeping mission to the United Arab Republic.

Sources close to Thant in Cairo claimed that the secretary-general was angered by the holding of a Security Council meeting here Wednesday in his absence. The meeting, convened at the request of Canada and Denmark, laid bare deep divisions among member countries over the Middle East situations and produced sweeping denunciations of Canada, Denmark, Israel, the United States and Britain.

When it was evident that the council was divided even on this limited proposal, Canadian Ambassador George Ignatieff suggested time out for private, informal consultations among members to seek agreement on a revised motion. The Soviet Union and India said it was unnecessary for the council to be in session and they would not take part in any consultations. This stand was promptly echoed by Bulgaria and Mali.

U.A.R. Ambassador Mohamed El-King chastised Canada and Denmark for allegedly serving the interests of the United States and Britain in asking for a council meeting and then presenting a motion related to Thant's mission.

Both Ignatieff and Danish Ambassador Hans Tabor insisted that their countries were acting impartially.

Cairo — Semi-official newspaper Al Ahram says Egyptian authorities, blocking Gulf of Aqaba to Israeli shipping, stopped and searched two German ships Wednesday and advised them to continue after learning their destination was the Jordanian port of Aqaba.

Moscow — British Foreign Secretary George Brown, in talks with Premier Kosygin and Foreign Minister Gromyko, urged Russia, which is backing the Arabs, to use its influence to restrain Egypt and Syria. A British spokesman says Gromyko would not give a clear answer to the British plea.

Despite Nasser's reported willingness to "facilitate" Thant's mission, it was doubted that he would lift the blockade, which Israel has said it would not permit.

However, there was no word of any Israeli attempt to challenge the Egyptian guns and patrol boats guarding the Strait of Tiran, the entrance from the Red Sea into the gulf. No Israeli ships have been reported en route to the gulf, and an official at Elath said no ships were docked there.

Tel Aviv — Signs of war preparations mount in Israel—increased military traffic, bank withdrawals, runs on grocery stores and advice how to prepare homes are said abolters. American Jewish leaders discuss a program of crisis financial aid for Israel.

Naples—A six-ship amphibious force of the U.S. 6th Fleet carrying a special force of 2,000 marines, leaves Naples and the fleet's flagship, the guided missile cruiser Little Rock, sails from the base nearby. U.S. Navy officers say they are headed for maneuvers planned before the Middle East crisis began but refuse to say whether these will be in the eastern Mediterranean.

Nasser Said Sympathetic To Thant's Peace Plans

BEIRUT, Lebanon (CP) — Egyptian President Nasser was reported sympathetic today to UN Secretary-General U Thant's peace proposals, including revival of the Egyptian-Israeli Armistice Commission to put a brake on the mounting crisis in the Middle East.

"I have met President Nasser and I consider my mission completed," he said. "I do not intend to make any statement on my talks here until I return to the Security Council in New York."

Aides said he plans to report to the council Saturday or Sunday. Informants said he carried a special message to the council from Nasser.

They said, however, it was unlikely Thant was carrying a new peace formula.

A major stumbling block to easing tension was Egypt's proclaimed blockade of Israeli shipping to and from its southern port of Elath, on the Gulf of Aqaba, its link to East Africa, Asia and Iranian oil.

Whoa There Dobbin

Deborah Row and Brian Locke take a ride in "The Surrey With The Fringe On Top" as part of a Centennial Day program at Massassaga Public School on Wednesday.

Massassaga School Pupils Enjoy Lesson in History

Yesterday was Centennial Day at Massassaga public school in Ameliasburg township and the pupils took advantage of the occasion to enjoy a lesson in history.

For the past few weeks the pupils' mothers have been busy sewing old time costumes for the occasion and yesterday nearly everyone — teachers included — turned up for classes in the dress of a century ago.

One of the young boys even wore a cutaway coat — at one time worn by his grandfather.

But the old time dress was only part of the attraction. Grade five and six students taught by school principal, Mrs. Hester Giles, staged a timely skit centred around the song "Surrey With the Fringe on Top" and even had the students act out the song.

A couple of boys played the part of old Dobbin while Brian Locke and Deborah Row took the ride in the fringed topped surrey (in reality a couple of chairs and a fancy umbrella).

To conclude the costume party honoring the early pioneers of the area, the pupils joined in a lively square dance on the paved exercise area at the rear of the school.

Also during the afternoon the pupils were presented with their Centennial medals.

All in all it was a timely bit of play acting. The kids did thoroughly enjoyed dressing up for the occasion and better still saw their regular 30 minute noon hour break stretch into one of double that length

IN MEMORIAM

FORRESTELL — In loving memory of our dear father Arnold Forrestell who passed away May 26, 1965.

Please God, forgive a silent tear, Memories are all I have dear, There are others, yes we love them, But he was ours, we loved him so, Dear God take a message, To our father in heaven above, Tell him how much we miss him, And give him our love by, Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by grandchildren.

SHARPE — In loving memory of a dear granddaughter and niece Joan Elizabeth Sharpe who passed away May 25, 1956. The midnight stars are shining, Upon your silent grave, Beneath it sleeps the one we love, In the land of the blessed above, Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by grandmother, aunt and uncle.

SHARPE — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister Joan Elizabeth Sharpe who died May 25, 1956. Dear God, we know that she was suffering, That the hills were hard to climb, So He closed her weary eyelids, And whispered, "Peace be thine." Away in the beautiful hills of God, By the river of crystal tears, Where we hope to meet her once more, Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by mother, father, sisters, Joan, Linda, Marilyn and brother Brian.

CARDS OF THANKS

Mrs. Walter MacDonald and family wish to express their sincere thanks to relatives, friends and neighbors for their messages of sympathy, lovely floral tributes, Gideon Bibles, and many other kindnesses shown to us during the loss of our dear husband, father and brother. A very special thank you to Dr. Hees and Dr. Potter, Mr. Lamb, the City Ambulance and the John R. Bush Funeral Home.

Three Remanded in Custody

TRENTON — Three Trenton men appeared in court at Brighton Wednesday, charged with the theft of farm implements from the property of former Murray Township reeve Douglas McMaster, on May 13.

Robert Facey, 21, Peter Brunton, 21 and Philip Walsh, 19, pleaded guilty and were remanded in custody for one week by Magistrate R. B. Batten.

A charge of assault and willful damage against Facey was adjourned without plea. The accused is alleged to have attacked Mr. McMaster and damaged his car in the course of the incident at the R.R. 4, Trenton farm.

WARNING ISSUED

Provincial police from the Brighton detachment today issued a warning to parents and merchants about supplying a firearm, (which includes air-rifles and pistols) to persons under the age of 14. Those under this age are prohibited by law from having firearms in their possession.

In the past few weeks, police say, they have received numerous complaints regarding youngsters using air-rifles and 22 rifles in the township.

Missing Area Woman Found Alive and Well

TRENTON — A 36-year-old Brighton area woman, Mrs. Nancy Carol Brimmin, missing from her home since May 15 was located in the Toronto area by provincial police Wednesday.

Mrs. Brimin had been ill for several weeks, and was last seen walking along Highway 30 near Brighton. When she failed to return home the OPP was notified by her husband and a description of the missing woman circulated among OPP offices throughout Ontario.

Anglicans Discard Old Articles

SASKATOON (CP) — Anglican clergy and lay delegates from northwestern Ontario to Alberta voted Wednesday to replace the church's controversial 39 articles of religion with a newer statement of faith, the "solemn declaration" first adopted in 1893.

The provincial synod of Rupert's Land, one of four divisions of the Anglican Church of Canada, decided that it will no longer require ministers to subscribe to the 39 articles.

Obituaries

CHARLES WILLIAM ATKINSON

The funeral for Charles William Atkinson of "Tyrling" Street, Trenton was held Monday from the Weaver Funeral Home, Rev. W. E. McDowell officiated. Interment was in Mount Evergreen Cemetery.

The bearers were Jack Clegg, K. K. Kenny, R. Johnson, Lou Knack, William Farrell and Arthur Ray.

Mr. Atkinson died Saturday in The Kingston General Hospital following a six-month illness. He was in his 58th year.

Born in Wolseley, Saskatchewan, he was the son of Mrs. Agnes Atkinson of Fergus and the late Mr. Thomas Atkinson.

Mr. Atkinson was a retired accountant with the RCAF and had been a bookkeeper at Conway Haulage Company for the past two-and-one-half years.

He was a member of King Street United Church and a member of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 116, Trenton. A Legion service was held in the funeral home Sunday.

Salvation Army Blitz Nets $10,000 for Fund

The current Salvation Army capital appeal to raise funds for a new building on Victoria Ave. has already reached its first goal of $10,000 from the residential canvass.

Residential campaign chairman, Mrs. Effie McCabe, stated today that the citizens of Belleville have been very responsive to the appeal but noted that if any householders were missed in the canvass and still wished to donate, they could forward their donations to Salvation Army headquarters at 241½ Front Street.

Twenty team captains and 400 canvassers covered the city a week ago in a one night blitz campaign.

General campaign chairman, Mrs. Bessie Marsh, with the overall responsibility for the $60,000 appeal reports that returns are coming in from the special names, industrial and business divisions, but these are still not complete.

"We are hoping for just as generous response from them as from the residential campaign," Mrs. Marsh said.

Municipal Board Head Reprimands City For Failing to Support Bylaw Change

The city's application to the Ontario Municipal Board for rezoning of two lots on Dundas Street, East, to allow the operation of a medical clinic, is still up in the air.

Today at city hall, on the third occasion which proposed the bylaw change has been before the municipal board, the hearing was adjourned indefinitely through failure of the city to present evidence in support of its bylaw.

J. A. Kennedy, OMB chairman, sitting alone at the hearing, adjourned the sitting to a date to be fixed after city council by resolution requests a new hearing.

Costs for today's witnesses, who were represented by R. E. Nourse of Picton, were assessed against the city.

At today's hearing the city was represented by local lawyer Bernard Hurley; Ralph Graham represented Dr. Harold Williamson, who wishes to operate a medical clinic on Dundas Street and Mr. Nourse represented local ratepayers objecting to the proposed zoning change.

The OMB chairman took a dim view of the city's failure to support its application for the proposed zoning change on Dundas Street.

He said it was a cardinal rule of the board to expect evidence in support of such an application. Otherwise it would be dismissed.

However, Mr. Kennedy said he would like to know the reasons for the several times the application had been before the board. Accordingly he said he was ruling for an adjournment instead of dismissal.

Mayor J. R. Ellis was not present at the hearing but following the adjournment said he had no idea that the city was expected to present evidence in support of its application for a zoning change.

"If I had known this was required it would have been done,or a decision would have been made," he said.

Mayor Ellis said he had written to Mr. Kennedy after the hearing had been ordered but the OMB chairman had declined to discuss the matter.

The request for a zoning change for the two lots on Dundas Street has been before city council for several years and has twice been turned down by the OMB.

The Belleville and Suburban Planning Board does not support the proposed zoning change.

At today's hearing Mr. Hurley presented the city's bylaw and application and stated the city was producing no evidence in support of its application.

But Mr. Kennedy said it was an OMB requirement that the city establish reasons for its bylaw, otherwise the application would be dismissed.

Mr. Hurley replied he had received no instructions from the city to present evidence and asked for a brief adjournment to allow him to confer with the city manager.

The recess was granted and on his return to the council chambers Mr. Hurley asked for adjournment of the case until a later date.

The rezoning question was last reviewed by the OMB on Nov. 21 of 1966.

The ruling at that time was against the application, but a further review of the request was ordered by the Ontario cabinet.

The request for rezoning to allow a medical clinic on Dundas Street was first made some years ago by Dr. J. N. Hart. The request was turned down and the two Dundas Street lots were later sold to Dr. Williamson who constructed a new building as an addition to an existing residence.

Under the existing bylaw the operation of medical office in connection with a doctor's personal residence is permitted. The bylaw change would allow the operation of a clinic without the proviso of attached residence.

Group Captain A. J. Pudsey, commanding officer No. 6 Repair Depot, casts critical eye from rear of ranks as he inspects Belleville Air Cadets.

Air Cadets Get 'Once Over' By the Inspecting Officer

The new look in cadet groups aims at enlisting their teenage members in the fundamentals of citizenship, Group Captain A. J. Pudsey, commanding officer No. 6 Repair Depot, stressed last night.

And such corps now total 20,000 members across Canada, he told Belleville's 60 air cadet squadron.

The reminders came after the group captain reviewed close to 60 members of the squadron at its annual inspection in Belleville Armouries on the 29th anniversary of the Air Cadet League.

The league originally was founded to produce personnel for the RCAF, but now its aims have broadened to keep pace with the times.

"Besides its military training it also emphasizes citizenship, community affairs and tolerance in daily living," he said.

"Each one of these principles is a fundamental building prop in the moulding of the character of young Canadians," he said.

After inspecting the corps, taking the march past salute and seeing a precision drill team, he also complimented the corps for its turnout which he found "generally, above average."

The youthful corpsmen also received some congratulations from mayor Jack Ellis.

"The people who count most in a community are those who contribute," said the mayor. "There's a marked difference in people and this is usually attributable to the training they've had."

Parents of the cadets were on hand to view the inspection ceremonies.

Many Use Expo Day Liner

Residents of Belleville are making full use of the daily Expo liner to Montreal.

According to Frank Becker, assistant passenger sales manager with the CNR in Belleville, between 35 and 75 passengers per day are travelling on the liner.

The run was set up less than a month ago to provide daily service to Montreal with a return trip arriving in Belleville shortly after twelve midnight.

"So far the new service hasn't had to turn anyone away," Mr. Becker said, "but it has been crowded."

Group tours are also available on the service and Mr. Becker says several Belleville groups will be travelling on next week.

The CNR started the run using three units, seating approximately 75 passengers, but on busy days they are using as many as five units.

Coalfax In City Last Time

A familiar visitor to the Belleville harbor over the year, the Great Lakes coaler "Coalfax" has delivered her last load of coal to Bay of Quinte ports.

The coaler, built in 1927, is en route to Spain where she will join her last cargo on the scrap heap. She was last in Kingston under tow about 10 days ago bound for Quebec where the hull will be loaded with scrap iron before proceeding on the Atlantic journey.

The Coalfax and other similar sized coast boats have been superseded by bigger haulers which followed after completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway. Fully loaded she was capable of carrying 3,700 tons of coal and had a crew of 29 men.

Railway Veterans Honored

The "Senators," sixteen veterans of the CN Railways, who have conquered eighty years of full lives and are ranked as such, were head table guests of the Belleville Branch of the CN Pensioners' Association Wednesday at the Canara Club. The occasion was the closing luncheon meeting of the Belleville and district CN pensioners, a summer recess follows, after which the meetings will be resumed in October. The seniors in years of the senators were James "Jimmy" Cooper and Henry "Hank" Sheriden, both of whom operated locomotives in the era of steam power for close to fifty years, most of these years on the Belleville Division of the old Grand Trunk and its successor the Canadian National.

Some seventy members attended the closing function in honor of their seniors in years, the usual Toronto contingent being absent on account of the death of the retired conductor, Fred "Tony" Norris, who passed away in Toronto in his eightieth year on Monday, May 22, and whose funeral they were attending. Mr. Norris was a respected and popular member of the Pensioners' Association. He had been constant in attendance at the Belleville meetings, having created something of a record in not having missed a single scheduled meeting since the formation of the Belleville club in 1952. A message of sympathy, signed by all those present, has been forwarded to his former home in Toronto.

Mr. J. K. "Ken" Fleming, CN Passenger Sales Manager for the Rideau Area, which includes Belleville and district, addressed the luncheon audience and read from a prepared script a synopsis of what is being done in the way of furthering the CN program of bettering the railway's service to the travelling public. He described the services already installed, the crack Rapides operating between Montreal and Toronto, the fastest trains on the continent; the Expo-liners now serving Bellevillians and other travellers to Canada's greatest triumph in showmanship, the Expo in Montreal, and coming in July of the ultimate in passenger movement the Turbos, an entirely new concept diesel-electric type now in service. It is possible to schedule the time of these new turbos one full hour faster than the present record-breaking Rapides on the runs between Toronto and Montreal. The new elapsed time between these points will be three hours and fifty-nine minutes instead of the four hours and fifty-nine minutes of the Rapidos. Test runs have already been made and regular schedules have been arranged for when the trains become fully operational.

Following Mr. Fleming's address the meeting was adjourned for the usual session of reminiscences and tall tale-telling of speed-guns unlikely to be surpassed by any new innovations in the field of power-propelled equipment. It might be said that steam power has a fascination that is lacking in these modern days of electricity and the harnessing of the atom.

Amalgamation Setback

Fears among some members of City Council that amalgamation of rural high school areas with the Bay of Quinte high school district may increase the burden on Belleville taxpayers has led to a postponement of any such merger.

The six to five vote against amalgamation is a reflection of the closeness of the ballot.

Alderman Donald Joss presented figures to support that by amalgamation "we are going to increase the school population by 25 per cent but increase the tax base by only seven percent." He said it was easy to estimate that the move would mean increased taxes for the Quinte District High School area.

Others had similar doubts, including Alderman J. Russell Scott (Belleville citizens, he said, might be shortchanged if the amalgamation went through), although he voted in favor of the motion.

A key element in this situation is the issue of government grants. Alderman Joss says in effect, provincial government must increase its grants to allow for the expansion of facilities envisaged by amalgamation. Mayor Ellis says the government has given an assurance there will be no increase in costs for three years as a result of amalgamation. However, he agrees the government should bear a greater share of educational costs.

Mr. Ellis goes further and says that as chairman of the Mayors and Reeves Association resolutions committee he plans to press the government to assume 80 per cent of the cost of education.

For the time being the note of caution which counsels a 6-1 vote against amalgamation is one that bears reflection. It indicates that council, at a time when estimates for the coming financial year have increased considerably, is not prepared to be stampeded into a situation that could mean still higher taxes for everyone.

Mayor Ellis hopes to re-introduce the motion. Clearly, some further study as to the cost factor is necessary before the measure obtains a majority vote.

Population and Growth

The latest in Canada's population count from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics makes interesting reading.

While there has been a slight revision of earlier estimates, the 20,000,000 plus mark is now an established fact. The government bureau says it is now clear the population of Canada passed 20 million during May 1966 and by April 1 this year had reached an estimated 20,334,000.

It comes as no surprise that the rate of growth in recent years has declined, a fact attributed to the use of oral contraceptives and slackened immigration.

That Ontario and Quebec are the provinces where most of the action and growth are in Canada is also borne out by the fact that they accounted for 70 per cent of the 1,776,633 population growth for all Canada between 1961 and 1966.

Ontario of course remains the most populous region with more than seven million. Here are the latest estimates of the DBS, as of April 1, to the nearest thousand:

Newfoundland 500,000, Prince Edward Island 109,000, Nova Scotia 756,000, New Brunswick 619,000, Quebec 5,854,000, Ontario 7,114,000, Manitoba 961,000, Saskatchewan 955,000, Alberta 1,483,000, British Columbia 1,938,000, Yukon 15,000, Northwest Territories 29,000. Total 20,334,000.

Looking at these figures and considering that Canada covers an area of 3,621,616 square miles, the country still is relatively unpopulated. At the same time Canada is one of the wealthiest and most stable nations.

Assuming that the decades ahead will be peaceful (an assumption of faith rather than any real belief that there will be peace in our time) Canada may look forward to unlimited progress. But we need people, more and more of them. And we need people with skills and good education.

We read somewhere that in the world at large vast numbers of people are still illiterate. In Canada there is no excuse for such a condition existing any more. At the same time, despite our elaborate and costly educational facade, the country is not producing as dedicated or as skilled a people as it needs.

Among Canada's 20 millions there are many fine young people, but among those who attend university, and who are tomorrow's generation of professional people, there are many others whose dedication is less concerned with education than with the Yorkville-hippie-LSD-beatnik cult. However, that is another story, and if we can continue to produce a strong element of capable, well-balanced young people the country need not fear for tomorrow or be overly concerned with the whimsies of the dropouts of our day.

Pearson's 'Youth' Use Our Taxes to Hard Sell Legal LSD

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — So Prime Minister Pearson's impetuous Company of Young Canadians is mobilizing youth that their parents and other usually-respected authorities are "panicking in rushing a bill through the Senate" to control the use and hopefully prevent the abuse of the drug LSD.

The modifying "usually" is needed because of "panicked," because the way things are — helped along by the Company, among other advocates of the swinging youth - must - be - served - no-matter - what - school - parents don't always get respect.

And defiance of authority has become a way of life at some levels of the Not-So-Brave-New-World.

But to go on with the part the Company of Young Canadians— assisted by another $2,445,000 of your tax money — is playing in the Not-So-Quiet Youth Revolution, the adult world is supposed to be panicking over LSD because "the older generation's scared of us."

The quote comes from an executive of the Company who further explained the drug LSD — "even through" the control bill, hasn't done its homework on medical research.

The Prime Minister's oddball Company which, including this year's budget, is costing the tax payers a three-year total $3,699,000, should know better. Of the facts before itself "panicking" over the Senate bill.

For it turns out, according to the evidence before a special Senate Committee pondering the problem of LSD that medical scientists were consulted. Among them just happened to be Dr. A. C. Hardman, Director of the Bureau of Scientific Advisory Services of the Department of National Health and Welfare.

And his evidence is not exactly calculated to send the Company into raptures of joy because some of its favorite people — the "best" element in university life — stand accused of initially making LSD a problem and continuing to compound it.

Dr. Hardman told the committee that the practice of using LSD to "journey" to the outer spaces of the mind was imported from California campuses into Canada by way of universities in Vancouver.

From there it spread rapidly into what Dr. Hardman warned the Senate investigators was "university and high school myth" across the country.

At this point, Senator David Croll, by no means of the imagination — even of the Company's or the LSD crowd's — could be called an old fuddy-duddy, offered some arresting evidence.

Not, mind you, hard, documentary evidence, but word-of-mouth testimony which, considering that Dave Croll is an eminent lawyer, pretty well has to be taken as read.

Senator Croll, who even the Young Company would admit, was perhaps grudgingly, is still very much with it," at the lionized-by old age of 67, told the Senate Committee he had been informed that American draft-dodgers, made welcome as "refugees" in the sanctuary of some Canadian universities, have been peddling LSD.

The swinging Senator who still, as always, "makes the scene", responded that these boys, not men enough to fight for their own flag and country, have been pushing LSD to raise grocery, irrigation and threats money.

Dr. Hardman suggested that these draft-dodgers with their LSD sales could have been accomplish be a part of what he described as the "expensive spread" of the use and abuse of the drug.

He was quick to warn of the fallacy of the current rationalization that the swingers of today with their LSD really aren't much different than the collegiate crowd of the roaring 20's who got their kicks from aspirin-in Coke.

If any of the kids of 40 years ago thought they got a lift from Coke-with-aspirin, smiled the reminiscing medical researcher, it was all in their imagination, dreamed up out of the superabundance of exuberance.

With LSD it was different — it was dangerous — for the drug was simply too terribly powerful in its wild influence on the mind to be played with.

Finally, the Senate was told, with the arrival of the draft-dodgers on Canadian campuses, shops sprang up, especially in Toronto's Yorkville, promoting "accessories" for "trips" with LSD.

"You might call them travel agencies," crooked someone around the Committee table.

But nobody laughed.

Defence Dilemma

Can We Afford to Share Costly U.S. Plans for NORAD?

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — There is mounting evidence that by the time Canada and the United States discuss renewal of the North American air defence agreement next year the United States will have decided to move into a costly new phase of missile defence.

This will pose a new nuclear problem for the Canadian government. It will have to decide whether it will continue to play in the integrated NORAD system with the U.S.

Walter Gordon, minister without portfolio in the Canadian cabinet, recently suggested Canada should consider pulling out of NORAD on the grounds that the costs of putting up a credible defence may be getting beyond its means.

U.S. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara's latest press conference strongly indicated he is thinking now of installing a limited form of missile defence. Recent testimony by his research chief, McGill - educated John S. Foster Jr., supports that assumption.

The U.S. proposed to the Soviet Union six months ago that negotiations be held in an effort to prevent such a costly new race. The U.S. said last November the Soviet Union had already started to put a missile defence system around Moscow.

LITTLE PROGRESS

However, little progress with the Soviet Union has been made, McNamara said, "although we continue to be hopeful." It is not why the Soviet Union has been dragging its feet is unclear and theories run from anger over U.S. policy in Vietnam to a Russian conviction that talks won't get anywhere.

But there is growing political pressure to start a missile system in the United States. The more fiction than fact as it turned out, was a hot Republican-Democrat issue in the 1960 U.S. presidential campaign.

President Johnson has enough troubles now without adding more. He could face a Republican party accusation that he is endangering U.S. security by lagging in missile defence.

McNamara has been holding out against the generals but what he had to say most recently points to a decision to go ahead with a "thin" defence costing $4,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000. This would be adequate to protect the U.S. generally from any attack that China might be able to mount in seven to 10 years.

A heavy attack such as the Soviet Union might unleash would be much harder to defend against, and much more costly.

However, once the U.S. and the Soviet Union are seriously ahead — even under agreement to limit their missile defences — other nations can be expected to tag along. McNamara says he would "guess" that India probably would want a rocket defence against China.

There has been no indication that the U.S. wants or needs any Canadian territory to use to say missile defence system. Canada's dilemma would be whether to extend the U.S. system by adding its own equipment.

In any attack on the U.S., some American missiles might explode high over Canada but the nuclear fallout would be broadly dispersed and much of it retained in space. Faster, shorter-range rockets, used to pick off enemy missiles which penetrated the system, could cause heavy heat, blast and fallout damage, however.

Whooping Cranes Scarce

Chicago Sun-Times

If there were just 43 human beings left alive on the face of the earth, and you were one of them, and you were all in Texas and had to go to Canada, and the route was populated by enemy bands with long-range weapons and quick trigger fingers — well, imagine all that, and you've put yourself in the place of one of the world's surviving whooping cranes.

The Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife says that the 43 cranes have begun their migration from the Arkansas National Wildlife Refuge on the gulf coast to their mating area near the Great Slave Lake, in Canada.

They're protected by federal law, but human nature being what it is, the bureau still warned residents along the way not to harm any large white bird. The object is to preserve the species, and increase it if possible.

Some species have vanished not through the implacable forces of natural selection but because of man's stupid depredation. The whooping cranes are defenceless, vulnerable, few and en route. May their tribe increase.

In Germany Too

Suburbia—And Alienation of Self in the Big City

Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung, W. Germany

Most people are aware of the many disadvantages of buying a new house, whether it is a modern-style terrace house in a new estate or a detached house in a residential area.

The chief problem is the distance, not only from one's place of work, but also from the city centre. Suburbia is no longer the unqualified paradise it once was.

The disappearance of the community spirit, the isolation of the children, the high public expenditure involved in opening up these outlying settlements and the eventual depopulation of the countryside— this is the combination of factors that could and should dampen this very passion to have a home of one's own that was deliberately fired not so long ago by government social policy.

It is an open question whether a development that has been fostered by the powerful instruments of state policy sides can be reversed. A home of one's own is more than a canny proof. It is the expression of a deep-seated desire for a solid foundation in life and, indeed, security.

This is an unalterable sociological fact not only in the Federal Republic but in other countries, such as France, however politicians and technologists may construe it.

People do not want to remain tenants all their lives at the mercy of some property-owner. They want their own plot of land where their children can grow up away from the prying eyes of others. They want their own gardens too.

These are all valid reasons and they explain just why people with moderate, and often very low incomes skimp and save for years to raise the deposit on a mortgage, and then continue to go without in order to meet the repayments.

Although there are not a few disillusioned people said to be ready at a moment's notice to return to the city they once fled, no significant trend in this direction seems to have developed. There remains the question why people seek out this isolation, or what they fondly believe to be isolation.

The desire to get away from an oppressive landlord, to bring up children in a quiet suburban atmosphere, or simply to be able to potter about in the garden — however dispersed these motives may seem, they all spring from a common source.

We are not a sociable people. We are, contrary to the popular myth, a nation of solitude-seekers. We live in separate units in sociable family groups.

Let no one say we are naturally gregarious, for such a statement stands in need of verification. This label can no longer be hung on many. Indeed, most of us.

We are a nation of cranks.

Every day we undergo the ritual of driving huge distances to work and returning home on congested main roads. We put up with the restricted outlook of the village where we have built the home.

We do not know what secondary school to send our children to, where to go shopping, how to see a decent film, let alone a play or concert.

We must be made to live in the country, and yet we are happy.

In the towns the in-call of switched-on teenagers is spreading. In the cities everything is happening, from the mini-skirt to the drive-in boutique. Families are moving to the country and vegetating there because of the difficulties of living in city society with children.

In the country, life is less hectic, less liable to sudden change, less trendy than in the city. And as father and mother concentrate their minds, or what is left of them, on the lettuce patch and the terrace.

Pipeline Proposal

Second Route Could Cost $500,000,000-May Service Quebec

TORONTO (CP) — Northern and Central Gas Co. Ltd. said Wednesday its recommended changes in a proposed natural gas pipeline would raise the total cost to about $500,000,000, including facilities to market gas in Quebec.

The company announced its proposal in Ottawa Tuesday in filing a notice with the National Energy Board. The board is hearing evidence on an application by Trans - Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. for authority to build a second line.

Northern and Central suggested to the board that Trans-Canada's proposed 1,200 - mile line run closer to the north shore of Lake Superior and be extended through Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec City.

Branch lines would feed Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and southern Ontario.

President E. C. Bovey told a news conference the proposed changes are "based on the company's recognition of the needs and potential for natural gas use in as-yet-unserved areas of Eastern Canada, including Northern Ontario and the province of Quebec."

He said the cost would be $365,000,000 for the main transmission line from Western Canada, and $145,000,000 for branch lines and new distribution systems.

Most of that would be needed in Quebec.

Trans-Canada Pipe Lines has estimated its proposed new line, to run beside its existing facility through Northern Ontario would cost $360,000,000.

Mr. Bovey said his company is ready to sign long-term contracts to buy gas from Trans-Canada if the proposed lines were extended to feed Quebec markets.

"What the Northern and Central plan does, which is not within the scope of the Trans-Canada proposal for a supplementary transmission system, is provide for the economic regions of Quebec east of Montreal," he said.

The north shore of the St. Lawrence and the Eastern Townships have more than 60 towns where natural gas could be used economically, Mr. Bovey said.

In five years sales would total $140,000,000, based on projected sales after that time of 175,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily.

In Northern Ontario the proposed route would serve 15 new towns, including Terrace Bay, Marathon, Wawa, Manitouwadge, Elliot Lake and Espanola.

Mr. Bovey said that if NCG's suggestions are rejected, the company will continue to push for an extension of the line. It was not thinking, however, of building the extension itself since Trans - Canada was the transmission company and Northern and Central a distributing company.

Trans - Canada's application for permission to build another line through the North is contingent upon the United States' decision on its bid for approval to build a line south of the Great Lakes. It argues that the U.S. route is cheaper for consumers. A decision is expected soon.

A new pipeline into the East is needed to meet anticipated growing demand.

Northern and Central has supported Trans-Canada's application in the U.S. and Mr. Bovey said it will continue to do so.

If U.S. approval is obtained, he said, Northern and Central would immediately file for an extension of the line to serve the Quebec regions.

Northern and Central recently bought control of Quebec Natural Gas Co., Ltd., a distribution company serving Montreal.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — After a slow start the Toronto Stock Exchange made a modest recovery in morning trading today following Wednesday's sharp drop.

The turn around, although slight, followed the trend at New York.

The industrial index gained .25 to 163.62. It slid 2.03 Wednesday, its sharpest daily drop this year.

Magna Electronics rose ¼ to 19¼, Levy ½ to 18½, Skelon ¼ to 22¾ and Alcan ¼ to 37¼.

Banks continued to take a drubbing for the third consecutive session although there has been no reason given for their decline.

Imperial-Commerce fell 2¼ to 68, Royal ¾ to 73¼ and Montreal ½ to 53.

Consolidated Marbenor highlighted speculative activity, rising 1.00 to 4.10 on 26,800 shares.

Among golds, Dome was up ⅛ to 46¾ and Kerr Addison ¼ to 14½.

In index, golds gained 1.63 to 168.05, base metals .08 to 95.44 while western oils eased .52 to 131.70. Volume by 11 a.m. was 475,000 shares compared with 614,000 at the same time Wednesday.

Wednesday, the exchange suffered its sharpest decline of the year as it followed the heavy sell-off at New York.

Declines outnumbered advances 2 to 1 and the industrial index tumbled 2.03 to 163.37.

Banks fell sharply for the second consecutive session. Royal slid 2 to 80, Nova Scotia ¼ to 44½, and Montreal, Imperial-Commerce and Toronto-Dominion ½ each to 63½, 70¼ and 70, respectively.

Among other industrials, Levy and Consolidated Paper backed off 1½ each to 19 and 29½ and INT, Industrials, CIL and Magna Electronics 1¼ each to 33, 20¼ and 19½, respectively.

Golds tumbled 2.70 on index to 164.42. Dome was off ¼ to 46¾ and Kerr Addison ½ to 14.

On index, base metals dropped .39 to 95.36 and western oils 2.49 to 151.51. Volume was 2,287,000 shares compared with 2,485,000 Tuesday.

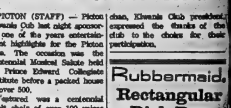
Musical Salute Held

PICTON (STAFF) — Picton Kiwanis Club last night sponsored one of the years entertainment highlights for the Picton area. The occasion was the Centennial Musical Salute held in Prince Edward Collegiate Institute before a packed house of over 500.



Featured was a centennial medley choir of over 100 voices comprised of members of the various church choirs throughout the county. Musical director for the show was A. A. Beevis of Picton United Church. A children's choir of over 150 public school children from the county was also heard and did remarkable job, as did the Harmonette Club's "Men of Brass". The event fell under the direction of Kiwanis Club's Support of Churches Committee and the program was M.C.'d by Past President of the Club, Jean Mason.

Two soloists, both from the Picton area, provided excellent renditions of their respective songs. Reg Bishop of Wellington, Mrs. Ron Coffey of Picton were the two featured soloists.

Colorful touch was the finale when Sea Cadets, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides paraded the flags of the provinces from the centre aisle to the dais. One of the features of the event was the donation and singing of the song "Canada from Sea to Sea" written by a Prince Edward County composer now residing in New York, Gena Branscombe.

Mayor H. J. McFarland presided for the occasion spoke a few words of congratulations to the club and the participants and donated a sum of money to aid the club's work. William Strachan, Kiwanis Club president, expressed the thanks of the club to the choirs for their participation.

Preserving A Culture

Jackson Beardy, 22, is helping preserve his Indian culture by writing a book, commissioned by the Indian affairs department, about the stories and legends of his people. Beardy was asked to write the book because of his paintings, which depict Indian legends. He is a Cree, born on a reserve 350 miles north of Winnipeg.

Former Teachers, Pupils Will Visit Old Schools

Sunday, May 28, will be home coming day for former teachers and pupils at the one-roomed schools in Tyendinaga township.

A new central school is currently under construction north of Highway 401 on the Shannonville gravel. The Tyendinaga centennial committee and home and school committees have planned "open house" for each of the single rooms schools before they are closed for good.

The biggest school in the present system is that at the village of Shannonville and committees have been poring over old school records in an effort to get the names and addresses of all former students and teachers.

Altogether 185 invitations have gone out and former teachers living in all parts of Ontario are expected to return for the day.

And the same is true for all the other schools in the township where the welcome mat will be out on Sunday to allow former students and teachers to have a last look at their old school rooms.

You can count on it. The easy taste of 5 Star whisky will please you every time.

It pleases us, too. But when it comes to making 5 Star, things are a little more difficult. We select whiskies from our 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 distilleries across Canada (only Seagram's has 5, by the way). Then we blend and re-blend them to get 5 Star's easy taste.

Is the taste worth all the trouble? Easy for you to find out.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Preparation of Pork Chops

By MARY MOORE

A friendly reader told my sister Doris that I give liver too much attention in this column. (I do not think I give it enough attention.) A budgeting wife said her husband loves pork chops and asked for more ways to prepare them.

Sometimes I have to be a charitable cook!

So today pork chops it is.

Our minister emeritus was one of our guests and it was he who said, "These Devilled Pork Chops are heavenly". I should add that you will like them because they are easy.

Mine were a "special — quarter pork loin" — with ten ¾" thick chops to a cardboard meat tray weighing 2 pounds and cost me $1.27 and served 5 people.

DEVILLED PORK CHOPS
(serves 5)

Ten ½" thick, lean pork chops.

DORIS CLARE

Dear Doris: I have always felt that I would some day lose my husband. We have had a number of small crises; the reason for them usually being that he doesn't show any affection or consideration that a husband who loves his wife should. He loves the children (two small boys) and would never hurt them.

Not long ago he was laid off at work and went to another centre where there was a new development. We didn't hear from him, and then I got a letter saying he had a job but wasn't sure he liked the place.

Then another letter came, saying he needed more time and he wasn't sure he loved us! I flew down and had a talk with him, and he assured me he didn't want a separation. He does not run around with other women. I felt much better.

Since then I have had one letter. Still no decision. My father says he is no good and won't come back. It's heartbreaking waiting around for him to want us. — Too Much In Love.

Dear Too Much: Tell your husband from me that he made that decision years ago. Now it's his job to stick with it. Love isn't something you take out and examine daily, no more than you'd uproot a tender plant to see how the roots are doing. You'd water it and give it sunshine. And believe in it.

His doubts come of his unbelief in himself; and your binge on your own sense of inadequacy.

Father isn't helping any. Do three things:

(1) Ask your family to call off the criticisms. This is your business.

(2) Inform Hubby that you are either moving to where he is or insist that he come back home.

(3) Take some steps to improve your marriage, physically and socially. I'm sending you a book list for a start.

Dear Doris: I am 15 years old and would like to know if you could tell how, where, and when I can will my eyes, liver, heart and every other useful part of my body to a bank.

I would like to will them to be a transplant for someone else when I die. — Have Hart

Dear Have Hart: My medical consultant tells me that in most instances medical authorities are anxious to get the transplant organs from a young healthy adult or adolescent.

In most provinces, one can will his or her body or parts thereof to various banks. Write to your nearest university medical school, which can give you details of how it is done where you are. And then you'll have to have the consent of your parents.

Heartbreak Harry: I'll believe you are growing up when you stop going overboard for every girl who comes your way. Next time suspect your feelings a little—and control them. It scares a girl off when you fall head over heels for her in the first five minutes.

Please make letters brief as possible — not more than two pages. And remember that stamped envelope.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Pot Roast of Beef; Rich Brown Gravy; * Mashed Potatoes; Creamed White Onions; Relish Tray: Radishes, Chunk Pickles, Celery; Butterscotch Pudding; Coffee

SUNDAY
(Gourmet Guests)

Devilled Pork Chops (see Thurs.); Crumbed Sliced Eggplant; Asparagus with Hollandaise; Cucumber Aspic on Endive with Cardinal Dressing; Croquembouche (a cream puff dessert) or Cream Puffs (see Tues. and Wed.); Tea.

MARINADE:

¼ cup catsup or chili sauce
2 tsps. Worcestershire Sauce
1 tsp. prepared mustard
2½ tbsps. lemon juice
¼ tsp. onion powder (or 1 tsp. grated onion)
¼ tsp. paprika
½ tsp. salt.

Mix all seven marinade ingredients together. Arrange one layer of pork chops in shallow baking dish. Spread marinade over surfaces of chops. Add second layer of chops. Brush with marinade. Continue until all chops are added and all marinade used. Chill 4 hrs., turning over after 2 hrs. Drizzle ¼ cup hot water over top and bake uncovered 1½ to 1¾ hrs. For first 15 min. the temperature should be 400 deg. Fahr. then reduced to 275 deg. Fahr., turning chops over once during this period.

Serve directly, from casserole, spooning some of the juices over each chop.

We served these with fresh frozen mashed Hubbard squash seasoned with butter and salt and nutmeg, and asparagus accompanied by hot melted butter. An easy meal for clock-watchers.

Successful Living

Husband Is Not Sure That He Loves Family

Living High For Family at Rankin Inlet

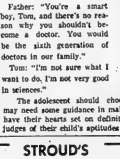
TORONTO (CP)—Feeding a family of six in a remote inlet on the west side of Hudson Bay is an expensive proposition, say Mr. and Mrs. Claude Grenier.

Mr. Grenier, who teaches Eskimos to Eskimos living on Rankin Inlet about 320 miles north of Churchill, Man., talked about his life there while in Toronto for an Eskimo art exhibition.

The Greniers and the other 300 residents of Rankin Inlet, including 250 Eskimos, pay $18 for 100 pounds of potatoes, $7.50 for 12 dozen eggs, $2 a pound for chicken and $7 for a TV dinner.

Food isn't the only expensive item, the Greniers said. A case of beer costs $7.50 and a gallon of gas 90 cents.

To help solve the food problem, the Greniers have a whole year's supply of meat delivered in the summer from a meat packer. Their 800-pound order is then placed in a freezer.



"We do a lot of ordering from the catalogues and we get delivery in about two or three weeks," Mrs. Grenier said. "Fresh meat and fruit is flown in from Churchill twice a week if the weather permits and mail days are Mondays and Fridays."

In winter, temperatures fall to around 60 or 70 below zero. Winds can reach 100 miles an hour. The Greniers and their two sets of twins, Isobel and Oliver, 5, and Heloise and Charles, 2, dress accordingly.

"We will probably stay there for about two more years," said Mr. Grenier. "It is a marvelous experience, the older children now speak French, English and Eskimo and we enjoy the people."

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Father: "You're a smart boy, Tom, and there's no reason why you shouldn't become a doctor. You would be the sixth generation of doctors in our family."

Tom: "I'm not sure what I want to do. I'm not very good in sciences."

The adolescent should choose his own vocation, but he may need some guidance in making his decison. Parents who have their interests set on definite career may not be the best judges of their child's aptitudes and desires.

Mother: "We have an appointment with Tom's counsellor at school. His aptitude tests will help show what Tom is capable of, and the counsellor may be able to find out what he is most interested in. I don't think he should study medicine just to please us."

MOUNTAIN VIEW — The May meeting of Mountain View WI was held at the home of Mrs. Wilfred Molley with Mrs. Fred Molley as co-hostess.

Plans were made for the centennial tea to be held at Mountain View Church June 7.

Mrs. Frank Roblin was in charge of the program, which began with a sing-song of old favorites. Mrs. David Farmer said two solos. Mrs. E. Hall and Mrs. Roblin gave readings and a contest was conducted.

Mrs. Don Lockyer will show pictures of Nigeria at the next meeting, June 1 in the church basement.

Ann Landers

This Reader Should Never Get Married

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Most of your complainers are women — married women, which is no surprise because every married woman in the United States is dissatisfied with her lot. It makes no difference if she is rich or poor, ugly or beautiful, she is dissatisfied.

The world is changing and I think it's time the social structure changed, too. Marriage is no longer mutually beneficial. Furthermore, if a man marries a woman for sex, he is really a fool, because most men get more sex before marriage than after.

The following lines are from a sound track which could have been made in any block in the United States. Of course, it is the wife who speaks:

"You don't stay home enough. Why did you get married if you want to run around all the time?"

"I am getting sick and tired of staying home. If I don't hear some adult voices once in a while I'll crack up."

"Your manners are terrible."

"We don't need a new car. We need new carpeting."

"Why don't you take your son to the ball game instead of those drunken bums you call friends?"

"All you think about is sex."

"If you don't pay some attention to me, you're going to regret it. After all, I'm not made of stone."

To you newlyweds who are now saying to yourselves, "our marriage is not like that," I say, "Just wait, it's a matter of time." — NOT MARRIED AND GLAD OF IT.

DEAR NOT MARRIED: I'm glad you do some nice girl a big favor, and stay single. A man who has such a low opinion of women would make a mighty poor husband.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to respond to the person who wrote to say "People who have nervous breakdowns are only trying to shirk their duty to their families — trying to hide from responsibility."

Speaking from personal experience, I can tell you that having a nervous breakdown is a horrible experience. It is like trying to wake up from a bad dream. It's feeling terribly sad and alone and frightened of things you can't explain.

My wife of over 30 years divorced me and took my children from me because I embarrassed her during my illness. Some of my closest friends want nothing to do with me now because they consider me a nut. If I had had cancer, they would have sent flowers to the hospital and prayed for my recovery. I can't begin to describe the terrible hurt you feel when you find you have fought your way back to nothing. Print this letter because too many people have no understanding of mental illness. — NED.

DEAR NED: Here's your letter, and an excellent one it is. Generally speaking, there is a better understanding of mental illness today than 20 years ago — but still far too many people hold prejudiced, narrow-minded views. Letters like yours serve to educate. Thanks for taking the time to write.

TRENT VALLEY EXECUTIVE

STIRLING — Mrs. Harry Shearer presided at the Trent Valley Area Women's Institute executive meeting at the Peterborough fair board office, Monday.

A new banner was ordered and each of the seven districts are expected to take their banners to the convention at Club Argon, Peterborough, Oct. 5-8. Theme of the convention will be, 70 Years and Onward. Several members are expected to wear centennial costumes. Last year $20 was collected for the pennies for friendship at the convention and provisions for voluntary contributions will be made again this year.

Plans include election of officers Oct. 6 and a centennial entertainment Oct. 5. Guest speaker will include Mrs. Everett Small, provincial president and Miss Helen McKercher, director of the home economics branch, Ontario Dept. of Agriculture.

Mr. James F. McCarey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. McCarey, received his Bachelor of Art degree from St. Patrick's College of the University of Ottawa, at convocation in Ottawa on Sunday, May 21. James is a graduate of Belleville Collegiate Institute.

Mini Skirt Still Out In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — The mini-skirt hasn't made it in Moscow this spring.

Girls have reappeared after being bundled up all winter, but with less of them showing than girl-watchers had bored.

There are knees aplenty but that's all. A few daring young things have shortened hems a couple of inches more, but this provokes frowns of disapproval from older women.

It looked last fall as if a mini-skirt breakthrough was in the making. The All - Union House of Fashions introduced skirts as much as four inches above the knee. But they never reached the stores. Spring and summer lines discreetly hide not only the thigh but the knee as well.

The designers apparently were overruled by conservative types in the distribution end of the garment industry. The girls who are displaying knees short-ened their skirts at home.

There is evidence that the female population — the part with good legs, anyhow — is restive about the lack of exposure.

Moskovski Komsomolets, a newspaper for young people, urged its leaders "Not to get excited by short skirts." It argued that "they look beautiful only on very slim figures." Russians tend to be squat.

The paper avoided taking too conservative a line, no doubt thinking of its young audience, and stood for compromise and flexibility.

Providing hope for those disappointed by this spring's skirts, the paper reported that a check with the garment industry showed that shorter skirts are planned for next year.

Not too short, it quickly added, giving no figures.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Campbell, Belleville, George Campbell was graduated from the University of Guelph May 17 in the recreation course. He is a graduate of Quinte Secondary School and has accepted a position with the parks and recreation commission of the city of St. Catharines.

Country Fair to Open New Rylstone Park

RYLSTONE — Rylstone Women's Institute's centennial project, Barnum Centennial Community Park, will be opened June 10 with a country fair.

The one and one-half acre park is situated at the eastern end of county highway 28 and the Rawdon Township boundary line. It is part of the farm formerly owned by the late Fred W. Barnum. The original owner, Caleb Barnum, took possession of the farm in 1867 and his descendants will be represented on the program by Alfred Barnum, 92, oldest member of the family.

Warden of the United Counties of Durham and Northumberland, Merrill Van Camp, will officiate in the opening ceremonies. Local members of parliament, county and municipal officials and charter members of Rylstone Women's Institute will also be present.

Music will be provided by the Sentinel Pipe Band and an orchestra. Art, crafts, antique and hobby shows will be featured, including displays by the art club of Campbellford, straw hat, rug, taxidermy and quilt making demonstrations, a weaving display from Marmora and liquid embroidery and furniture refinishing exhibits. A sale of blankets will be conducted.

For the children a merry-go-round will be set up. Several draws will be held and a bake table and bazaar will be conducted. Local school children, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides will have displays. W. C. Stapley will bring his steam engine and farm machinery will be exhibited. Making of soap and butter will be demonstrated.

Rylstone WI will serve a buffet luncheon at noon.

Centennial Tea Held By St. James' CWL

The rectory of St. James' The Minor Church, Stirling, was the scene of a centennial tea sponsored by the Catholic Women's League. Greeting the guests was the president, Mrs. Ray Burley, costumed in a gay Gibson Girl ensemble, assisted by League secretary, Miss Alice O'Donnell. Taking tickets was Mrs. John Ryan in a centennial gown of pink taffeta trimmed with black lace.

A variety table convened by Mrs. Stanley Meeks, assisted by Mrs. Douglas Robson, drew a large crowd of admirers. Also on display were several antique items, among these was a set of Queen Victoria china, dated 1837. A Paisley shawl of the 1780 period, and a pair of hand engraved silver tea pots, about 13 years old, heirlooms of the Edward Brown family of St. Michael's Parish, Belleville.

The bake table was convened by Mrs. J. R. Donohue, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Donohue and Mrs. Gerald Kerby.

The guests were invited into the tea room by hostess Mrs. John Doran. Small old-fashioned kerosene lamps were used on the individual tables while larger ones, centred by a centennial floral arrangement of red, white and blue 'mums were on the tea table. Those pouring throughout the afternoon were, Mrs. J. Bush, Mrs. G. Haggarty, Mrs. J. Green, Mrs. F. Harding, Mrs. James Lagrow, Mrs. J. L. Donohue all of Stirling. Mrs. Earle Baker, Frankford, Mrs. E. J. Hunter, Trenton, Mrs. Breen O'Connor, Marmora and Mrs. Thomas Kelly, Stoco.

The kitchen was convened by Mrs. Roy LeChappelle and her assistants, Mrs. Philip Meadby sold tickets on a centennial quilt, designed by Mrs. John Doran and quilted by Mrs. J. L. Donohue. Later in the afternoon, Mrs. Thomas Kelly, Diocesan president of the Catholic Women's League, drew the winning tickets. Mrs. Harold Baker, Stirling, won the quilt. Otto Bloedorn, Peterborough, won two adult passports to Expo.

In keeping with the motif of the afternoon, many of the guests arrived in centennial costumes.

At the close of the tea a presentation was made to Rev. J. F. McGarvey, pastor of St. James' Parish, commemorating the 15th anniversary of his ordinations to the priesthood.

Delegates Vote On Motions

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Delegates vote today on recommendations already read before the 47th annual convention of the London Diocesan Council of the Catholic Women's League of Canada.

On the fate of two days of meetings at the University of Windsor, the 200 delegates heard such topics aired as the need for a wider knowledge of legal aspects of family problems, a greater relaxation of immigration laws and the urgency of a father understanding of education practices.

Delegates also reported the local councils had spent more than 3,000 hours during the last year in aiding the sick, offering baby care services, collecting community funds and assisting the indigent.

More than $3,200 was raised to purchase clothing and craft materials for the needy. League members adopted four children, paid 4,000 visits to the sick, made 1,000 dressings for cancer patients at clinics and found 17 foster homes.

Some 25 local councils assisted Indian-Eskimo missions with financial aid, clothing, electrical appliances, cola and canned goods.

Michael H. Winrow

Mr. and Mrs. John Legate of Belleville announce the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne Marie, to Michael Harry Winrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Winrow of Chippawa, Ontario. Marriage will take place on Saturday, June 24, 1967, at 12 noon in St. Joseph's Church, Belleville. Mr. Winrow is a graduate in chemical engineering from Queen's University, Kingston, while Miss Legate is a graduate from the Hotel Dieu School of Nursing, Kingston.

Women Get Advice From CAS Worker

VINELAND, Ont. (CP)—Mary Hancock, supervisor of protection and family services of the Children's Aid Society of St. Catharines, said Wednesday that a man should not be called a bum just because he doesn't work.

Speaking at the annual convention of the Catholic Women's League of the St. Catharines Diocese, Mrs. Hancock said often a man cannot get or hold a steady job, but he should not be written off.

She also accused parents of giving children too much too soon out of fear of not being modern. When parents are strong enough, the family will settle down and the children will behave, she said.

Ontario provincial secretary Robert Welch, chancellor of the Niagara Diocese, said it is the job of all Christians to extend the dignity of man against the recalcitrances of society.

Mrs. Joseph Cartier, Chippawa, Ont., was elected president of the St. Catharines diocese council. Other officers include vice - president Loretta Willick, Snyder, Ont., Mrs. J. M. Nesbitt, Wellington, Mrs. C. G. Rivier, Port Colborne, recording secretary Mrs. J. L. Bowman, Thornhill, and treasurer Mrs. Frank Monaco of Wellington.

Quintena Rebekahs Fete Assembly Officer

Members of Quintena Rebekah Lodge No. 113 celebrated the Lodge's 54th anniversary with a Sister Clara Ironside night recently. Mrs. Ironside has brought honor to Quintena Lodge and the district by being appointed musician of the Rebekah Assembly of Ontario. This is only the second time in its 54 years that Quintena has been honored by having an Assembly officer appointed from among its members.

Mayrell Sills, Noble Grand, presided and welcomed the president of the Rebekah Assembly of Ontario and several Assembly officers. The guard of honor, under the direction of Alice Adams PNG, escorted the guests. Present for the occasion were representatives from Stirling, Tweed, Picton, Harrowsmith and three District Deputy Presidents. The guests were presented with corsages from the Lodge.

Mae Robinson was escorted to the altar by Lorna Bird, PDDP and presented with her 15 year jewel by Bessie Baldrick PNG, who had initiated her. Maude Naylor PDDP, the only charter member able to be present, was introduced.

Mrs. Ironside was presented with her Assembly jewel by the Lodge. Dorothy Webber, accompanied by Lillian Williams sang a solo and following the close of lodge, Verna Woodbeck of Stirling also sang.

A grand march, led by Oress Adams and the Assembly officers, proceeded to the upstairs banquet hall, where the centennial theme was used in the decorations. The birthday cake was decorated with the centennial emblem and flags of all countries decorated the buffet tables. Gladys Bonnor and Winnifred Reid were conveners. Mrs. Ironside cut the cake to bring the party to a close.

Teacher Quits, Indian Girl Takes Over

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—When the teacher quit at Church House, a remote coastal community on the mainland, 50 miles north of the Vancouver Island community, Clara Wilson, a 19-year-old Indian girl, took over the school.

Later she was given a week's teacher training here and this summer will take the summer school kindergarten course at the University of British Columbia's child study centre.

Clara's start on what she likes best, "teaching the little ones who are so eager to learn," began after Christmas.

Ernest Jay, an Indian affairs branch teacher, flew out for the holidays and never returned.

Clara had been helping him teach the two primary grades, but after he left the school was padlocked and the furnace shut off. She asked the Homalco Indian band council to appoint her teacher-aid, after receiving their support, she removed the padlock and got the fire started.

With no teacher training, but with a Grade 12 education lacking only a couple of subjects for university entrance standard, Clara felt qualified for the job.

She is proud of her people and their heritage, and aware that a good education could aid the band, which has a long history of social problems at Church House.

While she taught the primary grades, the remaining pupils, from Grades 3 to 7, studied on their own in the school's other room.

She managed on her own for three months until Norman Schutzer, appointed by the Indian affairs branch, took over.

But the branch also appointed Clara, and she will begin running her own kindergarten classes next fall and assisting in the teaching of primary grades.

Pearson Gives Warning

Without UN, Mid East Could Spark Global War

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson, on the eve of an expected visit by U.S. President Johnson, warned that without United Nations intervention the Middle East crisis could turn into "a global tragedy."

Concluding a two-day Commons debate on foreign policy Wednesday, Mr. Pearson said there was a danger of the United States losing up behind one party in the Egyptian-Israeli border dispute and the U.S.S.R. lining up behind the other.

The only thing that might be able to do a better job than the United Nations would be a conference of the four great powers, he said.

"If they could work together that would be equally effective —and more effective if they worked through the Security Council in doing it."

The prime minister urged all nations to move with caution in the Middle East situation; defended the principle of international peacekeeping; and chided critics of Canada's Vietnam policy for suggesting Canada should denounce the United States for being there.

The government easily weathered two non-confidence votes, one proposed by the Progressive Conservatives criticizing the Liberals for not allowing more time for foreign policy debates and one proposed by the New Democrats urging the government to condemn the United States bombing of North Vietnam.

The NDP sub-amendment was defeated 128 to 34 with the Conservatives split down the middle. Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and 25 others supported the 13 New Democrats who were in the House for the vote. Twenty-nine Social Credit ministers, three independents and one Social Crediter voted with the government.

The Conservative amendment was defeated 97 to 62 with the 13 NDP members voting with the official Opposition.

Mr. Pearson cited four factors that increased the danger of war in the Middle East:

1. The presence of Egyptian forces at a point that controls the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba and thus to Israel's only port with access to the Indian Ocean.

2. The takeover of the Gaza Strip by the Palestine Liberation Army, part of the army of the United Arab Republic.

3. Continued incidents on the Syrian border with Israel.

4. The temptation of both parties to force a conflict "and get it over with."

"If there could be a more explosive situation, I don't know what it is," he said.

Members on both sides of the House thumped their desks when he said future peacekeeping forces must be given a more secure basis for carrying out their duties than that of the UN Emergency Force disbanded last week on the demand of U.A.R. President Nasser.

He said he had objected at the time to the agreement allowing the U.A.R. to insist on withdrawal that the then UN secretary - general Hammarskjold made with President Nasser. Hammarskjold had to agree to it to "get the forces on the spot quickly," he said.

He outlined the Canadian-Danish resolution presented at the Security Council meeting Wednesday afternoon urging all nations to refrain from provocative acts in the Middle East.

In New York, the 15-nation Security Council broke off its emergency meeting without taking any action on the motion.

Replying to a question by Wallace Nesbitt (PC—Oxford) Mr. Pearson said he had his own views on the reasons for the U.A.R. demand for withdrawal of UNEF, but "they are just speculation."

He told Douglas Hackinson, a former Conservative defence minister, that UN authorities believed the UNEF evacuation plan was adequate "provided, of course, that the roof doesn't fall in."

And he explained to NDP Leader Douglas that the Gulf of Aqaba was considered an international waterway, but the U.A.R. does not recognize it.

Discussing the Vietnam conflict, Mr. Pearson said denunciation of the United States presence there would cut or he feared seriously weaken the lines of communication with Washington.

The United States had moved into Vietnam on the invitation of the government to provide protection against forces that would inhibit the South Vietnamese from choosing their own institutions, he said.

And he reminded the House that the war was being conducted in part by a regime in Hanoi which did not allow its own people to have a say in the conduct of their own affairs.

The prime minister said he did not approve of all the U.S. actions and he had not hesitated to speak out publicly when he felt it was necessary.

"But it does not mean and will not mean that we should join the chorus who would denounce the U.S. for being in Vietnam."

UN Force Will Leave Egypt By Ship and Plane Next Month

Dave McIntosh, CP's military affairs writer in Ottawa, is in the Middle East. He covered operations when Canadian forces settled in with the United Nations Emergency Force in the Gaza Strip in 1956, just after the Suez crisis. He was back with UNEF for a spell in 1962. A year later he accompanied a Canadian contingent sent to Cyprus as part of the UN peacekeeping force there. . . . . .

By DAVE McINTOSH

CAIRO (CP)—The United Nations Emergency Force will be evacuated early next month by ship and plane through Port Said under tentative plans described Wednesday by a UN military source.

Canadian forces with UNEF meantime are virtually isolated in Camp Rafah, their base at the junction of the Sinai Desert frontier between Egypt and Israel and the armistice demarcation line between Israel and the Gaza Strip.

Egypt last week demanded the withdrawal of UNEF as perennial Arab-Israeli hostility developed into a warlike crisis. U Thant, UN secretary-general now in Cairo, complied. Official Canadian reluctance provoked a hostile reaction in Egypt.

Thant is attempting to persuade President Nasser of Egypt to agree to the UN Truce Supervisory Organization playing a bigger role in place of UNEF, possibly including a mission in the sensitive Aqaba Gulf region.

Informatic said Wednesday there was no sign of success, although negotiations were continuing.

The UN source said a UNEF evacuation camp would be established at Port Said, the Mediterranean entrance to the Suez Canal where British and French troops landed in the Anglo-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt in 1956.

Settlements after the 1956 battles led to the establishment of UNEF, first along the canal and later on the Sinai and Gaza frontiers.

The Canadian contingent of about 800, which performs supply, maintenance, communications and transport services for UNEF, will be last of the five-country force to leave, the UN source said.

The Canadians are in almost complete isolation in Camp Rafah. The Canadian embassy in Cairo has been unable to telephone Rafah. Embassy officials are not allowed to visit the camp, about 225 air miles northwest of Cairo.

The Egyptians charge Canada is involved in a conspiracy with the United States, Britain and Israel to make UNEF "a colonialist force."

The charge is based on the Canadian stand that the UNEF withdrawal demand should have been referred to the UN General Assembly and Ottawa's warm welcome to visiting Israel President Zalman Shazar.

Canada has invited Nasser to visit during Centennial Year but, despite urgings for a reply, none has been received. Egypt's national day at Expo 67 is scheduled for Sept. 11. Nasser already has agreed to attend a conference of the Organization for African Unity in The Congo Sept. 8.

Canadian Ambassador John Starnes suggested in a notice Wednesday to Canadian civilians that they consider leaving Egypt. There are about 140 such civilians here.

The Canadian Embassy, in a tree-lined side street of the garden city district around the corner from the United States Embassy, is being guarded by Egyptian police, especially during street demonstrations.

Cairo sources said no unusual incidents have been reported between UNEF troops and Egyptians in Gaza or elsewhere.

The departure of UNEF will throw several thousand Egyptians and Palestine refugees out of work. About 1,200 are employed at Rafah alone and more elsewhere in the Gaza Strip, at a transport depot in Port Said and at El Arish, where the RCAF operates UNEF's air service of Caribou planes.

Deluge Feared

Snow was heavy in the high mountains of interior British Columbia during the winter and with the coming of spring a new danger threatens. As the snow on the mountains melts, hundreds of tiny streams funnel the waters into the up-country canyon of the Fraser River. But the canyon disappears in the Hope-Laidlaw area and the mountains fall away into the broad farmlands of the Fraser River Valley. Officials fear that when the snow waters hit the valley the land will be inundated. Sand bags to hold back the waters, expected in the next month, are being prepared and a flood control headquarters has been set up at Abbotsford. (CP Newsmap)

Royal Bank Names Penfield Winner

OTTAWA (CP)— Dr. Wilder Penfield of Montreal Wednesday was named winner of the Royal Bank of Canada's $50,000 centennial award for contribution "to the common good and human welfare of Canada and the world society."

Dr. Penfield, 76, founded and directed the Montreal Neurological Institute until 1960 and now is president of the Vanier Institute of the Family.

The tax-free $50,000 and a gold medal will be presented to him at a dinner June 7 in the pavilion d'honneur on the Expo 67 site. The decision was announced at a press conference. The Montreal neurosurgeon was selected from 135 Canadians nominated for the award.

Dr. Penfield is a native of the United States who became a Canadian citizen in 1904.

His research affected theories of speech, memory, epilepsy, headache and paralysis.

He said when the committee contacted him to tell him he had won the award, he thought they were going to tell him his nominee, Tom Patterson, founder of the Stratford Festival, had been selected.

The award will be offered by the Bank at least five years. A gold medal to accompany the $50,000 bequest has been specially struck by the Royal Canadian Mint.

Sudden Switch

Expo Girds for LBJ and 7,000,000th Visitor

MONTREAL (CP) — Expo 67 looks for a visit today from President Johnson of the United States, on a day when it expects its 7,000,000th visitor to pass through the turnstiles.

After a day of rumors that the president might come to the fair on the U.S. national day, fair officials announced at a post-midnight press conference that the visit was on—subject to the exigencies of the Middle East situation which might keep Mr. Johnson in Washington.

It had been planned that Postmaster - General Lawrence F. O'Brien would officiate at his country's day - raising in Place des Nations this morning.

How President Johnson's coming would affect these plans was not made clear at the early-morning briefing. At a late hour Wednesday night officials of the U.S. pavilion said they were sticking with the original plan since they lacked confirmation of the rumored Johnson visit.

Confirmation of the visit, which officials emphasized was "subject to change" if world events required the president's presence in Washington, was received at the fair at 11:40 p.m.

Allen Nutik of the fair's public relations department told the early - morning press conference it was planned that External Affairs Minister Martin would greet the presidential party at Montreal international Airport at 9:45 a.m.

Details were lacking as to how President Johnson would spend the rest of his day. But a luncheon at Hélène de Chenplain, a luxurious restaurant on the St. Helen's Island part of the fair site, was on the program after the flag-raising ceremony.

Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec had also been invited to join the party but it was not known early today whether he would be able to greet President Johnson at Place des Nations, scene of Expo's national day celebrations, or later at Hélène de Champlain.

Even before confirmation of the presidential visit, it was announced that the U.S. pavilion, which will figure in today's ceremonies, would be closed until 4 p.m.

Officials said they could not say whether this was similar to the custom, followed in the case of some previous national days of closing the pavilion to the public during a national leader's visit, or because of security.

National leaders always visit their own country's pavilion after the flag-raising and often follow it up with a visit to the Canadian pavilion.

At midnight Wednesday Expo recorded 128,786 visitors compared with a predicted 129,550. The total number since Expo opened was 6,837, 028.

Paddlers 104 Days From Fair

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Alta. (CP)—Some 4,000,000 paddle strokes now separate 90 men from Expo 67—their destination after splashing into the North Saskatchewan River today to kick off the Centennial canoe pageant.

Three years of planning launched the 10 participating canoes from eight provinces and two territories on a 104-day trip down 3,282 miles of Canadian waterways.

The estimate of paddle strokes was made by Centennial commissioner John Fisher among a gallery of rain-soaked federal and provincial officials including Secretary of State Judy LaMarsh.

Each canoe has a six - man crew plus three spare crew members and a commodore.

Miss LaMarsh signed a canoe licence bearing the names and signatures of all paddlers and pageant officials.

The Alberta crew took a fast lead ahead of the Northwest territories canoe minutes after leaving the site 50 miles west of Red Deer where explorer David Thompson built a fort in the Rocky Mountain foothills in 1800.

Other canoes followed in order: Nova Scotia, Manitoba, British Columbia, Quebec, Ontario, New Brunswick and the Yukon.

SPORTS LICE

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Saturday night some forty of the district's finest harness racing horsefiesh will be away and pacing and trotting.

It will be the inaugural meet of the 1967 season of the Ontario Driving and Riding Association. There will be eighteen meets all told extending to September 23rd and not including the Black Diamond Cheese Stakes which will be run off during the Belleville Fair.

After much bickering and seemingly senseless argument between governmental departments, racing associations, and the "country fair circuits" as one metropolitan wisecracking columnist puts it, we have in the sticks will get a fair share of dates.

Driving Club president Gerald Vance said he and his directors are satisfied with the eventual outcome and are readying for what they hope will be the best harness racing seen on the Belleville Raceway for many years.

All meets in the province this year will be held under the jurisdiction of the Ontario Racing Commission — and already this august association has made its presence felt.

It has clamped down to the effect that none of the general public will be allowed to wander in, out and around the horse barns and stables.

None but licenced owners, drivers grooms and helpers will be allowed in frequent these places. Barns and stables will be fenced off as will the paddock.

Which is just as well. I recall one day a couple of years ago when I wandered in and around the stables and overheard two racing genius agree that "Number Three is a cinch in the fifth." I bet the shirt and underwear on "Number Three" and he hasn't come in yet. What they were talking about was a nag in the fifth race at Kingston.

On the brighter side of the picture the Driving club directors have done a fine job in making things better for sight-seeing patrons and bettors.

It is estimated that eighty percent of the grandstand clientele like to indulge in wagering flings. For these (and there were not a few complaints) a broad new grandstand and an Oscope — betting stand has been erected.

You will be able to lose your shirt or make a bundle in half the time. The new betting booth will contain eighteen windows all facing the track. There will be no long waits for bettors and winners. The milling around in the rear of the old stand has been eliminated. The time element for bets and payoffs has been reduced nearly fifty percent.

New lights have been installed in the betting yard so you can distinguish a deuce from a twenty. The track lights have been refurbished so you won't have to wait until your favorite bangtail emerges from the shadows on the far side of the track.

President Vance told me the track will be in excellent shape come Saturday night. Some 200 tons of rock dust has been used as a surfacing and due to this fact, the times mayhap may be a trifle slower on opening night.

As was noted the Driving Club will exercise its eighteen nights and perhaps more weather permitting.

The photo-finish cameras will again be in action with the Hamilton keeping a watchful eye on proceedings. The betting stand and its operations will be under the discerning eye of Hugh Sullivan.

Popularity of harness racing, as indicated by attendance at the big tracks is definitely on the increase. The Quinte Driving Club had a good season that year climaxed by an afternoon meet at the Fair.

Directors feel that betterment of facilities for fans, the new betting stand and a general improvement in track and lights will result in an outstanding season in 1967.

Nine heats will feature the opening night on Saturday and these will bring together a large number of topflight horses. Post time is eight o'clock.

Syracuse Chiefs are refusing to roll over for Buffalo Bisons and Wednesday night moved back into solid contention for second place in the International League.

The Bisons displaced the Chiefs in weekend games, but Wednesday dropped a 7-1 decision to their surging opponents.

Columbus Jets edged Richmond Braves 3-4 while Jacksonville Suns split a doubleheader with Toledo Mud Hens, losing 4-3 before winning 3-2.

McCraw Hits Three Homers

Chisox Bury Twins With 21 Clouts

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Eddie Stanky's Chicago White Sox crushed 21 hits, including three home runs by Tom McCraw and walloped Minnesota Twins 14-1 Wednesday.

It was the kind of game that makes managing a pleasure.

But Stanky said with a grin: "I didn't like today's game. The boys got more excitement out of the close ones."

If he wanted to see close games, Stanky should have been in Baltimore where Al Downing pitched New York Yankees to a 2-0 victory over the Orioles or at Detroit where Dennis Ja Lonborg flirted with trouble but escaped with a 1-0 victory over the Tigers. In the only other American League game played, Cleveland Indians whipped Washington Senators 9-1. Kansas City Athletics and California Angels were idle.

Stanky could not contain his joy for long at Chicago's triumph.

"Twenty - some hits," he said jubilantly. "This calls for a celebration. I've got to live it up."

McCraw, who had 22 home runs in his first four big league seasons, was just as happy.

"I've never had a game like this in pro ball before and I doubt if I'll ever have another," said the big first baseman, who drove in eight runs.

The three homers gave him six for the season.

Home runs were the key for Downing and Lonborg too. Mickey Mantle's ninth of the season and 509th career shot provided both Yankee runs against the Orioles and Dalton Jones' solo homer was the Red Sox' only run against the Tigers.

Mantle connected in the third inning with Horace Clarke on base and that was enough for Downing, who lifted his record to 4-3 with his first complete game.

The smallish left-hander allowed just two hits and struck out 13. After Luis Aparicio opened the game with a single and Curt Blefary walked, Downing struck out Paul Blair and Frank Robinson and got Brooks Robinson on a fly ball.

The only other Orioles to reach base were Andy Etchebarren, who doubled with two out in the fifth but was out trying to stretch it into a triple, and Aparicio, who walked in the ninth.

Lonborg permitted the Tigers four hits and struck out 11, making Jones' second - inning homer stand up.

He pitched out of major trouble four times. The Tigers got the first two men on in the second but Lonborg struck out Bill Freehan and got Ray Oyler on a double play ball. He struck out Norm Cash leaving Al Kaline stranded on third base in the fourth.

In the seventh, Lonborg got Dick McAuliffe and Don Wert, ending a bases - loaded threat and in the eighth Kaline opened with a double but was left on base when Willie Horton bounced out and Jim Northrup and Cash fanned.

Leon Wagner legged a two - run homer as Cleveland bunched nine hits for as many runs in the third and fourth innings against the Senators.

Luis Tiant scattered seven hits including a home run by Frank Howard for his second victory.

Read Explodes For 14 Runs In One Inning

Apparently it doesn't pay to throw no-hit ball at the South Hastings Baseball League's Read outcry.

Craig Rump of Latta earned the trick for four innings last night before Read broke loose in the fifth frame with 14 runs and a 15-2 victory.

The game was one of two played as the four-team loop opened its season.

Latta opened the scoring in the top of the fourth on Bob Smith's two-run homer and Read got one back without a hit in their half. Then came the fifth when Rump was shelled along with Bob Smith, Armstrong and Lorne Cronkright who all took a turn on the rubber. They gave up eight hits in all, fanned five and walked five.

Ted Abrams fired four-hit ball on the Read hilltop in the six-inning game. He whiffed five and handed out three free tickets.

Pat Steele collected two Read singles with the others going to Pete Enright, Carm Milligan, Ted Abrams, Gerry Brennan, Frank Farrell and Harold Pascoe.

Along with Smith's circuit clout, Doug Geen and Bill Hunter hit Latta doubles and Rump added a single.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Great Cohoes, owned by Armand Castellani, a Niagara Falls, N.Y., businessman, Wednesday won the $12,925 Swyaford stakes at Woodbine race track.

Ron Ferraro, North America's leading rider in 1965, scored his first stakes victory in Canada by bringing Great Cohoes home one and a half lengths ahead of Poet's Dream.

Great Cohoes, favorite with most of the 5,842 fans, paid $3.50, $2.80 and $2.20.

The daily double of Mackerel Sky in the first and Sparkling Breeze in the second paid $178.70. The exactor of Marching Orders and Hugonote in the fourth paid $102.60 and Jammed Lovely and Ruling Crown in the sixth paid $39.90.

Pros Versus PGA

Sinatra Centres Golf Hassle

NEW YORK (AP) — Golf's touring pros are feuding with the Professional Golfers Association again and this time slugger Frank Sinatra is the centre of the controversy.

There's renewed locker-room talk that the players are threatening to break away from the parent organization and form a $4,000,000 tour on their own.

They've been making the threat off and on for several years but there has always been a reconciliation in time to ward off action.

A crisis developed last summer, reaching a head during the PGA championships in Akron, Ohio, ie squabble over television money. The situation was resolved temporarily and the pros stayed with the PGA.

The latest flare - up centres around whether the PGA should sponsor a $175,000 Frank Sinatra golf tournament at Palm Springs, Calif., two weeks prior to the Bob Hope Classic on the winter tour.

The players' tournament committee voted "yes." The PGA executive committee said "no." HELD MEETINGS

The players held meetings two weeks ago at New Orleans and got together again last week during the Colonial Invitation at Fort Worth, Tex.

The suggestion was made at these meetings, sources said, that the pros should form their own tour, although no concrete action has yet been taken.

Bob Cressey, executive director of the PGA, acknowledged that PGA officials had met with tournament players at which scheduling problems arose.

Max Elbin, president of the PGA and pro at the famed Burning Tree course outside Washington, D.C., said the players' committee voted in favor of the Sinatra tournament but was overruled by the PGA officials.

"This was not in any way a slight of Sinatra," Elbin said.

"We simply felt that a tournament in the same area as close to Bob Hope's event would damage the Hope Tournament."

Perceival Case Ends

'A Pill Before Events'

TORONTO (CP) — A second athete, hurdler Peter Boag, said Wednesday that Lloyd Percival, former director and head coach of the Don Mills Track and Field Club, gave him a pill, before an event.

Boag, testifying at the trial of Percival jointly brought by Percival against five members of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, said Percival gave him a pickish-orange pill half an hour before an event at the Canadian age-class championships at Waterloo, Ont., in 1963.

Shot-putter Nancy McCredie testified Tuesday that Percival had given her pills she believed to be a stimulant, a sedentant, while she was a member of the Don Mills club.

"I asked what the pill was and was told it was a glucose pill," said Boag.

"I took it. It was near the end of the track day. I was tired at the time. I had injured my hip previously and I had been running all day."

Answering George Finlayson, Percival's counsel, Boag said he could not identify the pill he was given as dexedrine.

Another witness, Jenny Wingerson Meldrum, Canadian pentathlon champion, said Percival told her before she left for the Pan-American Games in Brazil in 1963 that Miss McCredie had some pills for her.

"Nancy came to me with six or seven small, orange pills," she said, "I said I wasn't going to take any pills."

She also said Percival had a dexedrine tablet crushed, pills he pulled out when she told him at a track meet in Vancouver in February, 1966, that her leg was hurting.

Mrs. Meldrum testified she never saw Percival give anyone a pill while she was a member of the Don Mills club.

Rosemary McCredie of Brampton, Ont., Nancy's mother, said she trusted Percival completely until her daughter returned from the Pan-American Games.

She said she had seen six pills on Nancy's bureau before her daughter left for the Pan-American Games and had asked her not to take them when Nancy said they had come from Percival.

Shannonville Bows To Cannifton

Cannifton Plane's came out on top of a six-inning pitching duel, at Cannifton, last night with a 5-1 South Hastings Baseball League victory over Shannonville.

Three runs in the fifth, on a walk, error and Bailey's double, broke open the 2-1 contest for Plane's.

Gaylord Carter of Cannifton and Shannonville's Bill Barberstock traded three-hitters on the opposite mounds. Adams struck out seven and walked a pair. Barberstock fanned three and walked three with four miscues hurting his cause.

Carter Bailey's double and singles by Bob Moon and Jack O'Neil accounted for the winners' hit total.

Doug Dafoe doubled, Larry DePetrie and W. Sager singled, for Shannonville.

Parsons Win Over Batawa 4-2

Belleville Parsons held a 2-1 second - half advantage to hand Batawa a 4-2 Kingston and District Soccer League setback, at Batawa, last night.

The win evened Parsons' record at one and one, with the club's next game slated for Zwicki's Island on June 4. Kingston Trophy Home will provide the opposition with a 6.00 p.m. kick-off.

Joe Zelley scored from a goal-mouth scramble to give Batawa a 1-0 lead but Joe Romano worked in to tie the Batawa goalie for a tie game just before the first half ended.

Allan Brown picked up a loose ball at mid - field and dribbled past four defenders to score on a fine solo effort after ten minutes of the second half. Belleville never looked back. Joe Romano notched his second from a goalmouth scramble to make it 3-1.

A quick shot by Bob Kettle cut the lead and Parsons' goalie, Ray Hore, was called on for some fine saves to keep his club ahead.

A hand - ball by a Batawa defender gave Parsons a penalty shot and Bob Rutherford made it good for the final 4-2 score.

Captain Joe Iasenza and Don Fletcher played outstanding soccer for the winners.

Pirates Stop Astros

Braves' Lemaster One-Hits Cardinals

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Denny Lemaster's fast ball was booming during his warmup, and it didn't stop once the game started.

Lou Brock singled in the third inning—off a slider—but that was the only hit St. Louis Cardinals got off the Atlanta southpaw Wednesday night as the Braves beat the Cardinals 2-0.

"Tonight just as soon as I started warming up," Lemaster said, "my fast ball was going boom, boom, boom, right over the plate and I knew that I had it."

The Cardinals had had it, too.

While Lemaster was pitching his second one-hitter of his big league career and the eighth in the majors this season, Pittsburgh Pirates were beating Houston Astros 7-4 and Los Angeles Dodgers were trouncing New York Mets 8-3 in other National League night games.

Cincinnati Reds beat Chicago Cubs 4-3 and then lost to the Cubs by the same score in a day doubleheader. The San Francisco - Philadelphia night game was postponed because of cold weather.

"That wasn't a cheap hit that Brock got," Lemaster said, "it was a clean single to centre.

"That took the pressure off me. It came early in the game, and I didn't have to worry about a no-hitter."

Eclipse Alou reduced the pressure further in the fifth inning by belting a two-run homer, one of only three Atlanta hits off Bob Gibson, to insure Lemaster's fourth victory in five decisions.

Lemaster walked four, struck out and lowered his earned-run average to 2.47. His other one-hitter was against Cincinnati in 1964.

Roberto Clemente's ninth homer gave the Pirates a 4-4 tie with Houston in the eighth, and Donn Clendenon's sacrifice fly in the same inning drove in the decisive run. The Pirates added two more in the ninth.

The Astros were leading 3-0 and rookie Don Wilson had a one-hitter after five when the Pirates broke loose for three in the sixth on Maury Wills' single and Willie Stargell's two - run homer.

Houston then went ahead again briefly on Joe Morgan's double, a fielder's choice and Bill Mazeroski's throwing error. It was the first run in 13 innings of relief pitching off veteran Roy Face this year. He worked three innings against the Astros and ran his record to 3-0.

Ron Hunt and Willie Davis were the big Los Angeles guns against the Mets. Hunt had three hits, driving in two runs with a double and another with a single, Davis doubled home one run and singled in a pair.

Claude Osteen went the distance for his sixth victory against three losses, allowing the Mets single runs in the first and fifth innings.

Tony Perez two-run homer in the sixth inning powered the league - leading Reds to their first-game victory. Deron Johnson, playing the first time since May 8 because of an injury, tied the score at 2-2 with a bases-loaded double in the fourth.

In the nightcap, the Reds were leading 3-2 in the eighth when Reds' backs singled home a run off relief ace Ted Abernathy.

The Cubs then won it in the ninth. Adolpho Phillips beat out a bunt, stole second and went to third on catcher John Edwards' throwing error. Don Kessinger then grounded to shortstop, and Phillips beat Leo Cardenas' throw to the plate.

Cincinnati's Pete Rose singled twice in the first game and singled and homered in the second, extending his hitting streak to 18 games. He drove in all three Reds' runs in the nightcap, two on the homer.

NAME NEW AFL TEAM

NEW YORK (AP)—Cincinnati was named Wednesday as the 10th member of the American Football League to begin play in 1968. The action was believed to be the last expansion of the two major pro football leagues at least until their merger is completed in 1970.

"No Shirts Accepted!"

The heads of four "painless extractors" peek through as many windows in the new betting stand at the Fair Grounds Raceway. Eighteen windows in all will be available for bettors when the harness racing seasons opens here Saturday night. The new building and its added facilities will reduce the bet paying time by nearly fifty per cent. (See sports column.)

Many Rule Changes

Golfers Differ On New World Code

NEW YORK (AP)—Mixed reactions today follow proposals for a worldwide uniform golf code that, among other things, would outlaw the croquet putting style and limit the number of times a ball may be cleaned on the green.

"It's ridiculous," said Jack Nicklaus, the reigning British Open champion. "Why don't they just let us put the ball down and play it?"

Many of the touring pros at the Oklahoma City Open agreed.

"It's the last straw," said Bob Shave, Jr., whose croquet style of putting would be banned. "I'll probably have to quit the tour."

Chuck Rotar said he was blind in one eye and couldn't use the conventional style of putting.

Some of the touring pros also were expected to object to the rule which would permit the ball to be picked up and cleaned only once on the green—unless it is in another player's line.

The pros now can pick up and clean the ball on the green before each stroke.

Committees representing the U.S. Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Scotland, governing bodies of the game, met at Kent, England, before the Walker Cup matches May 13-15 and recommended adoption of a code that would make standard rules throughout the world.

The putting regulation would require that a player not make a stroke astride or with either foot touching the line of the putt or an extension of the line behind the ball. The club shafts would have to be straight and plain in form. If centred on the blade, the shaft would have to be angled.

Other rules:

1. Abolition of the two-stroke penalty if a ball played off the putting surface within 10 yards of the green hits a competitor's ball on the green. The new rule would apply only if both balls are on the green.

2. Striking an unattended flagstick will be prohibited only when the ball is played from the putting green — a current USGA rule.

3. A one - stroke penalty, instead of two, for an unplayable lie. The British have had a two-stroke penalty.

4. A provisional ball to be allowed only if the ball is lost or out of bounds.

The changes, if adopted, become effective next Jan. 1. The American PGA has agreed to go along.

CAHA

Approves Minor Age Change

SASKATOON (CP)—Canada's national hockey team had a surplus last season after spending $220,358 and collecting revenue amounting to $222,716.

But a financial statement presented Wednesday to the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association shows the $2,360 surplus still left the club with a $12,842 deficit accumulated since it was formed in 1961.

Costs of the national team program, which so far has failed to place Canada better than third in the world hockey championships, will increase further when a second club begins operations in Ottawa in the 1967-68 season.

In the revenue column, the financial statement shows the national team received a $48,200 grant from the department of national health and welfare and $144,928 in gate receipts from exhibition games.

In the expenditures column, it shows $50,048 for management and operating expenses, $83,385 for game and training camp expenses, $55,524 for players' expenses and $29,866 for overseas tour expenses.

Delegates finally accepted a change to Dec. 31 from May 31 as the deadline to apply to the age limit of 18 for juveniles, 16 for midgets, 14 for bantam and 12 for peewee.

The change, which will go into effect in the 1968-69 season, are in line with a new agreement with the National Hockey League which will reduce the junior age limit to 20 years Dec. 31.

On the agenda for the plenary session today were a number of resolutions submitted by past president Lionel Fleury of Quebec City.

One recommends that the CAHA change its name to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Federation.

Milan Versus Celtic

Soccer World Eyes This One

LISBON (AP)—Two teams as different as wine and whisky meet tonight for Europe's richest soccer prize—the European Cup of Champions.

Internazionale Milan, the pride of Italy, and the Scottish champions, Glasgow Celtic, are expected to draw a crowd of 60,000 to Lisbon's Estadio Nacional.

It will be a battle of contrasting styles. Inter, a well-disciplined team which has won the cup twice, packs its penalty area with defenders and relies on sudden breakaway attacks from long, upheld passes.

Celtic, the first British team to reach the final since the tournament started 12 years ago, is an enthusiastic, happy go-lucky side that likes to attack all the time.

The teams reflect the personalities of their coaches. Both took their players for practice at the stadium Wednesday—and the difference between their methods was a study in body language. Inter coach Helenio Herrera, the stern disciplinarian, blowing on his whistle and shouting instructions.

Then there was Jock Stein of Celtic, joking with his players, relaxing part in a light-hearted practice game and yelling for joy when he scored a goal.

In their own styles, they are two of the world's great soccer coaches. But Stein scoffed at suggestions that tonight's final would be a battle of wits between them.

"Herrera and I are just the men behind the scenes," Stein said.

"The game is being played by 22 players—11 in green and white and 11 in blue and black."

The green and white team is Celtic and Inter is not being allowed to forget it. Hundreds of Glasgow fans are here, wearing green and white tam o'shanters.

They are only the advance guard of the army of fans expected to descend on the city by charter planes later today. Celtic says it will have 6,000 supporters here and Inter claims 2,000 are making the trip from Milan.

Commercial Softball Openers

City Hotel nipped Lightfoot Construction 4-3 and Stinson's tripped the Tiki Club 10-4 in a Commercial Softball League double - header at Alemite Park last night.

The Hotelmen felt behind 3-0 before scoring all four runs in the third, two on Doug Hall's double and another pair on Jerry Genereaux's single. Lightfoots got one in the first on R. Garvin's leadoff triple and "Skinny" Murray's fly ball; two in the second on two walks and Goodfellow's base hit.

R. Paquette pitched the victory and Don Smith the loss, each allowing eight hits. Paquette struck out one and walked two while Smith fanned six and passed two.

Paquette also led his own attack with two singles while Doug Hall and Dave Feeney had doubles. R. McLeod, Gerry Genereaux, Bob Lloyd and Bob Smith singled.

Rusty Garvin starred for Lightfoots with a triple and two singles. Goodfellow added two safeties. Chamberlain, Les Hall and Don Smith a single each.

Stinson's exploded for three runs in the second and fifth and put the decision in wraps with four in the seventh against Tiki.

Larry Hull, with relief help from Bob Boyle in the seventh, hurled three - hit ball on the victors' mound. He struck out 10 and walked three while Boyle added two more strikeouts and a walk.

Tikiens was the loser before giving way to Gary Mat-ers in the fifth. They allowed seven hits, fanned six and walked four.

Nemses of the hitters were omitted from the scorebest turned in but Larry Hull of Stinson's and Dale Duvall of Tiki were said to have hit home runs.

Angus 'Sort of Good' At Chicken Dancing

CALGARY (CP) — Angus Ogilvy made a "sort of good" attempt at an Indian chicken dance Wednesday night as he and Princess Alexandra went backstage after the premiere of this centennial musical Wild Rose.

The evaluation was given by nine-year-old Sandy Soloyan, of Calgary, who performed the dance on stage and later gave the princess' husband a brief lesson on the right way to shuffle.

"He came over when they talked to us and he asked me how to do the chicken dance," said Sandy. "I showed him a few steps and he tried a couple. He was sort of good at it."

Author W. O. Mitchell of High River, Alta., said the royal couple "just loved" the comedy musical and indicated they would see it again when it opens in London's West End in October.

About 1,700 persons, including Secretary of State Judy LaMarsh, attended the world premiere of the musical, a free adaptation of a Mitchell short story commenting on western small-town society.

Earlier, the royal couple attended a civic dinner. About 200 attended. The couple arrived in rainswept Calgary Wednesday afternoon after a two-day royal visit to Banff, Alta.

Their schedule today includes presentation of colors to the South Alberta Light Horse Regiment, a miniature rodeo and attendance at a centennial ball. They leave Friday for Edmonton.

At the dinner, the couple received a wood plaque of the head of Walking Buffalo, 86-year-old elder of the Stoney Indians at Morley, Alta., 40 miles west of here. The plaque was carved by city employee Tom Ward.

Mr. Ogilvy inspected the plaque, measuring about 18 inches by a foot, and said: "I know this is a big country; now I know what you understand by a small memento."

Formality wasn't broken only by chicken dancing. When the princess arrived, officials with umbrellas went to the wrong car and she walked 20 feet through the rain before Mayor Dick Leslie could reach her.

At a brief city hall ceremony, the princess inspected a 100-man guard of honor and the royal couple later signed the city's guest book and met aldermen and their wives.

During intermission of the musical, Princess Alexandra talked with members of the Sarcee Indian band, cowboys and Pat Morgan of the Canadian Girls' Rodeo Association in Calgary.

The royal couple also spent some time talking with Mr. Mitchell, well - known for his short stories and radio plays on Jake and the Kid.

HERE'S ONE PLAN

SALISBURY (AP) — R. H. Janes, a member of the ruling Rhodesia Front party, told Parliament the government should establish troubleshooting outside the city—since it is unable to curb prostitution, Minister of Law and Order Desmond Lardner-Burke made no comment but said he would consult with the minister of social welfare.

Endorse UN Stand Quebec Unions Ask

MONTREAL (CP)—The Confederation of National Trade Unions, one of Canada's two major groupings of trade unions, said in a statement Wednesday that the Canadian government can no longer remain aloof from its responsibilities and avoid taking a clear and outspoken position on the Vietnam war.

The CNTU, most of whose members work in the province of Quebec but which also represents unions in Newfoundland and Ontario, issued the statement to coincide with the United States national day at Expo 67.

The statement said:

"The Canadian government can no longer remain neutral nor can it espouse the American thesis. It must declare itself openly in support of the position taken by the secretary-general of the United Nations.

"We call on our members to demonstrate their opposition to the war in Vietnam, knowing that no one will hesitate to put all he can into fighting against the danger of a world war."

Nixon Asks Davis to Explain 'Dramatic Drop' in Grade 13

TORONTO (CP) — Liberal Leader Robert Nixon Wednesday called on Education Minister William Davis to explain a "dramatic" drop in the size of Ontario's Grade 13 classes.

Mr. Nixon said total enrolment in Grade 13 classes rose to 37,662 in 1963 compared with 36,283 in 1963 and 32,710 in 1964 but then slipped to 33,007 in 1966.

He said the drop came at a time when education department statisticians had been predicting a record enrolment of 41,000.

Speaking as the legislature debated spending estimates of the department, Mr. Nixon also called for provision of "truly bilingual" schools in predominantly French-speaking Ontario communities.

Stephin Lewis (NDP — Scarborough West) called for abolition of grades in elementary schools and accused the government of ignoring the most important aspect of education—quality.

Elementary school children are motivated by the fear of failing, of being labelled stupid or "of displeasing the teacher, he said. Grades enforce rigidity, exert pressure and put every child in the same mould regardless of ability.

Mr. Davis said the NDP member is "doing the school system a great disservice by asserting that there is fear in the schools." Most Ontario students today enjoyed their studies, he said.

Mr. Davis did not comment on Mr. Nixon's remarks about the decline in Grade 13 enrolment but defended the programs offered by the new community colleges.

Consolidation of the school system into 12 years was under continuing study but the matter was so complex that no decision is expected for some time.

PM Uses Two Views To Parry Diefenbaker

OTTAWA (CP) — Differing views on the constitution held by Ontario Premier Robarts and his attorney - general, Arthur Wishart, provided Prime Minister Pearson with a way to parry Opposition Leader Diefenbaker in the Commons Wednesday.

Without mentioning Mr. Wishart by name, Mr. Diefenbaker suggested Mr. Pearson reconsider his refusal to summon a national constitutional conference. He noted that statements from various provinces lately have suggested the provinces created the Canadian nation, that the provinces have treaty rights and that the provinces are sovereign states.

Mr. Pearson replied that with Mr. Robarts and Mr. Wishart diametrically opposed on provincial powers, it could be concluded that the present wasn't the best time to call such a conference.

He was referring to Mr. Wishart's statement Tuesday in the Ontario legislature that the provinces are sovereign states in their own right. Mr. Robarts later repudiated the attorney-general's statements, saying the federal government is the senior government.

Oh!

Those weekly food ads. Where would we be without them?

ADVERTISING IS YOUR GUIDE TO SHOPPING VALUE

Shopping for groceries all week long, that's where we'd be. Scurrying from the butcher to the baker and the green grocer and the creamery and the fishmonger for victuals.

Honestly. Millions of women still have to shop this way, you know. But we've got large food markets. And shopping centers. Not so picturesque as little Old World shops, perhaps, but how much more convenient.

And we've got the weekly food ads to help make our shopping chores even more convenient. They're a source of news in your daily paper, too. News about weekly specials, featured national brands, seasonal favourites, helpful menu suggestions. And, of course, food advertising gives you an opportunity to compare prices at the different stores before you go out shopping.

When you think of advertising this way—as a source of news, of useful information about the products and services you're going to need—you begin to realize how important it is to you. In fact, you might begin to wonder how you'd ever get along without ads.

I'll Kill Again Said Ford, Firing Air Rifle Into Air

TORONTO (CP)—Wayne Ford fired a rifle into the air at his Toronto home, then told a friend "I've killed before and I'll kill again," the Ontario Supreme Court was told in testimony released Wednesday.

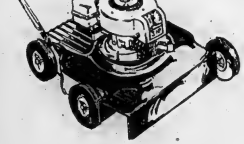
Michael Ford, 20, a school friend but no relation of Wayne Ford, was testifying at Ford's trial on a charge of murdering his mother, Mamie Ford, who disappeared four years ago.

The witness said Ford's comment came after someone asked him if he was not afraid he would hit someone by firing a rifle in the city.

Michael gave his testimony last week, first week of the trial, both his evidence and that of several other young people was ordered kept out of the press until all had appeared on the stand.

Another former school friend of Wayne Ford, Raymond Pick ering, said he stayed at Ford's home about a week after the 55-year-old Mrs. Ford, a widow, disappeared during the Victoria Day weekend period in 1963.

He told the court that Ford, then 16, appeared unconcerned about his mother's absence.



William Schrader, 34, a former friend of Wayne, said that in the spring of 1964 Ford gave some of his mother's clothes to Schrader's girl friend and suggested that the pair move into Mrs. Ford's bedroom.

When he asked Ford what would happen if Mrs. Ford returned and found extra people in the house, he said Ford replied: "She won't be showing her face around here any more."

School in The Rough

Outdoor lovers loll on the edge of a beaver pond, their boats pulled out of the water, as they contemplate nature in the Buckhorn Wilderness Centre on Deer Bay Creek, 25 miles north of Peterborough. Developers following a plan prepared by the National Audubon Society are attempting to turn the 950-acre tract into an outdoor laboratory which, in its first stage, would provide a site for elementary school pupils to study subjects relating to the outdoors.

Police Guard Princess

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (Reuters)—Police today posted extra guards to protect Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, after explosions set two reserve army centres ablaze here Wednesday night.

Police sources believed the blazes were set off by the outlawed Irish Republican Army in protest against the arrival a few hours earlier of the Princess on a 48-hour visit.

Prince Philip was due to arrive today for a one-day visit.

The IRA, which has staged bomb demonstrations against British royalty in the past, demands the unification of British-ruled and mainly protestant Northern Ireland with the overwhelmingly Roman Catholic Irish Republic to the south.

One of the centres set ablaze was the headquarters of the British Army in Northern Ireland. It was only a few miles from Government House where Margaret and her husband were staying as guests of the governor, Lord Erskine.

The other was 12 miles away.

HOSPITAL BUSY

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Cancer Institute Wednesday reported that 3,351 new cancer patients were referred last year to Princess Margaret Hospital, a radiotherapy centre. There were 236 children among the new patients. Malignancies included 713 breast, 561 skin and 386 lung cancers.

Richard Nixon Says North Vietnam Must Be Shown It Has Lost War Politically as Well as Militarily

TORONTO (CP) — Richard Nixon, former U.S. vice-president, says North Vietnam knows it has lost the war militarily—now it must be shown that political victory is impossible.

He told the Empire Club Wednesday that North Vietnam believes that ultimately a change in political sentiments in the U.S. may give it victory.

"It must be convinced that it cannot win politically or get better terms by hanging on," Mr. Nixon said.

The former Republican leader said the U.S. is not trying to conquer or punish North Vietnam.

It merely wanted "to insure self-determination for the people of South Vietnam—75 or 80 per cent of whom would vote against the Communists if they had a chance," he said.

BC Jehovah Witnesses Form Own Medical Plan

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's 9,000 Jehovah's Witnesses have formed their own medical plan to ensure that none of their children are treated in this province's hospitals, James Cameron, a spokesman for the religious sect, said Wednesday.

Mr. Cameron said members of the sect, which opposes blood transfusion, are being advised that funds are available to transport children to hospitals in other provinces, and to pay for treatment.

Financing will be achieved co-operatively by contributions from members in B.C. and the 30,000 witnesses in other parts of Canada, he said.

The purpose of the plan is to avoid the possibility of the B.C. Children's Aid Society seizing control of the children under the protection of the Children Act.

The society recently obtained a court order confirming its wardship over Miriam Mylyniuk, 15, who disappeared with her mother after fleeing a Vancouver hospital 15 days ago.

Miriam is suffering from a circulatory ailment, and some medical officials have said she will die if she is not given blood transfusions.

Under the protection of the Children Act, the society may apprehend and hold a child for seven days before applying for a court order sanctioning its guardianship.

Another reason for the medical plan, Mr. Cameron said, is the sect's displeasure with B.C. doctors. "Doctors here are not men of courage—they are kind of cowardly as a group, hiding behind their medical associations," he said.

Mr. Cameron charged that many doctors have told him they would agree to operate on Witness patients without using blood transfusions, but are afraid this would contradict opinions of hospital administrators and executives of medical associations.

Isle of Capri Is Transformed By Anglo-American Influence

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

CAPRI — The last time I visited the isle of Capri, it was in the summer, at the height of the season — a mistake never to be made again. In the summer, Capri is palpitating with tourists: a sticky melange of American sport shirts, cameras accompanied by Japanese, Germans with their rucksacks, Frenchmen seeking non-existent bargains, and hordes of willowy young men twittering away in every corner of the piazza.

Out of season, left to itself, this is a pleasant little retreat, rather self-consciously quaint, with bland climate and some spectacular vistas of the Bay of Naples. But, basically, as Groucho Marx once remarked of a similar island off the coast of Southern California, "Take away the view and what have you got?"

What you've got in Capri are dozens of shops whose prices are double those of their counterparts on the mainland; a few rich permanent residents who look upon the tourists as an advanced case of bubonic plague; and 10,000 or so native Caprians who regard all foreigners — which includes Italians from elsewhere — as mildly insane at best.

The Anglo-American influence is more profound and pervasive here than ever before. Getting off the boat from Sorrento, one is greeted by a massive juke-box blaring out the latest rock-and-roll creation. On closer inspection, it turns out that every number on the machine is by some shaggy-named group with an implausible name like The Hound Dawgs.

The boards, tight jeans, and sandals are quite "in" here. The only night club in town, "No. 2," has a band that plays nothing but rock-and-roll, while the local youths gyrate just as frenetically as they do in American discotheques. "Superman" and "Batman," called by other names, are big both in comic books and on television.

Our cultural (and monetary) imperialism has Frenchmen and Germans complaining that a de luxe hotel is all booked up when they call; but those calling in English — especially with an American twang — manage to find a good suite. It is not merely that Americans have more to spend — they are also far better tippers than most Europeans.

The de luxe hotel I am staying in has 16 watt bulbs in the halls, toilet tissue made out of reconstituted sandpaper, and bath towels the size of a strip - teaser's handkerchief. Only Americans — moved by a combination of ignorance, guilt and generosity — are foolish enough to tip lavishly for such perfunctory services.

U.S. Experts Think Israel Could Defeat Arab Armies

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military experts believe Israel's armed forces, although outnumbered, could defeat the combined Arab armies if the big powers stay out.

These experts give the Israelis an edge over the Arabs because of what was described as superior training and better equipment maintenance.

Israel's 200,000 soldiers and airmen stack up against some 400,000 armed men in the Arab states surrounding her, latest estimates indicate.

However, while Israel was said to be able to mobilize and deploy her 300,000 men in a matter of days, the Arab armies are believed able to muster much less than their full strength.

Military specialists expect any open war would pit Israel against four Arab countries primarily — Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon, all of which immediately border on Israel.

Although Iraq and Saudi Arabia have pledged support, the American experts discount their probable effectiveness on the ground.

This is because Iraq has serious problems with rebellious Kurdish tribesmen and the Saudi Arabians are embroiled in the Yemen civil war, where 40,000 Egyptian troops also are bogged down on the opposite side of the issue.

Some government sources, however, regard as an open question what Arab nations actually might be involved in a war with Israel.

Nearly all are sure Egypt would be joined by Syria in such a battle, but some think Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Jordan—though forced by internal pressures to take a stance for Arab unity — are too closely aligned with the United States to actually put massive numbers of troops in the field against Israel.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

Often I am asked, "Shall I let my attorney or broker handle the sale of my property?" Actually, it is not an either-or proposition, although some lawyers and brokers would like to give that impression.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: When my husband died last year, he left three pieces of real estate besides our home. I find it hard to manage the real estate, so I told a broker, who is an old friend of my husband, to sell them. I told the attorney handling my husband's estate of my intentions.

He objected and suggested that if it was my desire to sell, I should give him the assignment. Now I have two old friends of my husband giving me conflicting advice as to what is best for me. I'm confused! Who should sell my property — my attorney or my real estate broker? — Mrs. W.

ANSWER: I firmly believe that a professional man should not step outside the limits of his competence and training. In fact, it is unethical for a professional person to do otherwise.

In this case, the broker should handle the sale of the property, and the attorney should stand back as an unbiased legal consultant.

A broker is more competent to handle a real estate sale and get a "better deal" because he knows markets, financing and has the organization to find a buyer.

If the attorney were to undertake to sell the property, he would be wearing two hats. On one hand, he would be desirous of earning a fee resulting from the sale, yet, on the other hand, legally and ethically, he should be working in the best interest of his client. These two interests can be conflicting.

The practice of attorneys getting fees from brokers who are selling their client's property is frowned upon by both the legal and real estate profession. Equally reprehensible is the practice of brokers giving legal advice.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: After much searching, I finally found a house plan which represented all I wanted in a home. I sent for the plans and then took them to a builder for an estimate. After examining the plans for about 10 minutes and making some calculations, he told me that he could build it for $21,000.

I immediately went to my bank and arranged for financing. When I went back to the builder and asked him to prepare a contract, he told me that he had made a mistake and that the contract price would be $30,000. My dream is shattered! I can't afford the house. Can I force the builder to give me a contract for $21,000? — Mr. H.

ANSWER: One would have to know the exact statements made by the builder before a specific reply could be given to the question. However, my experience has been that in cases like this, it is relatively unimportant. Since the statements were oral, proof would be most difficult.

Generally, an oral bid is merely an offer and as such it is not binding until there is final acceptance and detailed plans and specifications on which the bid is based is clarified. It is my opinion, based on similar cases, that our correspondent cannot force the builder to give him a contract for $21,000.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I've just gone through a winter of coughing and hoarseness. The doctor says that it is due to the extremely dry air in the house. How do I cure this problem, and how much will it cost? — Mr. C. U.

ANSWER: You can solve the problem by either installing a humidifier attached to your heating system or using a portable unit. A portable unit typically costs from $35 to $60. The humidifier installed in the heating system costs from $80 to $110. In addition, you will have to plan for a $25 to $35 installation cost.

I recommend the latter, although costing more. It does a better job and most important, it conditions the air in the whole house, whereas a portable unit only serves a small area.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I bought the wrong house in the wrong neighborhood and paid too much for it. I've had nothing but trouble since I moved in. I'm disgusted and want out.

I tried selling the house, but the best offer was $2,000 less than my mortgage. An agent tells me that my best way out is to stick the bank. He advises me to sign a deed, conveying the property to the bank, and thus I will relieve myself of the headache. He has even offered to make up the deed for me and will only charge me $200. What do you think of the agent's advice? — Mr. S.

ANSWER: You've been taken once. Apparently, you're about to be taken a second time for an additional $200. A deed drawn by your agent and signed by you may be in proper form, but it is useless piece of paper if the bank does not accept it.

The one action that convinces me you are in trouble and have a bad deal is that the agent has not offered to take the property off your hands by making out the deed to him. Apparently, he thinks he can make more money by getting you to pay for a new deed than he can by owning the property and trying to sell it for an amount in excess of the mortgage.

• • •

Mr. Meltzer welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately he is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

'Eat Canadian'

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Consumers should make more use of Canadian products at the breakfast table, delegates to the 47th annual convention of the London Diocesan Council of the Catholic Women's League of Canada were told Wednesday.

Tomato and apple juices should be used as vitamin-rich substitutes for Florida orange juice, said Mrs. Robert McLeod of the Windsor branch of the Consumers Association of Canada during a panel discussion.

Nuclear Monopoly Won't Last--Britain

GENEVA (AP) — Britain warned the United States and Russia today that any treaty aiming at perpetuating the monopoly of the "nuclear club" of atomic weapon powers is doomed to fail.

Outgoing British Disarmament Minister Lord Chalfont told the Geneva disarmament conference that the envisaged treaty to bar the spread of nuclear weapons "will certainly not last, nor will it deserve to last, if it is used simply as a device to preserve the existing order of things."

The principle must be clearly understood that if a nonproliferation treaty is not followed by serious attempts among the nuclear powers to disarmatize some of their own vast nuclear armory, then the treaty will not last, however precise its language may be."

Lord Chalfont made the remarks in his farewell speech to the 17-nation talks. He has been appointed chief negotiator for Britain's entry into the European Common Market and will be replaced by Fred Mulley, minister of state in the foreign office.

Lord Chalfont said the superpowers cannot expect the nonnuclear countries to deny themselves the option of possession of atomic arms "unless the nuclear powers are prepared themselves to engage in serious and specific measures of nuclear disarmament."

Climax of the Dance

Red-stockinged girls are swept off their feet as members of the Yevshan Ukrainian Folk Ballet ensemble reach the climax of a Hutsul dance of the Carpathian mountains. The costumes are hand-embroidered. The Saskatoon group of 50 young dancers will perform at Expo 67 in August.

(CP Photo)

Ukraine Dance Tradition Upheld by Yevshan Troupe

SASKATOON (CP) — Red boots flash and embroidered skirts fly as Saskatoon's Yevshan dancers follow in the steps of their parents and grandparents from the Ukraine.

The Yevshan Ukrainian Folk Ballet Ensemble radiates youth, from the boys who keep beat-high to the girls who display odd traditional embroidery to skimmer dresses and mini-shifts.

The youngest dancer is 13 and the seniors are in their 20s. Most of the 50 members are second- or third-generation Canadians, although a few came to this country after the Second World War.

Smiles sparkle as the girls move forward in stately patterns or are whirled off the floor. And behind the enthusiasm and evident enjoyment is a strong emphasis on authenticity of costumes and steps.

"If the costume is historically authentic, the costume, music and motions become a link with the past," said costumer Shelanne Wowk. "It is like a hand reaching into history.

"The dancers reflect not only the people's taste, but those influences which have produced it: geographical location, climatic conditions, livelihoods of the people and even various foreign influences."

Each of the 20 boys and 30 girls in the ensemble provided his or her own basic costume, including the high red boots ordered to measure from Toronto.

The flowered skirts, white petticoats and embroidered shirts of the Poltava region were chosen on basis because they had changed little through the centuries.

"Poltava is more or less centrally situated in the Ukraine, and therefore least susceptible to foreign influences," Mrs. Wowk said.

For dances of other regions, the parents' auxiliary made costumes such as the tasselled jackets and heavy aprons of the Hutsul make. Boots were impractical in that Carpathian mountain area, and instead the dancers wear "postoly" — soft leather shoes with curved toes reminiscent of Arab influence.

Since Ss founding in 1960, the Yevshan group has performed at festivals and concerts across the Prairies. They figure in Saskatchewan's Diamond Jubilee documentary film, and will dance in the Canadian Pavilion at Expo Aug. 20, 21 and 22.

But their interest in the Ukrainian cultural legacy goes beyond performing.

A centennial project, the Vyshyvanky Book demonstrated the usefulness of traditional embroidery to modern evening wear. Intricate hand-work in centuries - old motifs accented the simplicity of Empire silhouettes and tent gowns.

Senior members of the ensemble teach four children's classes in basic dancing, from which pupils can "graduate" to Yevshan. And although present Yevshan members are all of Ukrainian descent, a number of non-Ukrainian children are enrolled in the elementary classes.

Two sisters, Nadia Pavlychenko-Smilie of Toronto, and Louis Pavlychenko-Sotolilow of Saskatoon, organized the dancers in 1960. Mrs. Pavlychenko-Sotolilow, director of the Saskatoon School of Ballet, is director and choreographer for the group.

Their father, agricultural ecologist Dr. T. E. Pavlychenko, left the Ukraine in protest against Russian occupation in 1920.

Carl Reiner Likes Whatever He's Doing at the Moment

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Actor, writer, director, producer—one career merges into others in the make-believe world of show business.

Shakespeare acted in his plays. Mike Nichols, Elia Kazan, Ida Lupino and Paul Henreid acted before becoming directors. Directors Gower Champion and Gene Kelly were dancers first, and Steve Allen is a comedian - musician - composer - author - panelist - master of ceremonies.

The demographic profundities were cribbed from Carl Reiner, himself a comedian - actor-writer - director - producer. And which career does he like best?

"Whatever I'm doing at the moment," said Reiner, who is 45, tall and bald, with luminous brown eyes and great energy. "Whether you write, direct or produce, it's still show business."

At the moment he is writing a new play; planning to direct another he wrote, doing "something different" on Broadway next fall, and preparing to direct two more segments of Good Morning World, a situation comedy being filmed for CBS-TV next fall.

Where does he get his energy? "My work is my hobby."

The Russians Are Coming movie audiences remember his hilarious scenes trussed back-to-back with a plump telephone operator.

In television he has won nine Emmys, two as an actor on the Sid Caesar show and three as writer and four as producer of the Dick Van Dyke show.

An unusual facet of Reiner is his frankness about being bald. He has several $150 toupees—and a new $252 job with the hair combed sideways—but he wears only one when acting.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For May 26

ARIES(Mar 21 — Apr. 19): Evading responsibility not wise. Accent on past promises, older friends and associates. Action shows more connection with public, contracts, marriage. Take initiative. Show off ability.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): You gain through help of coworker, relatives. Stress , or willingness to bow for you who aided you in past. Golden Rule is fine policy. Follow it to duty!

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Avoid extravagance. Member of opposite sex intrigues, but may not take wisest course. Follow through on personal conviction. Don't be swayed by elaborate promises.

CANCER (June 21 —July 22): Friction could centre around property, home, domestic situation. Illusions revealed. Don't take one thing at a time. Means avoid confusion. You're headed in right direction. Know this.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Tendency is to be careless. Tonight do more listening than talking at social event. Stay out of arguments . . . take special care in traffic. If envious individual attempts to goad you . . smile!

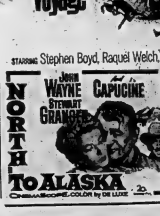
VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Action connected with valuables, gifts is indicated. You could be pleasantly surprised tonight maintain poise, express appreciation. Realize one close to you deserves praise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Be perceptive. Permit logic to dominate actions. Otherwise you could create embarrassing situation. Applies especially to social affair. Avoid tendency toward self-deception.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Not so good for attempting to keep secrets. People around you are enthusiastic — self - indulgive. You gain most if frank, sincere. Otherwise some close to you become suspicious of motives.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Friends take initiative, appear aggressive. But you do get action on special requests. You finish a project . . . achieve some recognition. You are gratified. Many express admiration.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Be diplomatic. No day for procrastination. Take the lead . . . exhibit independence of thought, action. State beliefs in succinct manner. Then you are surprised by valuable backing.



AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Message, call or word of information commands attention. Plans may be altered by changes in environment. Test ideas if you absorb knowledge. Read, write, communicate. Express feelings.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Stress today on ability to look beneath surface indications. Be analytical. Exercise intellectual curiosity. Find the reasons why. But don't attempt too much at once. Highlight quality.

Either pericarditis (inflammation of the covering of the heart) or inflammation of the valves inside the heart can occur, the latter more often occur, the latter more often occur, the heart damage is the thing we fear most in rheumatic fever, and repeated attacks make the heart damage progressively worse. Of course, with modern heart surgery some of these damaged heart valves can be repaired to a considerable extent, but it is immeasurably better to prevent damage than repair it later.

An attack of rheumatic fever can be a painful illness in itself. The child can be very tired, the abdomen can be sensitive, and when the joints become inflamed, they can be so tender to the touch that sometimes even contact with bed sheets is painful. A

To Your Good Health

Rheumatic Fever Dangerous Disease

Dear Dr. Molner: A doctor says my 14-year-old granddaughter has acute rheumatic fever but that can't believe this. I want my daughter-in-law to take her to another doctor but she refuses. He had this child out of school for the rest of the year. Please tell me all the symptoms of it, and I would like to know to stop worrying. — Mrs. W. D.

I'll tell you how to stop worrying however, today. I'll tell you why you should worry.

Rheumatic fever is a consequence of streptococcus infection, although there is good reason to think that other factors are involved. Not every case of tonsilitis or strep throat turns into rheumatic fever, but never seem to find rheumatic fever without strep throat preceding it.

Fever, inflamed painful joints, variations in heart action, are common symptoms.

A marked change in sedimentation rate of the blood, a change in antibody titer (or concentration) and other laboratory tests are among significant findings.

All may not be present, but when enough are present to show without question that rheumatic fever has developed, it's time to put that child to bed and start treatment, not talk of taking her to another doctor." Rest and medication are too urgently needed to brook or, if possible, prevent heart damage.

Not every case of rheumatic fever damages the heart, but it happens often enough to make rheumatic fever one of the most important causes of heart disease in later life.

Indeed, heart damage can result not only from severe, acute attacks, but also from mild rheumatic fever.

The treatment of rheumatic cradle is used to make a sort of tent to keep the bedding off the knee joints — the larger joints are more likely to be involved.

Sometimes heat is applied to the knees, by rigging an electric light inside the cradle.

Finally, in some cases St. Vitus Dance, a restlessness with irregular jerky movements of the limbs, follows rheumatic fever.

It is a thoroughly unpleasant and dangerous disease, and it is foolhardy in the extreme to do less than treat it with the utmost care — and to once a person has had it, to watch for any sign of recurrence, and to be particularly watchful of a sore throat or any other form of strep infection.

Tomorrow I will offer some more hopeful signs.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am only in my first year of high school but already have my mind made up to study medicine. What colleges could I send away to for catalogues? — E. N.

This is a switch. Instead of advising a reader to "use your doctor," this time I can say "use your school counselor." That's what they're for. Hope you stick to your decision to enter medicine.

Note to Mrs. T. T.: Surgery for removal of a pilonidal cyst is, in my opinion, the proper course, particularly when you have trouble with it repeatedly.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Greene Criticized

No Concrete Help for Farmers: Hamilton

OTTAWA (CP)—Former agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton (PC—Qu'Appelle) charged the federal government Wednesday with failing to give farmers concrete help in raising their standards of living and farm production.

Mr. Hamilton said he had refrained for four years, since leaving the agriculture department with the former Conservative government, from criticizing his successor, Harry Hays, now a senator and J. J. Greene, the present minister.

The ministers of agriculture have a difficult time mastering the complexities of their office and the development of new programs. But, Mr. Hamilton said, Agriculture Minister Greene is too interested in playing politics with his office in its relations with the Ontario and Quebec governments to give proper leadership.

"We have policy studies and task forces, but these are merely delaying tactics to hide the fact the government doesn't know where it is going," Mr. Hamilton said in the Commons.

The farmers who marched on Ottawa earlier in the day were not looking for handouts from the government, but wanted help overcoming poverty and injustice, he added. They have the technical skills to raise more food, but they are faced with a lack of markets for their produce.

Farmers represent only 10 per cent of Canada's population, Mr. Hamilton said. But if they would stick together they could force governments to change.

Mr. Hamilton said that when he was minister, he advocated a plan under which farmers in marginal agricultural areas of Eastern Canada would go into reforestation with a $2,000,000,000 program to plant 2,000,000 acres with commercial lumber.

In 33 years, this would have yielded a return of $12,000,000,000 to $24,000,000,000, Mr. Hamilton said. But Prime Minister Pearson, then campaigning for election, saw nothing in the Hamilton plan but "a policy for dogs."

Pearson Won't Spell Out Action

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson declared in the Commons Wednesday to spell out what action the government will take in response to demands earlier in the day for higher milk subsidies from thousands of demonstrating farmers. But he said the demands will be studied by the government.

As the prime minister spoke at the start of the afternoon session, a crowd of the demonstrators were pounding on the locked main doors of the Parliament Buildings.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker referred to "the orderly presentation" by the farmers and asked if the request for a $5.10 per hundredweight support price for manufacturing milk would be met.

Mr. Pearson said the farmer's proposals would receive study with "all the care they deserve" and the government would announce its policy in due course.

In reply to Mr. Diefenbaker's call for an investigation of the spread between the consumer price of farm produce and the amount received by the farmers, the prime minister said this could be one of the matters that would be dealt with by the agriculture task force soon to be set up.

Certification Won

GUELPH (CP) — The Civil Service Association Wednesday was certified as bargaining agent for about 300 trades, service and maintenance employees at the University of Guelph.

We Aren't Happy But Will Wait: Dolmer

OTTAWA (CP)—Farm organization representatives wrung an 11th-hour concession from two cabinet ministers Wednesday that the ministers will seek more money from the government for the dairy industry.

John Dolmer, president of the Ontario Farmers Union, told a reporter after a closed two-hour Parliament Hill meeting with Agriculture Minister Greene and Forestry Minister Sauve:

"Sauve and Greene are prepared to go before cabinet within the next two weeks asking for more money for the dairy industry."

Mr. Dolmer said he and other farm organization leaders are "not completely happy" with the results of their day - long Parliament Hill demonstration "but we're prepared to wait and see what cabinet comes up with."

Mr. Dolmer said Mr. Sauve "admitted there has never been a national agriculture policy as such."

Other farm representatives, interviewed as they left the meeting with various government officials said they were given the impression other improvements in dairy policy may be expected.

The representatives, who declined use of their names, said various federal sources indicated the government was prepared to allocate an additional $15,000,000 at least to milk subsidies, and possibly more.

PM Backs LBJ Stand on Aqaba

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said today he and President Johnson are in "complete agreement" that the right to peaceful passage through the Gulf of Aqaba, which the United Arab Republic has closed to Israeli shipping, must be maintained.

He told the Commons that he and Mr. Johnson also are convinced of the need for a "United Nations presence" along both sides of the border between Israel and the U.A.R. where troops now are being massed.

The prime minister was replying to opposition prodding about the outcome of his discussions with the U.S. president Thursday at Harrington Lake, Mr. Pearson's summer residence 20 miles north of Ottawa.

Mr. Pearson also denied reports that he had asked Mr. Johnson to invite North Vietnam to peace talks in Geneva and then go there to await the Hanoi representatives.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, quoting from today's Toronto Globe and Mail, asked how the president had reacted to "this rather unusual political posturing."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the proposal was for the president to go to Geneva "and wait like Constantine for e sign."

Mr. Pearson said it was regrettable and surprising that the Conservative leader should have used such an approach in his question. No proposal had been made "in those terms."

A few moments later, he replied with a flat "no" to Mr. Diefenbaker's repeated question about the Geneva proposal.

A government informant said Thursday night the prime minister sounded out Mr. Johnson on an informal plan involving a U.S. halt of its bombing of the North, coupled with a pledge by the president to be in Geneva on a specific date ready to meet the North Vietnamese.

During nearly two hours of discussions in Mr. Pearson's Harrington Lake summer residence, sources said the two leaders covered many possible peace efforts in both Vietnam and the Middle East.

On the Middle East, the informant said the two leaders discussed President de Gaulle's proposal for a four-power conference of Britain, Russia, France and the United States if normal UN action fails to dampen the crisis.

They were agreed that any action, including such a conference should be kept within the UN context. The four are permanent members of the Security council.

Mr. Johnson gave no indication he might take any initiative toward four-power talks.

The prime minister's aides said that it was at the American president's suggestion that the two men met for what was called a brain-picking session—that Mr. Johnson came here to pick Mr. Pearson's brain.

U.S. Marines Are Back Fighting in Buffer Zone

SAIGON (Reuters)—U.S. marines and North Vietnamese regulars were battling today for possession of Hill 117, one half mile inside the southern half of the demilitarized zone separating the two Vietnams.

In the thick jungle of the central highlands, a company of about 150 American soldiers was cut to today fighting off an ambush by North Vietnamese soldiers and snipers lashed in trees.

The U.S. command said five Americans were killed and 46 wounded, but a report from the battlefield said about half of the company was killed or wounded. The U.S. command said 71 North Vietnamese were killed.

Other action was reported in the Mekong Delta and near Saigon, where three helicopters were shot down while evacuating a South Vietnamese patrol.

An American military spokesman said two marine battalions returned to the former neutral zone Thursday to rid the hill of a large force living on them from fortified bunkers.

After 30 hours of fighting the marines reported killing 41 North Vietnamese regulars.

Some 10,000 marines and South Vietnamese government troops had earlier withdrawn from the southern half of the zone after a three-pronged assault into it eight days ago to destroy base camps and guerrilla positions.

The spokesman said the last battle began at dawn when a marine unit operating near Con Thien, just south of the zone, was fired upon.

It was joined by a battalion of marines and with the aid of artillery and air strikes started to storm the hill.

American operations in the zone virtually ended on the eve of Tuesday's 24-hour truce to celebrate Buddha's birthday. Up to then the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had lost 648 killed in the area, the U.S. military command reported.

American casualties at that time were 83 killed and 500 wounded.

Fighting also broke out Thursday northeast of Con Thien and marines reported 17 North Vietnamese killed during a seven-hour battle.

The spokesman said the last battle began at dawn when a marine unit operating near Con Thien, just south of the zone, was fired upon.

It was joined by a battalion of marines and with the aid of artillery and air strikes started to storm the hill.

It was the second Egyptian-Israeli incident in the Aqaba area in two days.

Earlier this week, Egyptian shore guns fired on an Israeli patrol torpedo boat and forced it to return to Elath.

Egyptians Open Fire On Israeli Fighters

AQABA, Jordan (AP)—Egyptian anti-aircraft guns apparently opened fire on two Israeli Mirage fighters today at the head of the Gulf of Aqaba.

It appeared to be two anti-aircraft gun explosions reverberated around the hilly rim of the gulf and two Israeli fighters landed shortly afterward at the Israeli gulf port of Elath, apparently undamaged.

The incident occurred at 11:2h a.m. (5:35 a.m. EDT).

U Thant Prepares Middle East Report

Beirut, Lebanon (CP)—Egypt has achieved its objectives in its military confrontation with Israel and if there is to be war Israel will have to start it, the semi - official Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram of Cairo said today.

A full-page editorial written by Mohamed Hassanein Heikal, who often reflects the political thinking of President Nasser, said Egypt had frustrated what he called an Israeli plan to attack Syria and had accomplished a blockade of Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba.

"Egypt finds itself compelled at this stage to stop at what it has accomplished so far, even if this means that we wait to receive a blow from Israel," Heikal wrote.

"Let Israel start. This will be followed by a second blow on our side which will be the death blow."

At the United Nations in New York, Secretary - General U Thant prepared a report on his peace mission to Cairo, but Western diplomats in the Egyptian capital already were predicting that Thant had failed to win a reserved peacemaker role for the UN on the tense frontiers.

Egypt has announced it has blockaded the entrance to the gulf, the Strait of Tiran about 100 miles south of here, to Israeli shipping. It announced Thursday that Egyptian Navy patrol boats had been stationed in the strait and that the strait had been mined.

Thant's early departure was interpreted in Cairo as an indication of failure of the mission.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban arrived in Washington, hoping to learn from President Johnson what the U.S. intends to do to open the gulf if diplomatic efforts fail to end the blockade.

Hellyer States Policy

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Canada considers the Gulf of Aqaba, which Egypt has closed to Israeli shipping, an international waterway, Defence Minister Hellyer said Thursday.

He said in an interview Canada has no plans to provide warships to enforce freedom of passage through the gulf.

Mr. Hellyer repeated an earlier statement that Canada's 740-man contingent in Egypt is in no immediate danger unless war breaks out.

Asked if the Canadians would shoot back if shot at, the defence minister said the UN force has the right of self-protection.

Facilities Offered

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities has offered its "facilities and full co-operation" in any federal-provincial inquiry into the problems of urban development, it was announced Friday.

Reginald P. Dawson, president of the federation and mayor of suburban Town of Mount Royal said in a telegram to Prime Minister Pearson the federation welcomes the federal policy sketched in the speech from the throne earlier this month.

Ontario Will Pay Persons Aiding Police

TORONTO (CP) — A bill given first reading by the Ontario legislature Thursday allows for payment of $500 a month or a lump sum of $10,000 in compensation to persons injured while assisting police officers.

The proposed law enforcement Compensation Act, introduced by Attorney-General Arthur Wishart, sets up a board to adjudicate claims and award the compensation, which will be made from a fund set up by the legislature.

In cases where the person aiding police is killed the board will be able to make payments to his dependents.

Under the bill payments will be limited to a lump sum of $10,000 or instalments of $500 a month.

The proposed law enforcement compensation board will be empowered to prosecute civil actions toward recovering some or all the payments from persons involved.

Reds Seek Solution For Middle East Row

MOSCOW (Reuters) — British Foreign Secretary George Brown said today that Russia shares the West's desire to ease the tense Middle East situation.

"Here and in other capitals there is a very great, urgent desire to defuse the situation," he told a Moscow press conference after three-day talks with Soviet leaders.

Brown refused to comment on the position Russia may take, but said his discussions on the Middle East were "very full, very detailed, exceedingly friendly and I think constructive."

He spoke after a final hour-long meeting in the Kremlin.

Auto Plunges 15 Feet

Three Drowned in Cobourg Accident; Toronto Man Rescues Two Children

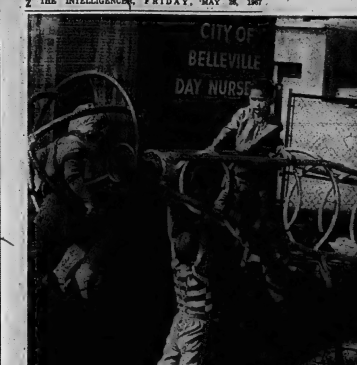
COBOURG (CP) — Robert Goudie, 35, a Toronto food executive, pulled two children from a sinking car in Cobourg harbor Wednesday. The children's mother, sister and brother drowned in the car.

Mr. Goudie saved Patricia Ann Gallagher, 7, and her sister, Kathleen Mary, 17 months, by yanking them from the car and treading water until rescuers arrived in a boat.

Mrs. Joseph Gallagher, 30, of Peterborough, her son, John Thomas, 4, and daughter, Ann Marie, 3, died when the auto plunged into 15 feet of water.

The car had been driven off the dock at about 30 mph, police said. Its velocity carried it 40 feet into the harbor before it sank. All four car windows were open.

Mr. Goudie was sitting in his car beside the dock when the car drove past.



"The car was righting itself as I jumped in. It was floating, with water just above the windows, when I got in it on the passenger side," he said.

"I told the mother to get out with the children and get on the roof. The car was sinking so slowly there was time to talk to her."

Mr. Goudie said he pulled out the seven-year-old girl and put her on his left arm. The mother then helped him grab the baby.

The bodies of the three drowned persons were recovered later by a skin diver. An inquest will be held.

The deaths brought the total number of persons drowned in the harbor this year to six. Five have drowned in cars.

County Farmers Disappointed

PICTON (STAFF) — The farmers of Prince Edward County along with hosts of others who on Wednesday marched on Parliament Hill brought little home with them in the way of tangible results of the meeting with the Federal Minister of Agriculture. The farmers major demand of the presented brief was for $5 per hundred weight milk rather than the guaranteed $4.76 which was announced only recently.

They did bring home with them, however, a better mutual understanding and feeling between the two major farm organizations, Lewis Wight of Wellington, one of about 225 farmers from across Prince Edward County, who crowded into six buses for the trip, said that all farmers taking part were surprised and dissappointed that federal officials had nothing to offer after being aware for so long of the demands farmers would make. Mr. Wight said there is still some hope in present free by some cabinet members to try and seek more funds and future meetings.

The bus trip from Picton via Belleville was a long one for the Prince Edward delegation which started out about 8 a.m. However Mr. Wight said it was easy compared with some areas. Two buses from Kent and Essex counties travelled from seven o'clock Tuesday - travelled all night and arrived just after the Prince Edward buses on Wednesday afternoon.

Everybody Has Interest In Tourism: Kingdon

PICTON (Staff) — Speaking on promoting tourist trade and new industry at this week's Rotary Club of Picton, Donald Kingdon, manager of the Lake Ontario Region Development Council, said, "You must grow, you cannot stand still," and he added, "promotion of both new industry and the tourist trade is everybody's business." Mr. Kingdon's opinion that Picton and Prince Edward County, like the whole of the Lake Ontario region of which it is part must sink or swim as far as new development is concerned.

With the need for continuing new investment in communities across Ontario and Canada, "How can we obtain our fair share in an area like this?" he asked. "You need a dedicated person," was his answer, "a man or woman to organize a program, keep the ball rolling and maintain continuity. A paid person is not necessary as smaller communities can seldom afford this. But a volunteer person can do just as well provided he or she gets good solid support from all community minded citizens and backed up by an active, hard working committee. "You have a lot to sell here," he said of Prince Edward. We know you have good labor, good industrial land, exciting recreation facilities, central location and the only natural deep water harbor between Montreal and Toronto. He urged Rotarians to "sell them wherever you go. Be sure to talk about the many good things you have."

Mr. Kingdon reviewed some of the industrial committee's plans, of which he was aware, and said some "worthwhile projects" are coming up. He urged members of the committee that were present to keep active. And to Rotarians he said, "give them all the moral and physical support you can."

In closing Mr. Kingdon offered the services of experts at LORDC head office in Peterborough to any organization or municipal council in the county interested in tourist or industrial promotion. "Call on us at any time," he said, "for help in tourist and/or industrial promotion.

'Successful' Day Nursery Open Tonight to Public

In full time operation since the first of the year and with 32 youngsters now enrolled, the City of Belleville Day Care Nursery is being officially opened this week.

To mark the occasion and to give city residents the opportunity of inspecting the facilities, school and its facilities, open house is being held. The nursery will be officially opened tonight by Mayor R. Ellis.

Residents attending last night's open house were full of praise for the nursery school's facilities. City officials term its operations "a splendid success."

"The nursery school has been going very well," said city welfare administrator Daniel Aitken.

Planned primarily for the benefit of working mothers, the school operates from 7.30 in the morning until about 5.30 in the afternoon. The 32 boys and girls enrolled are divided into morning and afternoon classes.

Preference is given to the pre-school age children of families receiving city welfare, thus allowing the mothers to go and accept outside work.

Supervisor in charge of the day nursery is Mrs. Dora Durand. Mrs. Jean McAuliffe is her assistant.

Other full time assistants at the nursery are Mrs. Lillian Lee, Miss Linda Robertson, Mrs. Imella Misters, and Miss Jean Cleaver.

Nursery school regulations make it the responsibility of the parent or parents to deliver children to the school. It is also the responsibility of the parents to pick up children after work.

The nursery school has the latest in play facilities both inside the nursery and in the outside fenced-in playground. One of the most popular play items is a jungle jim exerciser patterned after the space age sputnik.

Air Cadets Given Award At Inspection

TRENTON — Seventy cadets from Trenton 81th School Squadron 173 were on inspection parade last night and were reviewed by Group Captain C. F. Sandford CD, senior staff officer, operations, with Air Transport Command.

A good number of spectators were on hand to see awards passed out to Cpl. Anthony Turner as best cadet on parade; Flt. Sgt. Ian Forbes, as best cadet of the year; WO1 David Hinton, who won an exchange visit to the United States; Flt. Sgt. Torrie Cacsar, who won a senior leadership course at Camp Borden and WO2 Rodney Schwager who won the board of education high scholarship.

Cpl. Turner was presented with the John Proctor Cup; Flt. Sgt. Forbes with the Gilleman Trophy and WO2 Schwager will take his course at the Oshawa Flying School.

Taking part in the inspection ceremony was Flt. Lt. William Mack, commanding officer and Douglas Whitley, chairman of the Ontario provincial committee, Air Cadet League of Canada.

City Librarian Reports Circulation Still High

Belleville Public Library lent a total of 28,074 books during April, chief librarian Miss Olive Delaney reported. New members totalled 250 during the same period.

Sixty-four requests were filled for smaller libraries in the area. These libraries sought books on careers, Shakespeare, science, religion and biography. Classes of school children continued to visit the Main Library to learn how the service operates.

One hundred and two films were lent to organizations during the month. Of these, the National Film Board issue, Expo 67, was the most popular.

'Y' Leaders Given Challenge

Over 50 volunteer leaders of the Belleville Family YMCA were the guests of the Y's Men's Club at the annual leaders' Recognition Dinner on Tuesday evening. Rev. Robert E. Henderson, president of the Y's Men's Club, told the unique and awesome job of helping others reach toward their highest potential as human beings. "Y" leaders concern themselves about each individual being in the activity or program is but the means of recognizing the individual and helping him reach toward his potential. This potential, however small it may be, must be the point concern of the leader.

It is no mean thing to be a leader — to see any individual under the influence of the Holy Spirit by the leader's faith in him reach even a tiny step closer to that potential. There must be freedom for growth. This underlies man's achievements. Leaders help individuals choose their lives, shape them, grow and develop in freedom that becomes the source of creativity and power. It is an awesome thing for a leader to realize that he can help others see the highest and best in themselves and help them reach for it. This is leadership — beyond price — irreplacable.

The speaker paid tribute to all the leaders of various "Y" groups, classes and instruction groups, both youth and adult. "Y" Program Directors, Miss Meta Kitchen and Glen Mansborne, introduced the members of the boys' and girls' leader corps and other leaders present. "Y" Program Committee Chairman, Jack Sawson, presented certificates to Dave Fisher, Richard Marta, Jim Wiggins and Richard McLean who had successfully completed a leaders' training course at the YMCA National Leadership Training Centre at Geneva Park. The meeting was chaired by Y's Man Don Lockyer. "Y" President Bill Holway expressed appreciation to the Leaders on behalf of the Board of Directors and the members and all others who were given service by the volunteer leaders.

Appreciation to the speaker was expressed by Miss Judy Jelich, Miss Sandra Hall, Leaders Corps Miss Rebecca Holway thanked the Y's men on behalf of the leaders who were their guests for the dinner.

Representing the Girls' Leaders' Corps Miss Kathryn Watson presented a gift to Miss Stela Kitchen, Girls' and Women's Program Director, who is leaving to teach high school in Montreal.

Hasty Pees Officers To Meet

On Saturday the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment will hold its second Regimental Officers' Association meeting in the Armouries here.

It is expected that a large number of officers and ex officers of both the local regiment and those regiments which have been affiliated and amalgamated with it over the years will be present.

Proceedings begin at 1.30 p.m. when officers gather in the Armouries to examine static displays by the regiment and in witness demonstrations of skills learned by the unit during the last year. At 2.30 p.m. the meeting will be called to order by the president Brigadier D. C. Cameron, recently retired as Commandant of the Army Staff College in Kingston. Members will receive reports by the executive on the various projects of the Association and on the regiment by the commanding officer. It is expected Lieutenant General Howard D. Graham, who is this year Canada's official in charge of Royal visits will be present.

At 6.30 p.m. General J. V. Allard, Chief of the Defence Staff, will enter the Armouries as the guest of the officers of the mess dinner. Upon arrival he will inspect a 25 man guard of honor commanded by Lieutenant Gordon Brown. The guard will be most colorful in its 1860 period uniforms. Following this inspection General Allard will meet the senior officers present and then proceed to the officers' mess. During cocktails and following dinner all officers and ex-officers will be given the opportunity to meet the General and talk with him.

The strictly military regimental mess dinner will be served in the Armouries. It is expected that following the meal General Allard will say a few words to those in attendance regarding the future of the Militia.

Suspend Sentence For Forgery

Magistrate T. Y. Wills gave a Belleville man, Arthur Frederick Vesterfelt, one year suspended sentence today in police court for forging a signature on a cheque worth $25. He pleaded guilty.

Magistrate Wills said he was more concerned however, with the family situation of the Vesterfelts. He was shocked when Mr. Vesterfelt partly blamed his own nine-year-old son for the offence.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Here is this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a quart bottle, then add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if unsightly pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way exactly as many who have used this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you look and feel, youthful appearing and active.

Planning Board Recommends Parking Lot for Amodeo Store

Belleville and Suburban Planning Board last night recommended that Mike Amodeo be allowed to turn a lot at the rear of his store on North Front St. into a parking lot.

At a public hearing into Mr. Amodeo's request for re-zoning of 55 Valleyview Crescent to allow the residential lot to be used for commercial purposes, six letters were read from nearby property owners objecting to the zoning change and five letters from those favoring the change. The objectors cited increased traffic hazards, loss of privacy and creation of a surface water drainage problem as reasons for their opposition.

In replay, Mr. Amodeo told the Board his customers now park on Valleyview Cres. because of lack of adequate off-street parking. The proposed parking lot would eliminate hazards, not increase them. He agreed verbally to meet any reasonable request on the part of adjacent property owners to safeguard their privacy and drain his lot adequately.

Planing director P. J. Beavis said Mr. Amodeo's difficulties arose because of "illogical zoning". A 100-foot strip along North Front St. is zoned for commercial use, while shutting it to the rear is another 100-foot strip zoned for single family residential dwellings.

He asked, "What do we do with illogical zoning to be fair to both those who want to develop and those who already have an investment in the area?"

The Board decided to recommend re-zoning for the parking lot, subject to three conditions. They will advise Mr. Amodeo and the city to draw up a legal agreement ensuring a screening fence between the lot and abutting property, proper grading and determination of entrances and exits guaranteeing safe traffic flow. The police department and city engineer will be consultants in preparing the agreement.

The resignation of Dr. J. S. Barlow, Board member and former chairman, was accepted with regret. Dr. Barlow, an employee of the Research Institute, Canada Department of Agriculture, is leaving the city in mid-July to accept a full professorship at Simon Fraser University, British Columbia.

MISS NELLIE BARRIAGE

A life resident of Belleville, Miss Nellie Barriage, 65 St. Charles Street, died in Belleville General Hospital Thursday. In her 76th year, she had been ill some time.

Miss Barriage was born in the city, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Barriage. She was a member of Tabernacle United Church.

One sister survives, a resident of Whitby.

The body is resting at the Grant Funeral Home.

MRS. FRANK VALLEAU (Wellington)

The funeral of Mrs. Frank Valleau, 91, was held on Friday May 12th at the Ainsworth Funeral Home, Wellington with Rev. N. J. Truax officiating.

Mrs. Valleau, the former Barbara Coukell was born in 1876 near Lindsay, the daughter of Henry and Isabella Coukell. In 1896 she married Frank L. Valleau of Bancroft who predeceased her in 1925.

For a number of years she lived in Trenton, coming to Wellington to live with her daughter Viola.

Mrs. Valleau was a member of the United Church and in her younger years took an active part in its Women's organizations.

She is survived by two children, Viola Valleau of Wellington and Arthur of Aurora also three grandchildren, Paul Smith of Willowdale, Mrs. Earl Taft (Barbara) of Inverary and Linda Valleau of Aurora. One daughter Meta, (Mrs. Rev. D. M. Smith) predeceased her mother.

GEORGE WARRINGTON ADAMS

TRENTON — The funeral of George Warrington Adams, R.R. 1, Hilton, was held Thursday afternoon from the Weaver Funeral Home, Trenton, to Carman United Church. Mr. Donald R. McClintock of Smithfield United Church officiated. Interment in Carman Cemetery.

Bearers were Harold Morgan, Max Morgan, Donald Sharpe, Lloyd Chates, Fred Stewart, and Everett Coltman. Honorary bearers were J. B. Morgan, Edward Naylor, Roy Wannamaker, Roy Anderson, William Ashby, John Pinch, George Little, Clarence Vancleef, Oscar Parks, Maurice Clancy and Clifford McFaul.

Mr. Adams died suddenly at his residence Monday. He was in his 79th year.

A lifetime resident of the Murray Township area, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Adams.

Mr. Adams was a member of the Official Board of Carman United Church and a lay representative of Smithfield pastoral charge to the Bay of Quinte Presbytery of United Church.

He was a member of Brighton United A.F. and A.M. No. 29, and Past Worthy Patron and member of Order of the Eastern Star, Trenton Chapter No. 118.

Both fraternal organizations held services for Mr. Adams in the funeral home this week.

Mr. Adams was also Past Watchman Shepherd and member of No. 11 White Shrine of Jerusalem of Belleville.

Survived by his wife, the former Coral Ireland, Mr. Adams also leaves a son, Vaughan, of R.R. 1, Hilton, and four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, all of R.R. 1, Hilton.

Also surviving are a sister Mrs. Helen Perry of Trenton, and two brothers, Charles of Chicago, and Alfred of Ottawa.

Mr. Adams was predeceased by one sister and one brother.

District Governor Pays Visit

TRENTON — Trenton Lions received an official visit last night from the Deputy District Governor, Harman Babcock of the Verona Club, Mr. Babcock spoke on the importance of service club work to the well-being of the community.

An election was held for several executive positions in the local club.

Previously acclaimed to office were Hugh Gordon, president; Lorne Richards and Bud Cook, vice-presidents; Nostrand Cooper, secretary; Earl Gordon, assistant secretary; Ray Wilkins, treasurer and Claude Hoffman and Len Poole, corner directors.

As a result of last night's elections, Charles Barker is now the third vice-president, (acclamation); Val Carswell, Lion Tamer; Eric Smith, Tail Twister; Cecil Irwin and Bob Reid, two-year directors.

Legion Auxiliary members attending a sone meeting in Belleville yesterday paraded to the cenotaph to place a memorial wreath. Here members of the color party parade near the monument.

Legion Auxiliary on Parade

In his closing remarks, Mr. Hees told members that government, in the future, must be honest with the people and relate as much information as possible through the press. "The people are too intelligent to be fooled".

Prior to the banquet mem-bers paraded to the cenotaph for a wreath placing ceremony. They were escorted by the new legion drum and trumpet band.

The zone meeting included members from throughout Hastings and Prince Edward Counties.

"The government of Canada must take the people into its confidence and stop underestimating their intelligence."

Last evening George Hees (PC - Northumberland) told more than 150 members of the Royal Canadian Legion Ladies' Auxiliary that the government must be honest with the electorate.

He said the economy of Canada must be expanded; parliamentarians must shorten their speeches and political parties must act on their own principles.

"The time limit on speeches, in the house of commons, should be cut in half — if you cut the length of the speech you'll at least quadruple the quality."

Mr. Hees said that Canada has one of the finest social security systems in the world but we must keep the economy going ahead or the country will lose its present high standard of living.

He pointed out that for many years political parties have been operating on the basis that the Canadian public do not understand politics. "The people can, and must, be taken onto the confidence of the government."

"The cost of government in this country is far too high and it all adds to the cost of living." The people must let their members know they are fed up with high taxes," he said.

Nasser's Dilemma

There is no doubt that the pending withdrawal of the United Nations troops from the Gaza Strip on the border between Egypt and Israel creates a serious vacuum in the Middle East.

Egypt's President Nasser is even reported surprised that his request for the UN force to withdraw that with no opposition from UN Secretary General U Thant. It is believed Nasser was simply showing off for the benefit of the other Arab states.

Meanwhile, the United States has warned the United Arab Republic (Egypt) that a blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba would be an act of aggression against Israel and would "act against it by all means possible."

While any interference by the United States may be questioned, not to mention opposed by the Soviet Union (which supports the Arabs) it may be this is the only means (in the absence of effective United Nations intervention) of averting war in the Middle East.

If Nasser persists with the military movements now taking place, and gives effect to his threat to block Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba, then Israel will have no recourse but to retaliate. And if it happens Egypt, even with the support of the other Arab states, could get its fingers burned.

That is, unless the United Arab Republic (which once consisted of Egypt and Syria, but today is Egypt alone because of Syria's withdrawal in 1961) has improved its military effectiveness in recent years. It is true the UAR has acquired a great deal of military equipment from the Soviet Union, but so too has Israel, from the United States and France mainly. And in the last confrontation between Egypt and Israel, during the Suez crisis in 1956, it was the Israelis who proved the most effective fighting force.

The worst possible development in this Middle Eastern crisis is that it should turn into another instrument of the cold war, perhaps another Vietnam. If the Arabs are wise they will avoid such a situation. There is ample work for them to do toward improving the lot of the people in their relatively impoverished lands without going to war.

Socred Again

The name of Peter Lougheed is one to remember in any consideration of the contemporary scene in Alberta.

The 38-year-old Calgary lawyer is the man who has driven a Conservative bridgehead into the all but impregnable fortress of Social Credit in the western province.

Premier Manning and his party are still firmly entrenched, with 55 seats, but Lougheed heads a new official Opposition of six young Progressive Conservatives, the largest under 40 and all newcomers to the legislature.

With two new seats in Edmonton and Calgary under redistribution Alberta now has 55 Social Credit members, six Conservatives, three Liberals and one Independent.

For all its long-term popularity and considerable effectiveness in the government of Alberta, Social Credit needs opposition lest it becomes a virtual dictatorship. The new lineup is much healthier than it was prior to the election when there were no fewer than 60 Social Credit members, only two Liberals and one Coalition member.

For Premier Manning none the less the election was another personal triumph. It was the seventh victory for Socred under his leadership and the ninth for the party since it came to power under the late William Aberhart in 1935.

Quality of Initative

The Windsor Star was talking recently about an office girl who showed particular initiative. She was a "get-up-and-go" girl who was never idle, never at a loss for something to do.

Such a person — and a widely-travelled young woman at that — is Patricia Cooper, a Toronto nurse who is currently serving the people of a remote Montagnard village in Vietnam.

Miss Cooper nursed for three years in England, then in Australia for a couple of years. She also toured much of the South Pacific islands on a banana boat.

What motivates her? "A desire to know what is around the next bend and over the next hill," as she told a CBS Dimension interviewer over Syracuse radio. How does she do it? She works her way. "I have to," she said, noting that she had arrived in Australia without any money.

And why did she go to Vietnam? Here she was more serious. Miss Cooper said she was "disgusted" by the attitude of people back home, and went to the war area to do something practical, to try and make up for the "lack of concern" of the general public.

Asked if she would ever settle down, Miss Cooper reminded listeners of a basic truth concerning the leaving of home and friends and family. She said "travel changes you . . . I've been home twice, but it is difficult to fit into the same mold again."

Middle East Crisis

Arabs Refuse to Recognize Existence of Jewish State

By ROD CURRIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

(First of two articles)

The insistence of world Jewry to establish its homeland among its enemies produced the ingredients for the seemingly insoluble problem that has once again erupted into a Middle East crisis.

The long-held dream had its roots in the days when Moses led the children of Israel from Egyptian bondage toward the promised land of Palestine.

It persisted despite the history of the agonizing Diaspora —the forced dispersal of the Jews among the Gentiles in the second century of the Christian era—the expulsion of the Jews in 137 AD, the long conquest by Moslem Arabs from 634 and the coming of British influence in the early 1900s.

The major break came during the First World War when the British government produced the Balfour declaration—seeking world Jewry aid in the war effort and promising Britain's "best endeavours" to realize the Zionist dream of a Jewish nation.

When the war ended, Britain received a League-of-Nations mandate in Palestine, Jews and his sister, Mrs. Marshall, Bleecker Ave., has left for his home in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Lorne McDougall spent the weekend with relatives in North Bay.

Fred Sprague, Jr., and Mrs. Sprague have returned home after a trip to Nova Scotia and the New England States.

The main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway was opened for public traffic 88 years ago today—in 1887 —18 months after the last spike was driven. Trains had been running from Montreal to Vancouver for a year but passengers now could ride all the way on 2,904.8 miles of CPR track. The emergency builders of the line at once started organizing a steamship line across the Pacific and its objectives could be attained. He did not even, for example, offer to assist in bringing the nations which support his party into co-operative contacts with governments and managements to increase productivity.

He wants increased productivity, naturally, but does not help to help it.

Labor Minister Nicholson said the other day that while the majority of collective bargaining agreements are reached amicably there were more than 3,000,000 man-days lost last year due to strikes and lockouts. The minister added:

"We cannot ignore the growing impatience of society at such massive wastes of resources, time and energy resulting, to a significant measure, from dissatisfaction breakdowns between labor and management.

"While the initiative is still theirs to take, labor and management must develop an acceptable system of effective, democratic consultation during the course of their agreements, and they must do that soon."

Douglas, who is as much the voice of labor as anyone in the House, had nothing to say about how he would help labor in bringing about consultations with management on economic survival.

He simply outlined the safe, comfortable society he craves, and left it to others to earn it. He should be told that high productivity is never even bought in an ooze of social security.

"Collusion"—Soviet-Style!

Manchester Guardian Weekly

If you cannot believe that the United States and the People's Republic of China are in collusion, read the Moscow "Literary Gazette."

The argument is bold—not merely that the two countries secretly trade together, but that the United States must now be China's biggest trading partner.

And whoever can those Washington emissaries be who (according to the paper) are welcomed so warmly in Peking? Well, one turns out to be General Li Tsung-jen.

Most of the rest of the world swallowed Peking's story that he was welcomed as a Kuomintang prodigal returned.

Another that the "Literary Gazette" mentions is the rocket expert Dr. Tsien Hsueh-shen, whose return from the United States is taken to prove that the Americans are helping the Chinese to make their nuclear missiles. (The paper does not say that the return was eleven years ago.)

Given such ingenuity, one can demonstrate anything about international relations and it might make an interesting party game or weekend competition to try.

Collusion between, say, Ireland and Egypt? Yes lots; it's been done. Jordanian radio speakers have long been arguing that it is to protect Israel that President Nasser harbors the United Nations Emergency Force on his territory. And would have built the High Dam (they ask) if he had not got an assurance from the Israelis that they would not bomb it?

Collusion between Hanoi and Washington sounds a harder case to prove, and no one, so far as we know, has argued it yet (though the Saigon Government sometimes comes near it).

But have we not already heard of secret correspondence between Presidents Johnson and Ho Chi Minh? And according to the North Vietnamese press there are four more letters from President Johnson still unreceived.

Then there was that message through the Western churchgoers in January in which President Ho invited not only President Johnson to come and stay, but also "his wife, his daughters, his secretary, his doctor, and his cook." So that's too easy after all.

NDP Leader's "Pipe Dreams"

Ottawa Journal

The NDP technique is to ask for the better life — in fact demand it — without saying how it is to be gained.

Mr. Douglas recently asked for greater economic growth and increased productivity; full employment to ensure adequate incomes; price stability to offset inflation; and equality for all Canadians and more equitable distribution of the national income; better housing, hospitals, homes and recreational activities plus clean air and water; greater control over the Canadian economy.

He did not explain how these objectives could be attained. He did not even, for example, offer to assist in bringing the unions which support his party into co-operative contacts with governments and managements to increase productivity.

He wants increased productivity, naturally, but does not help to help it.

Labor Minister Nicholson said the other day that while the majority of collective bargaining agreements are reached amicably there were more than 3,000,000 man-days lost last year due to strikes and lockouts. The minister added:

She Gets LBJ's Phone Calls

Christian Science Monitor

Direct distance dialing has put Mrs. Johnson, in Johnson City, New York, in touch with the president. She didn't call him. He wrote her.

For, according to The New York Times, she has been answering many telephone calls and not always polite ones, intended for Mr. Johnson. Except for the area code, her number is the same as his.

We know a man whose number, but for his initial, is the same as that of a French consulate, whose number ends with zero.

He does not speak French, so he sometimes has difficulty explaining that he is the difference between zero and the letter O as the final ogmenter it comes out of his telephone.

Sometimes this man gets the impression that the wrong number called think it is his fault. So far, the council himself has not called or questioned Mrs. Brown has heard from the president.

If Mr. Johnson wrote her that she had done had unexpected job with "all the diplomacy of an ambassador and the warmth of an understanding woman."

And, with the warmth of a diplomatist, understanding president, he added:

"I suppose as long as our telephone numbers are so similar, if you will do the best you can in handling White House calls, I can assure you we will do the best that we can in handling calls for the Brown family."

Of course, Mr. Johnson is a politician. But if this be a party line, we say, make the most of it.

Russians Still Lack Necessities

Fort William Times - Journal

We are indebted to a reader for a translation of a letter to the editor of Soviet Russia which offers a hint of the struggle the Soviet Union is still having in producing and distributing goods the people want. The letter was written from Saratov which is located on the Volga about one hour's flying time from Moscow.

Says the letter, Saratov is crammed with complete works of Lenin in 75 volumes; colored portraits and statuettes of Lenin; and treatises of literature dedicated to great, miraculous achievements of Soviet industry, science and technology. But where in Saratov can you buy a brush for your clothes? Answer: nowhere, for they vanished into thin air along with the last herd of dinosaurs. The citizen writes, "We buy small shaving brushes (but can we brush our customer), he six or seven of them together with a piece of hard wire and use such ingenious weapons to clean our clothes.

"No, no, fellers! I'm sure Mr. Pearson said it is foot-IN-mouth disease

Protecting Children

Toronto Telegram

Children should be taught to fear the blandishments of strangers as they are taught to fear the hazards of traffic.

This is the lesson of the two cases of abduction of little girls in the last few weeks. One, Mary Farncomb, six, of Toronto, was restored to her parents after a terse couple of hours and efficient work by the police. The other, Marianne Schoett, 10, of Oakville, is still missing.

The special classes to be held in Toronto and Oakville schools in which pupils will be shown the dangers of accepting the invitations of strangers, are a logical reaction to the incidents.

The problem is to balance our insistence on obedience to authority, represented by the adult, and resistance to the authority of an adult with whom a child has no identity.

The importance of making such a distinction was revealed by Mary Farncomb when she explained that she went with an adult because he held himself principal and she always does what the principal says."

Objections will probably be heard that specific instruction to stay clear of strangers will render children unduly shy and unfriendly; but these will be sorry.

Actually, skilful instruction on this matter need not rest on a choice between morbidity and friendliness. A child can be taught to recognize but armed with protective attitudes. This should be the aim of parents and teachers.

Beer-Swigging Fishermen

Owen Sound Sun - Times

The opening of another trout fishing season has come and gone, and a good many property owners have given a large sigh of relief. Fishing will continue to be a popular sport for the next few weeks, but there won't be anything like the horror that invaded the district the first weekend. And from now on most of those on the streams will be fishermen.

If we sound a bit disgusted, it's because we are. Fishing should be fun, for young and old alike, but it's not much fun when you run into a thundering herd of cursing, beer-drinking boors who show no regard for others, let alone respect for property.

It's not difficult to find where these people have been. There's a trail of beer bottles along river banks, and piles more where they've been thrown into the bush. Bonfires long since dead have left their mark in piles of ashes, and the unsavoury odor that is permeating the air comes from dead suckers tossed up on the river bank.

Is it any wonder that some property owners decide to put up "No Fishing" signs? Is it any wonder that some local fishermen have not bothered going out to fish on opening day?

We may be accused of criticizing the goose that lays the golden egg, because the steadily improving rainbow fishery is a big tourist attraction. On the other hand, there is no reason why local property owners should be subjected to vulgar abuse and left with a major clean - up job, just to accommodate out-of-town people.

Not all visitors to our district come for a drinking party to open the fishing season, or weekend and jackasses of themselves are not welcome. And not all drinking parties are visitors by any means.

In future years, we hope that extra police are on hand to deal with them. We won't stand for such conduct at our beaches in summer; there is no reason why we should put up with it at the opening of the fishing season.

Labor Minister Nicholson said the other day that while the majority of collective bargaining agreements are reached amicably there were more than 3,000,000 man-days lost last year due to strikes and lockouts. The minister added:

"We cannot ignore the growing impatience of society at such massive wastes of resources, time and energy resulting, to a significant measure, from dissatisfaction breakdowns between labor and management.

"While the initiative is still theirs to take, labor and management must develop an acceptable system of effective, democratic consultation during the course of their agreements, and they must do that soon."

Douglas, who is as much the voice of labor as anyone in the House, had nothing to say about how he would help labor in bringing about consultations with management on economic survival.

He simply outlined the safe, comfortable society he craves, and left it to others to earn it. He should be told that high productivity is never even bought in an ooze of social security.

Food Prices Jump Again

Windsor Star

Inflation still is the principal problem in Canada, especially for people who are the victims of it. The price index for April rose by 1.2 to 141.8 compared to 146.5 in March. That is higher than the usual monthly boost.

Prices in virtually every commodity group are higher, with the largest proportionate increases being in housing costs. This reflects the shortage of housing and the ever - growing cost of building lots.

This aspect of inflation can be explained by the law of supply and demand. That does not pertain to most other commodities where there are ample supplies to meet the needs.

Foodstuffs are an example. There is plenty of everything people want to buy. They did hold reasonably level for a few months, during the period of the investigation into food prices, but now are on the upward trend again. The heat is off. Perhaps we need a continuing probe!

All the fault cannot be placed on private enterprise, however. Higher sales taxes in Quebec and Newfoundland have reflected in prices there. Municipal tax increases, though in most instances not included in the April figures, also have a reaction — as in rents.

It is all very well for governments to take a casual view of inflation. It is, however, a very direct hardship on the people, ever lowering the purchasing power of their money — of which few have too much to spend.

Quit Work at Montreal

Northern Electric Here Not Affected by Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Northern Electric Co. Ltd. foresees no immediate effects on its Ontario plants because of a strike by its Montreal shop workers, a company spokesman said today.

"They are not involved at all at the moment," he said.

At the Belleville plant, inquiring newsmen were told information could be obtained only from head office at Montreal.)

On the question of lack of supplies or other difficulties which might be caused by the strike of about 7,500 Montreal workers which began Thursday, the spokesman said he would not speculate on future developments but "we don't foresee any such problems."

The workers left their jobs four days ahead of the date originally set for the walkout, which was Monday. The company also faces a threatened strike by about 2,900 Montreal office employees.

The workers and the office workers, both members of the Independent Northern Electric Employees Association, seek a new contract with increased wages.

Major Northern Electric installations outside Montreal are located in Ottawa at Lindsay, Belleville, Toronto and Brantford, near Toronto.

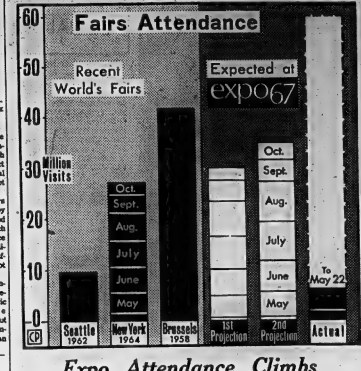
Senior association officials were unavailable today for comment, but one lesser official suggested plants outside Montreal could be affected by a lack of shipments from Northern Electric in Montreal.

The spokesman said the strike started Thursday has caused no backlogs to Northern Electric or its customers although no goods were entering or leaving the Montreal plants.

"We'll be in a position to supply all our customers because of the number of plants we have in other areas."

The company did not feel customers have been ordering more supplies than usual for this time of year.

In voting Wednesday to advance the date of their planned strike, the hourly-paid workers alleged there have been stockpiling activities.



Their present average hourly wage is $2.33 and the employees are seeking a 65-cent increase in a one - year contract. The company has offered an average increase of 30 cents over this time of year.

The office workers want a 30-per-cent increase over their present average salary of $85 a week in a one-year contract. The company has offered six per cent.

In Toronto, plant workers are represented by the Communications Workers of America which is not involved in the contract dispute that led to the Montreal strike. Office workers are not represented by a union.

The company's 4,000 workers at Brampton are represented by the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union which is not involved. Although office workers at Brampton are affiliated with one of two unions affected in Montreal, they are not on strike.

Employees at plants in London and Belleville are represented by the Northern Electric Employees' Association, the group involved in Montreal, but are not expected to become involved, a company spokesman said.

Expo Attendance Climbs

Although Expo '67 is just a month old, it seems to be headed for an attendance record that will far outstrip the figures for recent world's fairs — and its own predictions. As of May 22 — end of the season's first holiday weekend — 8,385,552 had attended the big show on the Montreal Islands since its public opening April 28. The New York world's fair, which opened April 22, drew 5,409,383 visitors to the end of May and 27,143,651 in six months. Expo is already approaching the total six-month attendance at the Seattle world's fair in 1962. The Brussels world's fair in 1958 drew 42,073,561 visitors, but monthly figures aren't available. The Expo grounds involve 1,000 acres, compared with 646 at New York, 500 at Brussels and 74 acres at Seattle.

Large Crowds Welcome LBJ On Expo Visit

MONTREAL (CP) — Two world leaders who had resisted their countries' personal days at Expo 67 left Montreal Thursday, one to face mounting troubles at home, the other to continue grepping with the problems of a seeking world nation.

President Johnson of the United States spent only about two hours at Canada's world's fair Thursday, long enough to see his country's flag unfurled at Place des Nations and to greet a few of the world's leaders who had come to the fair.

Then he left Expo by helicopter for a 100-minute talk at Harrington Lake, 20 miles north of Ottawa, with Prime Minister Pearson about international affairs. By late afternoon he was back in Washington where he began his surprise airborne visit to the fair Thursday morning.

President Johnson appeared relaxed and unperturbed although his h e a d l o n g course through the fair was marked by several incidents.

Once, Lady Bird was embarrassed when, at the crucial moment of the U.S. national day, the Stars and Stripes was unfurled showing a gaping hole where the stars should be.

The flag was quickly replaced and Philippe de Gaspe Beaubien, Expo director of operations, said the tear in the flag was the result of attempts to unfurl it when it failed to float free at the strategic moment.

Montreal police also held two men and a woman as they investigated a commotion during the U.S. ceremonies.

During a solemn moment, shouts in French of "Johnson, assassin" were heard from the crowd and a man and a woman were taken into custody by watchful police.

Shortly afterwards police picked up two or three other persons when another commotion arose but only one of these was held.

Police refused to name those held unless they are charged.

No major events were scheduled for today but operations director Beaubien was expected to give details of a press conference of the fair's progress.

With attendance running 2,-300,000 ahead of predictions made before the April 27 opening, the fair has been successful beyond all expectations.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Stock Exchange staged a modest recovery Thursday, following the first half of Wednesday's sharp loss.

The industrial index, which measures the price movements of key stocks, climbed .53 to 164.20. On Wednesday the index suffered its heaviest loss of 1967, tumbling 2.02.

Magna Electronics paced the list higher, rising 2.14 to 21¼. Western Broadcasting added 2 at 23, and Levy, Texaco and Canada Cement 1 at 36, 27½ and 43, respectively.

Banks were mixed after taking a drubbing for the last two sessions. Montreal and Nova Scotia gained ¼ to 67¼ and 141½, Imperial 1 to 68¾ and Commerce slid 1¼ to 68¾, Toronto-Dominion 1 to 69 and Royal ¼ to 79¼.

Consolidated Marbenor highlighted speculative activity, jumping 1.40 to 4.30 on 53,225 shares. The company holds a 21-per-cent interest in Bowden Lake Mines in Manitoba, which announced it had encountered nickel mineralization.

Falconbridge, which owns 51 per cent of Bowden Lake, gained ¼ to 83.

On index, golds were up .59 to 163.61, base metals .41 to 85.77 and western oils 1.80 to 153.61. Volume was 2,095,000 shares compared with 2,287,000 Wednesday.

Fire Chief Issues Warning

TRENTON — Fire Chief Cecil Ellis today issued a warning to Trenton merchants regarding the sale of fireworks. Chief Ellis said any merchant selling fireworks now that the Victoria Day holiday is past, is liable to a $200 fine. Numerous complaints have come in to the department about youngsters prolonging the holiday celebrations this year, the chief said.

Vending Machine Firms Prepare for New Nickel

TORONTO (CP) — Manufacturers of coin vending machines are working against time to perfect machines that will handle new nickel coinage planned for Canada in 1968.

And although that is when the changeover from silver coinage was originally expected, an official of the Royal Canadian Mint said in an interview there might be an advance in the time the new coinage is introduced.

The coin machine companies might be asked to speed up the changeover, he said.

If the change comes before the vending industry and its 500,000 machines are ready, the machine operators are faced with two choices: They could reject nickel coinage or remove the present device which rejects all but silver, apart from the nickel.

This latter course would open the way for use of slugs and washers and other non-coins.

Shares Split Five for One By Toronto-Dominion Bank

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto-Dominion Bank Thursday became the second Canadian bank to have its shareholders approve a five-for-one split in its shares, the first in its history.

A.-T. Lambert, president and chairman, told a special general meeting of shareholders the split becomes effective June 1. It will change the capitalization of the bank to 25,000,000 shares of a par value of $2 each from the present 5,000,000 shares worth $10 at par.

At present 3,000,000 shares are outstanding, held by about 15,000 shareholders. The shares traded at $69 on the Toronto Stock Exchange Thursday, down $1 from Wednesday.

The Bank of Nova Scotia split its shares, five-for-one May 12. The Royal Bank, Bank of Montreal, Banque Canadienne Nationale and the Provincial Bank of Canada have all announced plans to submit a proposed share split to shareholders.

Picture Said Changing For Disadvantaged Child

TORONTO (CP)—The picture is changing for the "disadvantaged child"—the one crippled by cerebral palsy, the mentally retarded or emotionally disturbed.

In Ontario, 85 schools operate classes for children with learning disabilities — perceptual handicaps. All are primary public school classes.

The Ontario Association for Children with Learning Disabilities estimates that five to 15 per cent of the school population is perceptually handicapped in some degree, and that five out of every 100 children need intensive treatment.

Dr. Sol Gordon of New York's Yeshiva University said in a Toronto interview:

"A professional might diagnose a child as retarded and the parent would argue this was not the case. The professional's feelings would be 'What do you know? You're only the parent.'

"Today, professionals are beginning to listen to parents."

Robbie McDonagle, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDonagle of Richmond Hill, Ont., is a youngster with a learning disability. But he is one of the lucky ones who has received help.

Mrs. McDonagle says that in Grade 1 Robbie couldn't hold a pencil, he ate paper and fell out of his desk. He was rated as dull-normal and school officials said that nothing could be done until Grade 3 when he could be enrolled in an opportunity class.

The McDonagles, however, refused to accept the diagnosis and enrolled Robbie in classes at the Sutherland Educational Clinic for children with learning disabilities. Within six months he had passed Grade 1.

When the family moved to Winnipeg, a child guidance centre was available to help. He received tutoring in mathematics and a social worker interpreted to the McDonagles what the school was doing.

Robbie moved into Grade 3 with normal children, and advanced into Grade 4 without problems. His school now has suggested that he be accelerated.

He can't, however, learn by having someone show him. He learned to jump by reading the encyclopedia.

"In class, he writes down everything the teachers say, then reads it, and this is how he learns," Mrs. McDonagle said.

Rehabilitation varies from child to child. For one, the page of a book may be almost covered, with a window left open for the child to read; some play games to learn how to hear sounds properly, and others do tracing to learn shapes. Children with learning disabilities are taught with the senses —taste, smell and touch.

The child exercises to build up his co-ordination and his basic skills for learning.

Personality is a side aspect children may be retrained to lead a normal life, "sanctioning the ego and grade level of their fellows. The earlier retraining occurs, the more successful it is.

But the important thing for parents is that help is becoming available.

One Toronto mother said: "When parents have a child they dream of what that child will be. When they find out it's not what they want they're disappointed and let down. The particularly important point is that if they need help, there is an organization available right then."

Harrison – Harper

Ellen Jean, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. B. Harper, Arvida, Quebec, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ross R. R. 7, Belleville, was united in marriage with Ronald Alexander Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Harrison, Montreal, by Rev. Robert Crooks, in Bridge St. Church, Belleville, May 20 1967 at 3.30 p.m. S. Alec Gordon played the wedding music and Miss Carol Wilkins was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor - length Empire gown in white chiffon crepe, the bodice and wrist length sleeves in ribbon lace. Her long crepe train was attached at the waist and she wore a four - tier, full length veil caught by a garland of spring flowers. She carried a single orchid encircled with pink rose buds, shasta daisies and stephanotis.

Miss Diane Marshall of Moortreat, maid of honor, wore a soft pink chiffon crepe full - length Empire line gown with matching bow headdress and carried a colorful arrangement of spring flowers. The bridesmaids were similarly styled gowns in strawberry pink crepe. They were Miss Ann Hutchin of Arvida, Miss Judy Rotherham of Knowlton, Quebec and Miss Sue Szumlanski of Montreal. The bride's cousin Miss Marisa McGlashon of Detroit, was flower girl. She wore a strawberry pink crepe dress and carried a basket of rose petals which she scattered on the way up the aisle.

Kenneth Martelt of Brantree, Mass., attended the bridegroom and the ushers were Bob Harrison of Montreal, brother of the bridegroom, Dave McCormick and Bob Mignault, both of Montreal.

The bride's mother wore a mint green lined two-piece ensemble with beige accessories and a corsage of strawberry pink roses buds and stephanotis. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a pastel pink crepe ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of baby pink rose buds and stephanotis.

Following a reception at the Shrine Club, the couple left on a wedding trip to Expo in Montreal. For travelling, the bride chose an orange ice sleeveless linen A-line dress with an orange ice check wool coat, beige accessories and a white orchid corsage. On their return, they will live in Toronto.

Pupils Plan Centennial Projects

RAWDON — The study of community services and activities by 45 pupils of Alan and Williams Public Schools has resulted in a centennial project planned for June 3. The pupils will exhibit stories and posters prepared after trips to farm and industries in the area and display antique items gathered locally.

The event will be held in Mount Pleasant United Church Hall from 2 to 4 p.m. June 3 with a program following in the evening. Patriotic selections will be presented by the pupils and several numbers that delighted their pioneer ancestors will be revived for the evening's entertainment.

John R. Matheson of Brockville, MP for Leeds County and parliamentary secretary to the Prime Minister, will be guest speaker and Mount Pleasant United Church Women will cater. Mrs. Muriel Hoover and Mrs. Grace L. Morton are the teachers who have directed the schools' centennial year activities.

Prior to her recent marriage Mrs. H. Erwine Morton (nee Betty Benson) was honored at a shower at the home of Mrs. Phyllis Pope, Burnham Street with co-hostesses Mrs. Eileen Chaplin and Mrs. Pat Wannamaker. The bride was also honored at a presentation given by fellow workers at the Bank of Montreal, North Front Street. A trousseau tea was given by the bride's mother at their century old home on Burnham Street. Miss Helen Symons and Mrs. Phyllis Pope poured coffee, while tea was poured by Mrs. Eileen Chaplin and Mrs. Pat Wannamaker from a pink and blue china tea service well over 100 years old. Brenda and Carol Pope and Kathie Benson served the guests.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

MR. AND MRS. H. ERVINE MORTON

Morton – Benson

St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville was the setting on Saturday, May 20, 1967, when Elizabeth Jean Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Benson, Belleville was united in marriage to Harold Ervine Morton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. Morton of Shannonburg.

Rev. A. S. McConnell officiated at the ceremony. Traditional wedding music was rendered by church organist Mr. D. W. Davenport who also accompanied the six choir boys in appropriate nuptial selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length bridal gown of white satin brocade with the band of featuring a round neckline and long sleeves. A scalloped shoulder-length veil was caught to a floral headdress. She carried a bouquet of Orange Delight roses mingled with stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Kathleen Benson, sister of the bride was maid of honor wore a floor-length blue satin brocade A-line dress enhanced with bell shaped sleeves. She carried a bouquet of white 'mums. The bridesmaids Miss Violet Morton and Miss Mearle Morton, sisters of the bridegroom were dressed identically to the maid of honor but in pink satin brocade dresses. Each also carried a bouquet of white 'mums.

Mr. Garry Morton attended his brother, while other ushers were Mr. Stanley Morton and Mr. Glen Morton were the ushers.

At the reception in St. Thomas' Parish Hall, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a turquoise shade brocaded taffeta dress with matching three-quarter jacket, matching hat of tulle, while accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a medium green lace over taffeta dress with matching jacket, while accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses.

Leaving on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride donned a beige knit dress with camel hair coat, blue and brown accessories and a corsage of Orange Delight roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton have taken up residence at Bloomfield, R.R. 1.

MR. AND MRS. R. W. A. PHILLIPS

Phillips – Jewell

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, was the scene of the marriage May 20, 1967, at 2 p.m. of Judith Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross A. Jewell, Belleville, and Robert William Arthur Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Phillips, Belleville. Rev. A. L. Sutherland was the officiating minister. R. L. Porter was organist and Robert Tompkins was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white peau de soie Empire gown with long sleeves with a matching train attached at the shoulders. Her headdress was a white peau de soie wedding ring band with floor-length white illusion veil and she carried a nosegay of pale pink sweetheart roses and white feather-edged carnations.

Her attendants were Miss Jane Veale, Vancouver, as maid of honor, and Mrs. Joan Elliott, Toronto and Miss Carol Jewell, Barrie, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaids. They were identical floor-length gowns of mint green silk shantung with Empire waistlines and carried nosegays of shasta daisies and yellow carnations.

Michael Chatland, Kingston, attended the bridegroom and the ushers were Duncan Jewell, Peterborough, brother of the bride, and John Phillips, Belleville, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother was attired in a dress of pale aqua crepe with matching lace coat, pink accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige taffeta dress with overlay of beige lace, beige accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

Following a reception at the Pinnacle Room, étoile Quinte, the couple left on a wedding trip to Ottawa and Quebec City. For travelling the bride chose a loden green dress with matching plaid coat and hat, black patent accessories and a corsage of talisman roses. On their return they will live at 127 Bridge St. E., Belleville.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Date Oatmeal Cookies

By MARY MOORE

Question: Could you please help me find a recipe for rolled oatmeal cookies, quite thin and they are placed together with a date filling, quite dark in color and very delicious. I never tasted any quite so good. — "Anxious".

ANSWER:

COOKIES (eggless)
1 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
2 cups rolled oats
2 cups sifted all - purpose flour
2 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
¼ cup milk

Cream shortening well, then cream the sugar into it. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt and stir them in along with the rolled oats. Stir in the milk. Chill dough, if time allows. Turn about ½ of dough out when it is chilled and rolled out on a well-floured board it takes up enough flour to make it manageable. Roll out to ⅛" thickness. Cut out with 1½" or 2" fluted cookie cutter and bake on greased cookie sheets at 350 deg. Fahr. about 10 min. When baked and cooled put together a pair filled with:

DATE FILLING:
1½ cups cut-up dates
½ cup sugar
½ cup water
2 tbsps. lemon juice

Cook slowly, stirring until thick — about 5 min. Amount makes enough filling for 4½ or 5 dozen double cookies 1½" in diameter.

QUESTION: I saw "fresh beef tongue" on the meat counter for 63 cents per lb. I have never cooked one but my British husband who was with me noticed the low price and asked me why I did not cook tongue sometime. I do not know how. — Diane Answer: Since beef tongue makes one of my favorite lunch sandwiches, I was pleased with your request.

BOILED BEEF TONGUE

Wash tongue, put in large saucepan with lid, cover with water, add ½ cans sliced, 1 bay leaf, 1 tsp. salt, 2 or 3 pepper berries (opt.), bring to boil, reduce heat and simmer covered 4 hours, turning tongue over at halftime.

NOTES: 1) If to be sliced and served hot carefully remove from liquid and skin and peel off skin. Trim about ¼" of fat and glands from root end of tongue. Serve hot sliced. Wonderful with Raisin Sauce.

2) To serve cold, skin while hot, return to cooking liquid and chill. Drain and dry and slice. Particularly good on cold meat plates and in sandwiches with mustard.

MANOR AUXILIARY

The Women's Auxiliary of Hastings Manor met in the library Monday, with Mrs. Hodnad Ketcheson in charge.

Mrs. A. Kingston reported that three bowls containing a flower were sent to residents in Belleville Hospital during that month.

O. Bertrand reported there had been 31 visitors making 72 visits to the Home in the last month.

The Avoidale Neighbors' Aid will send the birthday cards to the residents for the month of June.

A bingo party will be held for the residents June 8 with Mrs. D. Maclean in charge.

Conveners appointed for the fall tea and bazaar are tea convener, Mrs. F. Davidson; tea-room convener, Mrs. Jean Kilburn; side table, Mrs. M. Nobes and handicraft, Mrs. A. Bongard.

Members met with the residents in the dining room for the customary birthday party. Greetings were extended to the guests and all joined in a short sing-song, with Mrs. A. Daniels at the piano. Two of the residents shared the honor of being the eldest guests present: Mr. Alfred Bedore who was celebrating his 98th birthday and Mrs. Mary Grant who was 91. They cut the birthday cake and pictures were taken.

Mrs. B. M. Moorman and Mrs. M. Nobes poured tea.

BENNERSYDE IODE

CAMPBELLFORD — Bennersyde IODE held its meeting in the Parish Hall with Regent Mrs. G. Vandewater presiding.

Mrs. C. Irwin was appointed to represent the Chapter on the Recreation Committee. The scholarship presented to the Northumberland and Durham Festival was won by Heather Symonds of Seymour Township. Mrs. D. Bennett made the presentation.

A request was read from high school students who had prepared a parcel of clothing to be sent to Vietnam. Because of excessive transportation charges the group asked financial assistance to forward the package. It was left for further investigation.

Visitors to the nursing home for June are Mrs. F. M. Rutherford and Mrs. H. Shannett.

Mrs. D. Grant read world affairs paper telling of the rapid expansion of Canada in the past 100 years.

Mrs. H. Beattie reported for the centennial committee and said a tea had been requested following the ministerial service at the Community Centre.

Mrs. Mary Beattie on the committee are Mrs. A. Armour, Mrs. C. Irwin, Mrs. Helen Anderson.

An invitation was received from a Peterborough Chapter to attend a strawberry festival, June 21.

Exercise Routines Helpful In Flexing Back Muscles

By Reba & Bonnie Churchill

Important words you can add to your exercise vocabulary are "slim-lined stretch-es." These activators are ideal for sports enthusiasts and summer's fun-in-the-sun crowd, for they benefit back, hips and limbs. To keep back muscles flexed for swimming, surfing or horseback riding, consider these routines illustrated by Judy Van Wormer, Les on stomach, elbows resting on floor to support weight, and knees bent. Tilt chin and lift as if trying to touch back of head to toes. For increased stretch, elevate right leg, and hold each pose for the count of two. Relax and rest. Alternate legs; repeat five times.

Slim hips are everyone's goal whether you want the lithe form of an athlete or the lovely figure of a pin-up. A vigorous workout, designed to melt off excess inches at the hipline, begins by lying across a bench. Be sure upper and lower segments are supported by stool, and arms and limbs are free. Grasp one side of bench with hands, then bend knees, as shown at the top of the photo. Once balance is acquired, drop hands to base of support, and slowly straighten legs, as bottom picture illustrates. Hold one second, then relax. Begin with three "extensions"; gradually increase to six.

Another routine, aimed at the running, diving, hiking sports lover, is this limb-contouring exercise. Sit on floor, head knees and grasp ankles. Lean back an inch or so, and lift feet together, then separate them. If you can straighten limbs without loosening hand grasp or losing balance, go to the head of the class. Judy, seen on CBS-TV's "The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour," rehearsed routine eight times with a two-minute rest period between each limb stretch.

Male Pleads for Femininity

DORIS CLARE

Dear Doris: In England, in days past, women's rights were not recognized, and even among the nobility the wife addressed her husband as "my lord"! The trouble is that nowadays, especially in North America, the pendulum has swung too far in the opposite direction, what with women wearing trousers, etc. — and now men are wearing long hair! One wonders whether or not they will wear skirts next.

Furthermore, there is this mini-skirt craze, which leaves that some women are not only trying to ape men, but jinnie form schoolgirls as well. Even Jackie Kennedy has been seen in a mini-skirt.

What difference is the case with Mrs. Indira Gandhi! How lovely and dignified she looks! Furthermore, she is to be congratulated, when visiting the U.S., for refusing to dance the "frug" and other such undignified contortions, which some are pleased to call dancing.

No, I believe that men should be men, and women, women, as God meant them to be. — Mere Male

Dear Male: Can't help but agree about those graceful Indian saris; and that miniskirts don't belong on mature women.

But I am fascinated; intend to stick around and see what the fashion-mongers will think up next.

Dear Doris: A group of women were discussing adopted children. Some say once the child is given away for adoption, after 21 years that child could be traced by parents. Some are of the opinion that when caused find your child, yet others say you can, through a lawyer, but it costs too much even the lawyer is tracing the child.

Doris, please tell me in plain words, is it possible? Old Spinster.

Dear Spinster: Possible but not probable. The leakage can happen when the adoption takes place through some private source, perhaps a friend, or through their doctor.

A legal adoption agency will not reveal identifying information even after 21 years. Once the adoption is legally completed by the judge signing the adoption order, even the birth records are changed so that only the adopted name appears on the birth certificate. Original birth records are sealed away.

Dear Doris: Is it expecting too much of a wealthy aunt to buy her only niece occasional gifts (e.g. nylons)? She is a frequent visitor at our home, but I receive only one inexpensive gift at Christmas.

When I am a guest at her luxurious home, we never go out. I am 17 years of age and I like my aunt very much. Even as a small child, I remember shopping with her for two hours; and on that occasion I had my eye on a 63 cent trinket but was refused. I was terribly disappointed but that is how it's been ever since. — Only Niece

Dear Niece: I'm sorry for an aunt who is missing the sheer pleasure of pulling a surprise out of her pocket for you sometimes. But don't let it throw you. And don't, for your own sake, covet things.

There are ways of earning the money to buy nylons; one little Brownie I know is selling souvenir spoons. When you have a few pennies buy Auntie one rose from the florist.

And never, never forget how you felt about little gifts when you were growing up. Some day you may be a rich aunt.

Try turning your trouble into triumph by getting help from a trained social worker. Doris can put you on the right track.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Janie actually seems to be ashamed of me. Everything I do embarrasses her these days."

Neighbor: "She should be ashamed of herself. You're such a good mother."

One psychologist explains 13-year-old's viewpoint is one who is absolutely proper, dignified, educated, sophisticated, polished, friendly and practically invisible.

Young teen-agers are particularly sensitive about their household and their parents. They are hypercritical and easily embarrassed. Give them time. In a few years they'll be proud of you again.

Ann Landers

Ankle Weakness Cause To Wear Wife's Shoes

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I don't sleep in my wife's nightgowns, nor do I wear her girdle, but if I did I can't see that it would be any of your business — or anyone else's for that matter. Recently I had an experience along these lines and it burned me up.

ANN LANDERS

I have been having trouble with my ankles lately, a general weakness of the muscles. My Podiatrist suggested that I walk around the house in my wife's high heels for an hour or two during the evening. The other night the kid who delivers papers came to collect. I answered the door in my wife's high heels. The boy almost died laughing, and now it is all over the neighborhood.

Why are people so eager to put two and two together and get six? I hope you will print my letter and open a few eyes.— NORMAL NORMAN.

* * *

DEAR NORMAN: Apparently the eyes are already open. It's the mouths you are having trouble with.

In all fairness, you can hardly blame the kid. One does not expect to see the man of the house klomping around in his wife's shoes. You asked for it.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think of parents of a working son or daughter who demand a share of that person's salary even though they don't need it?

I am 19, have a good job and want to save some money so I can be married. But how can I save anything when those vultures demand one-fourth of my pay cheque every week?

I have been working for seven months but I never fail to pay any board or room. Suddenly my folks decided I should contribute to the house. They told me I have no choice — either contribute or leave. Can they evict me. What are my legal rights? — SON OF MONEY GRABBERS.

* * *

DEAR SON: Legal rights vary according to the state, but in my opinion, this is not a matter of law, it is a matter of personal integrity.

A boy 19, who is earning money and living at home, should pay something for room and board (and laundry, I'll bet, plus telephone and maid-service . . . etc.) whether his folks need it or not. He should pay because he does not want to be a parasite. Your attitude leaves a lot to be desired, fella.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please settle an argument: My fiancee and I plan to be married soon. Her family is from another country. None of them will be able to attend the wedding. My parents are giving us the wedding reception as a gift.

The problem is that my parents want us to set all the gifts aside and open them in their presence — just the four of us. My fiancee and I feel that these are our gifts and we should not be asked to share the opening with anyone, what do you say? — FEELING AT STAKE.

* * *

DEAR FEELINGS: Why be so selfish? Pass the joy around. If they want to be present, let them. It costs you nothing.

* * *

Confidential to WORRIED AND NERVOUS: The answer is no. It is not possible. A 15-year-old girl who would have to ask this question is in desperate need of information. Go to the public library and get "Ann Landers Talks to Teen-Agers About Sex" or buy a paperback.

May Charge Interest

Government Increases Loans To Canadian Immigrants

OTTAWA (CP) — MPs approved a bill Thursday increasing funds available for loans to immigrants to $20,000,000 but learned that immigrants may have to pay six-per-cent interest for future loans.

The Immigration Act amendment drew little dissent — although other aspects of immigration policy took a buffeting —as the Commons welcomed the $8,000,000 increase in funds available to assist immigrants with their passage to Canada.

Immigration Minister Marchand said he will propose to the cabinet that regulations to the act be changed to provide for the interest charge on future loans since the program was introduced in 1952.

The Commons also approved all points in an amendment to the Canadian Wheat Board Act eliminating the need to renew the legislation every five years —the board's powers lapse Aug. 1—unless the act is renewed. Final approval was expected today.

Major Parties Divided Over Vietnam Conflict

OTTAWA (CP)—Both major parties appear to be deeply divided over the issue of American bombing raids in North Vietnam.

One week after the moral dilemma sparked a special cabinet meeting and a long debate in the Liberal caucus, it split the Conservatives down the middle in a Commons vote.

While angry farmers were demonstrating for higher milk prices on Parliament Hill Wednesday, 182 MPs took a clear stand for or against American bombing in a little-noticed vote.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and two men expected to seek the party leadership in September, Alvin Hamilton and Michael Starr, went on record in favor of Canada pressing the U.S. to halt its bombing.

Two other Conservative leadership aspirants, Davie Fulton and George Hees, were among 92 MPs who were absent for the vote on a New Democratic nonconfidence motion.

Privy Council President Gordon, who denounced U.S. intervention in Vietnam in a May 13 speech, also missed the vote, in which the life of the minority Pearson government was at stake. Mr. Gordon was in the House when the two-day foreign affairs debate opened Tuesday.

The NDP motion was defeated 128 to 34.

Twenty - nine Conservatives, including five former members of the Diefenbaker cabinet, joined 92 Liberals, three Creditistes, and three independents and one Social Credit MP, Howard Johnston, to defeat the motion.

A 30th Conservative, Lee Grills (Hastings South), said he would have opposed the resolution too, but he was "paired" with an absent Liberal, Jack Rothwell (Norfolk).

Marchand Is Heckled

MONTREAL (CP) — An organized group of about 50 youths interrupted a Liberal byelection meeting Thursday night, drowning out a speech by Manpower Minister Jean Marchand by shouting separatist slogans.

The meeting in support of Liberal candidate Aurelien Noel, contesting Monday's byelection in the riding of Outremont-St. Jean, was disturbed only by scattered heckling until Mr. Marchand began speaking.

Then about one-quarter of the audience of 200 started yelling slogans in unison and Mr. Marchand could not continue speaking as shouts of "sell-out" and "speak English" echoed through the meeting hall.

As the demonstrators walked out chanting "Quebec libre," Mr. Marchand launched an attack on the hecklers whom he called "rich men's boys."

Small, well-organized cliques which interrupt election meetings are nothing but Fascist types, he said.

Mr. Marchand said separatists are young and think politics is very simple "but we know it is much more complicated."

"Instant independence is a great illusion not only for Quebec but for Canada on the economic level."

Jordan's Position Critical

Israel Will Have Tough Time in Any Arab War

LONDON (AP) — Israel will have a far tougher time than 10 years ago in any war with her Arab neighbors today, British military experts believe.

And the position of King Hussein of Jordan in any such conflict could be crucial.

Ten years ago in the Suez conflict Israeli forces sliced through President Gamal Abdel Nasser's Egyptian army to reach the Suez Canal in four days. They fanned out over the whole of the Sinai Desert.

But the Egyptian air force had been all but destroyed on the ground by British and French bombers. British and French assault forces stormed ashore from warships off Port Said to fight a major share of the ground conflict, and none of Israel's other Arab neighbors played any military part in the brief campaign.

In 1956 the Egyptians were still struggling to learn how to use recently delivered Soviet weapons. They now have had 10 years of instruction by Soviet technicians.

In addition, Egypt has been fighting a protracted campaign in Yemen and has 50,000 battle-hardened veterans available there.

Experts agree that any major fighting would be between the Israelis and the Egyptians, but the position of King Hussein would have an important bearing.

Officially, Jordan, as is Saudi Arabia, is committed by its vote last Saturday in the Arab League Council to support Egypt and Syria against Israel.

But Nasser had long been carrying on a cold war with Hussein and Saudi Arabia's King Faisal. Both have been the targets of violent attack by Cairo radio, even after the start of the present crisis.

U.S. Will Help Feed Families of Soldiers

DA NANG (AP)—The United States agreed today to help feed the families of South Vietnam's armed forces in the next year with a subsidy of $42,000,000 worth of commodities to be sold them at greatly reduced prices.

Receipts from the sales will be used to build up the commissary system of the South Vietnamese armed forces, a spokesmen for the U.S. Agency for International Development said.

In Saigon, opponents of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said the commodities would be used to buy votes for Ky in the September presidential election, while supporters of the premier let it be known the subsidy was the U.S. government's way of supporting Ky.

The AID spokesmne said both claims were foolish.

"The program has been a subject of discussion for some time now," he said. "It's not true that it's political.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland and Lt.-Gen. Cao Van Vien, South Vietnam's defence minister, signed a "memorandum of understanding" in Da Nang providing for the United States to supply the military commissary system with such items as cooking oil, flour, sugar and salt.

Hospital Fugitive Dead

HAMILTON (CP)—A 13-year-old boy, hidden in his home since escaping from the Ontario Hospital May 13, died in hospital Thursday.

Police said an autopsy did not immediately show the cause of Bryan Thomas Collins' death.

Coroner Harold Bulford, said portions of the boy's brain and other samples were to be sent to the attorney-general's laboratory in Toronto for toxicological examination.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Frank Collins, said her son had been hiding in the family home in the city's east end since fleeing from the hospital. It was his second escape from the hospital since he was committed Jan. 13 after a stabbing incident at St. John's Training School, Uxbridge, from which he had escaped on three previous occasions.

Ottawa Businessman Tries To Unseat Charlotte Whitton

OTTAWA (CP) — Businessman Sam McLean was granted permission Thursday to proceed with a court action that could unseat former mayor Charlotte Whitton as a Capital Ward alderman.

But Judge Peter Macdonald of Carleton County Court said he would give Miss Whitton seven days clear notice before allowing Mr. McLean to continue his action.

The former mayor's right to sit on council has been questioned since she lodged legal action against the city over a lease signed with the Central Canada Exhibition for the operation of Lansdowne Park in south Ottawa.

The lease gives the CCE control over the park for the next 10 years as well as over the new civic centre.

Mr. McLean is acting under Section 35 of the Ontario Municipal Act which says persons making legal claims or lodging actions against municipal councils are not entitled to sit or vote in council.

"I have no intention of dropping my case," Miss Whitton said Thursday. "And I'm not concerned about my aldermanic future."

She was asked if she would enter a defence in the McLean action.

"I'll wait until I'm served notice first."

SPORTSLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Belleville's first "Moppet Olympics" is scheduled for the Fair Grounds tomorrow.

Over 3,000 (closer to 3,200 I'm told) public school pupils will take part in a track and field minor Olympiad while a crowd estimated at twice that number will look on. That's a parents' figure.

And a pat on the back goes to the Belleville Principals' and Vice Principals' Associations for arranging and conducting a special Centennial project under the aegis of sport.

The miniature Olympiad, a city-wide elementary public schools field day, will follow as closely as conditions permit the color and operation of the world-famous sports events.

Individual teams from fourteen schools will march in a pre-meet parade from a point near the former Club Commodore to an assembly area in front of the grandstand where they will be welcomed by civic dignitaries prior to the start of the events.

It is presumed the youngsters will carry banners identifying their schools and/or flags in keeping with the pre-games ceremonies of the Olympics.

The events have been narrowed from the regular agenda of the usual track and field meet. The youngsters will concentrate on the broad jump; high jump; tag-of-war; 100-yard dash and the relay.

And they are not going into the meet "cold" so to speak. Inspector of Public Schools Jack Cessna informs me that the youngsters participating in the "Olympiad" are finalists or runners-up in track meets held by individual schools in the city area.

The climactic Olympics touch will be seen in the presentation of gold, silver and bronze crests presented to winners mounted on a tri-level podium. The boy and girl earning the most points in the meet, will be given silver loving cups.

The events will get under way at, it is hoped, shortly after the stroke Saturday morning, immediately following the dispersal of the pre-meet parade.

Since the Saturday "Olympiad" is the inaugural meet, every winner will be a record-holder. From this it is inferred that the Elementary Schools Field Day is scheduled to be an annual affair. This is as it should be.

The pupils will participate in events according to six levels ranging from ten to fifteen years and up. Team events will be either junior, senior and eleven, or senior, ages twelve and up. The meet is expected to be under wraps by three o'clock in the afternoon.

Besides the sponsoring principals and vice-principals associations, teachers from the city public schools have volunteered to take charge of all events. Particular attention should be paid to times because, as was stated before, each winner will be a record-holder for a year at least.

Through the courtesy of the Home and School Association refreshments will be provided on the grounds at a minimum cost. All events will be broadcast over a public address system with a nod to the Recreation Commission.

The Belleville Principals' and Vice Principals'-Associations and assisting teaching personnel seem to be commended for inaugurating this city-wide public schools track and field meet. After noting the interest taken by members of these ages in hockey, baseball and softball, I have wondered why track and field has not been introduced on an organized basis in the schools.

Unlike the three sports mentioned, track and field offers a variety of events that appeal to the individual. Put simply words a youngster fast enough will go well in the sprints. Others can choose events to their liking and physical ability.

City secondary schools have established fine interest in track and field. Quinte COSSA and COSSA champions have been developed here over the years.

And I do not know of a better way to provide a "feed-bar" for future secondary schools champions than a meet such as that now inaugurated by public schools. They can assist in developing the champions of the future. It is a step in the right direction.

And who knows, those of you who will be sitting in the stands on Saturday may be watching a future Canadian or Olympics champion in the making. The public is invited.

Defendants To Pay $5,000

Percival Charges Are Withdrawn!

TORONTO (CP)—Bizarre sidelights are nothing new in the athletic career of Lloyd Percival, but the experience of the last year must rank as one of the strangest he has been through in more than 20 years of coaching controversy.

Even his $100,000 slander and libel suit against five members of the registration committee of the Central Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada had a surprise ending Wednesday when, after five days of testimony, the defendants backed down from their charges that he had given stimulants to athletes prior to track and field meets.

Fred Foot, George Dennison, Jack Bradfield, Doreen Davies and Jesse Lightwood were assessed a total of $5,000 damages at the conclusion of the hearings. They issued a statement through their lawyer saying:

"The defendants are now of the opinion that the proceedings they took insofar as Lloyd Percival is concerned, were not warranted by the facts.

"The defendants are now satisfied that Lloyd Percival did not at any time engage in any doping of athletes. . . ."

A year ago the committee forced the Don Mills Track Club of Toronto to fire Percival as head coach after being told by a number of track and field competitors that Percival had given them pills they believed were stimulants prior to a series of competitions.

The hearing followed release of a letter June 24, 1966, to the committee by track star Bill Crothers, which was immediately backed by Paul Poce, chosen over Percival as Canada's British Empire Games coach, saying he had knowledge of Percival giving stimulants to his athletes.

Crothers is a Markham, Ont., pharmacist.

Poce, who ran for Percival between 1948 and 1952 at the Don Mills Club, said at the time the letter was released that Don Mills athletes were getting "pills and supplements" regularly during his time with the club.

Percival maintained throughout that any pills he ever gave his athletes were nothing more than sugar pills.

During the five days of testimony this week and last, three of Percival's past and present performers said he had given them pills which they believed to have contained the stimulant Dexidrene on a number of occasions. Then under cross-examination, two of them—hurdler Jenny Wingerson Meldrum and shot putter Nancy McCredie—admitted the information they had given the AAU hearing last year was false.

Percival said after hearing the decision:

"My first interest now is to reorganize and get back on the route of the Don Mills Track Club.

"So far the club has won over 4,000 medals and we will now see if we can make it 5,000 as soon as possible."

Defeat Cleaners 4-1

Cementmen Win Opener

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

The Pat-Ce Anne Cementmen made their initial start in the new Trent Valley Softball League winning one last night by clipping Trenton Carm'n Cleaners 4-1 at the Point.

Point Anne got solid fielding, good pitching and hitting from Roo Maracle and rbi producers from Rick Moorhouse in chalking up the win.

Maracle spaced seven hits over as many different innings, struck out nine and enjoyed a perfect night at bat with four solid singles. He walked two and lost his shutout in the eighth when Trenton's Bob McAlpine started a rinking hit to the outfield. It darted past a charging outfielder for a home run.

Jerry "Gaff" Payette was tagged for 10 hits on the losers' smoking rubber, striking out seven and walking three.

Dennie Maher's speed shoot got the Cementmen run number one in the third. Maher beat out an infield hit, stole second and third and came home to score when the throw to third got away. Claude Carr drew his second of three walks, Maracle singled, Eric Maher sacrificed and Moorhouse's ground out drove in the second run.

It stayed 2-0 until the seventh. Carr strolled again and Maracle rapped his fourth hit. Roo Rosebush plated both with a triple before Roger Drake started a fast double play that had Rosebush doubling at the plate.

Both clubs filled several other gaps in the frames but the pitchers worked well with men on base.

Backing up Maracle on the Pointers' attack were Dennie Maher with two singles, Rick Moorhouse, Jr. Payette and Glen Maracle with a pinch hit double. Jim Horwood and Gerry Maher added base hits.

Bob McAlpine collected a homer and single for the Cleaners while Dale Lewis, Roger Drake, Jim Whyte, Don Cole and Elgie Carrie also hit safely.

Didn't Walk A Man

Cards Blank Braves With Two-Hitter

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Hughes, a "wild man in the minor leagues," has opposing batters in the major leagues under control.

The St. Louis Cardinal righthander put down the slugging Atlanta Braves 5-0 Thursday night with a two-hitter. He did not walk a man.

"That's the first regular season game I ever went nine innings without walking anyone," said the 28-year-old rookie. "I did go nine innings once in spring training without a walk, but I was a wild man in the minor leagues."

In the only other National League game, Chicago Cubs used their bats to bring leaguе-leading Cincinnati Reds under control 5-4 on Ron Santo's tie-breaking single in the ninth inning.

Hughes, making only his fifth start in the majors after struggling nine years in the minors, brought his record to a modest 3-1, the same mark he had when the Cardinals last season when they brought him up at the end of the year.

Hughes was walking more than four men a game in many of his minor league labors, although striking out twice that number.

Pitching with the Cardinals in 1966, he walked only seven men in 21 innings, struck out 20, pitched a 2-0 shutout in his first start and finished with a 1.71 earned run average.

He has pitched 26 innings in 12 games—10 in relief—this season and walked only 14 while fanning 26 with a 2.83 era.

Ferguson Jenkins didn't get past the fifth inning, so wasn't around for the Cubs victory.

The Chatham, Ont., native gave up all four Cincinnati runs as he allowed nine hits and a walk as well as a wild pitch while striking out only two Reds.

Sacto unloaded off reliever Ted Abernathy with one out after the Cubs loaded the bases against Gerry Arrigo on two walks and an error by Leo Cardenas.

Before, that, Randy Hundley of Chicago and Tony Perez of Cincinnati traded two-run homers.

Kinsmen, Ellis Tie 2-2

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

A slim crowd shivered through 13 innings at Alemite Park for their first look at the new Quinte COSSA Softball League last night — and never did see a winner.

Picton Kinsmen and Belleville's Ellis Seniors battled to a 2-2 13-inning deadlock that was halted by the 11:00 p.m. curfew.

Ellis, displaying more or less of an all-star lineup from the city's three teams of last year, spotted Picton a 2-0 lead in the top of the first before getting the tie on lone runs in the first and third.

Bobby Ellsler for Belleville and Ken Dalville for Picton traded pitches throughout the contest. Ellsler gave up seven scattered hits, struck out 15 and walked two, one intentionally. Dalville allowed 11 hits, fanned 11 and did not walk a man.

A throwing error on Mac-Donald's part in infield skirt and a double steal set up Picton's early runs. Keith Ellsler scored the right to plate both MacDonald and St. Denis.

Ellsler was tough over the remainder and let the visitors down on just three hits during the final 10 innings.

LeSage's leadoff double and subsequent steal to home by Mavety after two were out got one run back quickly.

The equalizer in the fifth came after two were out. Mavety singled, advanced on a passed ball and scored on Plane's base knock.

Ellsler side had opportunities in the deadlock but Picton and 11 Belleville runners were stranded, two by each team in the final.

Larry Mavety sparked Belleville with a double and three singles while Terry LeSage claimed one of each and Ralph Plane had three one-bagger. Ellsler added a single and Leroy Soulé a single.

Keith MacDonald led Picton with three hits, two of them infield scratches, while Leo St. Denis and Dedille hit doubles. Keith Stacey and Warren Ostrander singles.

Minor Baseball Results

CNR defeated Watkins' Texaco 10-2 in tadpole and Parkdale topped Farrell Motors 16-5 in bantam in Belleville Minor Baseball Association play last night.

Randy Hutchison pitched four-hit ball, striking out 11 and walking but one, for the CNR. Gary Stapley allowed five hits, fanned 11 but passed 14 on the losers' mound.

Robert Newman hit a homer for the victors, Gary Gorgan getting a triple, Robert Buxton a double, Stephen Mott and Tony Semard a single each. Steve Balzer and Andy Lupenko had Texaco homers, Billy Gow and Ron Graham getting singles.

Terry Meagher hurled four-hit ball in pitching Parkdale's win. He fanned ten and walked five. David Wood and Austin Wilson gave up seven hits for Farrell's, striking out seven but walking 12.

Randy Burke paced the winners at bat with a double and two singles. Meagher contributed three singles in his own cause and Paul Wolfe doubled. Losing singles went to Don Sankey, Norman Pope, David Wood and Bill Cole.

Public Schools Field Day Tomorrow

Over 1,000 public school pupils will take part in the Centennial Field Day at the Fair Grounds tomorrow starting 9 a.m.

The first of its kind in the city, the meet is under the auspices of the Belleville Public School Principals' and Vice Principals' Associations.

Some 16 city schools will be represented in the events which have a miniature Olympics touch.

There will be a parade starting 9 a.m. ending in an assembly area near the grandstand where civic dignitaries will welcome the young athletes.

Events include the broad jump; high jump; tag-of-war; 100 yard dash and the relay.

Pupils will participate in events according to six age levels, ranging from 10 to 15 years and six. Team events will be junior 10 and 11 and senior twelve years and up. The public is invited to attend.

Minor Softball

Belleville Minor Softball Association action was confined to a pair of bantam division games last night.

A. C. Travellers shot down the Jets 17-10 while Belch Construction, the city's OASA peewee team playing in the bigger division, trumped the Aces 21-9.

Zone Archery Tournament Here Sunday

The first of three archery tournaments to help decide the personnel of Canada's national team is slated for Zwick's Island Sunday starting 10 a.m.

Six clubs from the Eastern Ontario Zone, Belleville, Cornwall, Kingston, Petawawa, Ottawa and Napanee will compete.

The top four men and top four women archers will represent the Zone in the Interzone competition slated for Hamilton June 11th.

Winners of this meet will be subsidized by the government to attend the finals at Port Arthur where the nationals will be selected.

The Belleville Archery Club, on its records, favor three of its women members to take top honors on Sunday.

The tournament will be a prelude to the Ontario Archery Championships, a centennial shoot, which will be held here July 1st and 2nd.

CAHA; Remoulds Amateur Structure

SASKATOON (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association wrapped up its annual meeting Thursday night after making decisions which will remould the structure of amateur hockey.

The major step by delegates to the five-day session was ratified of a new five-year agreement with the National Hockey League which guarantees professional sponsorship of individual clubs.

A joint committee will be set up to conduct a player development program to expand the number and calibre of amateur players in North America.

Players will not be permitted to turn professional until they have exceeded the junior hockey age limit, which effective in the 1968-69 season, will be 20 at midnight Dec. 31.

Starting this year, the professional clubs will hold an annual universal draft of over-age junior players, paying $5,000 for the first 12 players and $2,000 for each additional choice.

The $2,000 levy will also be paid for a player not taken in the draft who later turns professional.

The CAHA, taking a six-year guideline, will divide the draft money among amateur clubs which helped to develop the drafted players.

The NHL will pay an assessment fee of $50,000 to the CAHA for the year ending June 30 and will boost this to $75,000 the following year.

The player development program has a budget of $75,000 for the year ending June 30. This will increase to not less than $250,000 the following year.

The meeting rewarded the constitution to give the CAHA absolute authority to govern amateur hockey.

Designed primarily to keep amateur hockey discipline in the classroom, the amendments declare that the CAHA is a self - governing organization whose executive committee has sole, final, absolute and exclusive powers in interpret, define and explain all provisions of the constitution, bylaws, regulations and rules.

An automatic indefinite suspension is provided for members or individuals who at any time during appeal procedures outlined in the constitution take recourse to the courts.

An invitation was extended to centres possessing arenas with a seating capacity of at least 16,000 to apply for the 1970 world hockey championships.

Fred Page of Vancouver, who was re-elected president, announced that applications already have been received from Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. He also mentioned Quebec City and Ottawa as possible sites.

Executive director Gordon Juckes announced that national teams from Romania, Sweden, Russia, Italy and Finland will make appearances in Canada next season. Russia and Sweden are invited to a tournament in Winnipeg during Christmas week.

Good progress was reported on setting up a second division of a national team in Ottawa but it was stressed that the current Winnipeg-based club will compete in the 1968 Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France.

Juckes said the Ottawa-based squad will take part in an October tournament with Russia and Czechoslovakia to officially open the Grenoble Olympic Arena.

The Ottawa squad, seeking a temporary home while a new Ottawa arena is under construction, has been committed to a December tournament in Moscow—a trip which has yet to be confirmed by the Russians.

Second For Tigers' Northrup

Grand Slam Blasts Braves

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

There are flecks of gray in Jim Northrup's hair, but they're nothing compared to the worry lines the 27-year-old Detroit outfielder is producing in the brows of American League pitchers.

Northrup drove in five runs Thursday night—four of them on his second grand slam home run in eight days—as the Tigers battered Boston Red Sox 8-3.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City Athletics topped Minnesota Twins 3-2 and Washington Senators edged Cleveland Indians 2-1.

Northrup's two hits against the Red Sox raised his batting average to .290. He has 21 runs batted in and three homers—two of them grand slams.

"When I try to hit home runs," he says, "I get myself messed up at the plate."

He messed up the Red Sox in the fifth inning Thursday night, climaxing a six-run rally with his bases - loaded shot. Al Kaline had driven in two runs with a single earlier in the inning. The victory snapped a three-game Tiger slide and a four-game Boston winning string.

Warnermen Blast Brants 19-2

Stewart Warner gave Brant's Mountain View a rather rude introduction to the Belleville commercial softball League at Ameliasburg last night.

The defending champs whipped the hapless Brants 19-2 and capped the lop-sided victory with 11 runs in the final inning.

Brant's-Mountain View and Stinson's are made up of former Prince Edward North Shore League players. That loop folded this season and the two teams joined the Commercial loop.

Jim Meens tamed the lovers on three hits while striking out five and walking one on the winners' rubber, this despite a dozen errors charged against his club.

J. Maracle allowed all 19 runs and 15 of Stewart Warner's 16 hits before J. Spinks finished up in defeat. They fanned once and Maracle walked seven.

Lyle Wannamaker led the Stewart Warner attack with a home run and two doubles. Rick Denard hit a double and two singles, Meens a triple and double, Dave Reid a triple and single, Gary Gee two singles and Joe Eaton a double. Moe Hawkins, Jim Sopha and Chuck Rowbotham added homers.

The Brant's-Mountain View singles went to W. Bunnett, G. Genereaux and B. Richardson. S. Warner 120 212 (11) 19 18 12

EOBA Peewees Win Over Welcome 10-4

The Belleville Lions Club baseball peewees, in Welcome, last night in an EOBA Peewee division game. The winners led all the way.

Ron McTaggart pitched the win with relief help from Robin Guest in the sixth, allowing four hits, fanning eight and walking six.

Eric Moore, Don Smith and Bruce Graham gave up nine hits, whiffed six and passed six in defeat.

Mike Bell hit three singles to spark the Lions' hitters. Jeff Forster and McTaggart had two each, Tom Coughlin and Andy Ricketts the others. Eric Moore had a double and single, Jim Lord and Roger Cole a hit each for Welcome.

Departmental Softball

City firemen and policemen are often called upon to work together but such wasn't the case in last night's Departmental Softball League game.

The Fire Department hosed the Police, one of the loop's new clubs, by a big 18-7 score. It was the first start for both teams.

Box details were available.

A full slate of games is scheduled for Prince Charles School next week, with 6:30 tilts Monday through Thursday.

Bert Campaneris scored all the way from second on Jim Gosger's two - out infield single in the seventh inning, giving Athletics their winning run against Minnesota.

Rod Carew homered for the Twins.

Jim King delivered a two-out pinch single in the ninth inning scoring Tommy Agee with the winning run against the Indians.

Harvelson had reached base on Max Alvis' error and moved up on a wild pitch. Theo King, batting for Tim Cullen, singled through shortstop.

Defeat Milan 2-1

'Glesgie Belongs Tae Celtic'

LISBON (AP) — Happy Scottish fans, singing their way through Lisbon's streets in the early hours today, celebrated a new triumph for Glesgow Celtic and its carefree brand of offensive soccer.

Celtic's 2-1 victory over International Milan in the final of the European Cup of Champions Thursday night could mark the end of an era of soccer.

Celtic blasted Inter's defensive theories wide open.

The Scots threw themselves into the attack right from the start. The crowd at Lisbon's Estadio Nacional loved them for it—not just the 8,000 Scots who had come all the way from Glasgow, but Portuguese as well.

Jock Stein, Celtic's manager-coach, had men had inflicted a crushing defeat on defensive soccer that could change the future of the game.

SHATTER DEFENSIVE

"I hope that by this victory we have done something more than win the European Cup for Scotland. I hope we have shown Europe that defensive tactics don't pay off."

Celtic is the first British team to win the trophy since the tournament ost — for national champions of European countries — was started 12 years ago. The victory capped a fantastic season in which the green-and-white shirted Glesgow team won the Scottish Football Associa tion Cup, Scotland's league championship, the Glasgow Cup and the Scottish League Cup.

Celtic trailed 1-0 from the eighth minute, when Sandro Mazzola slammed home a penalty for Inter.

But in the 63rd minute Inter's defence was shattered by Tommy Gemmell, Celtic's big left - back, who crashed home a superb shot from 30 feet. Gusiano Sarti hardly saw.

It was the turning point of the one-sided game.

The Italians, taking under the Celtic barrage, held onto the tie until five minutes from the end when Gemmell sent in another shot and centre-forward Steve Chalmers flicked it on past Sarti for the decider.

Celtic's frenzied supporters astonished the Portuguese by their enthusiasm.

The big, tree-ringed stadium was one mess of green and white banners and flags. The Scots chanted "Celtic, Celtic" and the cry soared above the roar of the rest of the crowd.

Celtic has cost conquest left make—the unofficial world club championship, fought each year between the champion teams of Europe and South America. The South American Cup of Champions has not been settled yet.

All Eyes On Turbocar

By AL McKEIL

MONTREAL (CP)— Ocenda, said a Montreal-based aircraft company in particular, will have a special interest in Tuesday's Indianapolis 500-mile auto race.

If Parnelli Jones and his revolutionary STP - Paxton gasturbined car win the classic, it could lead to a whole new concept in auto-racing.

After last weekend's trials for starting spots on the Indy grid, other top drivers in the conventional field conceded that the Andy Granatelli entry should win the race "if the car keeps together."

Jones, the 1963 winner in a conventional race car, qualified only sixth fastest in the 10-mile trials with a speed of 168.075 miles an hour. But he did his trial runs with a full load of fuel.

The turbine car, propelled by an engine built here by United Aircraft of Canada Ltd., uses JP1 kerosene-based fuel — the same as used in maiden aircraft.

Granatelli said with the new engine there are no spark plugs, points, no carburetor jets to alter, no valves to require valve jobs and no ignition to go wrong. The ignition is used only for starting.

This left the pit crew free to work on the suspension and handling.

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG — Miss Betty Benson, Belleville and Lynna Morton, Thomasburg, were entertained at a shower given by Richard Belch and Miss Betty Lou Godrey, Belleville at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Morton, Thomasburg. Following a presentation the evening games were played.

Panthers Stop Red Wings In Opener

HAMILTON (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Panthers opened the Senior inter-County Baseball Association season here Thursday night by coming from behind to defeat Hamilton Red Wings 4-3.

Righthander Bob McKillop pitched a seven-hitter for the Panthers and supplied the big hit of the game in the eighth inning — a double that scored two runs — to overcome a 3-2 Hamilton lead.

Lefthander Steve Kramar took over on the mound for Hamilton and was replaced by former pro Bibb Birrer in the third.

Farm Team Jolts Yankees

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York Yankees of the American League got a rude awakening but Baltimore Orioles, World Series champions, only proved their superiority in a pair of exhibition games with International League farm clubs Thursday night.

The Yankees dropped a 5-4 10-inning decision to Syracuse Chiefs when Dave McDonald, who hit a home run in the second inning, doubled home p'nch hit in the ninth to score the winning run and pitcher Dale Roberts singled home the winner.

The Orioles unleashed their booming power with six doubles and a triple in setting Rochester Red Wings, leader in the International League, down 5-2 even when using a pale of pitchers from their Elmira farm team.

No Draft For The Boomer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion has served notice to the National Hockey League's six expansion teams that he will retire as a player again if drafted during next month's meetings in Montreal.

The 36-year-old right winger of New York Rangers told a news conference Thursday that he would remain in the Rangers' organization as an executive during the remaining two years of his three-year contract if selected by one of the new teams.

"I don't know whether the Rangers will protect me or not. But I won't go to any of the new clubs," said Geoffrion, who came out of a two-year retirement last season, scored 17 goals and helped the Rangers gain a playoff position for the first time in five years.

Gleaded Arimbro won the first race and combined with Miss Herbert in the second for an $18.40 daily double.

CAN MATCH SCORES

TORONTO (CP) — Amateur curlers can match their scores with the 17-25 against those of Canadian Professional Golf Association members in Toronto May 27 and Helen Gegnon. The Ontario Golf Association, as part of a campaign to develop junior golfers, will match amateur net scores against gross scores of the pro at each club. Any golfer whose net score is lower will receive a medal, and low male and female scores in Ontario will earn a plaque.

Two Share Lead At Oklahoma

By BILL LITTLE

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—If predictions win tournaments, Jack Rule Jr. and Kermit Zarley should finish well at the $66,000 Oklahoma City Open.

On a hot, windy day Thursday, Rule, who won here in 1965, and Zarley, a former NCAA champion, shot three-under-par 68s to claim a one-stroke lead.

Gary Player, Miller Barber and unknown Larry Ziegler were at 70.

The tournament appeared headed toward the highest cut-off this year, with the wind making the projected cutoff in 51, seven strokes over par.

"I think my game has improved greatly in the last few months," Zarley said. "I'm ready to win a tournament."

Rule, whose last tour victory was here in 1965, commented: "In order to win a tournament, you have to like the course and I certainly like it here."

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Brother Leo, seven-year-old gelding who came from Calgary in 1963, Thursday won the Canadian Thoroughbred Breeders Stakes at Woodbine with a time of 1:24, just two seconds off the track record.

The chestnut veteran, owned by Mike Starko of Edmonton, defeated Rubber Stamped over Caledon Colonel to return $5.40, $3.40 and $3.50.

Veteran apprentice jockey John Bell showed, Brother Leo increased his season's earnings to $20,000 and his lifetime earnings to $84,136.

Thursday's daily double of Count Fred in the first and Gay Peona in the second paid $58.10. Love Hit and To The Top in the first combined for an exactor of $28.30, while Caradoura and Gardner's Ace in the sixth combined for $14.40.

To Your Good Health

Drugs Can Prevent Rheumatic Fever

Yesterday I recounted in some detail — and not in the least exaggerated — some of the frightening aspects of rheumatic fever.

It may have alarmed some readers, but unless people are thoroughly aware of the destruction of health caused by this disease, it apparently isn't possible to get them to take precautions. We know this from experience. Rheumatic fever continues to take its toll in pain and heart disease.

And yet a great deal can be done to prevent its dangers.

The following information should be of value to some readers who have written with such questions as: "I had rheumatic fever when I was a child. Is it advisable for me to marry?" Or, "I had rheumatic fever, and wonder whether I should have children."

Not every attack of rheumatic fever damages the heart; this occurs in slightly less than half the cases, Irvington House, a rheumatic fever clinic and research centre at New York University Medical Center, points out that nevertheless from 10 to 20 per cent will have residual heart damage severe enough to affect their future lives significantly.

This add up to a large number — but it is also important that merely having had rheumatic fever should not make patients think automatically that they will become "heart cripples". Rather, the thing to do is to have a careful examination and find out whether the heart has been damaged to any important degree. If not, then forget it.

Or rather, almost forget it. Most subsequent attacks — 98 per cent, Irvington House says — can be prevented by penicillin or other oral antibiotic. A slow-acting penicillin is commonly used by injection, once a month. Either it or sulfa can be taken by mouth.

This can and should be continued for five years, possibly even more.

One interesting finding was that the patient whose heart is not inflamed by the first attack does not seem to have heart damage from subsequent attacks. But when heart damage does occur, then recurrence is likely to add to the damage.

It has also been shown that as a person grows older there is less susceptibility to rheumatic fever, and further studies are now in progress to try to determine how late in life the penicillin or other protective medication should be used.

Thus I hope to help make it clear to all how important it is to be alert for signs of rheumatic fever, and to take it especially clear that, with proper care, the disease need not be crippling and killer it used to be. And to emphasize also that not all rheumatic fever patients should fear that they cannot live normal lives afterward. A majority can. They should guard against future attacks, but should not have to live in the damage.

Dear Dr. Molner: What does the term petit mal mean in reference to an 8-year-old boy? — J. V.

Regardless of age, petit mal is one form of epilepsy. It does not involve the violent convulsions (grand mal) in which the patient falls to the floor. Instead, petit mal is a very brief interruption of activity, often so short that the person merely seems to pause in the midst of saying a word, and then goes on and finishes the word.

Note to Mrs. K. B.: There is no reason why the operation for varicose veins cannot be repeated. Undoubtedly your surgeon y played a part. These are of course, different veins, not the ones that were tied off seven years ago.

Eugene Lang, Belleville music critic and radio commentator on the classics, strikes a responsive chord after presentation of honorary membership in Belleville Federation of Musicians last night. Giving musical fanfare are BFM president Doug Aselstine and Joseph Burchill.

Modern Crusaders

Who's the chap in the black uniform with the 8-pointed cross on his arm. You see him at parades, at sporting events — wherever crowds gather.

Right! He's a member of the St. John Ambulance Brigade — an unusual fellow who likes to spend his holidays and spare time helping people who may get hit by a truck or sprain an ankle and run into any other physical difficulty.

Actually, he's a direct descendant of the Crusaders. It was the Crusaders nearly 900 years ago who started the Order of St. John in Jerusalem when they were so greatly impressed by the care they received when sick received in a little Benedictine hospital. St. John Ambulance is part of the Order of St. John and is a world-wide organization.

St. John Ambulance will hold Public Display Competition and Junior Display Competition at Belleville Armouries on Saturday, June 3rd.

It is estimated that there are no fewer than 200,000,000 sufferers from this disease in the world today and in some areas over 90 per cent of the children are infected before the age of five. Recently, cases of trachoma were reported cisco in the area among the Navajo Indians of New Mexico.

The Order of St. John in Canada is raising funds on a campaign to raise $40,000 a year for the next seven years as their part in the World Hospitals work. St. John Auxiliaries and Nursing Divisions in Canada have been busy knitting and sewing pyjamas, nightgowns, socks, mittens, caps, sweaters, booties, towels, quilts, blankets and other items for shipment to the hospital. One group in Regina made stuffed animals modeled on various characters for the children of the hospital.

So the man or woman in the St. John uniform is really a modern Crusader — ready to defend and help the sick and the injured here in Canada — and around the world.

OPP Reports On Motorcycle Regulations

NAPANEE — The weekly Report of the Napanee detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police is a brief one, with almost equal space devoted to spelling out the new regulations, effective April 1, for driving a motorcycle. "The instruction permits the operation of motorcycles in Ontario have been abolished ", the report points out.

Until July 1, a "Declaration of motorcycle Experience" can be obtained without examination and without fee. The driver is then issued a driver's licence. After that date, in order to obtain such a licence, the driver must try a four - part examination consisting of rules of the road and sign recognition test; test on safe driving practices for motorcyclists; visual, and driving test. The driving test must be held on a motorcycle and consists of two parts: (1) knowledge of cycle control, and (2) a road driving examination.

The statement is also made that "To permit the operation of both four - wheeled and three - wheeled vehicles, separate tests must be taken, driving both types of vehicle, and the driver's licence must be so endorsed".

RENOVATIONS MADE

DESERONTO — The council chambers are being completely renovated. A much-needed painting job is completed and brought about a transformation. The next step is to lay tile floors. When new furnishings are replaced, the seating arrangement will be much more convenient.

COMMUNITY BARBECUE

Plans are underway to erect a community barbecue in Centennial Park. It will be approximately 18 feet long, with a large cooking area at the centre and an area at either end which can be used by the cooks at tables. Any organization will be permitted to use it. The Lions expect that it will be in demand for cook-outs sponsored by Scouts and Guides and by service groups or clubs. Ralph Lawlor is chairman of the committee.

DONATES QUILT

Not only organizations, but also individuals seem to be conjuring up ways to do their bit to help out the Centennial Park fund. This week a quilt was donated to the committee by Mrs. Barney Thompson. Instead of selling it outright, the committee is thinking of placing it in the hands of the White Elephant Store committee, hoping that they will realize a good sum by selling tickets on it. The beautiful quilt, in two shades of green with white lining, was on display Wednesday when crowds visited the library to view the unveiling of the paintings.

Humorous Ads 'Stronger Than Dirt'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Most Hollywood actors will agree that radio commercials featuring mindless jingles, strident voices or weird sounds are a nerve-jangling bore.

And that a few, made with taste and a light touch, can be charming.

But best of all, says one expert, are the ads with wit.

"Humorous commercials are stronger than dirt," says Mel Blanc.

Mel is the man of many voices who did the talking for Bugs Bunny and Porky Pig in movie cartoons. Now he makes commercials, hopefully funny ones.

His competitors in Hollywood include actrist Stan Freberg, who hides his clients' names, in chow mein, coffee, tea or air-line service—and grosses $500,000 a year. A half dozen other firms grind out plugs for everything from carbonated drinks and potato chips to a stomach remedy to take after over-indulging.

Blanc, 58, is a onetime Portland, Ore., violinist, tuba player and radio-band leader.

In Hollywood 20 years ago he originated the voices of Bugs, Porky, Daffy Duck, Tweetie and Sylvester Warner Bros. cartoon characters.

Six years ago, Blanc's commercial ventures—and Mel himself—nearly failed to get off the ground. He had a script that features hit ad - agency mailboxes, announcing the formation of Mel Blanc Associates, a head-on collision acordioned his car and broke, he says, "every bone in my body except my left arm."

In hospital two months in traction, Blanc went back to a body cast and there continued recording the voice of Barney Rubble on the Flintstone TV series.

Received 3½ years ago, Mel Blanc Associates has since doubled its business annually. Mel writes, Mel says, Mel sells "entertainment, in animation and comic invention."

How many millions of dollars are flowing out of personal accounts because composers of today are unrecognized?

Not too much — until you realize the problem of Americas put forth by Belleville music critic Eugene Lang.

Mr. Lang last night was joined by some composers of today at a dinner meeting of the Belleville Federation of Musicians.

However, for his fellow union-members - by -honorary-recognition, he had a couple of salutary sentences for his union-colleagues-by-adoption.

Under present circumstances, said the community's booster of classical music, Mozart would have earned $2,000,000 per week.

"If he could have been a member of the Belleville Federation of Musicians today he would have sat back and watched the money pouring in," quipped Mr. Lang.

Above proved, he added seriously, that contemporary musicians and composers — as represented by the BFM — largely went unrecognized.

Offers to purchase must be received by the undersigned before 4 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, on June 12, 1967 at 620 University Avenue, Toronto, and the sealed envelope containing the offer to purchase must carry identification that it refers to the Belleville property.

Each offer to purchase must be accompanied by a certified cheque payable to the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario for at least three per cent of the amount of the bid and cheques will be returned to the unsuccessful bidders.

All offers to purchase must allow until July 21, 1967 for acceptance or rejection and also must allow until August 31, 1967 for closing of the sale.

The highest or any offer not necessarily accepted.

E. B. EASSON,
Secretary.

World Opinion Solidly United Against U.S. Vietnam Policy

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

CAPRI — Although I took this brief trip more to vacate than to celebrate, it is impossible for an American not to lump his head up against brute reality, even in this isle of make-believe.

Robbing shoulders daily with a dozen different nationalities the American soon learns that world opinion is solidly united against his nation's adventure in Vietnam. He is questioned about it, challenged, controverted and condemned, every time the question of world stability comes up.

The picture we have of ourselves — as the white knight defending the forces of freedom against communism — is not at all the image in the eyes of the rest of the world, if the cross-section of peoples here is a reliable index of opinion.

We are regarded as naive at best, and sinister at worst. Those who want to think kind ly of us regard America as an infantile giant whose tiny brain cannot control its powerful limbs, and who kicks to bits the very object it means to caress and protect.

And those with less friendly feelings are sure that America is simply power-hungry and wants to dominate the 20th century globe. Nobody but ourselves looks upon us as the savior of democracy.

Pacifist feeling runs extremely high among Europeans — and also among the articulate and intelligent Japanese who visit here in considerable numbers. Most of them seem to feel that America through ignorance or impudence — is more likely to start a big war than either Russia or China.

While they admire and imitate our way of life (in its material aspects, at least), and have nothing but contempt for the Russian and Chinese systems, nevertheless they fear our aggressiveness more than they do the Reds'. This attitude is a hard pill for the American to swallow, but there may be more realism in it then we like to admit.

Those Europeans and Orientals look upon the Vietnam conflict as basically a civil war that has been converted into an East-West confrontation by America's short-sighted foreign policy; and the French, especially, bitterly point out that we are repeating most of their own mistakes, only on a far grander and more fatal scale.

It is no longer possible, they unanimously agree, for any single nation to police the world. They do not ask us to revert to an isolationist policy — which is equally impossible — but to give up our black-and-white thinking and think that "communism" is as many shades and gradations as "democracy" may have. To them, we are living through a fantasy "Western" of Good Guys and Bad Guys on the atomic range.

Peter Bellsie, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bellsie, Belleville, received a Bachelor of Arts degree from St. Patrick's College of the University of Ottawa at convocation May 21, 1967. He attained first class honors and received a medal from the College. Mr. Bellsie is a graduate of Nicholson Catholic College and will continue his education next year.

A. Barry Daniels, B.Th., of Waterloo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Daniels of Belleville, received his Bachelor of Arts degree in sociology from Waterloo Lutheran University on May 22. He has accepted a position with the Department of Immigration and Manpower, Canada, Manpower Division, of Kitchener-Waterloo. Barry is married to the former Dianne Currie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Currie of Belleville, who is on the teaching staff of Waterloo Public School Board.

Play Timid

ST. JOHNS, Nfld. (CP)—The Central Ontario Drama League Players' presentation of Out Flew The Web and Painted Wide was not delivered with the flourish that the author intended, a judge of the Guy Beauine told a Dominion Drama Festival audience Thursday night.

The play lacked the boldness intended by author Martin Hunter of Toronto, said Mr. Beauine, who criticized actors and directors alike for their limited use of "coarse words" and "vulgarity."

Wishart Says Interpretation Given Speech Not His Intent

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Arthur Wishart said Thursday he supports "fully and completely" the Ontario government's position on the reframing of Canada's constitution.

Mr. Wishart told the legislature the press had placed an interpretation on a speech he made Tuesday which "was certainly not intended or implied by me." . . .

In the speech, during a debate on a resolution approving Premier Robarts's proposal for an Ontario-convened Confederation of Tomorrow conference, Mr. Wishart suggested the provinces should attend the "sovereign states in our own right." The premier later repudiated the stand.

Thursday, the attorney - general rose on a point of order "to clarify the position which has been attributed to me."

He said he had spoken without a written text but nowhere in his remarks, as recorded in Hansard, was there any suggestion that there should not be a strong central government at the head of the federation.

"I did urge the necessity of reframing our constitution to take into account enlarged responsibilities of the provinces as they exist today and to redefine the areas of influence and jurisdiction as between the provinces and Canada.

"The text of my contribution to this debate was directed to my conviction that the provinces have the right, the interest and indeed the duty to consider the structure of our federation, either amongst themselves or in company with the federal government."

Despite the minister's statement, NDP Leader Donald MacDonald asked Premier Robarts whether he intended to seek Mr. Wishart's resignation because of the speech.

Mr. Robarts replied that he had no such intention.

Hansard, a record of legislature debates, quotes the attorney-general, at one point, on Tuesday:

". . . Whether or not we write a new constitution, I think we must amend it by some means or other.

"We must relate it to the realities of this day and as they will continue to be. For it is not that we could start afresh. The British North America Act has stood us in good stead. It has had its faults, its defects and we have seen fit to change it as best we could.

"Certainly, we should bring home the right, at least, to change it. We are mature, we are capable, we are a grown-up nation.

"The provinces are capable. We are fully fit, I think, to sit down as provinces and say, 'This we will do.' We will make agreement, we will frame something new; thus we may start entirely fresh.

"And I would make this point: The federal government, the central government, belongs to the provinces. The provinces do not belong to the federal government. That is our office, to keep in mind.

"The provinces originally created Confederation. It is the provinces who must come together and say: 'This is the type of federation we shall have, with changed powers to meet the changed responsibilities which exist today. . . .

"Our neighbors to the south perhaps set us an example. They, as sovereign states, sat down together and said: 'We are sovereign entities, we are sovereign states.' And they still call themselves that. . . .

"Perhaps we have to take an approach, possibly somewhat similar, that the 10 provinces of Canada come to the Confederation of Tomorrow conference and say, 'We are sovereign states in our own right.' "

—A proposed Law Enforcement Act, introduced by the attorney - general, was given first reading. The bill allows for payment of $500 monthly or a lump sum of $10,000 in compensation to persons injured while assisting police officers.

—Education Minister William Davis announced that summer courses for university graduates planning to teach will be increased next year. He said the courses will still be offered to persons with at least five years' post-graduate experience in other fields.

—Provincial legislation has resulted in the prosecution of seven used car dealers and 13 dealers and salesmen being placed on probation. Government officials said the prosecutions under the Used Car Dealers Act were for operating without a licence. The law came into effect in March, 1965.

Provincial Treasurer Charles MacNaughton said that the province gave E. P. Taylor $2,225.25 in the 1966-67 fiscal year under a system of grants to encourage horse breeding in Ontario...

Sunday School Lesson

Religion Not Magic

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

There are two ways of looking at religion. One way is to think of God as a celestial Magician who can pull rabbits out of a super-natural hat. The other is to think of it as a call to faith and service in response to God's love, and in obedience to His will. The first thinks of religion as magic. The second thinks of it as mission.

These two ways are strikingly illustrated in the 8th chapter of Acts: Philip, one of seven laymen chosen by the church for special service (Acts 6:5), fled to Samaria to escape the persecution of Christians that flared up following the death of Stephen (Acts 8:1-5) Here he proclaimed his faith in Christ with significant results. In fact, the Apostles heard of the heartening response, and Peter and John came to help him.

One of the first persons to be attracted by Philip's ministry was Simon, the magician. Evidently he combined practical psychology with the mumbo-jumbo of a witch doctor to put some results. But when he saw lives being changed and bodies being healed as Philip led people to a dynamic faith in God, Simon saw that Philip had a superior power. He wanted to possess it. So he professed faith in Christ and was baptized in order to get it. When the power did not come to him, he offered to give the Apostles money if they would give him the power of the Holy Spirit. But Peter, in no uncertain terms, told him where he could take his money (Acts 8:18-24 Phillips), and told him to repent of his wicked designs.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for May 28: "The Gospel in Samaria," Acts 8:2-40.

Simon, the magician, is not dead. He still lives to plague the modern church. People are still attracted to religion for what they can get out of it, rather than what it can enable God to do in and through them. The person who joins a church because he thinks it will enhance his image in the community, or because it will give him a better social standing, or better business contacts, is little better than Simon, the sorcerer.

God is not a vending machine in which a person puts in a prayer and gets out a prescribed answer. He is a Father who asks our love and obedience. Too many people think of religion as something to turn to when they get in a tight spot. Prayer becomes a gimmick for getting God's help in time of crisis But prayer is not a magical device for buying divine favor. It is not a way to try to manipulate God. Faith is a way of responding to His love, and giving Him a chance to guide and use us.

In the midst of his successful work in Samaria, Philip was led to go down into the desert area of Gaza. This was no place to go if a person was looking for success in worldly terms. But if a person was looking for an opportunity to help others, he could find it even in this isolated spot.

Such an opportunity came to Philip as an Ethiopian official rode by in a chariot. The Ethiopian did not get out of the chariot to come to him. Philip had to run to the chariot where the Ethiopian was if he was to get a hearing.

One of the biggest problems the church faces today is how to get its message out to the people who need to hear it. Many of these people never go to church. If the church is to be heard, it must go to them.

This is where laymen have the advantage. They are already in the shared, so to speak, where the people are. They are already in the work-a-day world, the factory, the office, the school, the recreational world, where people are who need to think of the place of God in their lives.

The church is not just something to which people go on Sunday. Its members are the church. The church goes with them wherever they go. By being friendly and helpful, they can build bridges of friendship and confidence that can permit them in natural ways to communicate their faith.

Philip had a faith to communicate. He found a man seeking deeper answers to his quest for truth. Philip explained why he believed Christ gives some of those answers. The believer in Christ is in a position to tell others how his faith has helped him to find a deeper meaning for his life.

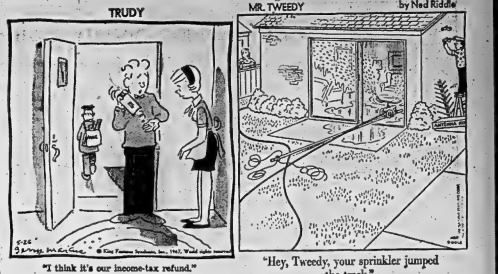
Roger Moore, Star of Series, Was Onetime School Dropout

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Saint, a British mystery-adventure summer series, bowed in Sunday on NBC with a preposterous but tolerable tale called The Death Game. This week the star was in Hollywood to get requainted.

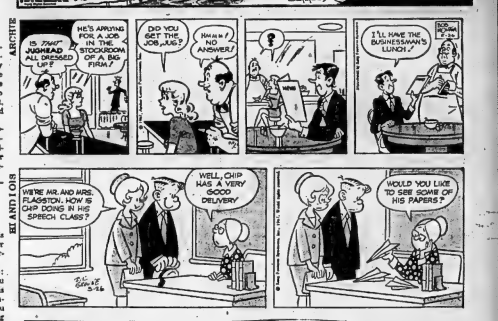
Roger Moore is a onetime school dropout who grew up to co-star in movies with Lana Turner and Elizabeth Taylor. But he says candidly of those MGM days: "MGM was very happy with my later pictures—because I made them for Warner Brothers."

London-born, he is rock-jawed and stolidly handsome with what used to be called collar-ad features. Six feet two, he weighs 175 but looks thinner in person than the bulk he carried in the opening sequence.



Moore quit school in London at 15, became a film extra and was told by a director he should try an acting career. He studied at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, worked in the Cambridge Arts Theatre and at 18 joined the British Army, assigned principally to stage shows.

After his army discharge and an unsuccessful fling at comedy and singing, he came to New York.



Moore starred in the Ivanhoe TV series and appeared in 14 Maverick segments but since 1962 has been playing The Saint. Seventy-one 50-min. and - while segments ran for three years in 100 U.S. cities and are still showing in 80 countries, he reported.

The new series, in color, is said to be the first to go from syndication to network. Plots are based on Leslie Charteris' 33 novels and the fictional globe-trotting Simon Templar, known as The Saint. Long-time listeners may recall radio versions starring Barry Sullivan, Vincent Price, Brian Aherne and Tom Conway.

The new series has been completed by a London company of which Moore is half owner.

PC's and NDP Hold Up Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative and NDP members in the Commons Thursday thwarted attempts by Justice Minister Trudeau to complete second reading of an act to amend the Interpretation Act, the Canada Evidence Act and the Bills of Exchange Act.

Mr. Trudeau said the measure, which sets uniform definitions of legislative terminology, had been under study for 10 years and had first come before the House in 1962.

How to Buy New Machinery Is Outlined

"Because of the unpredictable nature of future events governing profits, the average company attempts to steer clear of complicated calculations when purchasing new machinery," V. L. Lewis, vice-president Stephens - Adamson Mfg. Co., to Belleville said Tuesday night at a dinner meeting of the Quinte District Chapter of the Industrial Management Clubs of Canada.

"A simple solution to the problem is to use the pay-back system which merely means the decision to buy or not to buy is based on the number of years in which the purchase price is recovered in profits."

He stated that sound decisions based on all available information carefully considered would result in the minimum risk of investment capital.

Early Pea Plantings Delayed

This spring's cold and wet weather has delayed early pea plantings in the Bay of Quinte district by about one week, according to district canning factory officials.

The Baxter Canning Company at Bloomfield reports that company pea acreage this year is up about 20 per cent over last year. By early this week about 1,000 acres of peas had been planted.

With normal weather from here in the factory should start processing peas early in July, or about one week later than usual.

Planting of tomatoes should start this week and here again acreage is expected to be up about 10 per cent.

Ford Said He Planned Guilty Plea

TORONTO (CP) —Wayne Ford, waiting in jail for trial on a charge that he murdered his mother, told two detectives in a letter dated Feb. 2 that he planned to plead guilty.

The letter was introduced Thursday at the trial of the 20-year-old Ford, accused of slaying his mother, Minnie Ford, 53, who disappeared during the Victoria Day holiday in May, 1963.

Addressed to then-Detective-Sergeant Charles Alexander and Detective - Sergeant James Crawford, the letter said in part:

"This letter is to inform you that I intend to plead guilty to the charge of capital murder. I wish to waive (waive) all evidence in this matter to court also, and ask that this case be pushed through court as quickly as possible."

Earlier, witnesses said they had helped Ford take a body from his suburban home to Lake Couchiching and dump it from a boat during the holiday weekend in May, 1963.

One witness said he helped Ford carry the body of a woman from the kitchen to the basement of his home and place it in a wooden case.

Cause of Eye Hemorrhages Issue at Toronto Inquest

TORONTO (CP) — Conflicting medical opinions were presented Thursday at an inquest into the Jan. 13 death of David Strongman, 21, who was apparently overcome by carbon monoxide fumes as he sat in his car in the garage of the Strongmans' suburban Etobicoke home.

Dr. Frederick Jaffe, an attorney - general's department pathologist, told the inquest he thought hemorrhaging of Strongman's eyes was caused by the carbon monoxide. Other opinions presented at the inquest however, contradicted Dr. Jaffe's stand.

The inquest was called two weeks ago by Coroner Dr. Fred Cruickshank, acting chief Metropolitan Toronto coroner, who in January was prevented from holding an inquest into the Strongman death by Dr. Morton Shulman, then chief Metro coroner.

A letter from Dr. Clement McCullock, professor of ophthalmology at the University of Toronto, said he did not associate massive conjunctival hemorrhages with carbon monoxide poisoning.

Witnesses testified that Strongman drove two girls home from a party at his home shortly after 3 a.m., Feb. 13. After returning to the house, he remained in his car in the garage with the radio on. Hans VanZanten, 21, later turned off the car's ignition. In the morning VanZanten found Strongman's body in the car with the car's engine running and the garage full of fumes.

Israel Orders Ships Avoid Showdown

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Diplomatic sources say Israel, in an effort to avoid an immediate showdown with Egypt, has ordered its ships not to attempt to sail through the disputed Strait of Tiran at the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba.

That report circulated at UN headquarters in New York on the eve of a report from Secretary-General U Thant to the Security Council on his talk in Cairo this week with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The sources said Israel has instructed its ships not to attempt, for the present, to go through the strait, key water exit to eastern Africa and Asia from the Israel port of Elath. Israel regards it as an international waterway, but the Egyptians claim it is territorial.

Egyptian troops have replaced UN troops at Sharm el Sheikh on the strait since Thant pulled out the UN Middle East peace force last week on Egypt's demand.

Nasser served notice that his troops would prevent Israeli ships from passing through.

Thant, who returned from Cairo Thursday night, spent most of Friday writing a report to the council on his talk with Nasser. The 15-nation council, of which Canada is currently a member, is expected to meet soon after it receives the report.

In a preliminary report to the council last week, Thant said withdrawal of the UN force left the situation on the Egypt-Israel line "more menacing than at any time" since the Suez War in 1956.

Annihilation Egypt's Aim If War Starts

CAIRO (CP)—Tension in the Middle East was at the crisis point again today after a declaration by President Gamal Abdel Nasser that Egypt will wage a war of annihilation against Israel if fighting breaks out.

Nasser said there would be a full-scale battle if Israel made any aggressive move against Syria or Egypt.

"Our aim will be to destroy Israel. . . . If we entered into battle, we would be confident of victory," he said in a speech broadcast throughout the Middle East by Radio Cairo.

Israeli foreign ministry officials said in Jerusalem Friday night that the Gulf of Aqaba, barred by Egypt to vessels carrying strategic supplies to Israel, must be reopened and that the time for this is running out.

They said Israel is not definening an ultimatum or setting a time limit, but time is crucial in the matter.

Nasser's close friend, editor Mohammed Hassen Haykal, wrote in his Cairo newspaper Al Ahram Friday that war with Israel is inevitable.

Haykal said Israel is bound to start fighting because it is vital to it that ships be able to pass through the gulf.

Nasser said he knows his blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba could lead to war with Israel and, if war does come, the Arabs will set out to destroy the Jewish state.

In Washington, President Johnson met Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban Friday night, but neither would comment on their discussions. Israel wants U.S. backing to keep the gulf open.

The Soviet Union has called on the United States and other Western countries to restrain Israel from a thrust against the Arabs.

A test of Egyptian control measures over the Strait of Tiran, at the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, was possible today—but not by an Israeli ship.

A Danish freighter, the Estelle Maersk, was due at the Jordanian port of Aqaba, two miles from Israel's gulf port of Elath, and it was the first ship since the blockade was announced to head for Aqaba without first going through the Suez Canal.

The canal bars shipping to Israel and four other ships that have come to Aqaba in the last three days already had been checked by Egypt when they entered Suez.

The skipper of one of these four, the West German freighter Wiesenfels, said Friday night he saw no physical sign of a blockade in the Strait of Tiran.

Death Ruled Accident

TORONTO (CP)—A coroner's jury Friday urged that "a concentrated effort be made to discover means by which carbon monoxide can be eliminated from automobile exhausts."

The jury ruled that carbon monoxide poisoning was to blame for the death of David Strongman, 21, whose body was found Jan. 13 in his car in the garage of his family's home in suburban Etobicoke.

The jury said the death was accidental and no one was to blame.

Dr. Fred Cruickshank, acting chief Metropolitan Toronto coroner, ordered an inquest two weeks ago into Strongman's death. He was presented from going so in January when Dr. Morton Shulman, then chief Metro coroner, said no inquest was necessary.

The jury Friday made no references to hemorrhages of Strongman's eyes and marks noticed on the young man's neck by a doctor, two nurses and a detective.

Draft-dodging Likely to Grow

NEW YORK (CP) — Commentator John Scali, in a television documentary of U.S. draft-dodgers in Canada, says many more probably will join the trek across the border, particularly if the U.S. ends the present automatic military draft deferment for graduate students.

Although Canada seems an attractive alternative to these men, Scali says: "If you look more deeply, as we have, you are struck by the air of sadness that haunts many who have already undertaken the journey."

"They've chosen perpetual exile from their home," Scali says at the conclusion of the program entitled Canada: The Sanctuary. "The question that they and others must ponder is, was it worth the price?"

Scali emphasizes that no one knows for sure how many young Americans have fled to Canada, but "estimates range from 300 to 3,000 and the number is growing."

Ground War Stepped Up MiG Bases Again Bombed

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. command reported powerful new assaults on North Vietnamese troops today in the northern border provinces of South Vietnam. American jets smashed again at North Vietnam's MiG airfields and a power plant inside Haiphong.

The raids cost the United States one navy Skyhawk jet Friday, the 361st plane downed over North Vietnam. Returning pilots said one surface-to-air missile exploded 2,500 feet over the Kua Kam River and showered debris on a merchant ship moored in Haiphong. The nationality of the ship was not known.

Both on the ground and in the air, the war appeared to be mounting in tempo.

U.S. marines and North Vietnamese soldiers were locked in a fierce fight for Hill 117 just inside the demilitarized zone.

Heavy fighting was reported in the three northernmost provinces of South Vietnam.

The South Vietnamese sent more than 1,000 soldiers, supported by armored vehicles, on a sweep today just outside the ancient city of Hue, capital of Thua Thien province.

Within three miles, the South Vietnamese hit about 500 Viet Cong guerrillas and fought a three-hour battle, with air and artillery support. Sixty guerrillas were reported killed.

To the south, in Quang Tin province, U.S. marines lifted the security wrap on an operation south of Da Nang. In the preceding 24 hours, marines killed 172 guerrillas in a series of sharp battles through thick undergrowth and rugged terrain.

On Hill 117 the marines had announced killing at least 47 North Vietnamese, while losing 14 killed and 102 wounded.

Although U.S. pilots encountered a blistering reception from missiles and anti-aircraft guns over North Vietnam, the fleet MiGs stayed on the ground, where at least three were reported destroyed on the Kep airfield northeast of Hanoi.

Returning pilots reported heavy damage at all big targets. The Uong Bi power plant, put back in operation after being destroyed a year ago, was once again badly damaged. The Haiphong-West plant could not be operable after Friday's raid, a spokesman said.

Pilots reported that the North Vietnamese had also been trying to put the Hoa Lac airfield, west of Hanoi, back in operation after eight raids. The runway was again cratered by bombs and smoke billowed from what was thought to be an ammunition dump.

The U.S. Command reported two helicopter crashes that left five Americans aspviemen dead, four missing and six injured.

Bomb Threat Fails To Disturb Princess

EDMONTON (CP) — Bomb threats failed to delay Princess Alexandra and her husband, Angus Ogilvy, as they met Edmonton children and teen-agers Friday, first day of their Edmonton visit.

Teachers and students at Victoria composite high school had two hours to move their reception for the royal party out to the tennis courts after school officials received two calls saying there was a bomb inside the school.

The anonymous calls came just after the princess reached city hall for a civic welcome.

A search of the school disclosed no bomb.

One tennis court was converted into an impromptu auditorium, with stage curtains tied to the high wire fences for a backdrop and windbreak behind the choir and microphones. School officials hurriedly purchased a patio umbrella to shade the chairs set up for the royal party.

A student said:

"The worst thing is, they redid the whole auditorium—they painted and varnished and put in new carpets and new lights, and bought new curtains and washed the windows and everything."

The princess discarded prepared remarks for a few sentences thanking the choir, dancers and drama students who performed, and wishing the students "all the best of luck in the future."

Knowles Wants 3-Day Holiday

OTTAWA (CP) — Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) asked in the Commons Friday to have Monday, July 3, declared a national holiday.

He suggested to Prime Minister Pearson that since Dominion Day, July 1, falls on a Saturday, the government should declare the Monday a holiday, thereby giving all Canadians a three-day weekend to celebrate Canada's 100th birthday.

Mr. Pearson said the question is being studied.

Pope Says Protestants May Use Sacraments

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican has approved the Pope, encouraging Protestants and Orthodox to receive Roman Catholic sacraments in special cases.

The Vatican's Christian Unity Secretariat published a directory for Catholics in applying the Vatican Ecumenical Council's decisions on Christian unit work.

—Catholics may occasionally attend Protestant religious services "if they have reasonable grounds," the decree cited were public office, blood relationship or friendship, to be held performed, and special ecumenical gatherings. Catholics can take part in reciting prayers and singing hymns on those occasions. Protestants can do likewise at Catholic services. Reception of communion is excluded, however.

—A Catholic bishop may allow Protestants to use his Catholic church for Protestant services if they have no place to hold them "properly and with dignity."

Protestant clergy should be referred to take care of the "spiritual and sacramental" needs of their communicants attending Catholic schools, and do so inside the Catholic schools. The same holds for Catholic hospitals, which should advise Protestant ministers when sick members of their faith are admitted.

Ball Bat Versus Icepick

Wayne Ford Tells of Final Quarrel With Mother

TORONTO (CP) — An argument that "started off like all the other arguments" between Wayne Ford and his mother, ended when he hit her over the head with a baseball bat, the 20-year-old youth told a crowded courtroom Thursday.

Ford has pleaded not guilty to a charge of capital murder of his widowed mother, Minnie Ford, 55, who disappeared in May, 1963. The Crown claims a body found last October in Lake Couchiching was that of the missing woman.

Ford tee lified that the argument with his mother occurred on the afternoon of May 16, 1963, when he returned home from school and asked her if he could use the family Cadillac.

"She didn't want to give it to me. I argued with her. It started off like all the other arguments."

Under questioning by his council, Donald H. Creighton, Ford said the argument became a yelling match.

"She called me a little punk and said I was getting too big for my britches. I swore at her. I finally told her 'go to hell, you old bitch' and she slapped my face. I slapped her back."

Ford said his mother then picked up an icepick and raised it shoulder high. He said he retreated from the kitchen where the argument started and went into his bedroom where he picked up a baseball bat. His mother kept following him with the icepick, he said.

"I was afraid of the icepick. I backed out into the hall and she followed me. I backed into the kitchen and was up against the sink. Mother was swinging at me with the pick and it grazed my arm."

Ford testified that he swung at his mother with the bat and, when one blow caught her on the left temple, she fell to the floor and the icepick dropped from her hand.

"I figured she was dead. There was blood on the side of her face and blood on the floor."

He said he put a plastic bag over her head and covered her body with a sheet. He then changed his clothes and went to get a friend, Ronald Wall, then 15, and the two returned to the suburban Toronto home.

Ford said he and Wall then put the body into a box in the basement, along with the icepick, the blood-stained sheets and shirts and the baseball bat. They tied the box with a length of garden hose and left it in the basement.

He said he following evening he and Wall took the box from the basement, put it in the trunk of the Cadillac and drove to the Ford cottage at Lake Couchiching.

The next night, Ford and Wall, together with another friend, Larry Metcalfe, returned to the cottage.

Ford testified that at the cottage the three discussed plans to dispose of the box. He said Metcalfe told him that if the body were ever found it would be best if it could not be identified.

Ford said that when he agreed, Metcalfe took a length of railway track and smashed in the dead woman's face and head.

"Why did he do it?" asked Mr. Creighton.

"I couldn't and Ron couldn't," Ford said.

"You couldn't bring yourself to do it?"

"Yes sir."

Napanee Students Earn $1,600 For Overnight Trip to Expo

NAPANEE — Early in February, 1966 over 200 boys and girls from nine one - roomed schools in North Frederickburgh, assembled for the first time in the new area school, named after the former inspector, H. H. Lacyford.

Today the 209 pupils of the nine rooms are welded into one single group. Principal Dale Clark says school spirit is tremendous. From the very first students have been working together on one project after another, sometimes several at the same time.

Differences are forgotten as pupils consult each other, and pool their ideas to make each project a success.

Nobody seems to know just how these things start, Principal Clark confesses. "Somebody has an idea and tells it to someone else and first thing you know it has snowballed with everybody behind it.

The ideas have come from the bottom and not from the top. And all the staff members pitch in to give whatever help the pupils ask for. I've never yet turned down a project they've proposed."

When asked if the extracurricular work interfered with the school work Mr. Clark said emphatically that the effect had been just the opposite. "Academic standards are high, and problems of discipline scarcely exist. Best of all the children are happy."

Last May students began to be aware of Expo, and somebody wondered if they could not go as a school, at least the senior pupils. On June 8, Grades 7 and 8 are off to Expo, to stay overnight and return the next evening. Best of all, they have earned most of the money themselves, $1,600 of it with the area board contributing the rest.

When people began to mark Centennial year in some way, the pupils wanted to get into this, also. And so on Victoria Day they celebrated, All members of the staff were in Centennial drobs and about 70 of the children. They had so much fun that some of them wore the costume the rest of the week.

Books of yesteryear are displayed on tables, and the trophy case contains antiques. Old dresses and maps are featured, one map of Lennox and Addington and Frontenac dates back to 1880.

"I think we are the busiest school in the area", the principal said. "There is always something going on. For example, we visited a sugar bush this spring, and have made other visits, such as to the filtration plant. I feel that such things are an important part of about work."

Motor Bike Dealers Not Pleased With Law

Motorcycle dealers in Belleville and elsewhere in Ontario are not too pleased with Ontario Transport Minister Irwin Haslett.

Mr. Haskett's new motorcycle licensing law is being blamed for a 15.3 per cent drop in motorcycle sales.

The president of F. Manley and Sons Ltd., Ontario's Honda Distributor J. T. Manley has found that sales of smaller bikes usually bought by novice bike riders have dropped to 30 per cent from 50 percent of the total.

In Belleville H. K. Booth of Booth Radio and Television Ltd. has also noticed the drop off of smaller bikes.

"New bike riders are hard to come by," he said. "It's not very fair. It takes about three weeks to get a motorcycle check up."

Obviously this is enough to discourage some of the 16-year old motorcycle enthusiast.

"The larger bikes are selling. Boys are moving up to bigger bikes. Smaller bikes are dropping in sales."

However, the licence bureau doesn't seem to agree with the motorcycle dealers. There have been about 340 motorbikes registered so far this year in Belleville.

In 1965, just after the Honda fed hit North America, 300 motorcycles were registered in the city. In 1966 about 400 were registered. The licence bureau is predicting 500 by the end of this year.

Still the Transport Department reports a 13.7 per cent drop in accidents involving motorcycles and a 9 per cent drop in the number of resulting injuries for Ontario.

In Ontario to March period this year the number of motorcycle accidents in Ontario resulted in 145 and the number of injuries fell from 133 to 89.

Not according to the distributors this is no compensation for their drop in sales. Motorcycle registrations in the first four months of this year in the province dropped from 2 617 to 2, 103 from the same period last year.

Dinner Dance Sponsored by Association

On Wednesday evening, the Nicholson Catholic College Parent - Teacher Association sponsored the 13th annual dinner - dance in honor of the grade 12 and 13 students.

After dancing to the music of "The Sands of Time" the meaning of the head boy and the head girl took place. Lorraine Brown and Jon Sullivan were elected to the positions by secret ballot.

Chichester Nears Home

PLYMOUTH, England (AP) — Lone sailor Sir Francis Chichester was reported early today approaching the Scilly Islands and his first sight of Britain in nine months.

With about 200 miles to go to his finish line in Plymouth harbor, the 65-year-old, round-the-world sailor in Gipsy Moth IV was rolling gently in a light swell.

"If it's clear tonight, he will be able to see the lights of Land's End," an RAF spokesman said at St. Mawgan.

Inspectors Welcomed In Homes

Firemen in Belleville are inspecting private homes throughout the city and according to Fire Chief Ted Poste residences on Coleman and Culbertson streets will be checked next.

Chief Poste says the inspectors are getting a wonderful response from people in the city.

Seven Cases of Theft Investigated by OPP

Members of the Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville reported seven cases of theft investigated during the past week. Several flags have been stolen in the Trent Road area with some having been recovered.

Officers from Belleville Detachment investigated five disturbances and twenty other minor complaints.

From May 1 to May 20 there were nine minor property damage accidents investigated and three minor personal injury accidents in which there were three persons sustaining minor injuries.

No fatal accidents occurred in Belleville Detachment area.

Officers warned twenty-four motorists, preferred forty charges and successfully prosecuted forty-five cases in court.

Officers also patrolled a total of 10,000 miles of provincial highways and other roads in Sidney, Thurlow and Tyendinaga Townships and worked a total of 1,132 duty hours. Eighteen hours were spent by officers in Magistrate's County Court.

IN MEMORIAM

BROWNING — In ever loving memory of a dear husband, Robert, who passed away two years ago, May 27, 1965.
I loved you, so I miss you,
In my heart you are always true.
Lovingly remembered, longed for always.
Treasured with a love ascency,
You are where I cannot see you,
And your voice I cannot hear.
You're always in my thoughts me,
Very dearly, always dear.
—Always remembered by wife Evelyn.

BROWNING — In loving memory of a dear step - father Robert Browning who passed away May 27, 1965.
He bade no one his last farewell,
He said goodbye to none.
The heavenly gates were opened,
A loving voice said "Come".
He often sit and think of you,
And wonder why you had to die.
We wondered why you had to die,
Without a chance to say goodbye,
Though out of sight, you're ever still enshrined, loved, still ours.
You will live with us in memory,
Until the end of time.
—Sadly remembered by Harold, Val, and Laurie Lee.

EMBURY, Russell — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather who passed away May 28th, 1962.
"A day of remembrance sadly recalled,
Without a farewell you left us all.
To tell us how you in the home did dwell
Would be our greatest wish today,
A thousand tomorrows we would say.
If only God had let you stay,
We would have loved you more,
But you were ours and we loved you so
—Sadly missed and never forgotten, wife Edith and family.

FORESTELL — In loving memory of our dear father Arnold Forestell who passed away May 28 1963.
Dad, God, forgive us all tears,
Forever with our dad was here,
There are others, yes we know,
But he was ours, we loved him so,
Dear God take a message,
To our father in heaven above,
Tell him how much we miss his love,
Tell him we think of him ever,
—Always remembered by his son Gerald and family.

FORESTELL — In loving memory of my husband Arnold Forestell who departed this life May 28 1963.
Dimming your picture before my Vanity missed and deeply mourned by Heart of my heart I miss you so
Often, my darling, my tears will flow,
Dimming your picture before my eyes,
But never the one in my heart that lies.
The years seem dim as I whisper low,
My own darling husband, I miss you so.
—Sadly missed by wife Clara.

GREEN — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather Albert Green who passed away May 27, 1966.
A silent thought, a secret tear,
Is kept in memory ever dear.
Time takes away the edge of grief,
But sorrow's hurts will never leave.
—Sadly missed by son Murray daughter-in-law Jean, grandsons Gloria and Donald.

GREEN — In loving memory of a dear father, and grandfather Murray Lambert Green who passed away May 27, 1966.
Your memory is our treasure,
Your love remains with us yet,
Your smile we see in our dreams,
Your loved one's words never forget.
—Ever remembered by son Gordon, daughter-in-law Jean, grandsons, Gloria and Donald.

GREEN — In loving memory of a dear son Murray Leonard Green who passed away May 27, 1966.
The sun shines on over me,
The rain falls on over me,
But I'm sheltered from the storm,
For I'm resting in God's arms.
A beloved face I'll never forget.
—Sadly missed by mother.

GREEN — In loving memory of our dear grandfather, Murray Leonard, who passed away May 27, 1966.
We think of you each morning,
We think of you each night,
Who was patient, loving and true,
Whose memory is dear as the sunshine.
Dear husband and someone was you,
We lovingly remember you by —Your grandchildren Lorraine and Darlene.

GREEN — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Leonard who passed away May 27 1966.
I will always remember the way dad looked,
The way he laughed and smiled,
The little things he said and did,
The love he gave to me,
The memories I'll always cherish,
The light is never dim,
The love for me will shine.

We will remember him.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by daughter Audrey, son-in-law Gord.

Grade Thirteeners End Year Of Academics in Social Mood

Students at Quinte Secondary School yesterday bade farewell to formal high school academics — over coffee and cake.

The event, organized by school authorities marked the end of the year for the graduating Grade Thirteeners of 1966-67.

Cakes, created specially for event, was shared up with sandwiches to the students in the afternoon at the school cafeteria, where principal Leslie Reid reminded them it was a significant day in their days.

School superintendent Arnold Orr said the graduates were part of an intelligent generation capable of taking its place in the world of the future.

However, it also was an age when excesses could be committed under the banner of individualism.

Said the superintendent: "Be yourself — don't try to be anybody. But may I add . . . When you're emphasizing your individualism will you do so positively. Because I think that is one of the things we can criticize about our present generation.

We are prone to criticize what we are against. I could care less what you are against. I'm concerned with what you are for."

Following the coffee party, the students took part in an afternoon dance in the school's main gymnasium.

A Nurse in Every Home

Who needs it?

Home Nursing training, that is.

What with all the medical health programs planned or already in existence, there hardly seems to be any point in learning to treat illness in the home. Might as well check into the hospital at the first sign of a sniffle, ache or pain (after all, it's practically free, isn't it?)

This sounds logical until one realizes that these new services are the very things that are going to stretch already overtaxed hospital facilities to near the breaking point. And whether the services are free or not won't matter very much. If you can't get into a hospital because there's already a waiting list as long as a $50 roll of surgical gauze.

The recent report of the Royal Commission on Health Services has predicted a need for ever-increasing numbers of trained personnel in the health field. The Commission emphasized that individuals and families will have to assume the responsibility of caring for themselves in all but cases of serious illness.

In addition, Emerzency Health Services has stated that in case of disaster, personel in every home, proficient in Home Nursing, is an absolute necessity.

It is with these real needs in mind, that St. John Ambulance has recently stepped up its Home Nursing program. Last year over 3000 Canadians took this training.

Miss Margaret M. Hunter R.N., says the Association is most concerned about patient care in the home today than ever before.

"Although new hospitals are being built," she says, "there are still not enough to meet the needs of our population. Therefore, it is more important that we conserve hospital beds for those who need them most, the acutely ill."

Miss Hunter says she hopes the new "Patient Care in the Home" manual published by St. John will stimulate increased intert.st in home nursing in Canada.

An easy-to-read, information-packed textbook for the Association's Home Nursing courses, it tells the homemaker how to do everything from preparing an ice pack to coping with emergency childbirth.

It is filled with simple procedures that make caring for an invalid at home easier for both the patient and the homemaker.

For example, did you know that pills for small children should be crushed between two spoons, - that beds in the home cause discomfort to both patient and homemaker because they're too low and that raising the bed just a few inches with wooden blocks or cans filled with sand will make a big difference in convenience and comfort? — that a simple, cardboard cradle made from a box with two sides removed will protect the patient from bedding which can weigh very heavily on the feet after a few days?

A St. John Home Nursing course takes two hours a week for eight weeks. It helps a mother protect herself and her family against accidents; teaches her to recognize early signs of illness; shows how to prevent the spread of infection, and teaches her simple nursing skills.

Miss Hunter points out that there are " very good personal reason why young mothers and homemakers should have a knowledge of home nursing skills". She adds, "Many patients, particularly children and older people, seem to respond more readily to care in their own beds."

For recuperating from illness, after all, there's no place like home.

Cuba Says Air Space Violated

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government charged today that a helicopter from the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo violated Cuban air space and landed on Cuban soil for six minutes Friday.

The armed forces ministry called it an "offensive provocation" that could lead to a "serious incident."

The ministry said the helicopter was of the H-34 Seahorse type and went about 200 yards inside Cuban territory. The Seahorse is a general-purpose helicopter manufactured by Sikorsky Aircraft, division of United Aircraft Corporation.

A similar incident occurred Nov. 29, 1965, the ministry said. It accused the United States of sentinuing misdeeds against Cuba.

Intelligencer Sports Editor Honored by Hockey Association

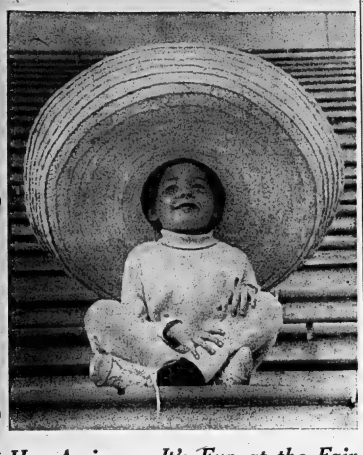
By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

A long-time supporter of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, The Intelligencer Sports Editor, George H. Carver, has been honored by that organization.

A letter received here today requests permission to name one of several new Ontario championship trophies after Mr. Carver.

The letter, in part, says: "The Trophy committee of the O.M.H.A. has decided that, as far as possible, we would like to name the trophies for people who have made a significant contribution to minor hockey, and the O.M.H.A.

"Your contribution, as an Honorary Press Representative is well known and we would appreciate permission from you to use your name on one of the trophies."



Earlier, it was pointed out that the phenomenal growth of minor hockey in Ontario has made it necessary to re-align the classifications and to add two new series and trophies.

Mr. Carver, sports editor of this paper for 23 years, has worked continually for minor hockey, both on a local and provincial level. His daily sports column has traced the growth of both the O.M.H.A. and the Belleville Minor Hockey Association through the years.

He has donated trophies on more than one occasion to the B.M.H.A., both for regular season and tournament play.

Mr. Carver worked closely with Stirling's Doug Patterson in his climb up the O.M.H.A. ladder to the position of president one year ago. Mr. Carver and the late Sam Currie, of Tweed, were the first Eastern Ontario representatives to attend the annual O.M.H.A. convention. The Intelligencer sports editor did not miss an annual meeting for 20 consecutive years.

"I am surprised and very honored at this request to have my name connected with such a fine body as the O.M.H.A. and will accept the honor", he said.

Belleville Youth Dies Following Cycle Accident

PICTON (Special) — Leslie Wayne Moreau died early this morning from injuries received in a motorcycle accident last night near Outlet Provincial Park.

The 24-year-old Belleville man was thrown from his bike while rounding the curve opposite Wates Canteen.

He was taken to Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital by Bond's Ambulance and then rushed to Kingston General Hospital. Dr. Earl Taylor was in attendance.

Mr. Moreau was a draughtsman at the D. A. Smith and Co.

There will be no inquest.

The late Mr. Moreau was born in Toronto, the son of Mrs. Lillian Moreau and the late John Moreau and had been a resident of this city all of his life.

He was well known and highly respected in his community. He resided at 106 West Moira Street.

Surviving are his mother, his wife, the former Josephine Catherine Whalen, two brothers, William Moreau of Point Anne and Mickey Moreau of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Dick (Jean) Smith of this city, and Mrs. Roland (Catherine) Doucette of Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Moreau is resting at the O'Brien-Rutledge Funeral Residence with service in the chapel on Tuesday, Interment in St. James' Cemetery.

Looting Marks Blackout

CINCINNATI (AP) — An explosion in a generating plant caused a power shortage in parts of Cincinnati and northern Kentucky Friday night, plunging the populous area along the Ohio River into brief periods of darkness and confusion.

Looting and smashing of store windows in Cincinnati and Covington and Newport, Ky., followed, with numerous police reports of shootings, stabbings and minor fires.

St. Mary's Hospital, on the west side of Cincinnati, said it was without power for about 10 minutes, but no emergencies were reported. No other hospitals were reported affected.

Cause of the explosion, at a plant of the strikebound Cincinnati Gas and Electric Company, was not known. A company spokesman said there were no injuries as a result of the blast and fire that followed.

Off - duty police were called into service and police had reports of "sniper crowds" in several places, but all were reported under control.

All lights were out in part of downtown Cincinnati about 11:35 p.m., but remained out for only a short time. Some areas of Newport and Covington were in darkness for about two hours.

Jack Sills, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers have been on strike against the company since May 10. The company, which serves 462,000 customers in southwestern Ohio and northern Kentucky, has been operating its power plants with supervisory and engineering personnel.

Jack Sills Will Serve On Directorate

J. H. Sills of Arthur A. Sills and Son Ltd. was appointed recently by Albert J. Hermanez, President of the Ontario Retail Lumber Dealers Association to serve on the association's Inter-Industry Council.

The Ontario Retail Lumber Dealers Association, which represents the retail lumber and building materials dealers of the Province, was founded fifty years ago this year. Much of the work of the association, in its effort to promote the betterment of the industry, is carried out by a number of working committees, including the Education Committee, Promotion Committee, Legislation Committee, Rail Transportation Committee, Fact Finding Committee, Finance Committee and the Inter-Industry Council. Secreary-Manager of the association is Herbert C. Hardy.

Man, 75, Sets Record For Atlantic Crossing

PARIS (Reuters)—A 75-year-old American grandfather, piloting his own jet plane, broke the speed record for crossing the North Atlantic Friday night.

Retired manufacturer Arthur Knapp flew his Sabre-Liner jet into Paris Friday night with his grandson, whom he had promised to take to the international air show here.

Knapp made the crossing from St. John's, Nfld., to Lisbon in four hours and 14 minutes—24 minutes faster than the record established last year by a French Mystere-20 jet.

He then flew here from the Portuguese capital.

Knapp said his grandson celebrated the record with champagne in a Paris restaurant Friday night.

SAYS EXAMS UNNERVING

VANCOUVER (CP) — An increase in nervous disorders among university students has been blamed on a fear of failing exams. Dr. T. Stewart Webster of Queen's University, Kingston, said pressures on students to obtain a degree have created situations where students collapse from nervousness and are incapable of writing exams. He was speaking to members of the Vancouver branch of the Queen's Alumni Association.

Activities at 'Y'

The Belleville Family YMCA's swimming pool schedule, effective May 29th to the end of June, is in the mail to "Y" members and others. With the coming of the warmer weather "Y" crew will be a major emphasis on swimming and pre-summer swimming instruction. Learn-To-Swim classes for men, women, girls and boys will all start the week of May 29th. Registration is heavy for the boys' and girls' classes. There is plenty of room in the adult classes. A call to the "Y" office will reserve space in these classes.

PUBLIC SWIMS

These will be on the summer schedule of being held on Wednesday from 8.00 - 9.30 p.m. and on Saturday from 7.00 to 9.00 p.m. As in past summer seasons it is expected that there will be large turnouts for this popular warm weather activity in the beautiful pool at the "Y" building. The final two weeks of the trial period of Sunday swing will be held on May 28 and June 4.

"Y" FAMILY MEMBERS' SWIMS

These are being held on Tuesday and Thursday from 7.00 - 8.30 — a change from the fall-winter-spring schedule of Wednesday and Saturday. So many families are away or otherwise occupied on weekends these swims are held during the middle portion of the week.

PAN-AMERICAN SWIM

Everyone seems to be talking about Centennial and the Expo 67. We at the Belleville "Y" are looking toward the Pan-Am games by the holding of a Pan-Am Swim. Members are encouraged to swim a minimum of 20 lengths (400 yards) and get credit for 30 miles toward the total of 1660 miles to Winnipeg by water. A map is being put up to mark the progress of the swimmers. Beyond 20 lengths swimmers may report in tens of lengths (30, 40, 50 lengths, etc.) Awards are being arranged for all who complete the swim by the end of the Pan-American games early in August.

June schedules are available through the "Y" office and will be mailed on request.

SCIENTISTS ARE STUCK

MONTREAL (CP) — More than 80 per cent of Dorothy Dewdney's reading students, which include psychiatrists, medical students and engineers, cannot read properly, she says. She blames poor teaching in primary school for the difficulties she tries to sort out in the YMCA's adult education classes.

Farmers' March

A remark by Forestry Minister Michael Sauve to the massed farmers' rally in Ottawa reportedly riled the demonstrators. Nevertheless there was a lot of sense in what he said — and this could have been the reason why the farmers were sensitive to his words.

Mr. Sauve told the farmers they should have started their campaign for a better deal a decade ago. He said he and Agriculture Minister Greene favored $5 a hundredweight (currently at $4.75) for manufacturing milk, but had to consider the government's ability to pay.

Of course the same could have been said ten years ago. That is, the Government could have balked over how much more they could afford to pay. But look at the situation today — Government spending is on such a scale that a "we-cannot afford it" attitude would not fool any farmer.

Government costs in fact have increased 30 per cent in the last five years. These include vast sums to meet the expanding needs of the civil service where money appears to be no object. In Ontario the government is hunting around for new sources of revenue — and is even casting hungry eyes on the churches which are among a number of establishments that are exempt from taxation.

And what about the strike of the Quebec longshoremen who many months ago. Didn't they end up with a fat 30 per cent increase in wages? And the construction workers at Expo?

Meanwhile the farmers have gone away empty-handed. There is talk of the Government being willing to add an overall $15,000,000 to the present dairy subsidy, but no promises — just more discussions with the farmers organizations.

One thing is certain though, after a demonstration of the magnitude of that witnessed on Parliament Hill the other day — the farmers are in a determined mood, and there is no denying their importance as food producers or their need of adequate returns for their labors.

Now What's "In"?

University of Toronto professor Marshall McLuhan, contends in his best-selling book, The Medium is the Message, that it is more how you say it than what you say that counts in the electronic age.

The truth of such a statement has always been evident in the sphere of public speaking. An audience responds most readily to anyone who, given the authority and directness — in short one who knows what he is talking about and says his piece without beating about the bush.

Preliminary verbal hijinks — such as funny stories, blue stories, or any kind of tittle-tattle unrelated to the main subject — is a weakness of many speakers. As often as not it is a cover for nervousness, or even unfamiliarity with the subject the audience is waiting to hear discussed.

Meanwhile McLuhan has extended his theories to the heady sphere of feminine attractiveness. The high priest of communication says "forms of womanhood like Sophia Loren have had it." Whatever that means! And the shape of feminine things to come, he adds provocatively, looks more like Twiggy (the slender young British model) than Miss Loren. Well, the Toronto professor would likely get an argument on that point.

Of Twiggy, he says: "You see, she's not a picture, she's an X-ray. She's geometrical, abstract." Again, one should make up one's own mind as to what McLuhan has in mind here.

However, if he is thinking of the spoken word, does this mean that the "in" mode of speech belongs to London Cockney (which Twiggy is), rather than the haunting Italian tones of Sophia Loren?

Teens' Big Effort

Hurrah for the teenagers of Belleville — and the students of Moira Secondary in particular.

Moira students have donated $2,027 to Belleville General Hospital. The money, a centennial project of the school's student council, will be used to furnish two rooms set aside for teenagers in the hospital's new seven-storey addition.

Even the ceremony of handing over the money to the hospital authorities was done with a flourish. The cheque was a special one — four feet in length — and was presented by student councillors Harold Pascoe and Linda Jones.

NDPs 'New Math' to Win Quebec at Any Cost

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — So now we know where the New Democrats stand.

Not, mind you, on the Viet Nam issue — for they have made no secret, proclaiming it often enough in Parliament, that they are aggressively anti-American, and so, on the other side of the international coin, necessarily pro-Communist?

The interesting — and astounding — thing is where they stand on National Unity.

And just as if the rest of Canada wasn't listening and could not read, amazingly they have gone down to Montreal to declare themselves publicly on the side of the "Quiet Revolutionaries" who demand "special status" for Quebec.

Perhaps it only figures that the "New Left" in the nice other provinces thinks-in-dupli-cate with its ideological wing in the east.

The NDP policy statement on Quebec was laid down in an official "working paper" circulated among 400 Quebec socialists when New Democratic Leader T. C. Douglas made his recent pilgrimage to Montreal.

It came on a weekend, and so on Monday's catch-up of two days at work, the NDP declaration for "Special Status" for Quebec may have whistled right on by you unnoticed.

Now, what is "National Unity" besides being a phrase Federal politicians for 30 years or more — perhaps, who knows, ever found aptly convenient to define the state of Canadians united in Canada's notionhood?

To Prime Minister Mackenzie King, "National Unity" stood for all the provinces, all the provinces including Quebec, being as one in peace and war — and especially in World War Two, when Canada was said to have matured in fire, to have come of age in the world as a nation.

To Prime Minister Louis St Laurent, it was as real and intimate a tie as binds a family, this marriage of the provinces, living in the amiable, understanding, tolerant partnership for their mutual benefit.

To Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, it simply meant, as he so often put it: "One Canada."

To Prime Minister Lester Pearson it is a racial and cultural co-operative of English, French, and of the Dutch, the Poles, the Italians, the Ukrainians, the Finns and all the others who make up the "ethnic third" of the nation.

Certainly it is many things — but one thing it definitely is not.

And that is a racial partnership where one of three equal partners is more equal than the other two.

But that is not the way Mr. Douglas and the NDP see it. For in them, Quebec must be "special," or else.

And the "or else," he says, is "further hickering and strife, the perpetuation of conflicts rendering the role of the Federal Government weak and ineffective, even in those parts where a strong and effective role is welcomed."

Quebec has to be "special" in some "status" he fails to define or Canada may become a loose association of 10 province-states.

Lest there be any doubt as to where the NDP stands on National Unity, they put it in writing.

The party policy paper set it out this way:

"For certain purposes, Canada forms a single state . . . and yet on another level we are confronted with two cultural groups . . ."

Mr. Douglas dotted the "i's" of it: "The present constitution does not adequately recognize this dualism and does not reflect reality."

So the socialists would change it under the thrust of "or else or else."

How "special," really, can Quebec get?

The British North America Act right from Confederation's outset gave Quebec a status that was special — special where it counts, in language and the law.

French is the language of Quebec and the French Civil Code the law.

Thomas Clement Douglas would go further, but failing to set out millepoints, does not say how far.

His demand for what must be more "special status" obviously has to be calculated to suit the Quebec votes where the NDP does not — and never did—hold a seat.

Expedient is the word for the New Democrats.

But what is astonishing is that knowing the other nine provinces sooner or later will get the same status, the NDP politics position that Quebec is more-equal - than - its - nine - equals, is must be rounding on them just not caring.

Going for broke in the next election when they figure to supplant the fragmented Conservatives as the Official Opposition, the New Deans are simply working as never so hard before at being all things to all Canadians.

And to heck with National Unity if Quebec can be had.

Clinic Issue

City's Attitude Sparks Criticism

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

On Thursday, May 25, 1967, another important chapter was added to the long, sad history of the, Williamson Clinic. For the third time the proposed by-law change came before the Municipal Board. On this occasion, J. A. Kennedy, OMB chairman, sat alone at the hearing. He rightly adjourned the sitting to a date as yet unfixed and administered a long over-due reprimand to the city for failing to support the by-law change. Costs of witnesses opposing the proposed change in by-law were assessed against the city.

It has long been known that council has always opposed the location of a medical clinic at 260 Dundas St. East. In spite of this opposition, however, just prior to the last mayoralty election in 1965 December, a majority vote of city council supported a proposed change in by-laws which would allow the controversial clinic. I suspect that political expediency was responsible to this about-face of city council, as this was contrary to the opinion and advice of the suburban planning board at that time.

Since the election, this city council has failed to support its application for the proposed zoning change on Dundas Street. It is my opinion that they do not want their proposed change endorsed. On the three occasions that they have had the opportunity to make an organized presentation supporting this change in by-law before the Ontario Municipal Board, their efforts have resembled either total inadequacy or total sabotage. I suspect both.

In the meantime, the obvious merits of locating a medical clinic on Dundas St. directly across from the site of a long-standing general hospital with a well - equipped out - patient department are being overlooked, camouflaged and neutralized by a well - organized opposition effort. This effort by those opposed to the by-law change could act as a classic basic example of proper legal presentation to those responsible for presenting the city's bylaw.

There have been no witnesses called by the city. Any support for the city's application has been volunteered, I suspect at the personal expense of city council and their solicitor. The city solicitor has not cross - examined any witnesses who have given evidence in opposition to the proposed by-law change. The city has taken the stand that the case rests on its merits while trying hard to hide those merits. I suspect that they would prefer a severe reprimand for failing to support by-law change rather than having the by-law successfully changed. They can afford to wait indefinitely. However, the victims of this procrastination and manipulation are Dr. Williamson, the professional work he does and the patients who visually need his service.

I wish the last municipal election had been fought on an issue of efficient municipal planning. I certainly hope that the next municipal election, which is not too far away, gives adequate ventilation to the municipal planning failure to date and removes some of the obvious bottlenecks of the past.

Windsors' Long Exile Over

Hamilton Spectator

It was a long time ago, more than 30 years, when King Edward VIII left his throne for the love of a woman. His daring action shocked his family and many of his friends. The majority of those closest to him blamed the woman he loved, they felt that she could and should have "given him a way out" by refusing to marry him. In particular, members of Edward's family felt only bitterness for this woman, "this adventurer".

Time has healed these wounds. The intervening years have placed Edward and his Duchess in an entirely different light. Considering their fame and the charm and glamour that surrounded the abdication, they have managed to survive the 30 years of alienation with dignity.

It is fitting in a sense that the wound will finally be officially closed at a ceremony celebrating the 100th anniversary of the birth of Edward's beloved mother. For, of all members of the Royal Family, she was saddened the most by the abdication. Yet, there is no argument that she would approve the final reconciliation. She was a gutsiest woman who could forget and forgive.

The royal prince and his Duchess will go back to England, together, in June. It will be a day of reconciliation and reconquation, the Duchess at the side of her Duke. They are entitled to hold their heads high—they have endured.

Today in History

Reinhard Heydrich, second - in - command of the Gestapo and architect of the puppet state of Bohemia, was assassinated 25 years ago today—in 1942—by two British - trained Czechoslovakian agents. By reprisal, the German occupation authorities razed the village of Lidice, literally; their records showed 1,940 executions in the year, apart from those in the camps where all the men were shot and the women and children taken to concentration camps.

1892—Elevated train service began in Chicago.

1931—Professor Henri Piccard set a world altitude record of 51,961 set in the first pressurized balloon capsule.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917 — Italian troops entered Timava River, captured San Giovanni and approached the second of Duino; Allied aircraft raided German defences at Zeebrugge.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today — in 1942 — "Reichsprotektur" Heydrich was assassinated near Prague; U.S. authorities "froze" workers in key defence industries to prevent job-pirating; Rene Chalbult, member of the Quebec legislature, was charged with sedition; Rommel's great offensive against Egypt began.

Hawaga and research that goes into its articles and maps, the only conclusion that can be drawn from this obviously politically inspired omission is that the National Geographic Society has, to its detriment decided to protect the millions of Americans who will visit Expo '67 from a possible "orrlwerkog" of the mind by visiting the pavilion of a country that Washington does not wish to recognize.

Cuba Gets The Bird

Letter to The Globe and Mail

To what level has American informative journalism descended, when even the authoritative and widely respected National Geographic magazine feels it must leave the field of objective reporting and establish itself as yet another custodian of that nation's morals?

I am referring to the May issue, containing an interesting article on Expo 67, which includes a detailed map of all the pavilions, one with one exception: the Cuban pavilion has been excluded.

Nasser's Ambitions

UN's Role in Keeping Peace Between Arabs and Israelis

(Second of two articles)

The war raged until late 1948, when the United Nations negotiated a series of armistice agreements—although the Arab nations still are technically in a state of war with Israel.

After the war which gave it its birth, the next great Israeli crisis came in 1955, with increased Soviet supply of jet planes and heavy armaments to Egypt. Coupled with this was the abrupt announcement by John Foster Dulles, then U.S. state secretary, that the U.S. would not go through with plans to help finance the Aswan Dam, long an Egyptian dream.

Britain and the International Bank followed the U.S. policy and this rebuff brought from Egyptian President Nasser the startling announcement he would nationalize the Suez Canal and finance the dam with its revenues.

Whether in collusion, as has been widely suggested, or not, Israel, France and Britain responded in a single act of war. On Oct. 29, 1956, Israel struck with brilliant success and Britain and France intervened, in defiance of the UN, when Egypt and Israel refused their ultimatum that they call a ceasefire and withdraw 10 miles from the canal. It further demanded that Egypt allow British and French troops to occupy key points on the canal.

Out of this messy situation grew the United Nations Emergency Force, generally recognized as an achievement of Canadian diplomacy.

Prime Minister Pearson, then external affairs minister leading the Canadian UN delegation, presented the idea and eventually the General Assembly passed, at 2 a.m. on Nov. 4, 1956, a motion to that Dag Hammarskjold, then secretary-general, be asked to produce a plan for a UN force within 48 hours.

Israeli forces wrested control of the territory allotted to the Arabs under the UN plan but lost no area west of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip. The body city was divided under the armistice agreement between Israel and Jordan.

Most of what was left for the intended Arab state was eventually annexed by Egypt and Jordan and the future home of the displaced nomadic Arabs remains uncertain.

The some 500,000 Arabs became refugees in Jordan, the Gaza Strip, Lebanon and Syria. They now number more than 1,000,000 and receive aid from the United Nations and other groups.

Israel, about one-third the size of Nova Scotia, has seen its population grow to more than 2,500,000, mainly due to immigration. A small minority are Arabs.

Back in 1912, there were only 8,000 Jews in Palestine, in a total population of 753,000.

After having kept the peace for more than 10 years along the Israeli-Egyptian border, the UNEF was withdrawn at the demand of Nasser as his and other Arab troops rolled up to Israel's borders for the present threatened confrontation.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

May 27, 1947

A number of Belleville residents are going to enjoy the automobile races to be held on Memorial Day at Indianapolis. This is one of the great events staged in the United States and crowds of more than 100,000 watch these cars as they race around the 1½ mile track. Jack Grotte, Walter Day, Bert Turner and "Bother" Lloyd left the city early Monday morning in one car and Fred Bawden, Charlie Cawker and Bill Brown in the other.

The British Flood Relief Campaign cash donations for food for Britain was swelled today by a cheque for $200, the gift of Branch Veterans in Canada. The cheque was presented to the treasurer at the offices of the Ontario Intelligencer by an official of the unit.

30 YEARS AGO

May 27, 1937

Mrs. W. O. Waldorf and Mrs. B. C. Baker were the tea hostesses at the Belleville Golf Club, east hill, this afternoon.

Dr. O. A. Marshall spent several days in Toronto last week and attended the meeting of the Ontario Dental Association.

Jamieson Bone sailed from Montreal on Wednesday on a holiday trip to England and Scotland. He will be absent from the city for six weeks.

J. A. McFee is spending a few days in Toronto.

Taxation Burden

Ottawa Journal

Taxing churches and private ePcritable organizations would mean a new source of revenue, though not as much as it is sometimes believed. Yet the property-owner has become so burdened with taxation that the whole question, delicate as it may be, deserves to be opened. But at the outset someone should ask the churches and other private groups their views on paying taxes. It may be found that the churches and others are far more willing than they might have been some years ago to assume their share of supporting city services which they too enjoy.

The province should be encouraged to go ahead with the study Premier Robarts has suggested.

BC Pastor 'Sows' $1,000 With Flock

SIDNEY, B.C. (CP) — Rev. Howard McDiarmid believes you must sow in order to reap. And he puts a lot of faith in his belief.

He ended a Sunday service at this Vancouver Island community by giving members of his congregation $10 bills as they went out the door.

He handed out a total of $1,000 and told church members to invest the money any way they want.

"Then on Thanksgiving Day (Oct. 9) they must bring back the $10 plus whatever interest they have reaped."

The money was borrowed from a bank by a church committee of five. It will be repaid with interest after Thanksgiving.

The scheme was Mr. McDiarmid's way of illustrating the parable of the talents—Matthew 25:14-30—in which a master entrusted his money to three servants.

Two doubled the money and were rewarded but the third, who was afraid to use the money, buried it and when he gave it back to the master was told:

"For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance but from him that hath not, shall be taken away even that which he hath.

"And cast ye te unprofitable servant into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth."

Mr. McDiarmid has no notion of casting any of his congregation into outer darkness. That's the optimistic church where members will reap good returns on their talents.

One member told him she is painting a canvas she hopes to sell. Another woman is baking bread and another is giving piano lessons.

A male member of his congregation has invested the $10 in his own oil business.

"Two or three people frowned on the scheme and refused to accept the money," said the former Trochu, Alta., minister. "Everyone was very surprised to see me standing at the church door with a fistful of money but they took it very well."

After the bank has been repaid, 60 per cent of the remaining profit will be paid to church hall, 25 per cent will go to the United Church's missionary fund and 15 per cent will be donated to local charities.

Mr. McDiarmid said his plan has worked so well that a dozen members of his congregation, not noted for regular church attendance, have approached him and asked to participate in the scheme.

There was some speculation that the money may be invested on horses," Mr. McDiarmid chuckled, noting that Sandown Park race track is within easy reach of his congregation.

"But since it doesn't appear the races will be held here this year I don't think we have to worry."

Catholics Erase Criticism of Jews

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Broad-scale progress is reported in a global, joint undertaking by Roman Catholic and Jewish leaders to eliminate hostile references to Jews from Catholic religious textbooks.

A survey of inter-religious developments in Europe found that Catholic educational centres are increasingly involved in revising texts and distributing them for use in Spain, Italy, South America and other areas.

The report came from Phillip E. Hoffman, chairman of the American Jewish Committee's board of governors, on the basis of a three-year study made by 10 and Catholic scholars at a new interfaith centre in Rome.

He cited a "worldwide movement" to clear Catholic textbooks of anti-Jewish references —an effort sparked by the second Vatican council's call for closer bonds with Judaism and rejection of its common roots with Christianity.

Of the situation in Spain, hub of Spanish-speaking Catholicism in Latin America and elsewhere, Hoffman said: "Eighty per cent of all Spanish Catholic religious textbooks that have previously expressed hostility to Jews have been revised, and anti-Semitic drawings reminiscent of the vicious caricatures of Nazi Julius Streicher eliminated."

In Italy, he said, revision of elementary and secondary textbooks is in progress, and study findings have been transmitted to the Vatican, Catholic textbook writers and publishers, seminaries, universities and adult education groups.

Corresponding information has been gathered in northern Europe, in conjunction with Catholic and Protestant educationists and social scientists, he said, and is expected to bring changes in religious textbooks in Austria, Germany, Holland and Belgium.

He said Catholic authorities had expressed shock at the extent of unfavorable textbook references to Jews and Judaism turned up in the three - year study, and had issued recommendations for changes. Hostile references to Protestant and Eastern Orthodox Christians such as "schismatics and heretics." also had been expurgated.

Deleted passages referring to Jews often contained phrases such as "burden of guilt," "vicefidden," "pride in their riches," "divine malediction," and the like.

Other examples cited of material eliminated included:

Parts of a first - grade textbook saying Jews "hated the Christians and were enraged because the little children loved the Virgin and the Lord." It had to be done, it said, so that the Jews crucified a Christian boy because he refused to stamp on the crucifix. An illustration showed Jews collecting his spurting blood in cups.

Among references about Jews cited in Italian textbooks: "The God of many of them is money, while the worst aberrations, such as illusory and bolshevism, find many adherents among the Jews."

TOO MUCH STRAIN

MONTREAL (CP) — Jean Short, executive director of the Girls' Counselling Centre, says exploitation of sex by press, TV, movies, literature and advertising is putting "too much under intense pressure" and creating problems for young women. She says the public relations culture and the economic order that exploit sex for profit need reform.

Former Hospital Administrator Addresses Alumnae

The gospel according to Friesen was expounded to over 200 members of the Belleville General Hospital Nurses' Alumnae at a dinner meeting in St. Michael's Academy on Friday evening. Each year the current graduating class is honored with such a dinner.

Catering was done by the women of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Mrs. J. R. Lucas, president of the Alumnae said Grace. Mrs. Lucas also expressed appreciation to St. Andrew's Women and to St. Michael's and the Catholic Women's League for the use of the auditorium.

Miss Bonnie Rowe, accompanied by Mrs. Carl Austin favored with several vocal selections. Miss Rowe is the daughter of a member of the Class of 1942. She was thanked by Mrs. Ruth Bly.

The graduating class of 1967 was introduced by Mrs. Doreen Frederick. Mrs. Judy Hurst proposed a toast to the class which was responded to by Miss Tamblyn.

Mrs. Madge Flindall, director of nursing education, brought greetings from the School of Nursing of the Belleville General Hospital.

There were several class reunions, from five to 60 years, the biggest being the class of 1942. Without regard for present status or location in life, every Alumnae present met on the hallowed ground of dedicated years of hard work, play, joy and sorrow, and joy was predominant throughout the evening.

Mrs. Dorothy Howes introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Gordon Friesen, F.A. C.H.A. who was hospital administrator during the training years of the class of 1942. Mr. Friesen's Hospital Consulting Firm has acted as consultant for hospital construction in Canada, United States, Mexico, Europe, the United Kingdom, and elsewhere, where the Friesen concept in Hospital functional construction is receiving increasing approval and acceptance.

With visual aid Mr. Friesen outlined the latest in hospital design and equipment, as well as dream ideas for the future. It is his aim to do all that is possible so that the nurse can be a professional person with no other responsibilities than to treat the whole patient. Mr. Friesen's ideas, considered radical a short time ago, are gradually becoming realities, only to relegate the old adage, "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country". His ideas, once an anathema to some, a source of derision to others, are now being reconsidered.

He said, "In an age of mechanization, logic dictates that some of the production methods of industry should be applied to certain areas of the hospital to accomplish desired results. In the traditional hospital the nurse spends as much as 50 per cent of her time collecting supplies and services. She must give patient care the rest of the time. Considering the shortage of nurses, this seems almost scandalous. The bricklayer has had a bodycarrier for generations. Is the nurse not as important as the bricklayer?

It therefore behooves us to put supplies and services on the production line. This is the common sense approach provided the patient is not put on a belt where his physical, mental and spiritual needs are ignored. The patient must become the new focal point in the hospital picture and this can best be accomplished by good functional planning — everything on the belt but the patient."

"The traditional hospital is 30 years behind the times in design when the doors are opened." With vocal urgency Mr. Friesen talked about his concept of the modern hospital and denounced the "storenage" ideas and contrivances still lingering in many institutions. "Dumbwaiters are dumb — they require two people to operate them; even a third rate motel has a shower in every room; diet seems to be classified as dirt, dirty dirt and very dirty dirt. Dirt is dirt. Outmoded facilities have forced excess specialization of ward functions."

The speaker recommends all private rooms, all things sterilized and prepackaged, a competent system of supply, a large supermarket area, a decontamination area, all things prepackaged, and many other dream innovations to take away from the nurse all her professional bedside care.

He also suggested that the patient should not be expected to eat alone, to all the peculiar schedules of the traditional hospital such as being wakened at 5 p.m. to take a sleeping pill and then wakened at 6 a.m. to prepare for the day ahead.

He continued, "We must have preventative medicine first and curative medicine second. Also all hospital should be equipped with a psychiatric unit as people's thoughts that since penicillin there is no need for a chapel."

Mrs. Howes thanked Mr Friesen for his talk and efforts on behalf of all nurses, and presented him with a gift on behalf of the alumnae.

Following a happy scramble to see all the old friends present, the girls who are celebrating their 5 years as graduate nurses, held a reception in Education Hall. They presented the gift together with a tour of the hospital on Saturday morning, followed by lunch in Education Hall.

REMINISCENCES

"The past is only the present become invisible and mute . . . its memorial glances and its murmurs are infinitely precious." — Mary Webb (1881 - 1927).

* * *

"Yes, I have sixty-five years filled with wonderful memories of Belleville. As now, there were such lovely people. People whom I knew at the turn of the century; many who are no longer here," reflects Mrs. W. H. Lattner.

"One May evening in 1901, there was much excitement at the Belleville Opera House. A play written by a local play-wright and entitled "Women's Parliament of Prophecy" was being performed "in aid of the hospital."

"Members of the audience upon taking their seats were handed programs of the play which read:

ACT I: Scene I: Deputation of Bachelors and Benedicts waiting upon the Government to urge that the Franchise be given to all members of their class.

Scene II: The Government to hear Petitioners from Sidney Crossing, Shannonville and Deseronto urging the claims of each of these places to be constituted the County Town.

ACT II: The Parliament of Prophecy in session. The Governess-General delivers Speech from the Throne. Speaker elected. Premier makes announcements. Introduction of new Members to the Speaker. Questions by Members. Motions. Discussion on Bill to impose a Tax on Bachelors. The Bill is carried. Discussion of Bill to extend the Franchise to Spinsters and Widowers. Bill lost. Speaker leaves chair.

By some miracle of chance I still possess a copy of that program. Here it is, practically in pieces. But how I treasure it! Look at the members of the cast; the number of local people involved, the apparent people I knew well, people many in Belleville still know and remember:

Officers and Members of the Parliament of Prophecy:

Governess General: Mrs. Locke (who was my mother); clerk of the House, Miss Emerson; sergeant - at - arms, Miss Aileen Hulme; speaker of the house, The Hon. Mrs. Sewell, Member for Windsor; pages, Hope Sewell, Marjory McCuaig, Evelyn McCarthy.

Members of the House and their Constituencies:

Government:

Hon. Mrs. Leach, Kingston, Premier and President of the Council; Hon. Mrs. Annesley, Stratford, Minister of Finance; Hon. Miss Gardiner, Hamilton, Minister of Education (she was dean of Albert College); Hon. Mrs. Donald, Brantford, Minister of Charities; Hon. Miss Grace Webster, Peterboro, Minister of Justice; Hon. Mrs. Flint, Muskoka, Minister of Agriculture (her husband was son of Billa Flint); Hon. Miss Helena Laster, Frontenac, Minister of Railways and Canals.

Ministers without portfolio: Hon. Mrs. Clark, Elgin; Hon. Mrs. Rathbun, Lennox (who later became the wife of Dr. Gibson); Hon. Miss Walker, Nipissing; Hon. Mrs. Furnival, Dundas (my daughter taught my brother, George Locke); Mrs. Dulmage, Prince Edward; Mrs. Millet, W. Northumberland (a fine woman interested in affairs. Her husband wrote History of Belleville); Miss Edith McLean, Parry Sound; Miss Hoodhouse, Bruce; Miss Eastmond, Leeds; Miss Price, Grey; Miss Myra Sills, Kent (she lived with her parents at the old Springer house); Miss Dunlet, Norfolk (her family owned what is now Bush Funeral Home); Miss Geen, Addington; Miss Lingham, Prescott; Miss Grace Bingham, Portland (my family lived in house now occupied by Judge Anderson); Miss Bella Mathison, York (her father was the principal of the OSD).

Opposition:

Miss McInerex, Toronto, leader of the opposition; Miss Ethel Johnson, London (her father was MP and head of the Bristol Business College); Miss Ward, E. Northumberland; Miss McCraw, Glengarry; Miss Connerly, Renfrew (she was a department head in Ritchie's Dept. Store); Miss Hall, Grey (Lakefield, Wellington (her eldest brother was mayor); Mrs. McCaughey, Waterloo; Mrs. Goldsmith, Durham (a most brilliant woman); Mrs. Urquart, Perth; Mrs. Taylor, Wentworth; Mrs. Simcoe; Mrs. Wylder, Haldimand; Mrs. Mathison, Russell; Mrs. Frost, Peel; Miss Hay, Vienna (her brother founded the Laura Secord Company); Miss Florence Jones, Chatham; Miss Annie Elliott, Stormont; Miss Gibson, Brockville; Miss Helen Jones, Carleton; Marie Nation, Algoma, (Miss Davy).

Deputations: Messrs. Morden, Wallace, Sulman (Mr's a Helen Sulman's father), Thomson, Tannahill, Walker, Stewart, Webster, Gillen, Gillen, Gibson, MD, and Petitioners: Messrs. John McNair and John Arende and Miss Jessie Robertson.

"This program," says Mrs. Lattimer, "brings back many memories of Belleville friends and the delightful evening in the old Opera House that night in May back in 1901."

Graduating Teachers Named to Honor Lists

At the closing exercises of Peterborough Teachers' College, held recently, principal F. J. Clifford named 37 students to the Principal's Honor List.

It is the first year the principal has named students to an honor list. Mr. Clifford said he hopes it will become a regular part of the school system.

Belleville students named to the list were Helen Wood and David Gordon. District students named were Connie Neuman, Maynooth; Dorothy Payton, Trenton; Georgina Donly, Eldorado; Teresa Dowling, Napanee; Debbie Gagne, Brighton and Sandra Wickens, Frankford.

Miss Helen Wood also won the H. McLean prize for placing third in the 380 at the College.

Miss Kathryn Gist and Miss Heather Ogilvy of Belleville won physical education bursaries and Miss Nancy Faulkner won an art bursary.

Club Activities

WHITE CANE CLUB

Mrs. Lillian Bridge, a new member, was introduced by president Vi Waite at the White Cane Club meeting Wednesday evening at the Recreation Centre.

Plans were made for the picnic to be held at Zwick's Island June 24. Mrs. Maude Rollins read the Canadian Council of the Blind interim report. The whole goal of rehabilitation is to fit a person to carry on in his own community, it stressed. Therefore, every blind person is encouraged to participate in community activities, and not confine himself to groups of similarly handicapped people.

It was announced that Sandford Leppard of Toronto was selected as 1967 recipient of the CCB award of merit. He is vice-president of the CNIB National Council and a vice-chairman of the CNIB Board of Management. He was born in 1891.

James C. Swail of Ottawa a registered blind person, has been appointed by the CNIB as technical advisor and consultant on specialized equipment for the blind. This new post has been introduced to consolidate CNIB efforts in research and develop specialized equipment for the use of the blind. Mr. Swail is employed by the National Research Council. His field of interest will include the development or adaptation of domestic and industrial appliances and equipment.

Helen Wardhaugh sold tickets on a gift donated to raise funds for the memorial year project. Gladys Selmon was the winner.

The Quinteliette barbershop singers were the entertainers for the evening. They were thanked by Harvey Bailey.

Kinette Betty Fralick presented bowling trophies to Helen Wardhaugh and Earl Chapman for high scores and Wes Clarence Fralick for most valuable player. Clarence Morris thanked the Kinettes for their assistance in scorekeeping during the bowling season.

Woman Vows To Educate Her Children

SEATTLE (AP) — Nineteen years ago, when Ana Tokita was widowed and left virtually penniless, she made a vow — to see that her eight children attended college.

It was in 1948 that Mrs. Tokita and her husband leased a small dowdvorx hotel. When the arrangements were completed they had 87 left. Within seven months he had died.

"I'll make it on my own," a daughter, Mrs. Henry Hashimoto, recalls her mother saying when she turned down welfare aid because she feared it would reflect upon her children.

The five sons had summer and part-time jobs.

"They did everything and anything, and gave their money to mother, who banked them for them," Mrs. Hashimoto said. "She was determined to have them all get college."

One son earned his master's degree and is an accountant. Another received an extended college for two years and then joined the U.S. Air Force.

Mrs. Tokita's daughter is interior design and two other daughters each attended classes for two years. Two sons are still in school.

U.C.W. Meetings

HOLLOWAY UCW

At the general meeting of Holloway United Church Women held Tuesday evening, Mrs. J. Fred Wilson presided over the business meeting. Plans were completed for the Centennial Craft Tea Meet at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Announcement was made of the Vacation Bible School to be held during the first two weeks of July.

The topic of the meeting was social assistance. Mrs. G. Carlisle conducted the devotional and Miss M. Robertson sang a solo with Mrs. E. M. Hubbs as accompanist.

Mrs. Mary White introduced the speaker, Mrs. F. E. Burrows, director of the volunteer bureau. Mrs. Burrows told of the organization of the bureau and the progress that has been made. Volunteers are interviewed and their names kept on file to be referred to when requests are made. Over one hundred are now in jobs. If one has leisure time to contribute there are many opportunities for interesting work. By becoming a volunteer one will grow in knowledge and in a result gain self-fulfillment from personal involvement in the community. Mrs. Ivan May thanked the speaker for her informative message.

Ann Landers

Upon Reaching 40 One Does Not Like Self

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What does a woman do when she reaches her 40th birthday and suddenly realizes she doesn't like herself?

ANN LANDERS

I don't like working so hard to be cordial to friends when deep down I resent them for reasons which don't make sense. I don't like the way I have blamed others for my failures. I don't like the casual manner in which I have passed on petty gossip that should have stopped with me.

Is it possible to make one's self over? Could I change? What do you say, Ann Landers? — TOO WELL-KNOWN TO SIGN INITIALS.

DEAR WELL-KNOWN: Of course you can change, and you've already taken the most important step — recognizing the need to change and wishing to do so.

You seem filled with hostility. Do you know why? And toward whom? Talk this out with someone whose job it is to listen. When you unload those ugly feelings you will no longer be compelled to punish your family and friends. You will like yourself better and find it easier to be civil and perhaps even gracious to those around you.

* * *

DEAR ANN: I love my husband very much, but he is driving me crazy.

Paul is a dentist. He receives dozens of professional journals, advertising flyers and countless boxes of samples and "gifts" from pharmaceutical houses. This junk is sent to his office, but he brings every bit of it home. Every night he hauls in more paraphernalia, and now I can't even set up an ironing board of a sewing machine in what was supposed to be my work room. His library is so crammed full of trash I have given up trying to clean it. He has ordered me not to touch anything.

Paul has promised dozens of times to sort things out but he never gets around to it. In the meantime, I am ashamed to have guests over and I'm drowning in junk.

What's the answer? — CROWDED.

DEAR CROWDED: Do you have fire insurance? If you don't have it, you should. Ask your insurance man to look at your place. A call from him might inspire Paul-Rat Paul to get rid of at least some of the junk. If this doesn't work, resign yourself and accept, with grace, that which you cannot change.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 13 and have no way of earning money for gifts, records, movies and little extras. I spoke to my father about this several months ago. We agreed that I would do certain chores around the house and receive an allowance.

It started out fine but my father has gotten into the habit of borrowing money from me and not paying it back. Right now he owes me $7 and I don't think I will ever see it again.

Do you have any suggestions on how to get him to give me the money? Please don't say I am lucky to have an allowance, because I really deserve it. Thank you. — BROKE.

DEAR BROKE: There's no way I know to get your $7 back unless your father decides to repay it — and I certainly hope he does. A father who welches sets a mighty poor example.

In the future, deposit your money in a savings account where it will draw interest and not be available for "loan."

Missionary Grateful for Readers' Response

Dear Doris: Well, the cards are really pouring in. Thank you, my good friends; for your generous response. The postman's coolie arrives with a loud thump and I go to welcome a whole bagful. Looks like enough now to last for Christmases 1967 and 1968.

So we don't need more cards, thank you, except next Christmas which we can use all year round. Please do not register them; and if names must be removed (which I doubt) then cut double fold take out the centre, and of hard card take off the back.

Parcels of used clothing should be valued at not more than five dollars and marked Used Clothing, Relief, Gift; then we don't have to pay customs. If you have some discarded spectacles, whatever the perscription they can be used by the oculist who will then supply cheap reading ones to our friends who cannot afford to buy. Be sure the glasses look old,or are marked as old, or used. — Frances Stevenson, Christian Compound, 14 Old Sehore Rd., Indore, M.P., India

Dear Frances: I'm told you also need good paperback, Reader's Digest, Ideals, Faith at Work, Guideposts. And that the gift of such a thing as a fairly decent shirt can matter tremendously to a lad who can hardly keep up with food expense.

You'll hear more from us.

Dear Doris: My husband and I have been separated for a year and I am saving up every penny I can get for a divorce. He runs around with women and has committed about every sin in the book. Our little son is with me.

A nice fellow I know asked me to a show last week, and my parents wouldn't hear of it, even though we would have gone with another couple. They said it was because I wasn't divorced yet, but this fellow used to run around a lot (and lived with a married woman for a time) and that's what's worrying them.

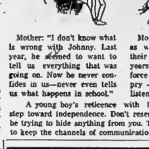
Why should I be condemned to sit alone all the time? He seems hardworking and well-mannered. — Where's the Harm?

Dear Where's: The harm is to your reputation, there's where. A woman who is working towards divorce is expected to keep her skirts meticulously clean. Villains don't wear horns.

Naturally you are lonely, and I'm sorry. But there's a hurdle for you to jump then you can relax — with friends of good reputation. Meanwhile be glad Mom and Dad care.

Dear Doris: I wrote to you once before about dating, and you gave me very good advice (even though my mother read it first and I had to take it out of the garbage to read it!). So would you please give me an answer to your column?

I am 17 and in grade 12. I am interested in a boy who is 16, but only in grade 10. My girl friend says I'm crazy to want to go out with this guy, because he is younger than me, that I will be "robbing the cradle".



It's not as if I'm short of dates my own age or older, but I really like this guy and I would go out with him if he asked me. If you recommend it, as I highly respect your opinions. — Confused

Dear Confused: Then go. There's no law against finding out whether his lack of a year in age and two years in school means a corresponding shortage of maturity.

Sometimes it does. But there are Personality Kids who begin to shine right from the cradle up. Is he one of those?

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "I don't know what is wrong with Johnny. Last year, he seemed to want to tell us everything that was going on. Now he never confides in us—never even tells us what happens in school."

A young boy's reticence with his parents actually is a step toward independence. Don't resent it. He may not really be trying to hide anything from you. Try in a friendly manner to keep the channels of communication open.

Most boys, and many girls as well, stop confiding in their parents at around 12 years of age. Don't try to force confidence or seem to pry — but be ever ready to listen.

Sofa Table New Idea At Turn of Century

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

The sofa table was a new idea at the close of the 18th century, and today it is almost unknown. Mr. Sheraton, the famous English furniture designer, claimed his sofa table was "used before a sofa."

It was about 4 to 6 feet in length and about 2 feet wide and 28 inches high. The drawers and drop leaves at the end plus the height and size made the table convenient for the use of ladies or invalids who spend long hours on a sofa. Sometimes the table included a game board or desk.

Today the sofa table is placed behind the sofa to hold a lamp or decorative figures.

Q. What can you tell me about the history of the commercial homesize coffee grinder?

A. The home coffee mill came into use about 1806. It was after that time that the coffee mills were offered for sale to the housemaker. Many types of grinders were sold including the "Royal," "Telephone," "Lightning," "King," "Fast Grinder," "Queen," "Premier," "Swift's Family," "Favorite," "Home Coffee Mill," "National Coffee Mill" and others.

The "Home Coffee Mill" was still being sold just prior to the second World War. A few models can still be purchased for the purpose of grinding coffee and not for use as a lamp. Electric coffee grinders are also being made.

Q. I have a teapot with a screw top and a small plunger at the side. It was made from copper and plated with nickel. It is marked "S. Sternau and Co."

A. S Sternau Company made plated silver and miscellaneous items in Brooklyn, N.Y. from 1896 to 1920. They are known for making chafing dishes, and your container was used for fuel for the dish.

Q. Please give me some information about an upright concert grand piano. It was made by the H. P. Nelson Co., Chicago. Below the name is the number 12253.

A. The earliest working date for the H. P. Nelson Co. was 1910. It is thought they worked before that date. The number of your piano indicated that it was made in 1912.

Q. What does "del." mean on an old print?

A. "Del." means "delineavit" which is the Latin word for "has drawn it." Other similar terms found on old prints are "exc." or "exud." for "excudit" meaning "has published it"; "fec.", "f." for "fecit" meaning "has made it."

Nova Scotia Leaders Make Their Final Pleas

HALIFAX (CP) — Money—and how to spend it—remained the dominant issue today as leaders of the three parties contesting Tuesday's Nova Scotia election made their last forays outside their own ridings.

Premier Robert Stanfield, whose Progressive Conservatives held 39 seats in the last 43-seat legislature, told a party rally in the South Shore town of Bridgewater Friday night that the government is gearing its planning with the certain knowledge that heavy expenditures lie ahead for the province.

"I want to make it quite clear that the government of Nova Scotia realizes that its own financial resources are not sufficient to meet the needs of our rural economy," he said.

But he said the government nevertheless is ready to contribute its fair share to the extensive programs for redevelopment that will be required.

In the Annapolis Valley town of Hantsport, Liberal Leader Gerald Regan told a party meeting that the real issue is not where the money is to come from, but where it is to go.

Although the Conservatives said suggested the Liberals would not be able to find the money to pay for their election promises, the Conservative election platform would cost just as much to implement.

The issue in this campaign is one of priorities," he said. "The so-called issue about where the money is coming from is nothing more than a Tory red herring, thrown out in an attempt to divert attention away from the bankruptcy of the old program and rickety record on which they claim to stand."

Mr. Regan, whose Liberals held the four Opposition seats in the last house, said the priorities that should be met are education, tax reform and better housing.

Earlier in the day, Mr. Regan and Mr. Stanfield joined NDP Leader James Aitchison on a television appearance where the three leaders defended their policies and answered questions from reporters.

"WHAT'S THE NEW CANADIAN DAIRY COMMISSION DOING ABOUT FEDERAL GOVERNMENT PRICE SUPPORTS?"

"RAISING THEM BY 16%, THAT'S WHAT!"

■ The new Canadian Dairy Commission took its first step in furthering the development of a sound, efficient dairy industry in its stabilization program for the year starting April 1, 1967.

■ It is supporting market prices of major dairy products at levels which are equivalent to about 29 cents a hundred more than a year ago for manufacturing milk testing 3.5%.

■ The federal government is providing funds to the Commission for a subsidy to manufacturing milk and cream shippers equivalent to $1.21 a hundred for 3.5% milk. The rate last year was 85c. From the $1.21 there will be a holdback equivalent to 11c for export price equalization, with any unused amount refunded at the end of the year.

■ Basis for the payment will be the volume of manufacturing milk and cream required for the Canadian market, approximately the amount for which subsidies were paid to manufacturing milk and cream shippers in 1966-67.

■ After mid-May, when 1966-67 records are completed, each registered producer will be informed of the volume for which he will be eligible for subsidy in 1967-68. This will be based on the volume for which he received subsidy in 1966-67. The amount for the year will be broken down into monthly quotas, based on the normal percentage of milk and cream marketed each month. Those who received subsidy for less than 50,000 pounds (1,750 pounds butterfat) last year will be eligible for subsidy up to that amount this year.

■ This new program, in terms of price support and subsidies, represents an increase of 65c, or 16%, over the federal program for 1966-67. It is over a dollar, or 33%, higher than in 1965.

■ What's the new Dairy Commission doing to help improve the dairy industry? Quite a lot. And it's only the beginning.

Music a Mission

Alfred Cooper Devoted to Work

Once, about 27 years ago, a London, England-born man with inclinations towards music came to Belleville. The Public School board offered him a three-month part-time teaching position in the schools. Alfred Cooper was in Belleville to stay and he still teaches music to public school children.

Mr. Cooper has been involved in music probably all his life. In 1917 he joined the British army as a band boy and played in Ireland and Egypt. He played in theatre pits and in symphonies in cities like Belfast.

Once he performed at the Canadian National Exhibition and was offered a position in a Toronto Concert Band. He formed a military band at Camp Borden, and even played in a dance band at Midland during the big band era. However he didn't "develop a taste" for the dance club work.

Mr. Cooper went to summer school and obtained a teaching certificate before teaching music at all the Belleville Public Schools and secondary schools like BCI and Trenton High School.

The Belleville Public Schools Band is one of his main joys in life. The instrumental ensemble consists of 85 members but over the years well over 1,000 students have played for him. "That wouldn't be exagerrating," he says. As well as the band Mr. Cooper has a number of private students.

"As far as teaching is concerned, it's a mission in life. But if anyone had told me when I was younger that I would be a teacher I wouldn't have believed him."

Mr. Cooper visits four schools a day is the course of his job. He teaches at every school in the city. Students from grades four to eight have the opportunity to join his band.

The students do not play stringed instruments, only wind and percussion instruments. They play at the odd church in the city and for some school functions.

"The band is just a follow-up to their musical instrument training."

As far as a philosophy of teaching is concerned, Mr. Cooper believes that students should not be regarded as children. "Students don't like to be looked down upon. I treat them as I would treat adults."

He says, "I like all kinds of music if it's good and I understand it. Music stimulates people. It helps them mentally and physically."

Concerning contemporary music Mr. Cooper suggests it's a matter of choice. You can't choose for anyone."

DID SOME COMPOSING

He frequently has to arrange music himself and has done some composing. "I did compose some music but it never went any farther than the waste-paper basket."

He can demonstrate every wind instrument there is but he modestly confesses "I don't profess to play them."

Mr. Cooper attributes his success in Belleville to the co-operativeness of the students and teachers and the school board. "I couldn't have better co-operation."

He recalled one of his humorous experiences with Belleville's students. "I had been continually telling a group of pupils to keep strict time and to count. They weren't doing it, so I asked them what was I always telling them. One student stood up and answered "Shut-up."

Mr. Cooper says that he will never give up music. "I have no wish to retire." Nor should a man forsake what he calls a mission in life.

Playing a Tune

Mr. Cooper can demonstrate all wind instruments but he plays the clarinet well. In the early phases of his career he excelled in playing the bassoon, but he has given it up.

Arrangement Is the Thing

Mr. Cooper often arranges the music for the Belleville Public Schools Band. He has done some composing but he admits it hasn't amounted to much. He has to prepare all the music before the band is allowed to play it.

Running Boards Are for Talking

Percy C. McGuire and David Rowe, local life insurance representatives, find that running boards of vintage cars have a wider use than being mere mud protectors. The 1926 Model T Ford is a joint Centennial Year project for the two men who have restored the old vehicle to almost "like new" condition. The car will be used mainly for Centennial Year parades.

Antique Cars Topic At Museum Meeting

Antique cars, aircraft and farm machinery will be featured at a slide show at Hastings County Museum Monday night, V. Clyde Bell publisher of the Tweed News, will show his pictures of models from 1902 to 1936 at the annual meeting of Hastings County Historical Society at 8 p.m. at the museum.

Mr. Bell travelled to Iowa last year to photograph examples of early steam, internal combustion and electric cars, agricultural implements and trains. His slides show the reconditioned models in operation. He also photographed the antique aircraft fly-in at Altamont, where early vintage planes again took to the air. Mr. Bell will accompany his slides with an informal commentary on motor transport.

Vehicle Cost $1,600

Point Anne Fire Department Members Finance Purchase of New Equipment

Many municipalities across Canada have completed a wide variety of Centennial projects — most of them with government financial assistance — but members of the Point Anne (Thurlow) Fire Department a private project without government assistance.

The 23 members of the Point Anne volunteer department have purchased and completely equipped an emergency vehicle for use in the municipality.

The cost of the vehicle, together with its equipment ranging all the way from first aid kits, to oxygen tanks, breathing apparatus and rescuestator, totalled about $1,600, the money being raised through fund raising ventures over the years.

The idea of the emergency vehicle was that of Fire Chief Fred Clarke who realized there was a great need in the area for such a vehicle.

Although small and made up entirely of volunteers, the Point Anne department is an active member of the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Mutual Aid Association comprised of 14 neighboring fire departments in the two counties.

Chief Clarke has trained a special first aid team to man the new emergency vehicle. In fact the team has been active for some time and last year took part in world championship competition staged by the International Rescue and First Aid Association.

The Point Anne department is the only one in Hastings and Prince Edward which belongs to the above association.

"We hope the new emergency unit will never have to be used but if the occasion arises the Point Anne Department will be ready," said Fire Chief Clarke.

Pony Express Rides Again..and It's Passing Through Belleville

One of Canada's most ingenious centennial projects —a pony express system across the nation — will pass through Belleville on June 11.

The pony express — composed of more than 2,000 riders from Vancouver to Montreal — will make use of local horsemen and women to carry a message of greetings to Queen Elizabeth II when she visits Expo in early July.

Horsemen in the Quinte are are being enlisted to carry the scroll through Campbellford, Stirling, Frankford, Trenton, Belleville and Napanee.

Each rider will carry the message about a mile and local horsemen and women are asked to contact Bill Parm of 331 Cannifton Road, Belleville.

The project started last year when Al Legate, 50, rode 2,600 miles up the west coast of North America from Mexico to Victoria, B.C. He carried greetings from the Mexican Charros horsemen of Mexicali, Mexico.

The message is written in old Spanish script on a rawhide scroll. It is carried in an aluminum pipe capped with leather on the ends.

Mr. Legate started the project to promote horsemanship but has since become deeply involved in the centennial spirit of the ride. He was born in Spokane, Washington and raised in Kilbo, Alberta.

He left Mexico on May 1, 1966 and after riding for 8½ months he arrived in Victoria. He supported himself enroute by breaking wild horses for ranchers.

During the long trip Mr. Legate crossed three deserts and numerous mountain ranges.

Following his arrival in Victoria, Al caught the imagination of the B.C. Horsemen's Association and on March 22 the first rider left city hall in Victoria on the initial leg of the 3,400 mile trip.

Most of the horsemen have carried the scroll about five miles in order that all interested parties might participate. Riders will receive a certificate of recognition for their part in the express system.

So far the youngest rider has been a four-year-old boy who carried the scroll for 1½ miles and the oldest a 75-year-old man who carried the message the usual five mile trek.

To date, more than 2,000 horsemen have participated in the 100 day ride and, at the present time, the scroll is being carried from the lakehead ports of Fort William and Port Arthur to Toronto.

Carried with the scroll are greeting cards from mayors and reeves. These are being picked up along the way and will also be presented to the Queen.

Mr. Legate says the ride is about two weeks ahead of schedule. "For this reason we are able to take in the eastern Ontario area."

So far he has not been required to carry the scroll in Canada. His job is publicity, and the organization of various clubs throughout the nation who are participating in the ride.

The project has not received any government assistance financially or otherwise. His expenses are met by fund raising projects operated by local horse clubs.

The pony express system was organized partly to make the public aware of the lack of riding and hiking trails in Canada.

"The ride has not been easy," he said. "The mayor of Maple Creek, Alberta rode out in a blinding snowstorm in early April. By the time he moved 50 feet his tracks were covered by snow."

The project will end in early July when the scroll is presented to Queen Elizabeth II when she visits Expo. Mr. Legate says he doesn't know what his next project will be but hopes to keep promoting the establishment of his riding and hiking trails.

Lady patrons at the opening of the Quinte Driving and Riding Club's harness racing season at the Fair Grounds tonight will get the opportunity to lose their mind-skirts, hunkies, girdles or whatever is the distaff side equivalent of the male "shirt" without bothering with an admission fee.

Tonight's event is "on the house" for the gals. Club directors voted unanimously for an opening "Ladies Night" for free and if you think moderator mademoiselles do not like to rub a dress or two on the paying hayseed just take a look at the betting booth before the events get under way.

And don't believe that old cliche that the gals are the "weaker sex" when it comes to wagering on the nags. A lot of them are neat and spades over the mere male when the deuces are wild.

I know for a fact that a male friend of mine will not leave the stands when wagering time comes. He peels off what he wants to bet — hands it to the spouse — and she does the rest. They split on the winnings. Not always, but most of the time they go home richer than when they arrived.

Some of the gals, I'm told, bet "sentimental" (these are the younger ones) because they like the looks of a driver, Some, not many, play hunches, but the majority use their own judgment.

Speaking of hunches an elderly lady friend of mine who lives "in the county" told me of an instance that occurred years ago just prior to the running of the — at that time — Kiwi Handicap.

"Despite the fact," she said, "that his lady was an expectant mother, she insisted on attending the classic with me at the old race track in Toronto.

"The lady and her husband drove to Toronto and when nearing the track they noticed scrawled in schoolboy printing in chalk on a fence the words "Maternal Pride."

"She clutched her husbands arm and shrilled 'That's It! That's the horse.'

"The husband bet the bundle on Maternal Pride — and you guessed it — the horse won at 100-1 odds. The baby was named 'Betsy'."

From the Belleville Minor Hockey Association comes word that "Due to the lack of interest at the annual general meeting held on April 26, it was decided to hold the election of officers for a future meeting."

This meeting has been called for the Recreation Centre on Monday, May 29th. The note says further, "Due to the growth of the association it had become more important than ever to elect a strong executive."

According to a contributed story in this newspaper covering the first meeting, the writer said that four were nominated for the office of president — and all declined to stand.

Peter Crowle, the demon publicity man for the Parsons Cleaners soccer club says a colorful tournament has been planned for June 17th and 18th on the new field at Zwick's Island.

The tournament will bring together teams from Belleville, Kingston, Camp Borden and Toronto. More about this later.

This may sound like a lot of "baloney," in fact it is. Down Bloo Bonnets way is Montreal Cicero's racing way called L'Il Eddy who thrives — get ready — on bologna sandwiches. Eddy will eat any kind of sandwich but bologna is his favorite dish.

"He'll eat anything," says trainer Pat Sanio. "When I got him I said I would make an Italian horse out of him by feeding him spaghetti and meat balls. And you know what? He ate them, too."

Eddy once ate his groom's lunch two days in a row. They had to send out for refills. But the bologna feed is paying off. Eddy has won three of five races and earned over $15,000 the past two years.

Romulus; Quite A Nag

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Romulus Hanover and Nardin's Byrd are even money choices for tonight's $34,500 battle of the Brandywine Pace at Brandywine Race track.

Romulus Hanover, winner of harness racing's richest trotting race the $178,084 Messenger Stake, and Nardin's Byrd, the leading two-year-old a year ago with winnings of $136,281, head a nine-horse field.

Best of All was quoted at 7 to 5 as the early second choice. Best of All finished 2½ lengths behind Romulus Hanover two weeks ago in the Messenger at Roosevelt Raceway. Nardin's Byrd was third, 2½ lengths farther back.

Other entries include Reboop's Jack, King Omaha, Laberace Hanover, Brown Smoke, Bullet Star and Anchor Lad.

The Tracks

NEW YORK (AP)—The smaller daily double payoff in Aqueduct's history turned up Friday when Chester Marcini and Salad Bowl returned $8.80 after winning the first and second races.

Both were odds-on choice with Chester Marcini paying $3.20 for to and Salad Bowl $3.60. The previous low at Aqueduct was $5.20 paid Oct. 6, 1965 by A Little Giddy and Juponis.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Romeo Hanover, one of harness racing's brightest stars, won his 20th straight race by taking the $22,000 Dan Patch Pace at Yonkers Raceway in easy fashion Friday night.

Reined by George Sholty, the four-year-old went the mile in 2:01 in beating True Duane by 1½ lengths. Cardigan Bay duelled for the early lead with Romulus, but weakened in the stretch and finished third.

Off the 1-to-4 favorite, Romeo Hanover paid $2.60, $2.40 and $2.20 in raising his lifetime earnings to $567,263.

True Duane returned $5 and $3.40, with Cardigan Bay $2.60 to show.

Bauer's Birds Zoom Into 2nd Place

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Here come the Orioles.

Somewhat sluggish from a stumbling start, Baltimore has weaved its way up through the American League standings and today Hank Bauer's defending world champions are breathing the heady air of third place.

The Birds won their ninth game in the last 12 Friday night, nipping Boston 4-3 on strong relief pitching by Moe Drabowsky.

In other American League games, Cleveland edged New York 4-3, Minnesota blanked Kansas City 5-0, Detroit battered Washington 10-5 and California split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning 7-3 before losing 2-1.

Baltimore jumped out to a 4-0 lead and Dave McNally struck out seven Boston hitters in the first four innings.

But the Red Sox knocked him out in the fifth with run-scoring singles by Reggie Smith and Mike Ryan. That brought on Drabowsky, and the veteran reliever allowed only one hit the rest of the way.

Drabowsky got credit for the victory, his third this season and ninth straight over two years with the Orioles.

Dave Johnson scored Baltimore's first run after a first-inning double and drove in two more with a single in the fourth.

Charlie Smith's two - base throwing error in the eighth inning set up Cleveland's winning run against the Yankees.

Joe Azcue rapped a sharp grounder to third and when Smith threw wild on the bit, Azcue raced all the way to third. Pedro Gonzalez followed with a base hit.

Max Alvis accounted for the first three Cleveland runs with a third - inning home run against loser Fritz Peterson. Steve Hargan, who went the distance for the victory, allowed all three Yankee runs in the second when New York bunched five singles.

The Twins jolted Jim Nash for three runs in the first inning and got five-hit pitching from Jim Merritt to blank the Athletics.

Minnesota loaded the bases with none out in the first, but Nash seemed on the verge of escaping the jam when he struck out Harmon Killebrew and got Tony Oliva on a pop fly. But he walled Bob Allison on four pitches, forcing in one run, and then Rich Rollins punched a two-run single.

Killebrew smacked a two-run homer in the fifth and Merritt breezed to his second victory, striking out nine.

The Tigers battered five Washington pitchers for 14 hits and came from behind to rip the Senators.

Dick McAuliffe tagged three hits for Detroit and Dave Wickersham pitched five innings of one-hit relief to earn the victory.

Washington jumped on starter Joe Sparma for three runs in the first inning on four hits, a hit batsman and a sacrifice fly. Sparma gave up two more runs before Wickersham took over in the fourth.

Don Mincher clouted a three-run homer and Pete Cimino hurled 7 2-3 innings of scoreless relief as the Angels took the White Sox in the opener.

Mincher's shot highlighted a four-run California first, and Chicago trailed all the way.

The White Sox gained the split when Ron Hansen's eighth inning sacrifice fly snapped a 1-1 tie in the nightcap.

Barber, Stockton Share Lead

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A perennial "bridesmaid" and a brand new "bride" — Miller Barber and Dave Stockton — shared the second-round lead after a windy Friday in the Oklahoma City open golf tournament.

Barber, whose only tour victory has been the 1964 Cajun Classic, and Stockton, who collected his first tournament triumph last week at Colonial's Memorial Invitational, battered the gusty winds for two-round totals of two-under-pars 142.

Gary Player, Billy Casper, George Archer, Rex Baxter Jr. and Jim Colbert all were one stroke back with 143.

Barber has won $18,653 on the tour this year with his best finish a fourth-place tie in the Texas Open.

Stockton fired a 71 Friday.

Stockton and Barber were in an uneasy first place, with 27 golfers within five shots of them.

Only nine golfers were shooting par or better, as the cutoff soared to 152, highest on the tour this year.

Casper, shooting his first subpar round in the last two tournaments, carved a 69 as he used only 28 putts and had eight one-putt greens.

Aces Get Europe Jaunt

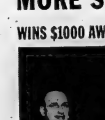
SASKATOON (CP) — The executive committee of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association Friday selected Drummondville Eagles and Kingston Aces for European tours next season.

Drummondville, Allan Cup champions, will compete in the Abeserre Trophy tournament in Sweden and play two games in both Finland and West Germany.

Kingston, beaten by Drummondville in the Canadian senior hockey semi - finals, will play in the Spengler tournament in Switzerland and a tournament in Gotenberg, Sweden.

Both clubs will leave on their 21-day tours Christmas night and play their first games in Europe Dec. 27.

In a post-annual meeting session, the executive committee decided to hold the CAHA semi-annual meeting in Toronto the weekend of Jan. 20.



President Fred Page of Vancouver named W. F. (Jimmy) Anderson of Trail, B.C., as chairman of the CAHA rules committee. Lorne Cook of Kingston and Harry Paxton of Portage La Prairie, Man. — are committee members.

Beats Dodgers 4-1

Senor Juan Chalks Up 8th Victory

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Juan Marichal exclaims the Los Angeles Dodgers, it's a Candlestick Park breeze.

But whenever—and wherever—Roberto Clemente and Cincinnati Reds run into each other, it's a fight for survival.

Marichal became the major leagues' first eight-game winner Friday night by scattering six hits as San Francisco Giants trimmed the visiting Dodgers 4-1.

Clemente, meanwhile, continued his one - man crusade against Cincinnati by stroking a bases-loaded single in the 12th inning that gave Pittsburgh Pirates a 6-5 nod over the National League leaders.

In other NL action, Philadelphia topped St. Louis 7-4 on Don Lock's three-run homer, New York nipped Atlanta 1-0 on Don

JUAN MARICHAL

Cardwell's three - hitter and Houston flattened Chicago 17-4 in a club-record scoring spree.

In taming the Dodgers for the 16th time in 14 Candlestick Park decisions, Marichal ran his winning string to eight after three setbacks at the start of the season. The Dominican dandy has beaten the Dodgers twice this year.

Clemente, the league's leading hitter, settled an 11-day-old score with Cincinnati by breaking up the extra - inning struggle at Pittsburgh. When the clubs opened a three-game series at Cincinnati May 15, Clemente drove in seven runs with three homers and a double, only to come out on the short end of an 8-7, 10-inning decision.

Home runs by Jim Hart, in the second inning, and Ollie Brown, in the fourth, made Marichal's job so easy that he blanked the Dodgers until the eighth, when Willie Davis' run-scoring single averted a shutout.

The Reds, however, gave Clemente a dizzy run - for his money. He singled in the first inning, was robbed of an extra-base hit by right fielder Tommy Harper in the third, and chopped a hard grounder in the fifth that got through shortstop Leo Cardenas for a two-run error.

With the score tied 2-2 in the seventh, the Pirates' superstar struck out. With the game deadlocked 4-4 in the ninth, he reached base on another error by Cardenas but was thrown out at the plate trying to score from second on a passed ball.

Finally, after Cincy reliever Darrell Osteen loaded the bases on a walk and hit two batters in the 12th, Clemente delivered the hit to left field that broke a 5-5 tangle.

Lock capped a four-run Philadelphia rally in the eighth inning with his three-run blast after getting a life when Cards second baseman Phil Gagliano misjudged his foul pop outside first base.

Johnny Callison crashed a pair of homers for the Phillies and Rich Allen singled across the tying run in the eighth before Lock connected.

The Mets' Cardwell made Jerry Buchek's second - inning home run stand up against the Braves' who have scored in only one inning of their last three starts and have had just eight hits during that stretch.

The Astros walloped four homers, good for 10 runs, in topping their previous high of 16 runs, scored against the Mets in 1962. Rusty Staub and Joe Morgan hit three-run homers while Jim Wynn and Ron Davis belted two-run shots.

Boucher Renames League

REGINA (CP)—Frank Boucher, commissioner of the Canadian Major Junior Hockey League, announced Friday that the league is being renamed the Western Canada Junior Hockey League.

The new name complies with the wishes of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. The CMJHL operated independently of the CAHA last season—the first time the two groups agreed on a reconciliation in Saskatoon last weekend.

The new loop will have at least 10 teams.

A Course Is A Course-But This One?

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) Come in, Miss Twitchell and bring your book—it's time for an open letter to Arnie, Jack and the rest of the boys on the tour.

Gentlemen, If you are considering taking in the $200,000 world golf tournament this fall I'll be warned—you will be playing a course that few, if any, of you have seen before.

And it won't do much good to sneak up for a preliminary peek because the course doesn't really exist as such.

The championship layout is made up of 18 tough holes taking in part of the east and west courses at the new Board of Trade club just north of Toron'o.

To give you some idea of what's in store Sept. 1-4, the tournament sponsors took a group of writers around it the other day.

In brief, the front nine has more sand than a warehouse full of egg-timers and 81 all tastefully arranged in Jayne Mansfield-shaped bunkers.

The back nine is designed to look like Venice in flood season.

And hilly? There's even a gas-driven jinney to haul you up that last precipitous incline home from the 18th. By then you may need it because this layout goes 7,024 yards. Par is 71.

Local pros who accompanied the writers called it "a brute-force course." The consensus was that there are three birdie holes on the front nine—No. 1, a 506-yard par 5 that, dogleg left; No. 4, a 36-yard par 4 that cranks sharply left, and No. 6, 524 yards and par 5.

The traps are designed to catch the 225-yard hitter so most of you will fly over them with ease. The greens are something else. Some of them are saddle-backed, others are multi-tiered and all are placed to roll your ball gently toward a bunker. In some cases there are greens requiring an up-hill-downhill putt.

Pro Al Balding says the golfer who gets . . . the wrong tier on three two-tier greens is "looking at three putts."

"Club judgment is going to be a factor—there are five clubs difference front to back on many of these greens."

NO BIRDIES

The back nine is even longer and pro Moe Norman, looking at the eight par 4s and one 3, says "there isn't a birdie hole in the lot."

The par 3 is the 177-yard 12th and it's solid water almost from tee to green. Shank one left and you're into a reservoir. Put one to the right and it's in the Humber River.

The 13th crosses the Humber twice in a manner calculated to catch your second shot. The 14th also cuts the river in two places and they've moved the tee back into a chute in the woods; if the trees don't get you, the water probably will.

For the writers and pros, the 13th was a symbol of the entire course with three golf balls nesting on a mid-river sandbar.

The 15th is relatively easy. Play a slight fade to the right and you're in good lie for this 370-yard par 4. Fade a bit too much and it's back into the old Humber again. Play it safe and straight and you have a comeback shot right toward the water.

And keep the ball low whenever you can. The wind sometimes blows northwest across these river holes and sometimes it blows southeast. Always it blows strong.

It's a long course, it demands concentration and it's hilly. You will be tired when you reach that last hill.

Petes Tie Brampton

BRAMPTON (CP) — Peterborough and Brampton battled to a 4-4 tie in overtime in Ontario Lacrosse Association senior A action Friday.

Peterborough led 3-2 when Brampton's Mike Finnigan sent the game into overtime with 24 seconds remaining in regulation time.

Wayne Thompson scored for Brampton in overtime making the score 4-3 until Jim Peterson got the tying goal with 14 seconds left.

Jim Richardson got two Brampton goals. Bill Armour, Joe Todd and Ken Ruttan scored for Peterborough in regulation time.

Chuvalo Stops German

COCOA, Fla. (AP)—Canadian heavyweight Champion George Chuvalo of Toronto stopped Willie Besmanoff by a technical knockout in the second round of a scheduled 10-round exhibition bout Friday night.

Besmanoff, who weighed 215, originally was the promoter of the fight but came out of retirement when the scheduled fighter, Freddie Sullivan, backed out.

GEORGE CHUVALO

Chuvalo, fifth-ranked heavyweight contender, scored his first knockdown early in the second round with a right hook. Besmanoff took the mandatory eight count.

Late in the second, Chuvalo landed an overhand right to Besmanoff's forehead, putting him on the deck again.

Besmanoff had announced his retirement after Chuvalo, 29, scored a technical knockout in the third round of their April 4 bout in Miami Beach, Fla. Chuvalo fought at 216 pounds.

Picton Clips Ellis 7-2

Errors played a major part in a tight pitching duel at Alemite Park last night as Picton clipped Belleville Ellis 7-2 in the Lakeshore Midget Softball League opener.

Ferguson on the Picton mound and Belleville's Scotty Reid hooked up in a tight pitching battle. Winner Ferguson gave up just three hits, struck out 16 and walked three. Reid allowed six hits, also struck out 16 and passed three but five errors marred his effort. Three coming in the first inning when Picton took a 4-0 lead.

For Picton Davidson tripled, Frederick doubled, Jones singled twice and Hicks and Walmsley once each. Jamie Hunter, Waite and Storms had Belleville's singles.

Belleville visits Oshawa for an 8:00 o'clock game tonight. wtbellall

KNUDSON'S WORLD OF GOLF

Golf is unique in that a large group of men travel from city to city all year long playing in tournaments, being friendly one moment then—absolutely for themselves once they step on a course.

That large group of men — the men who play this game for a living — is made up of many different personalities. Take Julius Boros, for instance. He's Mr. Leisure on a course and off it. Big Julie does everything at a slow, relaxed pace and on a course he has a slow, easy, fluid swing. There is nothing in the world that could make Julie hurry. A golfer's swing, believe it or not, often is a key to his personality.

Chi Chi Rodriguez, with his hot Latin blood, has a somewhat Latin swing. He plays almost the same way he is off a course — every move is a quick one, in direct contrast to Julie Boros.

Here in Canada we have Moe Norman. Moe doesn't like to stand still on or off a course. Off a course he's scurrying around always on the move. In a game of golf, he walks up to a ball and whap! Then he's rushing along to the next shot.

Gene Littler, who won the Canadian Open two years ago, is a quiet guy. You hardly notice him in a crowd or on a course. He just keeps going at his own, steady pace. Gene The Machine, they call him.

Take Arnold Palmer. On a course he's an aggressive, dynamic type of a guy. In business, he's the same. Arnie has a positiveness in him that makes him attempt shots no other golfer would try. He makes putts that no other golfer could make.

Jack Nicklaus? Well, the Bear lets his golfing ability speak for him. He just kind of moves along and says: "Yes, I play golf for a living," and leaves it at that. Just as soon as you see him hit a ball you know why he didn't have to explain or go into detail.

And, if I were going to call somebody Mr. Determination, it would be little Gary Player of South Africa. I played with Gary in 1961, my first full season on the tour, and his attitude was different than anyone I had met. Arnold—Palmer made Player what he is today. It was simple. When Player came over here, he went into a tournament with one thing in mind — beat Palmer. He had figured that if he kept trying to beat Palmer he was trying to beat the best and that it would pay off in the long run. That same year he won the Masters. Now, of course, he has added Nicklaus to his lift. Player started off with far less potential than either Palmer or Nicklaus. But through concentration and training, he has proven himself.

Outdoor Tips And Tricks

BY BOB BLAIND

Last weekend was a busy one for the fishermen and myself despite the weather.

Friday and Saturday more outdoorsmen than ever before braved the cold, windy weather in quest of the warry fish.

For a while it seemed to be half the population of the Quinte area heading for their favorite lake or stream.

The pickerel and pike locally have been hitting pretty fair.

At West Lake, on the Wellington side, evening fishing has been excellent.

Fishing from the government dock at the end of Belleville St., Bob Burton hooked a nice 7 lb., 8 oz. pike and four fair pickerel one evening. Any night now Bob can be found eagerly fishing in "his" spot using a rebel lure.

Many local fishermen have also had good luck. Most of these fish have been caught on rebel or rapala type lure.

In the Moira River, off Victoria Park, 14 year old Jerry Hannah caught a 3¼ walleye on a T-spoon, last Saturday afternoon.

At Moira Lake, George Hammet and Harry Ridley took four walleyes and a pike Monday morning.

These boys used minnows as bait. Bob Emerson of the local Fire Department also took a trio of good pickerel on live bait at his home lake.

Doctors Pearce and Bates, along with Keith, Allen and Jeffrey Pearce junior, had a couple of good days on the weekend, fishing for speckled trout within 20 miles of Belleville, catching one 3 lb. 1 oz. beauty and four others all at the 2-pound mark. Excellent fish in any waters.

It was cold and windy in Algonquin Park, but Harry Hall, father Ed, Jack Wardhaugh and Jack Ruttan brought home their 7 out of nice lakers from Opeongo Lake, one a 13 lb. 3 oz. fish. The boys had wind, rain and snow to contend with and also had trouble keeping Mr. Herron out of their food but all in all had a nice fishing holiday.

Starting on Thursday the sichtereil were really hiking along the dams on the Trent River, mainly on minnows and worms and although those fish were not large they seem to be plentiful.

Anyone catching a big fish would be wise in enter it in the Molson Big Fish Contest, an annual affair, run by the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters. No entry fee is charged and cash prizes total $3,300. The contest has prizes for large and smallmouth bass, musky, northern pike, walleye, lake, rainbow and speckled trout. Entry forms are available at most tackle shops.

Jarvis Wins Tourney

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Bob Jarvis, 22-year-old St. Catharines high school teacher, won the Ontario Champion of Champions golf tournament here Friday with a one-under-par 71.

Jarvis, former Ontario - Quebec Athletic Association champion, won the fifth renewal over a field of 76 provincial club champions.

Jarvis hit 15 greens, used 34 putts and was off the fairway just twice en route to his one-stroke victory over Ian Thomas of London.

There was a gap of three strokes between Thomas and three golfers tied for third place. In at 75 were Greg Patterson of Mount Hope, John (Bingo) Watson of Windsor and Ken Doig of Seaforth.

With The Trotters

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Crystal Frost registered a 1¼ - length victory in the featured ninth race—a $1,500 invitation trot—at Western Fair Raceway Friday night, running the mile in 2:08 and returning $23.80.

Biggest exacter of the spring meeting—$498.20 — was paid in the fourth when Chris Veado and Petunia Lad finished in that order.

There were fourteen $1 tickets sold on the combination.

TO DEFEND TITLE

DALLAS (AP)—Curtis Cokes will defend his world welterweight boxing championship here June 27 against undefeated Gypsy Joe Harris of Philadelphia. Cokes will receive $35,000, or 42 per cent of the total receipts, and Harris will get 15 per cent.

Red Wings Crush Bisons 10-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rochester Red Wings displayed awesome power Friday night in crushing Buffalo Bisons 10-3 in the International League.

The league leaders hammered four home runs, including two grand - slammers, and three triples in expanding their lead over the second-place Bisons to three games.

Third - place Syracuse Chiefs however ran into a 12-hit Toronto Maple Leafs attack and lost 8-4, while fourth-place Columbus Jets went down 3-2 to Jacksonville Suns. Richmond Braves and Toledo Mud Hens split a doubleheader, the Braves winning 4-2 before losing 5-1.

Dave May and Mickey McGuire hit the grand slam homers for Rochester and John Mason, Bob Floyd and John Scruggs hit successive triples for them in the sixth inning.

The Maple Leafs bombed their attack against five Syracuse pitchers, coming up with four runs in each of the second and fourth innings. Third baseman John Ryan set the pace with three singles in five appearances.

Relief pitcher Dick Selma singled and later scored in the 13th inning on Amos Otis' triple to give Jacksonville their victory. Otis earlier singled in the Suns' first run and Hawk Taylor homered for the other.

Wayne Redmond rapped a two-run homer to give Pat Dobson his fourth victory of the season for Toledo in their second game against Richmond. The Braves won the opener when reliefer Cecil Upshaw got Chris Cannizzaro to hit into a game-ending double play with the bases loaded in the ninth inning.

Released Patients Isolated

KINGSTON (CP) — Health Minister Matthew Dymond said Friday that less than two per cent of all patients released from Ontario Mental Hospitals in the last 30 months have been fully accepted in their own homes.

Speaking at the opening of a remodelled wing at the Ontario Hospital here, he told a gathering of nurses, psychiatrists and civic leaders that about 40 of the 4,000 patients released over 2½ years have returned to their homes.

"And you can't blame the government for that," he said. "The government can't legislate morality or human behavior or attitude."

Dr. Dymond said society must be educated to understand that mental patients were once "active, productive members of their community and can be again."

The remodelled wing contains a child treatment unit designed to house 16 patients in the 6-to-12 age bracket.

Six similar units are to be opened shortly in other Ontario Hospitals.

Israeli On Peace Flight

LONDON (Reuters) — Abie Nathan, the Israeli who hit world headlines with a one-man "peace flight" to Egypt a year ago, left Friday on a similar mission—into the heart of the Middle East enemy.

In a small, 11-year-old single-seater aircraft he took off from Biggin Hill Airfield south of London for Cairo or Damascus.

The plane, an Auster, is considerably less antiquated than the 1927 Steerman in which Nathan, 39, flew from Israel to Port Said Feb. 28 last year. His aim was to get peace talks started between Israel and the Arab countries, but the Egyptians sent him straight back.

A former bomber pilot who owns a restaurant in Tel Aviv, Nathan is seeking funds to build a mixed Jewish - Arab school straddling the Israel - Jordan border in Nazareth.

He hopes the publicity from his flight will bring in cash for the school.

Nathan bought his Auster for £1,200 ($3,600) and had it painted white, with the word "peace" on it in English, Arabic and Hebrew.

When he reaches Cyprus—which he hopes will take about five days with stopovers—he will decide whether to fly to Cairo or Damascus.

It's Fun, It Pays

Ludy Pudluk, 24, an Eskimo from Resolute Bay, N.W.T., finds soapstone-carving a hobby that pays off. An ornament selling at Resolute for $30 would return $10 or $12 to the carver. But Pudluk, in Edmonton to publicize Eskimo carving, says it remains just a hobby. His first love is hunting. (CP Photo)

Adaptation of German Play Wins Drama Festival Praise

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The Broken Jug, fifth play of the 1967 Dominion Drama Festival, is an example of adaptation to which Canadian playwrights should devote more attention, adjudicator Guy Beaulne said Friday night.

The Broken Jug, performed by the Guelph Little Theatre, was adapted from a German classic by Donald Harron, Toronto actor and writer.

Mr. Beaulne said at the start of the week-long festival, which ends tonight, that he would devote more time than usual each night to analyzing the authors and their plays.

Guelph's entry drew a mixture of praise and criticism from Mr. Beaulne who said the play was "a well balanced performance, with good acting." But it was often underplayed and "missed much of the juice of comedy."

Mr. Beaulne said the set, costumes, makeup, grouping and other aspects of the performance were generally good. The actors seemed initially to be a bit afraid of the audience.

He mentioned Terry Doyle, in the leading role as Judge Adam, whom Mr. Beaulne said "underplayed the character too much."

Mr. Doyle lacked the build, the age, the "loudness and the peasant quality that definitely characterize the judge."

His warmest praise was for Phyllis Dodson, as Jessie, whom he described as "very good, definitely in character and very interesting."

The French-language play Le Pendu by Montrealer Robert Gurik winds up the festival tonight.

TROOP THE COLOR

OTTAWA (CP) — Five hundred red rifles crackled on Parliament Hill Friday as long red ranks of Royal Military College cadets trooped the color before Governor General Michener. The rifle-firing ceremony capped a 90-minute display. Officer cadets Carryl Potter of Victoria, B.C., Dixon Keaney, Ottawa, carried the colors followed by an honor guard of 75 graduating class cadets commanded by Rick Savin, Oakville, Ont.

To Your Good Health

Breakfast Should Include Protein

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss the need for a complete breakfast for school children. My wife refuses to get up and give them a complete breakfast, just some cereal and milk. — J. W.

Breakfast is one of the most important meals of the day.

It should contain some protein, which is why bacon and eggs, or just eggs, or meat, or in some places, fish are such popular breakfast dishes.

The question has been studied a good deal, and has been established that efficiency depends to a great degree on a good breakfast.

In your case the youngsters are getting some protein from the cereal and milk. While it may not constitute a complete breakfast it is a lot better than no breakfast at all.

A decent breakfast becomes a good habit; skimping on breakfast becomes a bad habit. That's one reason why younger children should have the habit of a good breakfast encouraged.

I guess every doctor can tell you of repeated cases of "tired women" who, on questioning, admitted that they didn't eat breakfast — and found themselves more alert and energetic once they were persuaded that breakfast is important.

The cereal and milk is not an ideal breakfast. It would be improved by including more protein. The youngsters also should have tomato or citrus juice because it provides vitamin C, which we all should have daily, and because it also contains some sugar and ready energy.

Dear Dr. Molner: A close relative has mononucleosis. As I understand it, this affects the liver and pancreas and complete rest is the only cure. And the germ never leaves the body, but restores any time you are in a run-down condition. Could you give more information on this, or do you have a booklet I could send for? — Mrs. M. F.

What you have been told is exaggerated. Yes, the patient must have rest, and the liver may be enlarged, but it is incorrect that "the germ never leaves the body." With proper care to guard against a relapse or complications, the patient recovers fully, and the germ (apparently a virus) is cure for good.

Yes, I have a booklet. Ask for it "mononucleosis." What is: What to Do." Send 20 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun - Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., for a copy.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 21, not married but I made a mistake by having sexual relationship. I did not bleed when having the first intercourse. Am I normal? Most girls say they did bleed. It is beginning to worry me because I am planning to marry soon. — D. F.

Lack of bleeding doesn't mean anything. There's a small membrane, called the hymen, which usually is broken and bleeds. But the texture of the membrane varies considerably. It rather often is broken in childhood while roughhousing. In ignorance, a girl may even consider an unbroken hymen proof of virginity, and a broken hymen as proof of the opposite. It isn't so. Quite a goodly proportion of girls rupture or partly rupture the hymen while they are still children.

• • •

Note to Mrs. A. M.: Your daughter is not the first person I've heard of who is sensitive to chlorine in a swimming pool. I would suggest that she get a letter from her doctor to avoid the trouble at school.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

U.S. Device Can Locate Men From Air by Their Body Odor

DI AN, South Vietnam (AP) — The perils of body odor are normally associated with the social scene but in Vietnam a man can get killed if he sweats too much.

His nemesis could be an experimental American device nicknamed the "people sniffer."

It picks up the odors of men digging foxholes under a thick jungle canopy, or camping below a river, and shows the intensity of the smell on a meter.

A skilled operator, flying above in a helicopter, can map at a glance the area of a troop concentration and bring air and artillery fire to bear on invisible targets.

U.S. field commanders hope that the "people sniffer" may help to roll back the Viet Cong's jungle cover.

The device is the latest in a line of technological gadgetry that has taken on bizarre overtones, even to the extent of attempting to use hungry bed bugs to detect a hidden enemy.

U.S. Army chemical-war specialists, dealing with the smell-log device, have reported the experiments a success so far.

"There is no question about it now—it works," says Lt.-Col. Alvin Hylton, Ist Division chemical officer.

It is known as an "E-63 manpack personnel detector."

The device failed on the ground, mainly because of its bulk and the sensitive nature of the probe that could pick up 40% different smells. Unless the lead man in a unit carried it, and upwind at that, the device gave the recording his own unit's odors.

Someone hit upon the idea of attaching it to a helicopter and flying over the jungle at rotor level, eliminating competing odors. Experiments showed that at speeds of 100 miles an hour the probe could easily detect the presence of ammonia and carbon in the air.

Ammonia floats in clouds above any group of men, particularly in South Vietnam's normally humid 90-100 degree heat. The carbon particles come from campfires.

The ammonia is snatched from the air by the device's bugs to detect a hidden enemy.

U.S. Marine Lost 9 Days in BC Bush

(CP) — A U.S. Marine Corps private staggered out of rugged bushland north of this Vancouver suburb Friday after nine days in the wilderness.

Andrew Hickman, 20, a private first class, was found by a helicopter crew for B.C. Hydro and Power Authority. He was reported in satisfactory condition, despite going without solid food for several days.

Pte. Hickman, who is from Vancouver, said in an interview later the things that worried him most was the fact he was for it Thursday morning and three days ceaseless in returning made it Friday afternoon.

Doctors Study Possibility Leukemia May Be Contagious

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Is leukemia contagious?

A small, concrete blockhouse, erected near Decatur, Ga., may help find the answer.

Since 1957, the structure has been occupied at different times by three families. And three persons, one from each of the families, have developed leukemia.

Two of the persons, a seven-year-old boy and a 36-year-old woman, are dead. The third is confined in a hospital.

The three cases, termed "the exception rather than the rule" by doctors, is one of three being studied by the Communicable Diseases Centre in Atlanta.

The others occurred at Prairie Village, Kan., and North Kansas City, Mo.

"We're looking at it from a virus-research point of view," said Dr. Clark Heath, chief of the centre's leukemia section. "However, we are not saying leukemia is a virus. There are no laboratory tests to back it up. There are no lab tests to apply."

Heath was asked whether the three "death house" cases now under study represent a new discovery in leukemia research.

"There have been scattered reports on this kind of thing before," he said. "Certainly there is such a thing as case clusters in communities. But we don't know if it's due to chance or something else. There has been no definite link between the cases."

In the Georgia case, the seven-year-old boy was first to be struck down. In 1958, some 13 months after the family had left the small home near Douglas, he was found to have acute lymphocytic leukemia.

The woman's family occupied the dwelling next, only a few months after the boy's family left.

In 1963, after living in the house for six years, the 36-year-old woman developed the disease. It, too, was diagnosed as acute lymphocytic leukemia.

The current case involves a five-year-old boy. His family has occupied the house since 1964.

Only two families are affected on the Kansas and Missouri reports. The Kansas case involves a 15-year-old girl and a 41-year-old man, the Missouri case a 13-year-old boy and a 28-year-old woman.

"So far, we're still chalking up these cases to chance," Heath reported. "However, we are not ruling out anything—including a virus."

Some officials have indicated virus research may prove important in developing a cure for the disease.

Randall Warns Tariff Cutting May Mean Change

MONTEBELLO, Que. (CP)—Stanley Randall, Ontario's minister of economics and development, said Friday night some Canadian industries will have to be restructured or replaced by more competitive operations because of recent Kennedy Round negotiations.

"The aim of Ontario's economic policy is to encourage those industries that have both international and domestic potential," he told he British-Canadian Trade Association, "and to help them to adjust in a position to stand the cuts in tariff protection."

Mr. Randall said countries involved in the Kennedy round have agreed at an over-all reduction of 35 per cent of the average level of their tariffs.

With-Canada's "most favored nation" tariff that applies to almost all ia trading partners except the Commonwealth, the tariff on steel and steel pipe imported into Canada will be reduced by 50 per cent over the next five years.

"By the same token, the U.S. and other countries are granting us concessions, which are expected to be revealed in June.

"Regarding imports, we have to be extremely careful on which areas we make concessions because these imports are going to affect our domestic industries for better or for worse.

"It might well be that some of our less viable industries will either have to be restructured or replaced by other more competitive industries.

He said that to keep up with other highly industrialized countries, Canada has to find new ways to operate in a highly competitive world.

He expressed concern "because Canada's secondary manufactured goods . . . have accounted for only about one-fifth of Canada's exports while at the same time three-fifths of Canada's imports are secondary manufactured goods."

Another area of concern was Britain's intention to enter the European Common Market.

Expo Is Ready For U.S. Crowds

MONTREAL (CP)—Expo 67 braced for an American invasion today by thousands of Memorial Day weekenders from the northern United States expected to bring the world's fair total attendance over the 8,000,000 mark.

To counter-act long lineups at restaurants and snack bars, facilities for hot lunches, Automatic mobile canteens will go into operation in park areas while 2,000 extra seats have been installed in already-existing restaurants.

Although the great American influx was not expected to reach serious proportions until school closes at the end of June, a substantial number of them have already been taking in the fair.

A research team, which interviewed 3,000 visitors in the last week, found that 40 per cent of them came from points outside the Montreal area. Of this non-Montreal number, nearly 40 per cent were from the U.S.

Mr. Beaubien also said that financially the fair is doing better than expected. . . .

Revenues from sales of admission passports, commission on concessionaires' sales, parking fees, charges to and rentals from concessionaires, sale of tickets for the entertainment program and revenues from the amusement area were estimated at $125,000,000 for the six months lifetime of the fair. This would be roughly $20,000,000 a month.

But incomplete reports on the fair's first month showed that revenue had exceeded the estimate.

"We've done better than that, and the full month figure is not yet in," said Mr. Beaubien.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Set Wife Up in Business, Perhaps She Will Hire You

By THOMAS COLLINS

One way for a man to find something to do in retirement is to have his wife set up a business of her own and give him a job.

Walter J. Haney did this. And he's having a fine time of it.

The Haneys, with retirement coming on, had no particular sentiment for the city neighborhood where they had lived for 14 years. They weren't socially inclined. They had no deadless in friends around.

They thought they might find a richer life, and a more economical one, by moving to a small frame house on three acres of land they had spotted 11 miles out of town. The property faced on a cut-off road just off a four-lane highway. They bought it for $6,000 less than they got for their city house.

"Then," says Mr. Haney, "we thought of Sarah's color lored glass . . ."

His wife had been collecting it off and on for years, kept up with antique shows and read antique magazines.

"She had everything from vinegar bottles to buttermilk bottles, all of it in color and all of it gathering dust on the shelves. I asked her if she might be interested in opening a small shop on our new property and buy and sell glass to her heart's content. . ."

At first she was horrified, Mr. Haney says, but in about a week she was intrigued.

"At the rear of our house on the new property, 100 yards or so, was a small knoll in clear view of the highway. We decided that I would build there a simple one - room shop, relying on my own crude carpentry and the help of nearby farmers. We wouldn't need water, a restroom or heat. I could run an electric wire from the house for lights and a floor heater . . ."

Mrs. Haney began searching her magazines for prices to place on her glass. Mr. Haney, going under contract to build the shop and property manager, assumed a new post as vice-president in charge of promotion and advertising.

To the delight of his wife he proposed that the roof of their little shop be a bright blue, and that the front and sides be painted in alternating stripes of bright red and yellow. "You could see it in the next county," Mrs. Haney said.

Then, for a few extra dollars, he had small cards printed — in blue, red, and yellow stripes — to advertise their shop, which they called "The Glass House."

"I took these cards and went two hours down the highway in scores of local stores — many motorists like to stop about every two hours. I went to filling stations, motels, and restaurants. I made deals with them to pass out our cards to people coming our way, and I would take out display ads to our customers who were coming their way. I had no trouble making the deals.

"Then I painted two roadside signs, again in blue, red and yellow stripes, and made deals with farmers to place them in each direction two miles from our cut-off road.

"Finally, I placed 'The Glass House' in large red and yellow letters atop our blue roof."

The Haneys began business with considerably less than Mrs. Haney had priced at a total sum of $437. Her stock, in a little over a year, has grown to about $1,200, largely from profits. She tends store from 1 to 5 p.m. seven days a week — "travellers don't like to stop and shop in the mornings," she says. Most of her mornings are spent combing the countryside for more colored glass and going to antique shops.

Mr. Haney manages the property while Mrs. Haney manages the glass. He also keeps books, handles taxes, etc. Meanwhile he is modernizing their country house into a cottage and arguing with his rural neighbors about how to grow gourds.

Nearing End of Voyage

Sir Francis Chichester waves from the deck of his yacht Gipsy Moth IV off St. Mawgan, Cornwall, England, some 400 miles from his starting point at Plymouth. Dismal Week for Investors On Canadian Stock Exchanges

By LARRY DWORKIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A lack of leadership, extremely light trading and disturbing world news added up to another dismal week for investors on Canada's major stock exchanges.

The markets have been in a slump for four consecutive weeks and the prospects for an immediate break appear dim.

The New York Stock Exchange, the traditional North American pace - setter, was rocked this week as tension increased in the Middle East.

The effect wa* felt on Canadian exchanges and Wednesday the Toronto exchange suffered its sharpest daily decline of 1967 when the industrial index slid 2.03 points.

The markets recovered part of the loss Thursday but analysts attributed this to technical factors resulting from an oversold condition.

Also influencing investors is the fact that earnings appear to be advancing more slowly than in 1966.

At Toronto, the industrial index declined 2.09 to 164 and volume for the four-day week was only 9,212,000 shares compared with 13,116,000 shares last week. At Montreal, the index dropped 1.42 to 162.42 and volume fell to 3,634,000 shares compared with 4,681,000 last week.

Analysts said unless there is a sharp increase in trading figures there is little chance of any substantial rally.

The Toronto exchange has been plagued by a sharp decline in trading and as of May 18 the total industrial volume had tumbled to 45,680,000 shares compared with 94,438,000 for the same period last year.

Banks took it on the chin and so Toronto, Imperial-Commerce slid 4¼ to 68¼, Royal 3¼ to 79½, Montreal 2¾ to 65, Toronto-Dominion 2¼ to 63¼ and Nova Scotia ¼ to 141¼.

Brokers could give no reason for the sharp drop in bank issues. However, since the beginning of the year the price of bank stocks has risen sharply.

Other losses went to Chrysler off 2¼ to 44¼, Harding Carpets 2 to 15, ITL Industries 1¼ to 24½, Consolidated Paper 1¼ to 20½ and Steloy ¾ to 22¼.

On the plus side of the ledger, B.C. Sugar rose 2 to 34, CPR and Canadian Breweries and Magna Electronics ¼ each to 7¾ and 20¼.

Consolidated Marbenor highlighted speculative activity, jumping 2.55 to 4.80. The company holds a 21-per-cent interest in Bowden Lake Mines in Manitoba, which announced it has encountered nickel mineralization.

Among base metals, Inco gained 1¼ to 99¼ and Denison 1¼ to 63¾. Noranda declined 1 to 51¼.

Silver issues, which ran up sharp gains last week following a U.S. government announcement that it is restricting sales of the metal, were trimmed in profit-taking.

Siscoe dropped 65 cents to 5.25 and Silverfields 20 cents to 3.75 while Ferron Explorations fell 10 cents to 3.70.

Among western oils, Dome advanced 2 to 55 while Canadian Superior retreated 1¼ to 35¼ and Pacific Pete ¼ to 13¾.

On index, golds were down .90 to 167.01, base metals .01 to 95.37 and western oils 1.84 to 155.02.

At Montreal, utilities were up .13 to 146.86 while banks declined 6.02 to 129.53 and papers 3.02 to 113.97.

Employment News

By J. R. STAVELEY,
Manpower, Counsellor

The local labor demand during the past week showed some improvement with regard to the requirements for additional female workers. This trend did not emphasize any particular economic activity. Moreover, it was not sufficiently strong to make any appreciable difference in the number of women at present seeking permanent or temporary work.

University co-eds report that summer employment opportunities are difficult to obtain.

The continuing unseasonable weather adversely affected the agricultural and construction labor market.

With the present planned construction projects, both buildings and highways, it is considered that, with the advent of warmer spring weather, the labor demand from construction and its allied fields will dominate the local labor market in the immediate months ahead.

The young male undergraduates are more fortunate than the co-eds in having a wide range of employment possibilities open to them. However, unlike recent years during which an engineering course student was preferred by many employers, no such advantage is markedly evident this year.

There is a supply of available workers seeking not only permanent but also temporary and casual work. Employers are invited therefore to list any immediate or future labor requirement with the Canada Manpower Centre, 324 Church St., Belleville.

The following employment opportunities are now available.

In the female division locally an experienced cashier is required by a retail store on a part-time basis. In the communication field a telephone operator is in demand, with position calling for a Grade 12 level of education. Still required is a sales clerk for a ladies' clothing store. Although some experience is preferred it is not mandatory.

A hardware manufacturing company in a nearby city is seeking the services of a qualified secretary to work for the president of the firm. In a neighboring town waitresses for the night shift are needed at a highway inn. In urgent and constant demand are registered nurses and registered nursing assistants. A refresher course would be given for those nurses who have been away from the nursing profession for some time, if a sufficient number applied to resume nursing. Required also are reliable maids and kitchen help.

In the male division locally someone to manage and operate a grain and feed mill is needed. This position necessitates a knowledge of milling and grading various types of grain. It also calls for ability to organize the work load and supervise the staff. The desired education level is at least a Grade 11.

There are numerous opportunities for young men possessing a Grade 12 or better education to enter the banking and retail fields. A few openings are available for commission salesmen. Experienced hospital orderlies are also in demand. A rural co-operative requires an assistant miller for a grist mill. This position calls for two years or more experience in grain and feed mill work and the successful person must be physically fit to lift up to 100 pound bags of grain or feed. An industrial plant has requirements for a qualified machinist, a plant maintenance man and an estimator who has at least five years experience in machine shop and foundry work. There is also a position available for a heat treat truck driver. The qualifications are a Grade 12 level of education, an excellent driving record and ability to pass a medical examination.

If interested in any of these positions, seeking other employment or thinking of re-entering the labor market, contact the Canada Manpower Centre at 324 Church Street, Belleville.

Pickersgill Is Flooded With Transport Queries

OTTAWA (CP) — Transportation problems held the attention of the Commons Friday and Transport Minister Pickersgill's suggestion box overflowed with ways to improve service from coast to coast.

Terry Nugent (PC — Edmonton-Strathcona) blamed the government for allowing air services to lag behind the times, MPs from the East and West Coasts added their complaints about port facilities and many members harped on their local transport headaches.

Under debate were transport department spending estimates covering almost $600,000,000. The Commons is to return to them Monday and, time allowing, move on to the secretary of state's department.

Earlier in the day Prime Minister Pearson reported on his private talks of Thursday with President Johnson saying he and the U.S. leader were both convinced of the need for a United Nations presence along both sides of the troubled border between Israel and the United Arab Republic.

He also said he and the president were in "complete agreement" that the right of peaceful passage must be maintained in the Gulf of Aqaba, which the U.A.R. has closed to Israeli shipping.

Later the prime minister announced that Prime Minister Wilson's scheduled visit next week would be shortened and delayed. He said the British leader will arrive here Thursday afternoon and go on to Washington the following morning.

In the transport debate, Mr. Nugent said there is a "desperate situation in the West as far as air services are concerned." If Air Canada had foreseen the present situation it would not have objected to Canadian Pacific Airlines being given a wider franchise.

Expo 67 was adding to the shortage but the strain would have existed even without the world's fair.

The time has come to consider ways to improve facilities greatly.

Since preservation of the Air Canada "monopoly" had not provided adequate service, "we ought to make sure the routes are thrown open to competition throughout Canada."

Mr. Pickersgill made no opening statement to introduce the estimates and commented only briefly during the day.

His interjected at one point that he was asking the port manager, in Vancouver to release Monday a study of harbor traffic trends prepared by the B.C. Research Council.

Harold Winch (NDP—Vancouver East) and Grant Deachman (L — Vancouver Quadra) had urged the government to work together with private enterprise and the provincial government on development.

Mr. Winch asked Mr. Pickersgill to co-ordinate the plans of private enterprise, the federal and provincial governments so the port could develop efficiently for the next 25 years.

He said Vancouver is becoming the major port in North America and, with the trend by trade with Asia, would become one of the greatest ports in the world. Private industry was ready to invest in port development but was worried by the absence of policy statements by the federal government.

HOME FROM THE SEA — Sir Francis Chichester, 65, who sailed around the world alone in a 53-foot ketch, flashes a happy smile during a news conference in Plymouth, England, at the end of his 28,500-mile voyage. His trip ended at 5:02 p.m. Sunday to the cheers of more than 250,000 persons gathered at the Plymouth shoreline. (AP Photo)

Epic Voyage Ends

Chichester's Moth Flits Into Haven

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)— Sir Francis Chichester, the ancient mariner of the new Elizabethan age, settled down today to enjoying "some of the delights of shore life."

Behind him was an epic 28,-

Bug the 65-year-old seaman said as he stepped ashore Sunday night that he was looking forward to some peace and quiet.

He spent his first night ashore in a second-floor bedroom of a four - storey, white Georgian mansion within sound of the sea. From his bedroom he looked down on a statue of Sir Francis Drake, the first Englishman to sail around the world. He sailed from Plymouth in 1577, during the reign of Queen Elizabeth I.

Elizabeth II sent Chichester a "welcome home" cable which his wife delivered when she and their son Giles, 20, joined him aboard the Gipsy Moth at the entrance to Plymouth Sound. Giles carried two bottles of champagne.

The Royal Western Yacht Club's gun boomed out as the yacht passed the breakwater, and Plymouth erupted.

An armada of small boats scurried around Gipsy Moth. Crewmen in the stately fort crashed out a 10-gun salute. Big ships tooted their sirens, motorists blew their horns.

Some 250,000 spectators cheered, shouted, whistled and sang For He's a Jolly Good Fellow.

Plumes of red, white and blue water cascaded from fire boats.

On Drake Island, in Plymouth Sound, the first of 80 miles of beacons glowed orange against the fast-falling purple dusk to signal Chichester's return. The beacons last burned along the Devon coast nearly four centuries ago, to signal to Drake the sighting of the Spanish armada.

Chichester confounded those who said he would have to be hoisted ashore after his long ordeal. He almost bounced onto land and walked with a jaunty step. He grinned and shook hands with well-wishers.

On his way into the harbor he had signalled the welcoming party to have some food ready. All he had eaten all day was a grapefruit for breakfast. So he was hurried away to a supper of fresh salmon and champagne.

Today's Chuckle

If people learn from their mistakes, we know a few fellows who seem to be getting a fantastic education.

500-mile, single-handed circumnavigation of the world in his 53-foot yacht Gipsy Moth IV. For the 107 days of the outward voyage to Sydney, Australia, and the 119 days of the return voyage around Cape Horn, he was alone with the sea and the sky.

OTTAWA (CP) — Final figures for the 1966 census show Canada's population at 20,014,880 compared with 18,238,247 in 1961, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

AMHERST, N.S. (CP) — One man was reported killed and two other persons were injured early today in the flaming wreckage of two Canadian National Railways freight trains that collided head-on near Maccan, eight miles south of here.

Egypt Shells Kibbutz

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israelis and Arabs exchanged fire for 40 minutes today along the tense Gaza Strip, an army spokesman said. One Israeli was slightly injured.

The army said Egyptian positions opened fire on a motorized patrol and Israeli field workers with machine-guns and mortars. The Israelis replied with machine-guns.

About 45 minutes after the first announcement, the army issued another communique saying the Israelis had returned the fire and one Israeli was injured.

The firing started near Nahal Oz on the Israeli-Egyptian border, about 45 miles southeast of Tel Aviv, at 12.35 p.m.

Arab forces fired mortars and machine-guns at men working in the fields at the kibbutz or collective farm settlement, and on Israeli soldiers.

Machine-guns and mortars began firing from the Gaza Strip just east of the city of Gaza, the capital of the strip. The strip is a finger of land jutting up into Israel.

Firing also was concentrated upon a motorized army patrol besides the farmers in the field.

Bound for Trenton
Gaza Troops Flying Home

TRENTON — The first flight of six transports, returning Canada's UN contingent from the Gaza strip, is due here early Tuesday morning.

Three sky freighters of the RCAF Air Transport Command here are already on the spot for the emergency shuttle service. Two more will leave here tonight and two early tomorrow to complete the hasty withdrawal of the 720 - man contingent, after what Prime Minister Pearson says is Egyptian misunderstanding of Canada's Middle East policy.

The troops were ordered withdrawn after a note from Egypt Saturday afternoon to the UNEF commander, demanding the Canadians leave within 24 hours because of Ottawa's "pro-Israel attitude."

The seven airforce transports will fly the troops home from the sUN staging base at Pisa, Italy, via Shannon.

The first freighter, carrying about 120 men, is scheduled to touch down at Trenton about 2.45 a.m. Tuesday. Two others will follow at intervals of three hours each.

By this morning more than 300 Canadian troops had been landed in Pisa.

Six Hercules aircraft, each carrying 56 men and their personal equipment, had completed one trip each between Pisa and the UNEF airfield at El Arish.

At Pisa, the troops are being transferred to three Yukon aircraft bound for Trenton.

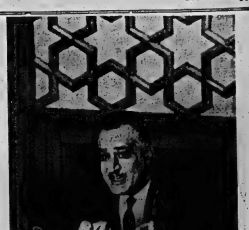
In a Cairo news conference Sunday, President Nasser accused Mr. Pearson of an act of aggression against all Arab states and said his acts "now are totally in contradiction with any peace effort."

"He has raised doubts about our right to have the UNEF withdrawn," the president said. "This is an attitude of neocolonialism and an act of aggression. It is the first act of aggression he has ever made."

He did not attempt to explain his ultimatum for the "deportation" of Canadian troops. Questions for the news conference had to be submitted Friday before the ultimatum became known.

Mr. Pearson conferred with External Affairs Minister Martin then issued a staff statement Saturday night that the Canadian troops would be removed from Egypt by air.

Prime Minister Pearson said the view there is bias in Canada's Middle East policy is "without foundation in fact."



In his statement, Mr. Pearson emphasized that Canada was acting at the request of U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, and not on President Nasser's demand.

"The Canadian government," it said, "has agreed to a request from the secretary-general of the UN to provide emergency transportation for the Canadian contingent of the UNEF.

"We have been informed that the decision of the secretary-general to request early removal of the Canadian contingent resulted from a request by United Arab Republic authorities.

Kosygin Gives Nasser Pledge

CAIRO (Reuters)—Russia will stand by the side of Egypt in battle, Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser announced today, saying he had received a message to this effect from Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

Nasser Threatens To Block Canal

CAIRO (CP)—President Nasser has threatened to block the Suez Canal if any outside power intervened in a war between the Arab states and Israel.

The Egyptian president did not say how this would be done, but it was revealed that during the 1956 Suez war he scuttled enough shipping to make the vital waterway unusable.

Nasser conferred with his top military leaders Sunday night after warning that there would be "unimaginable repercussions" if any nation interfered with Egyptian control of the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, the key water route through which Israel gets most of its oil.

Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol said his army is ready to fight aggression, including a blockade.

In the Gaza Strip, Canadian troops began preparations for departure following Nasser's order for them to leave in 48 hours.

Speaking at one of his rare press conferences, Nasser answered a barrage of questions from the world press for 90 minutes before hurrying off to what the authoritative Cairo newspaper Al Ahram described as an important meeting at armed forces headquarters.

At the press conference, Nasser accused the United States, Britain, Canada and West Germany of supporting Israel in the current crisis and rejected the Anglo-American contention that the vital Straits of Tiran, leading to the Gulf of Aqaba and Israel's key port of Elath, were international waters.

The United States and Britain had hoped diplomatic pressure would persuade Nasser to reopen the gulf before an Egyptian attack on some ship resulted in war.

But Nasser said he would not retreat "even as much as one inch" from his blockade.

He asked the United States to recognize Egypt's cause as just and remain neutral.

Viet Cong Raids Hue Hotel

SAIGON (Reuters) — Fifteen naked Viet Cong leaped out of a river in Hue today and attacked the hotel headquarters of the International Control Commission.

The guerrillas hurled explosive charges and kerosene at the Riverside Hotel, damaging more than 60 per cent of the building.

A government policemen on guard at the hotel was killed by the guerrillas when they emerged from the Perfumed River which runs by the building.

The attack coincided with a mortar barrage on several strategic points in Hue.

The attacks in Hue killed four persons and wounded 17.

Green Uniforms Are Unveiled

OTTAWA (CP)—The defence department today unveiled the uniform that could eventually clothe all servicemen in the same dark-green package with standard insignia and badges.

Dress differences between ranks and services have been eliminated in the proposed uniform for the unified force. Quality and cut is the same for all, only rank insignia and badges are different.

The basic model is a peaked cap, bib-length jacket, cuffless pants and tie, all dark green. The shirt, of synthetic fibre and cotton, is light green. Socks and shoes are black.

Navy and air force blues, army khaki and more than a dozen uniform varieties of the three services would be placed by the new model for normal duty, including parades and offbase wear. It has a ceremonial use, too, which puts the future of traditional ceremonial garb in doubt.

The bottom model will have a nine-month trial by 430 servicemen of all ranks including members of air and ground forces in Germany. The testing program starts today.

Despite the test, few changes are expected in the uniform. It would be made standard wear over a period of years after the bill unifying the armed forces becomes law, possibly in a few months.

Adoption will mean the virtual disappearance, except for ceremonial wear, of a long list of traditional styles and rank emblems that have grown up over the years. Keynote of the new crease-resistant uniform is simplicity.

To a civilian, the general will look remarkably like the private, a chief commander like the man who scrubs the deck and the air commodore like the home mechanic.

Only unobtrusive badges, shoulder and sleeve emblems and cap braid will spell the difference.

U.S. Navy Thinks Israeli Drive Likely

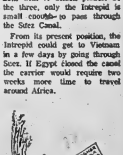
ATHENS (AP) — Officers of the U.S. 6th Fleet believe Israel will launch a major land assault into the Sinai Peninsula if Egypt sinks a ship bound for Israel in the Gulf of Aqaba.

The Israelis have virtually no naval capability to compete against Egyptian 150-millimetre guns controlling the entrance to the gulf, Israel's link to East Africa, Asia and Iranian oil.

U.S. Navy officers therefore expect Israel would use its highly mobile army to penetrate into and eventually gain control of the entire Egyptian peninsula —breaking Egypt's grip on the gulf.

Elath, Israel's only southern port, is at the head of the gulf.

Although the port handles only 10 to 15 per cent of Israel's shipping, Elath receives virtually all of Israel's oil from the Middle East. Because of Israel's great reliance on mechanized movement of troops, oil is a strategic resource.



Although it was not immediately confirmed, Panamanian or Liberian-flag oil freighters are said to be en route to Elath. Navy officers do not believe Egypt will permit a tanker to pass.

Salaries for secondary school teachers in the Bay of Quinte district have jumped an average of 12 to 14 per cent.

In an agreement signed Friday, for the 1967-68 school year, teachers will receive a minimum of $6,100 to a maximum of $18,500.

Members of the salary committee of the Teachers Association have been negotiating with the school board since January.

The minimum salary scale for category one teachers has been increased $700 from $5,400 to $6,100 while the largest pay boost went to the principals whose maximum salaries jumped $2,160 from $16,000 to $18,500.

Roy Dulmage, business administrator for the school board said this morning, "The new agreement compares favorably, on the minimum scale, with salaries in other major centres."

"Maximum salaries however are somewhat lower. The new scale is about the same as settlements made with other school boards in the area."

The total cost of the increase for the 212 secondary school teachers has not been ascertained although the estimated school board budget for teachers in the fiscal year 1967 is estimated at $1,277,000.

Teachers reached agreement on the board's final offer at a meeting last week.

Other raises included in the agreement are an increase in the allowances for department heads and technical directors' course for minor department heads of $500.

Annual increments for teach- from $1,000 to $1,200; an increase in the annual increments to teachers of $100; and on the next are now $400; $500 for vice-principals; and $600 for principals in the system.

The Belleville Public School Board reached agreement with teachers at their salary increases from 13 to 23 per cent.

A standard one public school teacher will receive a $400 salary standard four teacher gets $3,900, increases averaged between $1,100 - and $1,200 per

IN MEMORIAM

BRADSHAW — In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away May 30th 1965.

Sadly missed, sadly thought,
In heart a silent memory wrought
— Ever remembered by her husband Ivan.

THOMPSON — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather Mabel Patricia Thompson, who passed away May 29, 1965.

There is never a day that passes,
But our daughter's heart we miss you,
Never a joy that comes our way,
But we think how you would enjoy it,
We are lonely now we know how dear to us you were,
Or how the tears so often flow,
Oh what it meant to lose one like you,
No one will ever know.
— Ever remembered and sadly missed by husband Walter and sons Morris and Brian.

THOMPSON — In loving memory of a dear father who passed away May 29, 1965.

When a darling leaves our home,
And we sit in quiet alone,
To dwell on memories of a loved one,
It is then we realize how much we miss you,
If she only could come home.
Precious way think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know the heartache,
We smile to hide all the while.
— Never forgotten by daughter Marion, Gerry, Beverley and Jim.

THOMPSON — In loving memory of a dear husband, Reuben F. Thompson, who passed away May 29, 1965.

We were not there, mother to see
You fade away,
To hold your hand and say,
But will remember our whole lives through,
The last words we had with you,
You said you were going home,
God knew it was time,
Don't cry — I'm only sleeping,
He is always with us some day.
— Sadly missed by daughter Marion, son-in-law Harold and granddaughter Roxanne.

Scouts, Guides, Cubs, Brownies Join in Annual Church Parade

Close to 1,700 Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, along with Cubs and Brownies, took over Belleville's downtown area for a short period Sunday afternoon as they held their annual church parade and combined Sunday service at the Belleville Arena.

With flags and troop colors flying in the breeze, the uniformed Scouts and Guides paraded down Front Street marching past the reviewing stand set up opposite Kresge's store.

Taking the salute at the reviewing stand were Ted Vetger ADC, for Rovers, Bud Bateman district commissioner for Scouts, Mrs. A. M. Haig, Quinte Area Guide Commissioner and Mrs. T. Calder, Belleville Division Guide Commissioner.

Taking part in the parade was the Salvation Army Band, and the St. John Ambulance Corps.

"Open House" At Q. M. School Much Enjoyed

Queen Mary Public School held its annual Open House last week and was visited by about two hundred parents and friends. The visitors were treated to various displays by the students.

Students illustrated a collecting of white rats, chicks in an incubator, picture layouts of animals, foreign countries and ecumenical displays. Some of the students offered lectures complete with tape recorder and filmstrip.

The parents watched color slides of a number of school activities and live entertainment, consisting of dramatizations, folk dancing, and numbers by the choir.

Charge 2 Juveniles In Search for Boys

WELLINGTON — The search for three missing Belleville boys took a bizarre twist today when two juveniles were stopped as stolen car suspects.

Police said the pair told them they were out seeking the missing trio in the Wellington-Roblin's Mills area when they were arrested.

They have been charged with juvenile delinquency and will appear in Picton magistrate's court Wednesday.

A chase started around 9 a.m. down the Belleville Road after a Wellington woman phoned village police chief Earl Marvin that two youngsters had driven away in a neighbor's automobile.

The chief gave chase and stopped the car at Allisonville, about five miles north of here.

The two juveniles were taken in custody and brought to Picton OPP offices for questioning.

Chief Marvin said the pair told him they had seen their missing friends at Roblin's Lake near Ameliasburg Sunday night. The chief expected to check the area this afternoon.

But no trace of the missing trio had been found up to noon, although Belleville city police said they had received reports on their whereabouts from as far away as Tweed and as near as Trenton.

Missing are Terry Hunt, 12, of 48 South John, Terry Hannah, 14, 41 St. Paul and Phillip Nolan, 13, of 30 Victoria.

The three were last seen about 2 p.m. Sunday when they said they were going fishing.

Sustains Internal Injuries

A 19-year-old Belleville youth is reported in satisfactory condition in the Belleville General Hospital following a one - car accident on Sunday afternoon.

John Blakely, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Blakely of 308 Pine Street in Belleville, suffered internal injuries when the car he was driving failed to stop at the intersection of Outlet and West Lake Roads.

The car crossed the main road and down a bank.

Another young man, the passenger in the car, received only minor cuts and abrasions.

A Retreat From the Rainy Weather...

These excited youngsters took refuge under platform during a rain-shower at the lumberman's day activities and the opening of Chisholm's new mill in Roslin Saturday. They managed to watch the events on stage and remain reasonably comfortable.

Opening of New Chisholm Mill Gala Event for Many Guests

"We have at least one million acres in this province which are not suited for farming. With the government's new program of reforestation we hope to make use of this land."

Clarke Rollins, provincial member of parliament for Hastings East, told more than 1,000 guests at the opening of Chisholm's (Roslin) Ltd. Saturday, "under the new set-up the provincial authorities would undertake to change this situation."

The re-opening of Chisholm's new mill in Tyendinaga Township was a gala occasion for the three Chisholm brothers, Joe, Walter and Don. The previous mill was destroyed by fire in March of 1966.

The new mill is designed for year round operation during which it will produce 3,000,000 board feet of lumber.

This is enough lumber to produce 350 average homes and the product of 30,000 trees.

During the afternoon the guests, many dressed in 1867 period costumes, were entertained by a square dancing group and several 1867 dances were performed by local residents.

Also on the agenda was a demonstration of water bombing, a log sawing contest and a spike driving contest. Smokey the bear was on hand to greet the kiddies.

The celebration opened and closed under sunny skies but showers marred the activities for approximately one hour.

Speakers included: Lee Grills, Federal member of parliament for Hastings South; Delbert Harvey, Reeve of Tyendinaga Twp.; William Shannon, Warden of Hastings County; Fred J. Overend, past president of the Ontario Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

Other speakers were Harry MacLean, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Tweed, and Norman Patrick, district forester at Tweed.

Trenton Briefs

Ameliasburg Township reeve George Cunningham has issued a warning to stray cattle that stroays running at large are liable to be seized, and possibly destroyed.

Owners of seized dogs are liable to be charged with an offence.

The warning was prompted by what the reeve refers to as "an increasing loss of livestock in the township caused by roaming dogs."

The Brighton Lions Club has decided to remit $200 to put the village's only ambulance into running condition.

The ambulance will be repaired and put into use until such time as the village and township councils arrange to provide a service that would meet recently-enacted reouirements by the provincial government.

The Lions Club has for a number of years maintained ambulance service for Brighton.

A Centennial costume ball was held on Saturday night at Community Gardens auditorium by the Trenton Progressive Conservative Women's Association. Although dress was optional, a number of those in attendance were decked out in period costumes.

Although a number of prominent area Conservatives were on hand, there were no speech-

Trenton's planning board is considering an amendment to the existing town zoning bylaw which would permit operation of family businesses from residences.

Among the conditions that would have to be met under the terms of the proposed amendment are no exterior advertising placards and no hired help other than relatives.

Adoption of the proposal would permit such persons as hobbyists or self-employed hairdressers to carry on business from homes in areas heretofore zoned as residential.

A grand total of four town residents turned out for a meeting arranged by the planning board in the town hall to inform residents of proposed zoning by-law amendments. This number included one reporter and an interested student, not yet himself a taxpayer.

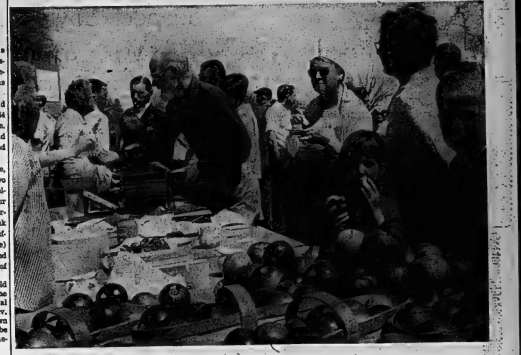
MAJOR HERBERT E. LONG
Fort Hope

On Saturday at Fort Hope, Major Herbert K. Long, 52 years, died suddenly after a short period in hospital.

Major Herbert Long was a well known and highly respected partner in the insurance and Real State business of the same name founded by himself and his brothers Frank and Tom.

Major Long began his long association with the Army before World War II and in 1939 was a lieutenant with the Midland Regiment of Port Hope. In 1942 he joined the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in the U.K. and fought in that regiment throughout the bitter Sicilian and Italian campaigns until wounded while fighting at the Moro River. In the same campaign a brother Keith was killed. After the war he re-joined his first regiment and continued to serve until 1956 when he was appointed second in command of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment when the units were amalgamated.

Major Long lived at 56 King Street Port Hope and is survived by his wife Margo and three children, Pamela, Penelope and Stephen.



Funeral services will be held at St. Marks Anglican Church, Port Hope, on Tuesday, 30 May at 2.00 p.m. All comrades are requested to attend the service.

This Jack Had Horns

Tourists at MacDonald's cottages in Wellington have expressed a lot of interest in the large jack-rabbit with a set of horns between its ears that is mounted in Mr. Vernon "Bert" MacDonald's den. The sporting-minded fishermen have been particularly surprised as most of them did not realize that such a creature existed. However, "Bert" readily explains to them that the rare species is indigenous only to Prince Edward County. "The only reason I shot this one," he says, "was to save my dog. The jack was chasing him." Perhaps Mr. MacDonald will be hearing from the zoo officials shortly.

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP) Pat Reid, a native of Port Frances attending the University of Manitoba, won the Liberal nomination Saturday to contest Rainy River constituency in the next provincial election.

Apple Blossom Festival...

A HUNGRY CROWD — Visitors to the 2nd annual Apple Blossom Festival found the food booth attractive and the source of great quantities of apple pie and cheese and other enticing items. By the end of the day the counters were bare, a sure sign the event was again successful.

PIE BAKING COUNCILLOR — Mrs. Reita Barrick in centennial dress, a member of the Ameliasburg township council, shared the first prize with her daughter, Mrs. Paul Jordan of Kingston. She was among the 20 entries in the apple pie baking contest sponsored by the Festival committee.

Despite Absence of Blooms Festival Was Grand Success

AMELIASBURG — The annual Apple Blossom Festival held at the Harold Bonter farm at Albury yesterday turned out to be a big success in spite of a one-week postponement.

Sunny skies and warmer temperatures greeted the large number of people who attended from far and near. One visitor from British Columbia registered in the official guest book. Nature, however, failed to co-operate to the full extent and while all of the pear trees in the orchard by the bayshore showed well developed buds but the apple trees were in the advanced pink stage with the odd blossom noticeable.

The fact that were few apple blossoms on display seemed to enhance enthusiasm rather than dampen it with the crowd which started arriving at 10.00 a.m. and continued to come and go until the late afternoon. At times road traffic was bumper to bumper moving west along the Redoersville road. An official counter at the approach to Festival grounds recorded more than 1,000 cars en route to the event.

Dr. D. N. Huntley, director of research at University of Guelph, brought a message from Agricultural Minister William A. Stewart, unable to make an appearance due to the postponement. Norris Whitney MPP for Prince Edward-Lennox introduced the guest speaker. County Warden Robert Boyce and Township Reeve George Cunningham welcomed the visitors on behalf of their respective councils. The platform guests included George Hees, MP for Northumberland; Mayor Jack Ellis of Belleville and Bobby Hull sitting in for Mayor H. J. McFarland of Picton.

The members responsible for the Apple Blossom Festival this year are: Harold Bonter (chairman), Mrs. Harold Bonter, (secretary), Fred Evans, Arnold Weatherall, Elmer Bonter, Mrs. Carl Reid, Mrs. George Robin.

Church Collection Stolen

BATAWA — Police today still were puzzling over the disappearance of more than $100. from the collection plate at Batawa Roman Catholic Church Sunday.

Provincial police say the money was the total collection taken at the 10.30 a.m. mass.

Afterward, it was placed at the back of the church, where the doors were locked after the congregation left.

A short time afterwards, the pastor, Rev. W. H. Dunphy returned to pick up the plate and found the money missing.

He estimated the collection totalled about $112.

Hong Kong

Before the days of such extremists as Mao tse-tung the people of China by and large were probably as admirable and harmless an aggregation of people as might be found anywhere.

But today there are 700 million of them all caught up with the nonsense of what might be termed the "gospel according to Mao." The Red Guard movement, the humiliation and the insults heaped on British diplomats over the riots in Hong Kong (and similar assaults on Soviet diplomatic staff some weeks ago) all suggest a collective paranoia has gripped the people.

Peking currently is attempting to extract "humble apologies" and compensation for victims of "Fascist atrocities" (riots started by the communists themselves). This was the pattern recently in the Portuguese colony of Macao, and the Portuguese eventually buckled under and complied.

But it seems clear Peking will get no apology from the British. The Governor, Sir David Trench, has said the Communist demand for release of all rioters, apologies and compensation is unacceptable.

Meanwhile the Royal Navy carrier Bulwark has arrived from Singapore with Royal Marine commandos to bolster the colony's defences. It would be out of character for the British to give in without a fight, despite the odds in favor of the Chinese. Peking knows this and is unlikely (apart altogether from reasons of political and economic expediency) to make any overt move against Hong Kong.

Bealing the "Beats"

Until recently the "in" place for the hippies and the beatniks was Katmandu. To this remote city in mountain-girt Nepal came the long-haired and bearded Bohemians of the world. Here they settled down to their aimlessness and their marijuana and hashish and the other phenomena of lotus-land.

Perhaps the Nepalese have managed to get rid of them by now. Certainly more and more countries, even those that are poor but still have regard for the dignity and feelings of their own citizens, are taking steps to discourage such unwelcome visitors.

Greece is the latest. The new military government there is not tolerating any invasion of female drifters. It has issued a directive forbidding "dirty and shabbily-dressed persons" from entering the country, unless they have a minimum of $80. Persons with long hair and beards must get haircuts and shaves.

Estimable as this edict may be, it does raise some difficulties. There are any number of well-groomed people with beards. It is unfortunate that the beard, as a respectable adjunct of the navy man's image — in Britain at least — has been brought into disrepute by the younger devotees of this day.

Will the Greeks enforce their ruling without fear or favor? It remains to be seen. One thing is certain, Greek barbers stand to pick up some business.

Distressing as the hippies are in this day and age, life still presents some fine examples of eloquent and healthy youth. For example, few occupations afford the younger generation a more interesting and adventurous career than the navy.

The Greeks are among the peoples of the world who maintain the traditional four-masted brigantine vessels for the training of young seamen. The Chilean and the Scandinavians are others who engage in this sphere of activity.

Crown Prince Carl Gustaf of Sweden recently celebrated his 21st birthday in Dublin, Ireland, where his ship had docked in the course of a round-the-world sail training cruise. He was pictured getting a friendly jashing from some of his shipmates at the dockside.

So today there is still a choice in life. When a young man comes to consider a career there are any number of possibilities. The life of the beatnik may be one of them, but it is not one that commands respect — as the Greeks have shown.

U.S. Flyer Defects

A U.S. Army officer and Vietnam combat veteran has defected to Cuba, for what Havana sources describe as "reasons of conscience."

He is Major Richard Harwood Pearce, who holds decorations for valor in Vietnam. The flyer arrived in Havana in a Cessna 150 aircraft with his 4½-year-old son.

What is more serious than any qualms of conscience Major Pearce may be having is the fact he had access to top secret military files. What if he is disillusioned by the Vietnam situation. Is this any reason to move to a country which espouses the communist cause — the same ideology that the North Vietnamese (with Chinese and Soviet backing) are trying to foist on South Vietnam and on Asia at large?

Gromyko's Cairo Visit

Suspect Soviet Union Is Behind Middle East Crisis

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The world may be finding out at last what was discussed in a mysterious meeting between Gamal Abdel Nasser and Andrei Gromyko in Cairo nearly two months ago.

The Egyptian president and the Soviet foreign minister were silent on the reasons for Gromyko's visit March 30. It was presumed to have something to do with the always—edgy Middle East situation.

Now some observers see the meeting as one step in a long campaign by which the Soviet Union brought about the present Middle East crisis.

Russia's aim, they think, was to drag the United States into a new confrontation in the Middle East while at the same time battling in Vietnam.

The theory is based on circumstantial evidence but, if true, could mean an abrupt and brutal end to the cold war there in which it was hoped that Moscow and Washington were reaching a real understanding.

The deadlock may be Premier Alexei Kosygin's answer to President Johnson's escalation of the Vietnam conflict. A solution to the Middle East imbroglio now could be hinged on Vietnam.

Among other things this would show China how puny it is on the world stage in comparison with Russia, which can cause foreign armies to rise as if by magic.

Russian strategy can be traced to last November when, following intervention by a Gromyko deputy, a Syrian-Egyptian defence pact was signed. Nasser gave the Syrians far-reaching guarantees of help.

Earlier, in Damascus, it was announced that Soviet technicians were completing installation of anti - aircraft missile bases in Syria.

In December, a high-level Soviet mission arranged a meeting of Egyptian, Syrian and Iraqi defence chiefs. The Soviet interest then became more apparent.

Gen. Abdel - Hakim Amer, Egypt's commander - in - chief, and a military team visited Moscow. Soviet officials were observed on frequent trips between Cairo and Damascus.

The most significant factor is Nasser's heavy dependence on Russia, especially on arms and militarily. Russia has nearly $1,500,000,000 in aid tied up in Egypt and supplies arms, among many other things.

It hardly seems possible Nasser would embark on as seven-

Advertising and the Body Beautiful

Letter to The Globe and Mail

Here a girl, there a girl, everywhere a sexy girl. Sex to sell everything from nail polish to a bank loan. Should we allow our minds to be covered by a film of sexy suds? Is the need for selling a cigaret greater than the need for clean and healthy thoughts? How can we escape the barrage of mind-boggling pictures while travelling from place to place on the Toronto transit system?

When the Ontario Department of Labor resorts to a young girl in a mini-skirt to sell a training program it must be dreadfully lacking in creative thinking and advertising.

The use of sex for advertising is not so much a moral question as it is a question of the freedom of thought.

When a person walks into a subway car or bus and is confronted by an almost life-size portrait of a half-nude woman, one can hardly be expected to think thoughts of nail polish or clothing. The man is being forced to think thoughts of sex. Must he keep his eyes closed or his head to the floor in order to keep his mind on his own personal thoughts?

I realize that this is a form of advertising that attracts the most attention but must advertising people be satisfied with degrading the mind through the use of trite cliches and by corrupting the English language? Is all this advertising really necessary to keep the trains on the track?

I believe not. There are many answers to this problem. Indeed, nothing on the walls would be an improvement. However, to create a more pleasant atmosphere it would be quite inexpensive to put up famous scenes of the world, prints of great paintings and photographs of famous sculptures. Another answer would be to display the work of young artists. I am sure that the loss of income from advertising could be subsidized by a number of organizations willing to see something done about this.

This use of the space on the walls of buses and subway cars would be much more inspiring and certainly more complimentary to the mentality of the people who pay the price of public transit.

Route of the Voyageurs

London Free Press

About 40,000 boys and girls between 13 and 16 years of age will follow the historic routes of the voyageurs this summer.

They will canoe and camp along the waterways by which Champlain and Radisson, Frazer and Mackenzie made their way into the wilderness that was Canada.

In teams of three accompanied by experienced supervisors they will map routes, study the history of men who traced them and compile a guide-book for future travellers.

The venture is the centennial project of the Canadian Camping Association. It is certainly the most appropriate and praiseworthy the association could have chosen.

No student will be able to call Canadian history dull who has followed the same canoe trail that Brule followed into the unknown country of the Hurons or who has camped where La Verendrye camped on his way to the foothills of the Rockies.

The Canadian Camping Association is to be congratulated on offering 400,000 Canadian teenagers an opportunity or an initiation into their country's history and heritage that no textbook could provide.

Rebuff to Queen

Quebec's Separatist Posture

Orillia Packet and Times

A decade ago doubt was being expressed in many quarters as to whether French Canada could survive much longer as minority partner to English-speaking Canada in an increasingly Anglicized world.

Today, a Quiet Revolution and some billions of dollars worth of biculturalism later, it has become apparent that in fact it is the institutions of the English - speaking majority, rather than those of the French - speaking minority, which are doomed to vanish in the new Canada now abuilding.

The changing situation was vividly illustrated in three developments occurring within a week of one another.

It was announced that Queen Elizabeth, the Queen of Canada to whom all Canadians owe their allegiance, would be confined to her yacht and the grounds of Expo '67 during her visit here, since she might otherwise suffer humiliation and danger at the hands of Quebec separatists.

In short, our Queen may not visit us, her people, without affronting the susceptibilities of some people in Quebec, so prudent Dominion Government will confine her to neutral ground.

In the same week it was announced that Charles de Gaulle President of France, who had been so miffed at the Canadian arrangements for the celebration of Victory Day that he not only ignored the whole affair but had also considered exiling off a visit to Expo, decided that he would come after all, and might highlight his visit to Quebec City, it was mischievously rumoured, by actually walking on the water. A tumultuous welcome awaited him at Quebec, he was assured.

Coincidence, with this announcement was one by the Government of Quebec which noted that it had instituted a sort of provincial Department of External Affairs.

Its first concern would be to conclude exchange and cultural arrangements between Quebec and France, a renewal of the old dream linking New France with the old.

We see a Quebec which derives more from Confederation than all the other provinces put together but has the effrontery to set itself up as a sovereign "nation" able to make its own foreign arrangements and foreign powers.

And all that English-speaking Canadians do is to look on with a shamefaced grin while a militant minority of Quebec politicians and intellectuals dominate every aspect of our national administration and with the cynical connivance of a supine Dominion Government, destroy the traditions and institutions which Canadians once held dear.

Vietnam Storm Signals

Globe and Mail

Although he still refuses to criticize the United States for its steady escalation, Prime Minister Lester Pearson warned recently about the danger of wider war. Meanwhile, United Nations Secretary-General U Thant said he was afraid that we were witnessing the initial phase of a third world war.

In his bluntest warning to date, U Thant added that if the present trend continued, "I am afraid a direct confrontation, first of all between Washington and Peking, is inevitable."

Yet President Lyndon Johnson and his advisers continue to assert that they can continue to escalate the war without inviting either China or the Soviet Union. It is hardly reassuring to recall that Washington has also once equally confident that China would not enter the Korean War.

There is no longer much credibility to Washington's claim that it is fighting a limited war. With its continued escalation of the conflict, the United States cannot avoid the every week to fulfilling U Thant's chilling prophecy. The days of the Pearson Government's ostrich game may be numbered.

Peterborough Examiner

Canadian policy on Vietnam must fulfil two aims. On the one hand, it must work in the most effective way for a halt to the hostilities in Vietnam. On the other, it must reflect the wishes of the Canadian people. The prime difficulty at the moment is that these two aims are becoming incompatible. There is no reason to doubt the sincerity of Mr. Pearson's and Mr. Martin's desire to assist in stopping the fighting. One aspect of this is the need to persuade the American people and the Johnson administration of their part in the process of de-escalation. It is reasonable to believe that nations, just like individuals, react more favourably to friendly persuasion than loud condemnation. This, presumably, is the basis for the quiet diplomacy of Canada's quiet diplomacy. But the problem is that now Canadians or at least many of their opinion-leaders, are becoming increasingly distressed at the American part in the war.

Review Tax Exemptions

Ottawa Journal

Though any exemption is an affront to the mind of an economist, the 18 special categories built into Ontario law have thus far been the most sensible over the years. They would still be not seriously challenged if economic growth in the province were desperately for new sources of revenue and if taxpayers, specifically property owners, did not feel so oppressed.

Inevitably, the lists of tax-exempt organizations have been freshly scrutinized. Premier Roberts recently asked for the views of Ontario municipalities on endless some of the special tax privileges. The forthcoming report of the provincial taxation commission will probably have recommendations of its own in the matter.

Aldermen Henry and Egan of Toronto have been more timely with their motion, strongly approved by Ontario City Council this week, supporting a provincial study of the whole question of tax exemption. The thrust of the motion is to give local municipalities discretionary power over property which might enjoy freedom from city taxes.

Seek Areas For Hunting And Fishing

Hamilton Spectator

The millions of urban dwellers in the Hamilton-Toronto area will view with considerable attention the Ontario plan to develop fishing streams and game lands for public use.

They should view the plan with more alarm than elation, however, if the government plans to buy land in the north or anywhere, in fact, outside the immediate Hamilton - Toronto area. This province has enough wilderness areas far from the cities to keep 50 million fishermen and an equal number of hunters happy.

What this province does lack is suitable hunting and fishing grounds near the sprawling urban centres. As most of the available land in those areas is owned by private citizens or companies, it would be extremely reasonable for the Government to buy up good fishing and hunting rights that are within a sensible price range.

On the account should an exorbitant price be paid, no matter how mouthwatering it may appear to eager fishermen and hunters who can't afford treks to the wilderness wonderlands. A standard must be set — a take it or leave it "limit" price. If private owners don't wish to sell the rights for the price the government offers, so be it.

The liner Empress of Canada, pride of the St. Lawrence cruise transatlantic service, collided with a freighter 53 years ago today—in 1914—and sank near Rimouski, Que. More than 1,000 people aboard, of 421 crew and 1,087 passengers, were drowned. Boats could not be launched because the ship heeled over at once and sank within 15 minutes. The officer of the deck of the freighter, SS Storstad, was held responsible for the disaster.

U.S. Stock Investigators Question 20 Brokerage Employees

NEW YORK (AP)—Some 20 broker house employees are being questioned by investigators looking into allegations of multi-million-dollar manipulations of certain stock exchange issues.

The brokerage salesmen, employed by more than a dozen firms in New York and Chicago, are being asked if they were offered or accepted cash bribes, or subscription to low-risk warrants, by the reported stock riggers who sought to generate public buying in the issues. Some of the men already have been fired or suspended by their firms.

It was understood that the interrogations were being conducted by the stock exchanges with which they are affiliated and, in some cases, by a federal grand jury here.

The investigation, moving fast on several fronts, is being rapidly expanded. At least two issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange are under investigation along with a larger group traded on the American Stock Exchange.

Investigators said the reputed rigging schemes are continuing and are costing brokers and investors in c a l culated millions of dollars.

In addition to the grand jury and Securities Exchange, the situation is being looked at by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Chicago police department.

One prominent Chicago broker, partner in a member firm of the New York Stock Exchange, received a death threat by telephone after suspending a salesman who was being questioned. The salesman later was reinstated.

In U.S. District Court in Chicago, trustees of the bankruptcy broker firm of Edward N. Siegler and Co. have filed a $3,250,000 civil damage suit against the First National Bank of Lincolnwood, Ill., and 25 individuals. The trustees charge—and the defendents deny—that a Chicago-based group conspired to rig stocks and, in the process, forced Siegler into bankruptcy by ordering checks with no intention of paying for them.

The suit alleged manipulations in the common stock of Rowland Products Inc., Leece-Neville Co., Diversified Metals Corp., Hercules Galion Products Inc., Pentron Electronics Corp., Duraloy Co., Savoy Industries and Mercury Chemical Corp. All except Mercury, an over - the - counter issue, are traded on the American exchange.

Management of the firms disclaim any involvement. Exchange officials say they have found no evidence that any rigging conspired with exchange members working on the trading floor.

The grand jury is known to have been looking particularly into Pentron Trading, though officials said the first indictment, expected within the next few weeks, would be just that—the first of a series.

Already, in Washington and Wall Street, there is talk of possible future regulatory or legislative moves aimed at discouraging market manipulations.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP)—Prices continued to slump in light morning trading today on the Toronto Stock Exchange, extending the decline into the fifth consecutive week.

The industrial index fell .50 to 163.50 and is down almost five points since the end of April.

The market has been following the decline on the New York exchange which has come under heavy selling pressure because of the Middle East crisis. However, there has been no panic selling and by 11 a.m. only 648,000 shares had changed hands compared with 551,000 at the same time Friday.

Among industrials, ITL Industries declined 1 to 33½, Levy 1½ to 19, and Dominion Textile and CPR ¼ each to 18¼ and 69.

Rio Algom fell 1 to 32 in base metals while Dome Petroleum eased ¼ to 54¼ in western oils.

In speculative issues, Consolidated Mosbeer dropped 50 at 4.80 in profit taking. Last week the stock jumped 2.55.

On index, golds were down .20 to 166.81, base metals .75 to 95.22 and western oils .21 to 154.81.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Showdown Reached

LAGOS (AP)—Nigeria's two rival young colonels, Yakubu Gowon and C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, reached the showdown stage Sunday after 10 months on a collision course. The Federation of Nigeria was threatened with breaking up.

Ojukwu, 33, spoke a mandate from the Consultative Assembly he had appointed to declare his region the independent state of Biafra.

Gowon, 32, the federal chief of state, tried to halt the eastern region's push to independence by ordering it split into three states within the federation.

Gowon's decree created 12 states in all, including six in the Northern region, which contains about half of Nigeria's estimated 56,000,000 people and 30 per cent of the country's 357,000 square miles.

Gowon named military governors of the new states and gave one in the east to Ojukwu. Although Ojukwu has said repeatedly the east cannot turn back, the Consultative Assembly resolution is not binding on him and asks him for independence "at the earliest practicable date."

Allard Inspects Honor Guard

The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment Saturday broke out its colors for two of Canada's top generals.

Guests at the annual officer's mess dinner were General J. V. Allard, chief of the defence staff and Lt.-Gen. Howard Graham, former chief of staff and a wartime commander of the regiment.

Before the banquet General Allard inspected a 25-man honor guard in 1860 scarlet and blue.

300 Children Take Tests for Safety Awards

PICTON (Staff) — A Kiwanis Club project - the annual safety awards presentations for Picton children was held Saturday afternoon at the Community Centre with members of the Kiwanis Club, Picton Police Department and the O.P.P. as well as many members of the town's Park and recreation committee taking part.

Constable George Wright, one of the most prominent workers for this cause - said that registrations were down somewhat this year from last, but even then close to 300 children went through the tests etc.

The children had their bikes inspected by Kiwanians and police as well as members of the recreation staff. O.P.P. officers tested the children with verbal questions pertaining to the safety rules of the road and obstacle driving tests were also conducted.

Teen age volunteers helped with the typing of awards and certificates. Most of these were young women who will be engaged this summer as. playground supervisors. Safety awards, and license plates for the bikes were given following the individual testing. Mayor H. J. McFarland who was present left a sizable donation for the work that was being done; In spite of the Mayor's recent illness he did prove to the many children present that he could still ride a bicycle. "This was a most gratifying sight," said the Mayor, "to see so many of these children being looked after by conscientious citizens". "This is a very worthwhile program he said, and one which may very well save the lives of some of our children."

Former Students Visit Schools

This one room schoolhouse in Lonsdale, which dates back to 1872, will be among nine in the area to be closed out next year. Hundreds of former students visited the school during Lonsdale's lilac festival yesterday afternoon.

One Room Schools Will Close

During a visit to one room schools in the Lonsdale area yesterday these youngsters sat in their parents' old seats. The children, Lorrie Clark, 5, and Lynn Clark, 3, will not be attending the school. It will be closed in June.

Former Pupils Visit Tyendinaga Twp. Schools

Visitors to Lonsdale, during the lilac festival yesterday, were disappointed to see few lilacs in bloom but were enthused with a visitation to many historic points in the area.

Former students at all of the nine one-room schools in the area were on hand for a last look at the old buildings, some dating back to the 1870's.

The schools will be closed next year to make way for a new public school.

During the afternoon ladies in 1867 attire showed the visitors to their old seats and many were able to look up their names in the teacher's register.

Other points of interest were former hotels, general stores, blacksmith shops, a grist mill, a former wooden mill, several churches and other historic sites.

Receptions were held at all schoolrooms and these were well attended by former pupils.

Lonsdale, located on the Salmon River about five miles from Marysville, was a thriving rural centre around the time of confederation and today about 200 residents live in the community.

Lightning Casserole Made From Sunday Leftovers

By MARY MOORE

You influence the cooking in this kitchen. Today's recipe is by answer to Sheila B.'s request: "I have 3 children and live near my mother's home. She and I read your column nearly every day and both of us use your lightning Casserole. But we were wondering why you don't give some fast casseroles using up the cold roast beef and gravy leftover from Sunday."

I wondered how I had overlooked this item, common to hosts of Canadians, so I made one.

LIGHTNING CASSEROLE FROM LEFTOVER SUNDAY ROAST AND GRAVY
(Serves 5)

1 envelope ready-made pastry (from ice cream case)
One 13-oz. can small boiled potatoes
One 10-oz. can mushroom stems and pieces
One 14-oz can small whole carrots
2 cups cut-up cold roast beef

Roast beef gravy (or canned gravy or use foil pkge. dry onion soup mix — see below)
2 tsps. chopped onion or ½ ₰ tsp. onion salt

Preheat oven to 425 deg. Fahr. The package of ready-made raw pastry contains 2 envelopes — sufficient to make four 8" pie crusts. Use only one of these envelopes. You need a casserole about 8 x 8 x 1" or one of equivalent capacity. Thaw and break pastry in half and by hand press half of it to line sides of casserole. Open all cans of vegetables and drain liquids from them and reserve liquids. Tip the drained potatoes into the pastry-lined casserole. Cut the whole carrots in halves and add them and the mushroom stems and pieces. Cover with the cut-up roast beef. Measure your leftover gravy and make it up to 2 cups by adding reserved vegetable liquids (see below). Add the onion or onion salt to it and bring to boiling. Pour over contents of casserole. Roll out remaining half of one envelope of pastry to fit top of casserole, gash at centre and cover casserole, sealing edges as well as you can. If you have time brush top sparingly with milk. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. 25 minutes.

NOTES: 1) If you do not have any leftover gravy substitute by using foil package of dry onion soup mix, adding 2 cups reserved vegetable liquids and bring to boil and pour over contents of casserole before covering with pastry. If onion soup mix is used omit onion listed in ingredients.

2) Canned onions may be substituted for canned potatoes.

3) As you can plainly see all of the ingredients for this Lightning Casserole can be on your shelf ahead, ready for blitz preparation on a Monday or Tuesday night when you have leftover roast beef and gravy in the refrigerator.

Facial Twitch May Not Be Caused by Tension

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I say that people who have muscle spasms in their faces as the result of tension have no more control over this twitching than they have over the tension itself. My sister feels it can be controlled.

If you agree with her I guess that makes you an enemy, but I'm a reasonable person, and you'll have the opportunity to come back into my good graces if you can tell me how to rid myself of this affliction.

I have found it terribly embarrassing at occasion, especially when I was maid of honor for my girl friend's wedding last year. My face twisted all through the ceremony and even for the pictures when I was trying to smile.

As a matter of fact, it was so tense that my whole visage was aching. — Help!

Dear Help: Special flash from D.C.: Reasonable persons do not label folk who merely disagree with them as enemies. Are you trying to find out something or only looking for an ally?

Twitches are most certainly involuntary. I can't imagine a maid of honor deliberately making a face at a photographer. But your help must come from a doctor; and you'd better start resisting the impulse to do your own diagnosing How do you know the twitch comes from tension? Why do you say tension can't be handled?

wanted by the girl you want.

Stop beating your head against a stone wall. Not giving up, in this case, is dimwitted.

Dear Doris: Where can I get information about the Canadian flag, when and where it is proper to fly it, when to fly the Union Jack, and similar questions? — Canuck

Dear Canuck: A booklet entitled "The National Flag of Canada" answers these and many other questions about our new flag. It is available from The Queen's Printer, Ottawa, for 25 cents.

The Canadian Citizenship Branch has distributed thousands of copies of a leaflet "Etiquette for Canada's National Flag" and its French counterpart "L'etiquette relative au drapeau du Canada." Both are available free upon request.

Dear Doris: I am crazy over a girl who is planning to marry someone else.

We are both 19 and in the same school classes. She is aware of my feelings, but she has clearly stated she is madly in love with her boy friend.

I play junior hockey, have a good build, one of my personal car, and have always tried to get along with everyone. About a year ago I asked her out twice but was turned down. She has been nice, but is never-ending in her love for her boy friend, whose only attractions I can see are a car and his parents' ranch.

I've got until the end of June to try and win the girl I've wanted for so long, Doris. Please tell me how I should approach her; and how I should act in her presence! — Not Giving Up.

Dear Not: Can it be you are yearning over forbidden fruit — chiefly because it is forbidden?

Don't wait till the end of June to start looking for the dreamboat who is waiting for you somewhere. You can't imagine how glad it feels to be

Student Wants True Facts About Marijuana

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 17-year-old high school student who wants to know the truth about marijuana. I have not tried it but some of my friends have. These friends are not hoody or beat, they come from good homes and they do not look or act like fee'outers.

They say the weed is not habit-forming, that they can go off without getting withdrawal symptoms, and it doesn't damage a person physically the way alcohol does over a long period of time. They also say it gives a person a nice high feeling — makes the world seem peaceful and lovely. If all this is true, what is wrong with smoking pot? Please give me the facts. — UNDER CONSIDERATION.

DEAR UNDER: Your friends have not told you anything that is completely false.

The statement that marijuana is not habit-forming is only half-true, however. While it does not produce a physical dependency, like other drugs, it does produce a psychological dependency which can be just as bad.

The wish to visit a dream world can be crippling if the person enjoys it so much he decides he wants to live there. Moreover, it figures that the ones who are smoking pot can head afford to cop out. These escape artists would be infinitely better off if they stayed in the real world and faced up to their problems.

Most experts are opposed to marijuana on the grounds that the users sometimes become so pleased with the out-of-this-world feeling that they want to go even further out, so they go on to stronger stuff, like heroin and morphine. Then, of course, they become hooked.

You must not consider me hip to using marijuana, or even having it in your possession, is a serious criminal offence.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We live in Boston. Our daughter attended a Midwestern college for two years and is now staying home, working at a position she enjoys very much.

Veronica has gone out with several young men from Eastern universities. Often we invite her date to dinner before they go on after the evening.

The gentlemen from Princeton, Rutgers, Brown and Dartmouth always find time to write a thank-you note. Sometimes they bring a small gift, or send flowers. Veronica has said nothing! I am not the only mother who has noticed it. Why in the world should this be? — BACK BAY BETTY.

DEAR BETTY: I don't have the foggiest notion, Lady. But please don't blame Harvard. By the time a fellow gets to college he has either learned his manners, or he has not learned them.

* * *

Confidential: READY TO JUMP OUT OF MY SKIN: Sorry, but you could hardly be considered an unbiased critic under the circumstances. I find it difficult to believe his record as poor as you say. Even a clock that isn't running is right twice a day. Give the guy a break and take the whup off his back.

U.C.W. Meetings

EGGLETON, UCW

MADOC JUNCTION — On Thursday evening the May meeting of the Eggleton United Church Women was held at the church with a good number in attendance.

Back in May of 1911 the Women's Missionary Society was organized at Eggleton and in 1962 this was changed to the present UCW.

Now in July Eggleton Church is being closed so it was decided to make the May meeting a get-together and invite former members, former residents in the community and other friends to attend.

Mrs. M. Kirkey and Mrs. M. Reid greeted the guests as they arrived, and Mrs. J. Fitchett was in charge of the register, which all signed.

Mrs. Bruce Stapley played soft music and accompanied all the hymns.

The president, Mrs. W. Harlow opened the meeting with a song service, after which she read an appropriate poem.

Mrs. Frank Smith gave the address of welcome and dealt with the early history of Eggleton Church.

For the devotional, Mrs. Maurice Clancy read the Scripture, Mrs. B. Jones and Mrs. J. Svoboda of Stirling sang a duet accompanied by their sister, Mrs. Harold West.

A short business period followed when the president announced that next meeting would be held at the church, in the afternoon on June 8th.

It was decided to hold a flower sale on Friday afternoon, May 26th.

At this time Mrs. Bert Reid introduced the guest speaker Mrs. A. P. Smith, who gave an interesting talk on "Willing Workers." An autographed quilt made by WMS members some 45 years ago, was on display.

At the close, lunch was served and a social time enjoyed.

Several of the ladies wore their centennial dresses.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN JUBY

Mr. and Mrs. John Juby, Foxboro, Wed 60 Years

Low current day farm prices may completely justify tractor parades and marches on Ottawa, but the lot of today's farmer is still far ahead of that of half a century ago.

At least that is the feeling of a Foxboro ex - farmer who recalls selling eggs for as little as seven cents a dozen and live pork at a mere three cents per pound.

"I wonder how today's farmers would like to accept those prices," says 84-year-old John Juby who with Mrs. Juby celebrated 60 years of married life on Sunday.

The couple were married at the Methodist parsonage at Bayside on May 29, 1907, and have since lived in the general Foxboro and Thurlow area. They farmed for nearly 40 years on the 3rd of Thurlow east of Cannifton and for the past 22 years have lived at Foxboro.

"We've always worked hard as farmers — farmers still work hard," Mrs. Juby noted.

Mr. Juby was born 84 years ago at Madoc Junction, while Mrs. Juby, the former Rebecca Roy, was born at Melrose.

Sunday afternoon and evening they were "at home" to relatives and friends.

To mark the occasion there was a multi-tiered anniversary cake and dozens of cards and best wishes, including personal messages from Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, Opposition Leader John G. Diefenbaker and local members of parliament. The couple received congratulations from Queen Elizabeth and a scroll from the provincial secretary.

The couple still regularly attend Foxboro Presbyterian Church.

They have two sons, Garnet Juby of Whitby, and Robert Juby of Wallbridge. There are 12 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren.

Mr. Juby has two brothers, Fred of Rossmore and Tim of Peterborough, while Mrs. Juby has two sisters, Mrs. Bert Hogle, Belleville and Mrs. William Waterhouse of Foxboro.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Goodbye, Johnny. Be a good boy and help grandma .When I come home from the hospital, I'll bring you a little brother or sister to play with."

A small child who is expecting you to bring him a playmate may be disappointed when it's nothing but a sleepy baby who comes home with you. Prepare the child for a baby, but be realistic in your explanations.

Mother: "The new baby will have to sleep most of the time for awhile, but you can talk and sing to it. When the baby gets bigger, you can show it how to play with the toys."

Johnny: "I'll be very quiet when the baby is asleep."

Woman Sole Director Italy's Largest Gallery

FLORENCE, Italy (CP)—For Dr. Luisa Becherucci, this has been a year of worry and changes.

She is director of the 400-year-old Uffizi Gallery in Florence, showplace of the best known work of Italy's Renaissance masters, including Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo and Botticelli.

She talks with relief and pride of the frantic hours in November when she and 13 others actually managed to move one priceless work after another upstairs, out of reach of rising flood waters of the Arno.

The gallery's restoration rooms were inundated but the Uffizi was open, shortly after the flood, to show people all that had been saved.

Now Dr. Becherucci is presiding over not only the clean-up job made necessary by the flood but a multi-million-dollar two-year expansion program.

The Uffizi was built about 1581 as a palace. The top floor, built as a promenade gallery for the family's private pleasure, set the pattern for such galleries in Europe.

Now, Dr. Becherucci says, it is out of date. It is too small for the 6,000 visitors a day who troop through it during the city's six-month tourist season.

And she says it must be reorganized to be more meaningful to more people in these days of mass tourism.

"A modern museum ought to be able to explain its content, therefore we must change.

"Our visitors are not only students. Most lack cultural background. That means we have to make our collections understandable. Most can't use catalogues. Therefore lessons are needed, introductory programs, lecture and film programs. All this will come when we have more space."

Because, she says, the Uffizi is itself a work of art, that space is being carefully designed and built to preserve the spirit of the gallery.

Dr. Becherucci has been director of the gallery for 10 years. Her comment on the fact that it is unusual for a woman to hold so distinguished a post is amiable.

"Running a gallery is something like housekeeping, and women are best suited to it. While men have the genius to create, they don't look at the dust on the frames, the condition of the floor, because it is not in their nature to look after details. But these are very important."

She says there should be more women in the field and seemed pleased to hear that Canada's director of the National Gallery is a woman, Dr. Jean Boggs.

Peter S. Weston, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Weston, Belleville received his Bachelor of Science degree in mechanical engineering at the recent convocation held at Queen's University. Peter is a graduate of the Belleville Collegiate and has accepted a position with the Canada Cement Co. at Exshaw, Alberta.

Donald J. Holoway, son of Mrs. Anne Holoway, Belleville, and the late Mr. John Holoway, received the degree of Bachelor of Arts from St. Patrick's College of the University of Ottawa at convocation on May 21. Don is a graduate of Nicholson College, Belleville. He has accepted a teaching position with the Napanee and District Collegiate Institute Board.

MR. AND MRS. GARY R. WOODLEY
Woodley – Ladoucier

Mr. Charles Kopp of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints performed the recent double-ring wedding ceremony in Albury United Church, when Judith Mary Ladoucier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ladoucier of Carrying Place was united in marriage to Gary Robert Woodley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo C. Woodley of Belleville.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by Mr. Wayne Tollestrup who also accompanied the soloist Mrs. W. Tollestrup.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a fitted bridal gown of white peau de soie, with an overlay of free flowering, embroidered lace with the scalloped neckline adorned with lace flowers. The bodice featured a bateau neckline and long lily-point sleeves. A matching train of peau de soie accented with lace extended from the shoulders where it was caught with a large bow. Her bouffant tulle veil flowed from a sequin encrusted floral headdress, and she carried a crescent bouquet of pink roses mingled with white baby 'mums and trailing ivy.

Maid of honor Miss Sheila Ray Collins dressed in a full length princess style gown of peau de sheen with short powder blue lace jacket. She wore a matching blue floral headdress and carried a nosegay of white 'mums and pink roses. The other attendants Mrs. Carol Ladoucier, sister-in-law of the bride and Mrs. Carol Finkle, cousin of the bridegroom were dressed identically to the maid of honor. Miss Kathy Petrie, niece of the bride and Miss Carrie Wetsel, cousin of the bridegroom were flower girls attired in floor length dresses of pink chiffon over taffeta topped with small petite pink lace jackets. They wore headdresses of lily rosebuds and each carried a tiny basket of pink and white 'mums. Master Bruce Petrie, nephew of the bride was ring-bearer.

Mr. Kenneth Valeanay of Vancouver, B.C. was groomsman, while Mr. Robert Ladoucier, brother of the bride and Mr. Paul Leblanc of Belleville were the ushers.

For the reception in Albury Church Hall the bride's mother received the guests wearing a sheath dress of pink nylon over cornflower blue and pink print with pink chiffon pillbox hat, white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. Assisting was the bridegroom's mother who wore a sheath of navy blue voile navy and white accessories and a corsage of tinted pink gardenias.

Leaving on a wedding trip to Expo and thence to Eastern New York State the bride donned a turquoise suit with white accessories.

Upon return the couple will reside at 373 Whittaker Street, Sudbury, Ontario.

Woman at 73 Still Driving Motor Car

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 73-year-old woman who has been a motorist for 31 years says women are better drivers than men.

"Women are more considerate and won't take chances," said Mrs. Vera Beach. "They know the regulations."

She said she has never had an accident or been charged with a traffic violation in the 31 years she has been driving on B.C. roads.

Mrs. Beach, a widow who has driven everything from a model-T Ford to her present 1964 model car, added that she is a great booster of the motor vehicle testing station. "My goodness me," she said, "you know your car is safe then.

"I can't remember taking a test for my first licence. I just paid a dollar and got a licence. It was good for life."

She said she has renewed it 10 times since 1916. "I renewed it last year and made only one mistake: I turned corners too sharply." She passed the written test with flying colors.

CA RALLY

FRANKFORD — On Saturday evening the Quinte area bi-monthly CA rally was held in Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle.

Host pastor Rev. James Dunlop welcomed all area visitors.

Rev. Niles Thorne of Brighton was the song leader for the evening. Rev. James McKnight of Belleville also participated. Trenton Bethel Temple choir under the direction of Rev. David Minor sang a number.

Trenton Bible quiz contestants tied with Brighton Bible quiz contestants; so will compete again on June 10th in Trenton Bethel Temple. Rev. Harold Dawson of Marmora was quiz director.

Announcements were given by Pastor Dunlop.

Guest speaker of the evening, Rev. Laurie Price of Toronto brought a challenging message on "The Church's Victory With the Power of the Holy Spirit".

Frankford Full Gospel CA's met on Friday evening at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Grant, R.R. 4, Frankford. They enjoyed a hay ride with the assistance of Mr. Grant and Mr. George Chapman. The CA's were accompanied by their pastor, Rev. James Dunlop and CA president, Keith Helm.

On their return the young people enjoyed hot dogs, cake and hot chocolate.

ST. JOSEPH'S C.W.L.

The regular general meeting of St. Joseph's Parish Council was held in the Parish Hall recently.

Director, Rt. Rev. J. A. Carley, installed the new executive as follows: president, Mrs. H. Carr-Brainz; 1st vice president, Mrs. G. Whalen; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. R. Clarke; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. B. LaBelle; recording secretary, Mrs. R. G. Armstrong; corresponding secretary, Mrs. T. Kelly and treasurer, Mrs. W. Buckley.

The retiring president, Mrs. D. V. Dumizie, was presented with the past-president's pin by Mrs. B. F. Belrose.

The new president introduced two girls from Nicholson Catholic College Sodality who spoke to the members about a planned holiday apostolate, of which they are a part. These girls are spending part of their vacation, at their own expense, in Fort Frances, and under the guidance of the parish priest will work among the Indians.

Club Activities

B AND P CLUB

Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club held its monthly meeting at Johnny's Restaurant Tuesday. The business meeting was chaired by president Ruth McMullen. Two delegates, Mrs. Nettie Brown and Mrs. Dorothy Ellis, were nominated by the members to attend a centennial workshop at York University, Toronto, the latter part of August.

Mrs. Colombe Bolt, chairman of the centennial float, announced that preparations were well under way for the parade July 5. The regional meeting will be held in Kingston the end of October this year. Members were reminded of the coffee party May 31 at the home of Mrs. G. Graham on the Trent Rd.

Miss Florence Fitzgerald installed the executive and committee chairmen for the coming year.

In the days of slow films and comparatively poor lighting he recalls that one to three second exposures were necessary for indoor portraits.

And if the subject moved you had to start all over again.

The couple are members of Bridge Street United Church and have been active in fraternal life. Mr. Clarke is a life member of Eureka Lodge, while Mrs. Clarke is a life member and past worthy matron of the Order of the Eastern Star.

To mark their anniversary, the couple received messages of congratulations from Opposition Leader J. G. Diefenbaker, Les Gricks and W. E. Sandercock and also a scroll from the Ontario government.

The couple have three daughters, Mrs. Betty Barker of Stoney Creek, Ont., Mrs. Doug las (Wilma) Reddick of Belleville and Mrs. Norman Cook of Harrowsmith, and one son Robert William Clarke of Burlington. There are 14 grandchildren.

The first hospital on an Ontario university campus is the 430-bed unit now being built at the University of Western Ontario, London, Ont.

Postma – Boersma

MR. AND MRS. JOUWERT (Jerry) POSTMA

A double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. G. Gritter in the "Maranatha" Christian Reformed Church recently when Elsie Tine Hilda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Boersma, West Huntingdon, Ontario, was united in marriage to Jouwert (Jerry) Postma, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Postma, Codrington, Ontario Mr. Bill Vankoeken played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white brocade gown. Empire waisted with lily-pointed sleeves, and a full train falling from the back neckline. Her veil was held by pearl studded flowers formed in a circular crown and she carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

The bride's sister Tina Boersma, was maid of honor, who wore a floor-length Empire waisted gown of cream peau de soie, with moss green headpiece. The bridegroom's sister, Alice Postma, was bridesmaid. She wore a floor-length Empire waisted gown of blue brocade and matching headpiece. The bride's niece, Ellen Yvonne Boersma, was flower girl who also wore a floor-length Empire waisted gown of pink brocade and matching headpiece. All three attendants carried nosegays of pink and white 'mums and carnations.

Bill Loonips of Toronto was best man and the ushers were Al Boersma and Gord Postma.

The reception was held in the church hall. The bride's mother wore a green-turquoise brocade with white hat and a corsage of white 'mums. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a cream dress with pink hat and a corsage of pink 'mums.

For the honeymoon trip to the Algonquin region, the bride chose a pale turquoise-blue dress with matching hat, white accessories and a corsage of white 'mums.

On their return, the couple will live at R.R. 2, Wartworth, Ontario.

50th Wedding Anniversary
For Mr., Mrs. R. C. Clarke

A family dinner with approximately 40 close relatives present, marked the 50th wedding anniversary Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. R. Clifford Clarke, 288 Ann Street.

Among those in attendance were members of Mrs. Clarke's immediate family from the Grand Rapids, Michigan area. Mr. Clarke is the descendent of a pioneer Belleville family and was born here 79 years ago. Mrs. Clarke is the former Nellie Gertrude Benton of Peterborough.

The couple married on the eve of Mr. Clarke's departure for overseas in World War I, where he served for 18 months with the 6th Battery Canadian Field Artillery.

Now retired, Mr. Clarke has spent a lifetime in photography and has a photo album of the early gold mining days in Northern Ontario that would be the envy of any photo collector.

In 1912 he joined McCormick's Studio in Belleville and with the exception of time out for war service worked there until retirement some years ago.

He still vividly recalls taking underground pictures at Timmins using the old fashioned flash powder for illumination.

Pope Names 27 New Princes of Church

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul named 27 new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church today. They brought the membership of the Sacred College of Cardinals to 120, the largest in the history of the Church.

The new cardinals will be elevated at a Vatican consistory June 26.

There were no Canadian appointments, but four Americans were created cardinals.

The new American princes of the church are: Archbishop John Joseph Krol of Philadelphia, Pa.; Patrick Louis O'Boyle of Washington, D.C.; John Patrick Cody of Chicago and Rt. Rev. Francis C. Brennan, who presides over the Sacred Rota, the Vatican tribunal that deals with marriage cases.

This gives the United States nine cardinals, the largest number it has ever had.

The largest membership of the College of Cardinals previously was 103 after the 1965 consistory, at which Pope Paul also named 27 new princes of the church.

Five Federal Byelections Held Today

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Voters in four Quebec ridings and the Northern Ontario constituency of Sudbury vote today in federal byelections, two of which have become unofficial tests of strength between the Liberal and New Democratic parties.

All ridings have long records as Liberal strongholds and were won by Liberals in the general election of November, 1963.

But in Sudbury and Montreal Outremont-St. Jean, the NDP launched strong byelection drives by swamping the ridings with small armies of door-to-door campaigners. Their thrust was particularly strong in Sudbury.

Other byelections are in Montreal Papineau, Richelieu - Verchères and Hull in western Quebec, where the major point of interest is whether Real Caouette's Ralliement Créditiste, which finished second in the general election, has been able to hold its strength.

Two of the vacancies were caused by resignations from the cabinet of former Justice minister Lucien Cardin in Richelieu-Verchères and former regional economic development minister Real Paiement.

The Hull and Sudbury seats became vacant with the deaths of Alexis Caron and Roger Mitchell and Outremont - St. Jean with the appointment to the Senate of Maurice Lamontagne, former cabinet secretary.

Liberals and New Democrats fielded candidates in all five constituencies. The Progressive Conservatives have candidates in all except Outremont-St. Jean where the returning officer disqualified Leopold Bouchard for soliciting names for his nomination papers, a violation of electoral laws.

The candidates:

Sudbury—Colin Caswell, PC; Mérédite Germain, NDP; Jacques Jerome, Lib.; Donald Land, Social Credit; G. W. Paasi, Ind.

Hull — Pierre Caron, Lib.; Jean-Claude Emond, PC; Raoul Gendron, Ind. Lib.; Richard Thibeault, NDP; Rene Villeneuve, Cred.

Papineau — Albert Cameron, Ind.; Michel Bisaillon, NDP; Andre Ouellet, Lib. Albert Pelletier, Social Credit; Raymond Rochon, PC.

Outremont St. Jean - F. L. M. Bonnier, Rhinoceros; H. Georges Grenier, Esprit Social; Dr. Denis Lazure, NDP; Aurelien Noel, Lib.

Richelieu - Verchères — Roland Corbeil, Cred.; Claude Lamoureux, PC; Paul Aime Rov, NDP; Jacques R. Tremblay, Lib.

Most attention has been drawn by the Sudbury fight in which the New Democrats hope to put a second hole in the 56-year Liberal stronghold of Northern Ontario.

The first hole was punched in the last general election when the party captured the adjacent riding of Nickel Belt and ran a strong second in Sudbury itself.

The Liberals sent Sudbury nine cabinet members and more than a dozen backbenchers for the campaign. The NDP sent 12 parliamentarians headed by National Leader T. C. Douglas who drew the largest audience of 700.

The Conservatives put five former cabinet ministers in the ridings.

Issues centred on the cost of living, housing and municipal tax relief.

Campaigns in the four Quebec ridings were listless, overshadowed by Expo.

Interest was slight and the few public meetings which were held were generally sparsely attended.

Some attention was drawn by the NDP drive in Outremont-St. Jean, where the party threw in some 200 campaigners.

One Papineau candidate used a pinnick to draw attention. NDPer Michel Bisaillon handed out 800 loaves of French bread labelled "symbol of the increase in the cost of living" to passersby.

Present Commons standings are: Liberals 127, Conservatives 95, New Democrats 21, Creditistes 8, Social Credit 5, Independents 3, and vacant 6.

Still vacant following today's byelections will be the Alberta riding of Jasper-Edson, where Conservative Hugh Horner resigned to contest successfully last week's provincial election.

Ability to Alter One's View Key to Truly Great Successes

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the business magazines recently had a glowing article about a man who took over a faltering company a few years ago, and transformed it into a highly successful venture.

He did this, the article said, mostly by allocating a lot more money for "research and development" — which gave the company a broader base to stand on and grow on. The man's "vision" and "imagination" and "flexibility" were praised by the magazine.

But what the article didn't say — perhaps because it did not know — was that this man had left previous job in a pet because he wasn't promoted from vice-president to president when the vacancy occurred. His rival — a man who had been with the company far fewer years — was given the presidency.

In the power-struggle, this man lost mainly for one reason — he opposed "research and development" for the company, thought it should stay where it was and not fritter away funds on expanding and diversifying. His rival won because he had more vision, imagination and flexibility.

This background, of course, is far more interesting than the subsequent success story lived. But only a handful of people know the background.

And the real "success story" is a psychological one as much as an industrial one. This man made it, not because he was right, but because he was capable of learning where and how he had been wrong. He was not vindicated by his new success; rather, he was indebted to his rival, and to the company that rejected him, for opening his eyes and his mind.

In the transition from one company to another, he chaverted his position and his thinking 180 degrees, which is not easy or comfortable for a middle-aged man with a great deal of self-esteem. It would have been much easier for him to find a company that shared his views, and to plod along the same path he had trodden for so many years.

He deserves his new-found success more than most men do. For by the time most of us reach his age, we value persistence more than resiliency, tradition more than innovation, continuity more than a radical break with the past. This is true, of course, not merely in business, but in education, in social services in the sciences, in government.

Yet the truly great successes (and not simply monetary ones) are scored by the men who are not afraid to reverse their field, to admit they had been wrong, to take a new tack when the wind blows from a different quarter. This is not being expedient: It is not sacrificing principle: It is merely acknowledging that much of what we like to call "principle" is merely a combination of custom, fear, and mullishness.

Holdup Suspect Escapes

TORONTO (CP) — A bank holdup suspect walked out of the Don Jail Saturday after fooling guards and a bail magistrate into believing he was someone else.

Norman Gerrard, 41, of Vancouver, answered to the name of John Bein, when a bondsman appeared to release Bein on $200 bail. Bein, 35, is charged with theft.

Gerrard was in Don Jail awaiting trial on a charge of robbing the Province of Ontario Savings Office.

He had been convicted of robbing the same savings office in 1958 and was released on parole in 1965—after serving six years of a 15-year sentence.

Jail Governor Gerald F. Whitehead said he was satisfied none of the guards was implicated in a plot to allow Gerrard to escape.

He said a total of 30,000 persons went through the jail in a year and the guards could not be expected to recognize every one.

Road Toll In Quebec Three Score

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

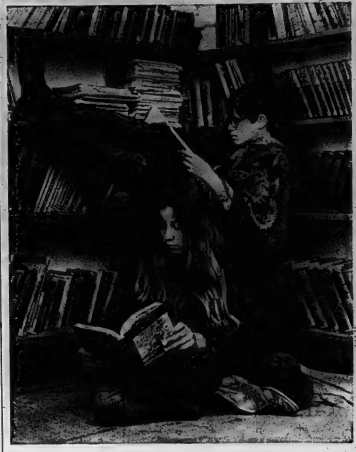
Fifty - eight traffic fatalities were reported among at least 75 accidental deaths in Canada during the weekend.

Ten drownings, three dead in airplane crashes and an electrocution were included in the list compiled by The Canadian Press between 6 p.m. Friday and 12 midnight Sunday, local times.

Thirty-four persons died in Quebec, 32 in car crashes, one in a fall and one in a plane crash.

Ontario reported 13 dead, eight on the highway, three drownings, one by fire and one in a train accident.

Priest Marries Divorcee



HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)— Rev. James A. Nelson, a Roman Catholic priest for 24 years, said Saturday he has been married to a divorcee for eight months.

Father Nelson, 53, said he continued as pastor of St. Augustine's Church "to demonstrate that priesthood and the sacrament of matrimony are not incompatible."

He was relieved of his priestly duties Friday when he revealed his marriage to Alma John L. Morkovsky, bishop of the Galveston-Houston Diocese.

The marriage was to Tlazaltecolin Gibler Ramos, 33, the mother of five children and member of his parish. She was divorced in September, 1964, from an air force major, the father of her children. The ages range from five to 14 years.

Father Nelson said he will look for a secular job.

Fine Painting Display Shown at Public Library

DESERONTO — A collection of paintings of scenes in and near Deseronto was revealed to the public last week held by the Library Board and about 200 people, many in period dress took advantage of the opportunity to attend. The collection which began three years ago, is the Centennial project of the library.

Several Deseronto artists have paintings in the collection. Catherine E. Smith's oil painting of the mouth of the Napanee River is in a quiet mood. Jennifer's Gardner's, in crayon, is a marked contrast, a sunset scene of the Quinte Narrows, vibrant and beautiful. Mr. Garnet Hazard's water color shows the Deseronto Post Office as seen from the park. Mrs. A. G. Wakelin's small oil painting called "82 Fourth St." shows the oldest house in Deseronto.

Oils by Mrs. Bea Williamson and Mrs. Dorothy Brown of Bellleville are on Centennial themes.

The latest item of the collection attracted much attention, as it was a combination of the old and new. Mrs. Muriel Anderson of Belleville presented to the board a painting of the old Deseronto ferry against a background of the still unfinished Quinte Skyline Bridge. It was accepted by Leonard Wilson, a board member. Mrs. Anderson is a graduate of the Ontario School of Art.

Mrs. Wakelin, who was in charge of the program, called on the Rev. A. F. Dowdell for the invocation and immediately afterwards the collection was unveiled by Mayor Gerald Lott. Mrs. Lott was presented with an arm bouquet of spring flowers by—Cheryl English, in quaint Centennial dress.

The paintings were in the reading room separated from the library proper by a curtain made up of the Centennial quilt blocks collected by the library in April.

Mrs. L. E. Tunnicliffe, the librarian, welcomed the guests and invited them to sign the guest book. Mrs. Donald Armitage was hostess of the dining room. The tea table, covered with an heirloom crocheted cloth, was centred by a silver basket of spring garden flowers contributed by Mrs. C. F. Dimmell. It was a most informal event, with guests helping themselves to tea and other refreshments. Mrs. Kay Hood and Mrs. Donald McMillan assisted in the background. Mrs. Tunnicliffe was responsible for arrangements for the event.

The cases were filled with many items of use in early days, and the newly renovated office upstairs featured a display of the handiwork of women such as quilts, rugs, embroidery and needlepoint. Among the quilts three were outstanding. One was the work of Mrs. ("Granny") Cole, made this winter, Mrs. Cole will be 95 in July. A second was the work of the late Mrs. Benson Brant, and each block has embroidered on it a subject of interest to her Mohawk people. Several are beads, and such things as the three Mohawk clan symbols, teepees and campfires. The third is the work of Mrs. Dorothy McCullough, who declares that she has worked at it off and on for 30 years, and finished it at her Centennial project. It is beautiful design, each block a basket of fruit.

Guests attended from Toronto, Belleville, Napanee, Camden East Robbin and Newburgh.

Destroy Skunk Suspected of Having Rabies

NAPANEE — A skunk suspected of being rabid, was destroyed in Napanee Saturday. The animal had been seen several times in the area bounded by Dundas, Mill and Hosford Street and Ragan Road, a two-block area. The town police were notified but at first were unsure of the proper steps to take. They consulted Inspector James Morgan of the S.P.C.A., recently appointed to the post for Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington and Frontenac.

When it was next seen the town police were notified Saturday and Sergeant L. V. McTaggart and Constable Warren Richardson responded to the alarm in minutes and the animal was shot. It was definitely diseased, mangy and miserable looking. As a precaution it was handled with rubber gloves.

There has been a lot of confusion as to the responsibility of citizens sighting an animal suspected of being rabid and consultation with Mr. Ferguson. Inspector Morgan and the Napanee Police Detachment has clarified the matter. A suspected dog or cat should be confined. If the animal is within a corporation, the town police should be notified and will take the necessary steps to dispose of it.

Should it be in the country, if it is a wild animal, one should notify the Department of Lands and Forests. If it is a domestic animal, such as a cow, horse, dog or cat notify the Department of Agriculture.

Students May Be Used

TORONTO (CP)— Education Minister William Davis said Saturday the government is investigating the possibility of organizing university students to conduct summer programs in social work.

Holiday Floods Expo With Americans

MONTREAL (CP)—The flood of American visitors was expected to continue today as total attendance figures at Expo 67 climbed past the 8,000,000 mark.

Bright skies and warm sunshine that pushed temperatures to a high of 81 degrees welcomed visitors to Expo. Large crowds came from the United States during their country's long Memorial Day holiday weekend. Memorial Day is Tuesday.

Expo parking lots were filled and cars displayed licence plates of more than two dozen American states.

By 12 midnight EDT, 422,194 visitors passed through the turnstiles for a total attendance since the April 27 opening of 8,047,065.

Expo officials said there were no major incidents during the weekend. They said police arrested three suspected pickpockets and that three cases involving pickpockets had occurred Saturday.

The pavilions and rides in the sentennial area were jammed and the Expo Express was packed throughout the day. Buses, taxis and subways to the fair were heavily taxed by the influx of visitors.

Sir George Williams University held its graduation exercises Sunday afternoon in Place des Nations and about 5,000 invited guests and Expo visitors witnessed the open - air ceremonies.

The university, believed to be the first ever to hold its convocation at a world's fair, conferred honorary degrees on six distinguished men, including Pierre Dupuy, commissioner-general of Expo, who delivered the convocation address.

Mr. Dupuy told graduating students he foresees a time when the Canadian population will be more than 100,000,000.

"Our country is entering a phase of development which foreigners will observe with amazement," he said.

He predicted that Montreal which now has a population of about 2,000,000, could have at least 7,000,000 inhabitants and that "there might be a score of Montreals scattered all over our territory."

Apart from the invasion by the masses from the United States, the British destroyer Hampshire arrived Sunday and fired a 21-gun salute as she entered Montreal harbor.

The 5,000-ton guided - missile destroyer, accompanied by the anti-submarine frigate Eurylus, is making the visit as part of Expo's visiting ships program.

Rear-Admiral Michael Pollock who arrived aboard the Hampshire and other officers and men from the two Royal Navy ships will participate in British's national day ceremonies at the fair Thursday.

Mayor Samuel Yorty of Los Angeles, and a party of nearly 100 television stars and journalists, arrived in Montreal for a visit to Expo. They came shortly after the departure of Mayor John Lindsay of New York and U.S. Postmaster-General Lawrence O'Brien, who had been in Canada since President Johnson's visit last Thursday to participate in that country's national day ceremonies at the fair.

Immigration authorities at the U.S.-Canadian border reported about a 30-per-cent increase in bus traffic into Canada and bus lines and airlines officials said extra facilities were being provided to handle the heavy traffic.

A Greyhound Bus Lines representative in Montreal said:

"We never had it so busy. Hopefully we have projected even busier days for the months to come."

Newspapers Reproduced by Wire

MONTREAL (CP)—A visitor from Hong Kong or the Fiji Islands can have a look at the front page of his newspaper at the world's fair about the time it hits the streets in his hometown.

Or he may wish to read the newspapers from other parts of the world—London, Paris, Lausanne or Melbourne—as they toll off the press, and have his wish granted.

All this is possible at the News-Fax exhibit in the Man in Control section of Man the Producer pavilion where front pages of newspapers from six corners of the world are received daily at two-hour intervals.

The six newspapers, transmitted by cable and regular telephone lines and received in Montreal by a facsimile recorder for projection on a screen, are:

Le Figaro of Paris, La Feuille d'Avis of Lausanne, Switzerland: The Star of Hong Kong; The Sun Pictorial of Melbourne; the Fiji Times of Suva; and The Daily Mirror of London.

John R. Hutchison, the pavilion director, said Sunday night the exhibit is part of the communications exhibit at the fair and was designed especially to show the advance in communications techniques.

It was the idea of Karl Boldt, scientific and technical adviser who developed the Man in Control project for Expo 67, and was largely made possible by the co-ordinating efforts of the Canadian overseas Telecommunication Corporation.

Mr. Hutchison said this is the first time ever that such an exhibit has been attempted. Visitors and staff members of the national pavilions have visited the exhibit on a number of occasions to have a look at the headlines in other parts of the world.

The communications exhibit includes a 12-minute presentation in the communications theatre before the visitors are directed to the News-Fax.

Montreal Invaded By Genial Army

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal was invaded this weekend by a genial army brandishing garish - looking cameras, sunglasses, rainbow-colored shorts, mammoth cars and mountains of luggage.

The army, unleashed across the 49th parallel to swarm over Expo 67, also flooded the city's restaurants, packed its hotels and occupied the downtown nightclub area.

Expo City was getting a preliminary taste of what summer holds in store for it. At least two dozen American states, from Maine to California, were represented by licence plates borne through Montreal on visiting cars.

Roland Patenaude, manager of the Quebec provincial tourist bureau, said Sunday that motels and hotels within the city seemed jammed but space was still available in some of the numerous private homes and apartment houses opened to accommodate the anticipated Expo flood.

"This has been one of Montreal's biggest tourist weekends ever but nothing like it's going to be in a few weeks," Mr. Patenaude said in an interview.

Some of the Americans were enjoying a long weekend stretching through Tuesday, Memorial Day in the United States.

There was no exact count of how many actually journeyed to Montreal for their holiday. But as indication the number may have been high if not unprecedented for such a period came from one border-crossing point which reported a record 18,000 U.S. cars checked through Saturday.

There were 268 U.S. buses at the station alone Saturday, compared with 13 last July 3.

Regular customers at Montreal restaurants found themselves lost in the vast crowd and somewhat forlorn.

Montreal's new subway system was clogged at times.

A company which operates and charters cars and buses for trips within the city and to and from Montreal International Airport said its total of 284 vehicles were all on be job during the weekend catering to a rush business.

A spokesman for the Montreal Transportation Commission, which charters buses in addition to its duties as operator of the city transportation system, said the weekend was not as busy for it as were those of July 4 and Labor Day in previous years. But the chartering business was brisk all the same, he added.

At the Montreal airport, Saturday was considered a "peak day" for incoming flights. All airlines operating flights from the U.S. reported extra sections on scheduled runs.

One major midtown hotel, in reporting all its rooms full, said the proportion of Americans ran to about 50 per cent.

Drapeau Honored

OTTAWA (CP)—Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal accepted a gold medal Saturday night for contributions to architecture through Expo 67, but he said hundreds of other persons, from planners and architects to truck drivers and laborers, deserved to share the award.

The medal, awarded by the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada for the first time since the Second World War, was presented to Mr. Drapeau at the institute's annual banquet.

Thousands of Skiers Enjoy Late U.S. Snow

PINKHAM NOTCH, N.H. (AP) — Thousands of skiers enjoyed a late-season snow bonanza on Mount Washington.

But the cold weather has been hard on the sun tanners and Tuckerman Ravine girl watchers.

At this season girls usually ski in shorts or swim suits in the vast 1,000-foot-high bowl. Sun reflecting from the glittering snow fields makes it warmer than a beach in midsummer.

But with a cold wind blowing Sunday only pretty Joanne Couture, 15, of Montreal tried a swim suit. After one shilly run down the slopes she hopped back into slacks and a sweater.

Unless it rains hot water, Tuesday should offer the best U.S. Memorial Day holiday skiing in the 40 years in which records have been kept in Tuckerman Ravine.

Two feet of snow fell Friday atop a snow cover that has hardly melted on the high slopes since winter.

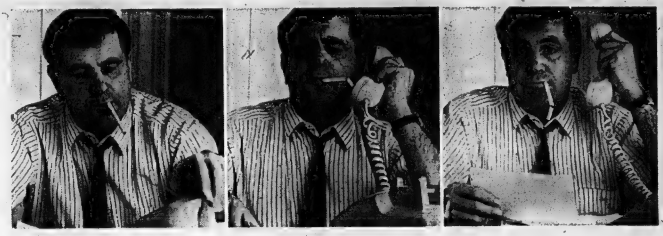
Snow is at least 25 feet deep in the floor of the ravine at tree line.

The ravine was closed briefly after the Friday storm because White Mountain National Forest rangers feared tons of new powder snow might cause an avalanche and kill someone.

However, Brad Ray, the chief snow ranger, reported that hurricane - force winds scoured most of the new powder off the face of the headwall, ending the avalanche danger.

Bruce Sloat, present club hutmaster says: "If this weather holds, the June skiing should break all records."

About 1,500 people hiked the two miles from a highway camp to the headwall Sunday.



One of them was Christopher A. Mills of Ann Arbor, Mich., a recent Amherst College graduate who lost a leg in a tractor accident eight years ago. He can ski and climb with the aid of arm braces. Most take two hours for the hike, he made it in 90 minutes.

There are no ski tows on 6,288-foot Mount Washington, highest peak in the Northeastern United States and notorious for stormy weather.

It's longer than luxury size. Longer than king size. Much longer than regular size. And that could be a problem.

You might close a book on the end of your Benson & Hedges 100. Or burn a hole through your morning paper.

Or, like one man we know, have the end snapped off by closing elevator doors.

But persevere. It's like getting more than three extra king size cigarettes on us.

Back home in Indiana they're not dreaming these days about the moonlight on the Wabash, they're visioning a heat spewing mechanical dragon that spins reel off 200 miles per hour in the famous "Indy 500."

If the "dragon" stays in one piece in tomorrow's 51st annual Indianapolis 500-mile race, the rest of the drivers may as well sit and watch.

Said Mario Andretti, one of the worlds finest and twice champion of the United States Auto Club, which sponsors the event, "If that car doesn't break down we won't be able to get near it."

That car is a turbo-powered job, the second of its kind in auto racing which will be driven by the world famous driver Parnelli Jones.

And if it does win there will be a touch of Canadian pride to go with the victory. The engines are made by the United Aircraft of Canada, Montreal, where owner Andy Granatelli picked it up. It is reported the car will be worth $300,000 and its turbo plant valored at $30,000 or thereabouts.

These engines push along executive aircraft, power snow-plows and will be used in the new turbo trains between Montreal and Toronto.

It is a far cry from 1909 when engines that could power a car in excess of 40 miles per hour were looked upon as being equipped with something supernatural. That year a bright-colored Marmon Wasp driven by one Ray Harroun negotiated and won the "500" at an average speed of 74.59 miles per hour.

"Then were the days," when the race, not yet a classic, attracted only American drivers. Today, names famous in auto-racing come from all parts of the globe. They're household in practically every Grand Prix in the world.

Unlike the average European, these drivers are not adherents of tradition. To the roaring symphonies of their rear-placed engines they go out to win and this they have done the past two years with a little better than ordinary effort — and luck.

Jimmy Clark, one of the world's "best cause he lady two years ago, won the race, pocketed over $150,000 — and a kiss — and went home to tell the boys across the pond that "a lovely piece of change was available in America just for driving right-to-left for a few hours.

Graham Hill and who hasn't heard of him, responded, came over last year and, if you remember, emerged from that sensational smash-up to edge pal Clark and win the glory and the gold.

Jim Clark, one of the world's best position and led for the first 70 the race, forced to drop out with engine trouble. Another driver who holds the pole position with a qualifying speed of 158.982 miles per hour, is again favored but the main sidewise glances are being cast at the Parnelli Jones Turbo baby.

The turbocar is operated on jet aircraft fuel, but as one writer put it, "it could go nearly as fast if owner Granatelli fuelled it with Chanel No. 5."

At that there has been some controversy over the car. In the final runs for the Memorial Cup classic it blew off waves of heat, which, other drivers complained, bothered them especially in the higher temperatures.

However Jones is proud of the car. He is quoted as saying: — "In all my years of racing I've never had so much power available to me. This thing will go 200 on the straightaway."

The turbocar is practically noiseless. Its only predecessor came to Indianapolis last year, but it never got off the ground, so to speak. Mechanical trouble developed and the driver never got a chance to get the car started in time.

Perhaps it was just as well. In that spectacular first-lap crash five cars piled up and tires flew through the air in all directions.

Reggie Smith has made a quick round trip from outfield to infield and back—with a stopover on the Boston Red Sox' bench.

But the versatile rookie still looks best to manager Dick Williams when he is circling the bases.

Smith, an early - season disappointment at bat for the hard-hitting Red Sox, broke loose Sunday by stroking three hits and flashing his speed to score three runs in a 4-3 Boston victory over Baltimore Orioles.

Elsewhere, Detroit Tigers trimmed Washington Senators 3-1 and climbed within one-half game of the American League-leading Chicago White Sox, who were blanked by California 5-0, New York Yankees shut out Cleveland Indians 5-0 and Minnesota Twins divided a doubleheader with Kansas City Athletics, winning the first game 4-3 and dropping the nightcap 7-2.

In Saturday's action, Washington drubbed Detroit 8 - 1, Cleveland downed New York 5-2, Chicago took California 3-1, Baltimore slammed Boston 10-0 and it was Minnesota over Kansas City 4-1 in a rain-shortened seven-inning encounter.

Smith, a .220 switch - hitter and all-star centre fielder for Williams' Toronto club in the International League last year, followed his manager up to the Red Sox this spring.

He doubled in the first inning Sunday, tagged up and raced to third on a foul pop near the first - base dugout, then scored when the Orioles tried to nail Carl Yastrzemski on a delayed double steal of second.

Smith singled in the fourth, zipped to third on Mike Andrews' single and beat the throw home on Yastrzemski's sacrifice fly to centre. In the seventh, he doubled again, took third on a bunt and tallied on a wild pitch.

That run enabled right-hander Jim Lonborg to gain his sixth victory against one loss despite a two-run homer by Frank Robinson, who leads the majors with 13.

With three hits in five trips into the plate, Smith boosted his batting mark 13 points to the .328 mark. He has hit .326 since returning to the lineup.

California's Jim McGlothlin stopped the White Sox on six hits for his fourth victory in five decisions while two Chicago errors contributed to three Angel runs. Don Mincher's double and Al Weis's boot produced a run in the fourth and Ken Berry's misplay on a single by Jim Fregosi helped the Angels push over two more in the eight.

Denny McLain, with last-out relief by Fred Gladding, hurled the Tigers past Washington before a crowd of 52,357 at Detroit —the largest in the majors this season. Dick McAuliffe's sacrifice fly and run-scoring singles by Willie Horton and Jim Northrup capped the Tigers' deciding sixth - inning flurry against loser Pete Richert.

Mel Stottlemyre fired a five-hitter, Mickey Mantle crashed his 13th homer and Charlie Smith hit his first homer of the season as the Yankees throttled the Indians at Cleveland. Stottlemyre squared his record at 4-4 with his third shutout of the year.

Bob Allison drilled a two-run double in the seventh inning, took third on an infield out and scored on a wild pitch by Chuck Dobson, keying the Twins' first-game victory at Kansas City and helping Dean Chance become the first AL pitcher to win eight games.

But two more doubles by Allison in the nightcap couldn't prevent Jim Kaat, a 22-game winner for Minnesota, in 1966, from taking his sixth loss in seven decisions. The Athletics tagged Kaat for three runs in the third inning, Mike Hershberger's two-run single climaxing the burst, and added four wrap-up runs in the eighth.

Wins $68,000 Stakes

'Furl Sail' Headed For Filly Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—Furl Sail, an lightly regarded entry in the season that it cost her owner $5,000 to make her eligible, took a firm grip on the three-year-old filly championship Saturday when she soundly whipped 12 rivals of the same age in the $68,200 Acorn Stakes at Aqueduct.

In scoring her seventh victory, five of them stakes, in nine starts this year, the Kentucky - bred daughter of Reviewed-Windsail, took the lead early in the one-mile run and hit the finish line three lengths in front. Her time of 1:35 3-5 tied the stakes record set by Cicada in 1962.

Quillo Queen was second, 1½ lengths in front of Peppermood. The triumph was worth $44,330 to Mrs. E. K. Thomas, owner and breeder of Furl Sail. The winner's share of the richest Acorn boosted Furl Sail's earnings for the year to $114,729.

Furl Sail paid $8, $4.80 and $3.20 after Jacinto Vasquez took her into a four-length lead at the head of the home stretch and coasted home.

Quillo Queen, an outsider ridden by Larry Adams, returned $17 and $7.20, while Peppermood, ridden by Bobby Unser, paid $6.60.

A 4m Cherry Hill, N.J., Circle M. Farm's Lady Sway won the $29,050 Colonial Handicap at Garden State Park by a head over the 8-to-5 favorite, Bold Da Nuit.

Lady Diplomat finished third. Lady Sway, scoring her first 1967 victory, paid $15.40, $6.40 and $4.20. Belle De Nuit paid $3.60 and $2.80. Lady Diplomat returned $3.60.

At Chicago, Wheatley Stable's Disciplinarian barely lasted to defeat Diplomat Way by a nose in the $28,200 Sheridan Stakes at Arlington Park.

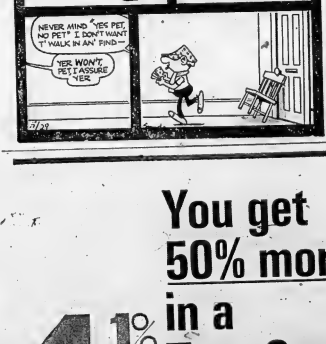
Bold Ambition finished third as the six furlong race for three-year-olds.

Disciplinarian earned $16,950, was timed at 1:11 1-5 over a dull track and paid $5.80, $4.20 and $3.20. Diplomat Way paid $6.20 and $3.80.

REGGIE SMITH

Desert Trial won by three-quarters of a length over First Invitation with Countess Candy third, in 1:35 2-5.

Desert Trial, owned by Mrs. Vanderbilt Adams, paid $7.60, $5 and $3.60. First Invitation $14 and $7.20, and Countess Candy $7.



April Dawn returned $5.40, $3.80 and $3. Florics paid $10 and $5.80, and Amerigo's Fancy $4.40.

Don Mincher's double and Al Weis's bunt produced a run in the fourth and Ken Berry's misplay on a single by Jim Fregosi helped the Angels push over two more in the eighth.

Denny McLain, with last-out relief by Fred Gladding, barred the Tigers past Washington before a crowd of 52,357 at Detroit —the largest in the league's this season. Dick McAuliffe's sacrifice fly and run-scoring singles by Willie Horton and Jim Northrup capped the Tigers' deciding sixth - inning flurry against loser Pete Richert.

Mel Stottlemyre fired a five-hitter, Mickey Mantle crashed his 11th homer and Charlie Smith hit his first homer of the season as the Yankees throttled the Indians at Cleveland.

Stottlemyre squared his record at 4-4 with his third shutout of the year.

Bob Allison drilled a two-run double in the seventh inning, took third on an infield out and scored on a wild pitch by Chuck Dobson, levying the Twins' first-game victory at Kansas City and helping Dean Chance become the first AL pitcher to win eight games.

But two more doubles by Allison in the nightcap couldn't prevent Jim Kaat, a 25-game winner for Minnesota, in 1966, from taking his sixth loss in seven decisions. The Athletics tagged Kaat for three runs in the third inning. Mike Hershberger's two-run single climaxing the burst, and added four unearned runs in the eighth.

Wins $68,000 Stakes

'Furl Sail' Headed For Filly Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—Furl Sail, so lightly regarded early in the season that it cost her owner $5,000 to make her eligible, took a firm grip on the three-year-old filly championship Saturday when she soundly whipped 13 rivals of the same age in the $68,200 Acorn Stakes at Aqueduct.

In scoring her seventh victory, five of them stakes, in nine starts this year, the Kentucky - bred daughter of Revoked-Windsail, took the lead early in the one-mile run and hit the finish line three lengths in front. Her time of 1:35 3-5 tied the stakes record set by Cicada in 1962.

Qualo Queen was second, 1½ lengths in front of Pepperwood.

The triumph was worth $44,- 330 to Mrs. E. K. Thomes, owner and breeder of Furl Sail. The winner's share of the richest Acorn boosted Furl Sail's earnings for the year to $114,- 729.

Furl Sail paid $8, $4.80 and $3.20 after Jacinto Vasquez took her into a four-length lead at the head of the home stretch and coasted home.

Qualo Queen, an outsider ridden by Larry Adams, returned $12 and $7.20, while Pepperwood, ridden by Bobby Ussery, paid $6.60.

At Cherry Hill, N.J., Circle M. Farm's Lady Sweps won the $25,000 Colonial Handicap at Garden State Park by a head over the 8-to-5 favorite, Belle De Nuit.

Lady Diplomat finished third.

Lady Sweps, scoring her first 1967 victory, paid $15.40, $6.40 and $4.20. Belle De Nuit paid $3.60 and $2.80. Lady Diplomat returned $3.60.

At Chicago, Wheatley Stable's Disciplinarian barely lasted to defeat Diplomat Way by a nose in the $28,200 Sheridan Stakes at Arlington Park.

Bold Ambition finished third in the six furlong race for three-year-olds.

Disciplinarian earned $16,950, was timed in 1:11 1-5 over a dull track and paid $5.80, $4.20 and $3.20. Diplomat Way paid $8.20 and $3.20. Bold Ambition returned $7.80.

At Inglewood, Calif., favored fillies swept honors in Hollywood Park's new race, the Hollypark Ladies Handicap, raced in two divisions.

Jockey Bill Shoemaker was successful in the first division on April Dawn, and veteran Merlin Bolden, a substitute rider, won aboard Desert Trial in the second.

Each section of the feature was worth $28,413, and the winning owners collected $16,473. The distance was one mile.

Desert Trial won by three-quarters of a length over First Invitation, with Countess Candy third, in 1:35 2-5.

Desert Trial, owned by Mrs. Vanderbilt Adams, paid $7.80, $5 and $3.60. First Invitation $14 and $7.20, and Countess Candy $7.

April Dawn returned $5.40, $3.80 and $3. Florics paid $10 and $5.80, and Amerigo's Fancy $4.40.

Leafs Race Pack For 2nd Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rochester Red Wings continued to show their power as International League leaders during the weekend, pulling into a four-game lead over their nearest rivals.

But Toronto Maple Leafs jumped into the middle of the chase for second place in which only 2½ games separate six teams behind the Red Wings.

The Red Wings won 6-0 but lost 9-2 in a Sunday doubleheader with Syracuse Chiefs, after nipping Buffalo Bisons 2-1 Saturday while the Leafs passed Richmond Braves to climb within 1½ games of second-place Columbus Jets by beating Buffalo 1-0 Sunday and Syracuse 5-2 Saturday.

Columbus beat Jacksonville Suns 10-6 Saturday and Toledo Mud Hens 4-3 Sunday. The Mud Hens defeated Richmond Braves 4-2 Saturday while the Braves split a doubleheader with Jacksonville Sunday, winning the opener 5-1.

Winner of his qualifying heat in 15.1 seconds, Maya's final effort was 2-10ths of a second ahead of the mark set by Clint Nutal of Thornhill, Ont., in 1960.

Maya, a six-foot, two-inch, 185-pound end with Oshawa Hawkeyes junior football team last year, dropped out of the high jump at the Ontario Track meet. But he said he was "kind of happy" with his hurdles victory.

The Ontario championships, held at McMaster University, were saved from the rain by a new, all-weather track imported from Trinidad.

The track, called Gruester, was made from a mixture of tar and chopped sugar cane.

The rain had little effect on the track and did not hurt the athletes' times, which were proved by Doug Scarrow of Perth who raced to a new Canadian record in the open two-mile.

Scarrow splashed his way to a 8:17.6 victory, beating the Canadian record — 8:12.8 held by Terry Dooley of Vancouver, at his own provincial and meet marks of 9:16.3 and 9:18.6 set in 1965.

The pole vaulting duel between Doug Morris and Dave Barrett, both of Toronto, had been touted as the highlight of the meet with both jumpers aiming for the 15-foot mark.

However, the rain delayed the vaulting event and cooled off the jumpers. Barrett failed in three attempts at the 13-foot level and Morris only made it at the next height.

Had Six For Seven
Torre On Rampage In Mets' Split!

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Torre, Atlanta's Brooklyn-born catcher, went on a six-for - seven tear Sunday that helped the Braves gain a split of their doubleheader against New York. The Mets took the opener 6-3 before Atlanta captured the nightcap 7-3.

There were only three other Sunday games played in the National League. Pittsburgh Pirates edged Cincinnati Reds 3-2, St. Louis Cardinals slugged Philadelphia Phillies 8-3, and San Francisco Giants dropped Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2, Houston's game at Chicago was rained out.

Torre, a first schoolie Saturday, Houston edged Chicago 2-1, Los Angeles doubled San Francisco, 10-5, Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh 6-1, New York took Atlanta 4-3 and St. Louis throttled Philadelphia 11-4.

Torre smashed a bases-empty home run and two other hits in the first game but couldn't overcome four hits and five runs batted in by Tommy Davis as the Mets won their third straight.

Torre drove in three runs with three more hits in the nightcap and Denny Lemaster's five-hitter bathed a four-game Atlanta alibi.

Davis had two home runs and finished with six hits and seven RBI for the day.

Torre's tear lifted his batting average 28 points to .312. Davis' averages zoomed 28 points to .333.

Roberto Clemente, who leads the National League with a .385 average, drove in two of Pittsburgh's three runs against the Reds. He singled Maury Wills home in the first inning and then clouted his 10th home run of the season in the sixth.

Juan Marichal's eighth inning sacrifice fly drove in Willie Stargell with the winning run after Cincinnati had tied it on single runs in the seventh and eighth.

Lou Brock smacked three hits, stole two bases and scored twice, leading St. Louis past Philadelphia. Brock, who has hit safely in 11 straight games, lifted his stolen base total to 21 —tops in the majors.

Steve Carlton allowed seven hits and won his third game in four decisions.

Gaylord Perry turned a six-hitter and the Giants' 12-game across three runs in the first inning against Claude Osteen, boosting Joe Dodgers.

Jim Davenport and Hal Lanier delivered key doubles in the Giants' four-run fifth. Willie Mays' run-scoring single produced San Francisco's final run in the Giants' Davis' twoout single in the eighth deprived Perry of the shutout.

Stock Car Race Won By Veteran

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Jim Paschal, 41-year-old veteran of 26 years on the tracks, drove a Plymouth to victory in record time Sunday in the World 600-mile stock car race before about 70,000 fans.

Paschal, from High Point, N.C., led most of the way. He survived a collision with less than 100 miles to go but still had enough left to beat second place David Pearson, a Ferary-Ford driver, to the finish line by 12 seconds.

Paschal's share of the $130,000 purse was $29,025, including a sizable share of the lap money.

Paschal averaged a record 135.833 miles an hour for the distance. The old 600-mile mark of 135.042 was set last year by Marvin Panch.

Lawn-Boy does a great job on your lawn without making a lot of noise about it.

Everyone hates a loud power mower. Especially Lawn-Boy engineers. They've devised dozens of ways to make a Lawn-Boy likably quiet.

Lawn-Boy, for instance, has the largest muffler you'll find on any mower. It's tucked away under the blade housing where the turf helps muffle sound even more.

There are other things: like a fiberglass shroud to quiet the engine. And a special motor mount to dampen vibration. And a big air cleaner that keeps dirt out and noise in. They're all in the name of quietness. And they all work so well that the '67 Lawn-Boy is a conversation piece instead of a conversation killer.

If Lawn-Boy takes this much care with quietness, you can imagine how fussy they are about quality and performance. That's why a Lawn-Boy starts easier, cuts better and lasts longer than any other mower you can buy. There are 8 Lawn-Boys to choose from this year, including a new electric model.

Visit your Lawn-Boy dealer soon. You'll like what you hear.

The '500' Question
Will 'Turbo' Hold Together?

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — American auto race drivers, who are mostly Scotsman and an Englishman wheel into Victory Lane for two straight years, have sound hopes of enduring the treed Tuesday in the 51st 500-mile Memorial Day race.

Parnelli Jones, a former winner, was virtually conceded his second victory in the event if his revolutionary STP-Pratt and Whitney turbine car holds together for the distance.

Italian-born Mario Andretti will start from the No. 1 position and carry No. 1 on his car. He earned the numerals separately—the pole start with a record 168.982 qualifying speed in a Brawner Hawk Ford; the one painted on his car by winning the U.S. Auto Club championship last year.

The front row will be rounded out by Dan Gurney in one of his own Eagle Fords, and Gordon Johncock, who finished third last year, in a Gerhardt-Ford.

Although Jones' qualifying speed earned him only a second - row start, he had been babying an aging gear box on the 10-mile trial run. After a new transmission was built by an Indianapolis firm specializing in helicopter gears, Jones showed in practice he could pass anybody in the field.

Jones, 1963 winner, will share the second row with A. J. Foyt, Jr., the 1962 and 1964 winner, and Foyt's team-mate, former motorcycle champion Joe Leonard, in Foyt - designed Coyote Fords.

The third row lineup will be Lloyd Ruby, who led in the 1966 race until his engine failed, and brothers Bobby and Al Unser of a famous Albuquerque, N.M., racing family.

Mechanical troubles and late qualifications left the five fastest eight starters far back in the field. Jim Clark of Scotland, 1965 winner, will start 18th, Denis Hulme of New Zealand 24th, Jackie Stewart of Scotland 29th, 1966 winner Graham Hill of England 31st and Jochen Rindt of Austria 32nd.

100 Metres
Equals World Record

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Jimmy Hines of Texas Southern University equalled the world record of 10 seconds for the 100-metre dash Saturday night as he upset Nebraska's Charlie Greene at the California relays.

After Harry Jerome of Vancouver sped off to the early lead, Hines passed him midway to the tape and won as Greene fell trying to lean into the tape while finishing third.

Hines' time matched the record in 1960 and it has been equalled by Jerome, Horacio Esteves of Venezuela and Bob Hayes of the United States.

Four watches caught Hines at 10 seconds and the fifth had the speedster from Oakland, Calif., at 9.9.

Oregon State freshman Willie Turner finished second. Watches also caught him at 10 seconds with Greene and Jerome each at 10.1. Jerome placed fourth.

Another Canadian, Bill Crothers of the East York Track Club of Toronto, finished second in the 880.

Dennis Carr of the University of Southern California won the event in 1:47.7. Crothers' time was 1:47.8.

Dave Bailey of Toronto won the mile in 4:01.1, one of the best times in North America this season. Bailey was the first Canadian to break the four-minute barrier with a clocking of 3:59.1 in San Diego, Calif., June 11, 1966, when he came in third behind Jim Grelle of the U.S. Air Force and Roger Bannister of Britain.

Bailey's time Saturday was 3:52.4.

Cementmen Defeat Madoc 9-6

Spotting the opposition a 6-1 lead, the Point Anne Cementmen ripped back to defeat a Quinte-KASA Madoc squad 9-6 in a Trent Valley Softball League game in Madoc Saturday afternoon.

The win was Point Anne's second in as many starts and left Madoc with a 1-1 record. Madoc, having trouble getting their team out in this early going, was the league player-shortage due to a Saturday-night hockey banquet.

However, three of the club's four hits, including a two-run triple by Atkinson, gave Madoc a 2-0 lead in the second frame. Two walks, a hit batter, Grifith's double and passed balls built the lead to 6-1 in the third.

Ron Maracle replaced starter Mike Cook on the On-point rubber during the third and pitched-in relief-hit over the remainder. Maracle struck out 16, including eight in succession at one point, while walking three.

Leo Masters started, gave way to Larry Griffin in the fifth, then moved back onto the rubber from shortstop in the seventh for Madoc. They allowed 13 hits, whiffed 14 and walked ten.

Akey doubled home the Cementmen's initial run while a walk, Maracle's double and Horwood's fly ball placed the second. Akey also ignited a three-run fifth frame with a triple when G. Maracle singled and Rosebush hit his first pitch. Griffin dished up four walks and a two-bagger to G. Maracle, good for two runs in the sixth while free passes and hits by D. Maher and G. Maher plated the final pair in the seventh.

David Akey slammed a triple, double and two singles to spark Point Anne. Glen Maracle hit a double and single and Dennis Maher two singles. Eric Maher, Rick Rosebush and Ron Maracle doubles, Jim Horwood and Gerry Maher singles.

Larry Griffin doubled and singled, Atkinson tripled and MacMurray singled in a losing cause.

Lancaster Named West MVP

CALGARY (CP) — Quarterback Ron Lancaster, who led Edmonton Eskimos Roughriders to their first Grey Cup last year, today was named most valuable player in the Western Football Conference.

Announcement of the award was made in Lancaster, the fourth Saskatchewan player since 1946 to win the Jeff Nicklin Memorial Trophy which was won by Pat Mahoney of Calgary, president of the Western conference.

The trophy is named for Lt.-Col. Jeff Nicklin, captain of Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the WFC when he died in the 1939 Grey Cup, who died in action in 1945 as commanding officer of the 1st Canadian Parachute Battalion.

Lancaster's 1966 performance included these WFC season records: A 60-per-cent pass-completion average; 2,501 yards gained passing; 28 touchdown passes and an average 16.3 yards gained on each pass completion.

Toronto City Ties N. York In Opener

NEW YORK (CP) — Toronto City opened its United Soccer Association season Sunday with a 1-1 draw with New York Skyhooks before a crowd of 21,871.

Toronto City, represented by Hibernian of Edinburgh, scored after 22 minutes but handed the lead back when Ian Scott dialled the score.

Benedicto Ribeiro, who starred on attack for New York, represented by Cerro, of Montevideo, Uruguay, took advantage of a Toronto City defensive lapse and scored from about 20 in the first frame yesterday and Belleville cut the margin in half in the second frame. The winner added the clincher in the sixth.

Roger Hunter toed the starting rubber for Belleville and took the loss before a blister on his foot forced him out in the fourth inning. Bill Latchford completed the chore. They gave up six hits, struck out 13 and walked two.

The two walks came in the first inning after headoff man, Reid got on base via an error at shortstop. Two passed balls, one of the free tickets and Billy McMillan's double chased the two runs across.

In the Lombanks' fourth, Asselstine singled with one out for his club's first hit. Mavety did the same and M. Hunter struded to fill the sacks. After a strikeout, Woods singled to drive in the run but Scott went down on strikes to leave the bases loaded. The losers had at least one man on base each inning thereafter but could not score the equalizer.

Thompson singled, advanced on a wild pitch and came home on Griffin's two-bagger for the final 3-1 count.

Ron Fleury started on the Little Britain mound but gave way to Tom Halbert in the 5th. They combined for a six-hitter while blowing third strikes past seven and walking four.

Belleville's half dozen hits, all singles, were divided among Cecil Roundmeyer, Pat Asselstine, Larry Mavety, John McKibbon, Wayne Woods and Larry Soole.

Ken Griffin and Billy McMillan clouted a double and single each to spark the victors' attack. Mike Herr also doubled and Tom Thompson singled.

Bow To Little Britain 3-1

Lombanks Lose To "Lefties"

Belleville Lombanks ran head on into the "Southpaw Syndrome" in the OBA Senior baseball tilt Sunday afternoon and came home from Little Britain on the short end of a 3-1 score.

Little Britain paraded nine left-hand batters to the plate and started another southpaw on the mound. The strategy worked to give Belleville's record at one and one.

Lombanks make their next start at Bowmanville Wednesday night with Kingston supplying the opposition. Game start at 8:00 at the Fairgrounds.

Little Britain stomped twice for 2-0 in the first frame yesterday and Belleville cut the margin in half in the second frame. The winners added the clincher in the sixth.

Roger Hunter toed the starting rubber for Belleville and took the loss before a blister on his foot forced him out in the fourth inning. Bill Latchford completed the chore. They gave up six hits, struck out 13 and walked two.

In the Lombanks' fourth, Asselstine singled with one out for his club's first hit. Mavety did the same and M. Hunter strolled to fill the sacks. After a strikeout, Woods singled to drive in the run but Soole went down on strikes to leave the bases loaded. The losers had at least one man on base each inning thereafter but could not score the equalizer.

Thompson singled, advanced on a wild pitch and came home on Griffin's two-bagger for the final 3-1 count.

With The Trotters

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Jacqueline G was the featured 1-year-old Trotting Race at Western Fair Raceway Saturday night, pacing the mile in 2:07 2-5 and returning $11.30.

A daily double of $64.30 resulted when Victory Dale won the first and Scrapper Chief the second.

Tommy Direct and Ann's Boy combined in the fourth for an exactor of $52.80. The tenth-race exactor was $41.80 with Mocky Direct and Count Lou coming in first and second in that order.

TORONTO (CP)—Adios Alice won the $4,000 Long Branch stakes at Greenwood Raceway Saturday night by 2½ lengths over last year's victor, Dean Herbert.

Armbro Biogo, winner in the first race, and Paul's Signal in the second, combined for a daily double of $21.80. Adios Alice and Dean Herbert paid $23.90 in the exactor.

HAMBURG, N.Y. (CP)—Roo Water, which finished last to Romulus Hanover in last Saturday's $175,000 Messenger Stakes at Roosevelt Raceway, won the $3,000 pacing feature at Buffalo Raceway Saturday night. The daily double of Joel Walker and Come Who paid $38.20, largest return of the season.

City Minors Win Three Lose Two

Belleville clubs in the EOBA minor series won three games and lost a pair in a busy weekend schedule.

The bantams, unsponsored, whipped Ajax 11-0 on Wayne Farrell's no-hitter. Lions Club blanked Carmel 6-0 in pewees and Booth TV's downed Port Hope 5-3 in midgets.

Peterborough doubled the score against Holy Rosary pewees 12-6 while Oshawa trounced Ellis midgets 11-1.

Wayne Farrell was given four runs to work with in the first frame and he took it from there while spinning the 7-inning no-hit pitching chore against Ajax. He received errorless support while striking out 14. The only Ajax player to reach base came on a walk.

Belleville collected nine hits and 10 walks off loser Mitchell. Glen Carleton led the way with a double and single. Terry Meagher singled twice, Paul Hall doubled, Stan Brooks, Moe Thompson, Barry Cuthbert and Austin Wilson singled.

Blane Mullins of the Lions Club almost had a no-hitter against Carmel but was tossed for a single by Marsh. He fanned six and walked two. McCaffery gave up just three hits in defeat, walking nine and passing seven. Andy Ricketts hammered a triple and single for Belleville with Billy Coughlin's single the only other safety.

Booth tykes built a 3-0 lead then held on against Port Hope. Tim Whelton lost his no - hit bid in the fifth inning when he hit 3 while giving up three hits. He walked two. Brown and Clayton each allowed four hits in the feat, striking out eight and walking six. Tim Whelton, Mike Kirby and Bob Holloway singled for Belleville's hits while P. Taylor tripled, R. Freeman doubled and Earl John singled for Port Hope.

Peterborough combed Wayne Andrews, Allan Wood and John Mulvihill for 12 hits in beating Holy, Rosary, whistling five and walking eight. Lewis and Byrnes gave Belleville six hits, struck out 11 and walked two. David Smith had a double and single, John Mulvihill two singles, Allan Wood and Mike Barbey a double each in defeat. Morvey, Kingdon, Gilmour and Carter paced the Peter with two hits each.

Oshawa midgets mapped a sucoress tie with four runs in the third and racked Belleville pitchers Ted Shaw and Terry McTaggart for 14 hits. They fanned 16 and walked five. Wayne Blanchard pitched seven-hit ball, struck out 13 and passed six for Oshawa. Doug Green singled twice for Ellis with Mike Hosley batting a triple. Steve Moore, Ron Jury, Bob Burke and Randy Castellaria a single each. Bernie McQueen and Wayne Blanchard led Oshawa with a double and two singles each.

Barber Takes Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Miller Barber smiled in the sunshine of victory today after beating Gary Player in a playoff for the Oklahoma City open golf tournament title after rain delayed play of the final round for one hour and 45 minutes.

"I didn't remember it felt so good," said Barber, who rolled in a two-foot birdie putt on the third hole of a sudden-death playoff. "This is nice. I'm very, very pleased."

Barber's only other victory in a nine - year professional tour career was the 1964 Cajun Classic. Here he was the unheralded challenger as he steadily pulled into a tie with Player on the back nine, and then birdied the final hole to cause the playoff.

Barber and Player both had 68s Sunday, being tied with young Dave Stockton after 54 holes. Stockton opened strongly in the first round, going four strokes under par, but he shot a five-over-par 41 on the back to limp in with a 73.

George Archer had a 280 total, good for third place, and Billy Casper and Kermit Zarley were at 282. Stockton and Bob Charles, who fired a 67 Sunday, were tied for sixth at 283.

First prize money was $13,200, and Player took home $7,822 for second.

British Writers

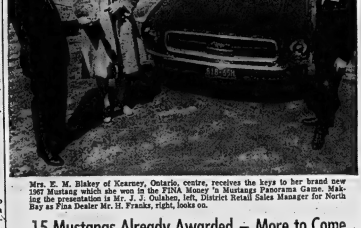
Blast Expo 67 Soccer

LONDON (CP)—The six-country soccer tournament opening Wednesday in Montreal is an attempted confidence trick that could backfire on England, a London sports writer says.

"Soccer at Expo 67 may be the best thing the Canadians have seen, but the rest of the football world can regard it as little more than a sophisticated con trick," writes Laurie Pignon in The Daily Stotch.

The teams sent to Montreal are not true national squads but league clubs or pickup sides, Pignon says.

England's reputation as a world-beater could be damaged if one of the other teams at Montreal defeats the English squad, formally styled as England. Football Association team rather than "England."



The English team includes only four members of the side that won the World Cup last summer, "but if they are defeated, watch the winner crow. 'We have beaten the champions,'" Pignon says.

Daily Mail writer Brian Glanes, apparently unaware that hundreds of thousands of British and continental soccer fans have migrated to Canada, says the English team sent to "the backwoods" has a duty to add soccer as a spectacle to "the football illiterates of Montreal."

Win Sailing Finals

VANCOUVER (CP) — Peter Byrne and Jeff Davis of Vancouver's Kitsilano Yacht Club Sunday won the right to represent Canada in Flying Dutchman class sailing at the Pan American Games at Winnipeg July 22 to Aug. 7. They edged out brothers Roger and Stewart Green of Toronto's Royal Canadian Yacht Club in the last six races, winning by half a boat length in the final race.

CANADIAN CHOICE

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's East End Boys' Club will represent Canada in the water-polo competition at the Pan-American Games in Winnipeg July 22-Aug. 7, it was announced Saturday night. The East End Boys' Club, current Canadian waterpolo champions, were selected at the end of the first two days of the North American Waterpolo championships.

WINS TROPHY

MONTREAL (CP)—The New York Athletic Club secured a pair of victories in the finals of the North American Waterpolo championships Sunday to win the Stewart F. Molson Trophy for the second consecutive year. The U.S. waterpolo champions defeated Montreal's East End Club, current Canadian champions, 13-8 and shaded Ottobacher Schwimm Club, West German champions, 9-8 in the final.

NEW MR. UNIVERSE

MONTREAL (CP) — Sergio Oliva, five - foot - eight, 200-pounder from Chicago, Saturday won the Mr. Universe title at world championships conducted by the International Federation of Bodybuilders of Montreal. He won by a close margin over Vick Downs of Toronto, who is a previous holder of Mr. Toronto, Mr. Ontario and Mr. Canada crowns. The Mr. Canada senior event was won by Mike Gales of Toronto.

CANADIANS LOSE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco Gales scored a resounding 6-1 victory over Vancouver Royal Canadians in the second match of the new United Soccer Association Sunday before about 8,177 fans. The Gales are represented by the AUO club from Holland. Vancouver is represented by Sunderland of England.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — He's a Smoothie, owned by Bill Beasley, set a Canadian record Saturday as Woodbine when he won the $11,250 Eclipse Stakes Handicap.

The 5-r boy, with Herb Hinojosa in the saddle, covered a mile and one-sixteenth in one minute, 43 and two-fifth seconds, erasing by one-fifth of a second the record set by Victorian Era last September 17.

Victorian Era, last season's horse-of-the-year was third, behind Bye and Near.

PRACTISE IN EAST

HALIFAX (CP) — Nova Scotia's first boy scout jamboree is planned to start July 15 in the Musquodoboit Valley, "Scoutennial 67" will bring together 1,000 scouts from throughout Canada and several other countries. The week-long camp precedes the world jamboree in Idaho, which many of the scouts will attend.

Skeet Shoot

Rules Affect Field

ST. JANVIER, Que. (CP)— The usual controversy gambit among top North American skeet shooters is: "How many of them did you miss?" But at a turn-about competition Sunday the phrase was: "How many did you hit?"

Most of the 29 contents at the two - day international - style skeet shooting championships hit fewer birds than they normally do at skeet events and some even complained they felt like Quick Draw McGraw, playing under a strange set of rules.

Exceptions were Rob Rodela of Allentown, Pa., who blasted a near-perfect score to lead the field half-way through the competition, and Fred Laporte of Montreal who was second.

Some of those who did not have as well explained it is difficult enough to hit a small clay target moving at 50 m.p.h. when you are standing all ready to shoot. When you are not completely set and the bird accelerates to 70 m.p.h. as it must under international rules, even the most experienced shooters have trouble.

The tough international rules, which tournament officials said were being given their first major trial in Canada, attracted only 29 shooters in contrast with the 300 expected here later this week for events under North American regulations.

New Tourney For Squirts And Midgets

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) The Silver Stick International Tournament one of the world's largest minor hockey series, Saturday announced plans to include squirt and midget players in its competition.

The tournament, first held in Richmond, near Ottawa, has been held in Port Huron, Mich., for peewee and bantam age boys for the last five years.

The squirt and midget tournament will be held in Flint, Mich., in January, 1969. The new tournament will follow the pattern and regulations of the Port Huron Silver series which had more than 200 teams in regional qualifying rounds with 60 finalists for competition in Port Huron.

Teams are divided into two divisions according to population over and under 15,000.

England Defeats Austria

VIENNA, Austria (Reuters)— England, the world soccer champions, gained their second victory in four days here Saturday by defeating Austria, 3-0.

England, with two changes from the team that beat Spain 2-0 in London Wednesday, won through a 20th minute goal from Alan Ball, one of six World Cup final players on the team.

The victory gave England revenge for a 3-2 defeat by Austria in London in October, 1965. Following that game England played 18 games without defeat, including the World Cup final.

England has not been beaten on the Continent since February, 1965, when they fell 5-2 to France in the European Nations Cup competition.

Celebrates Return

Grubb Adds Four Winners To String

TORONTO (CP) — Jockey Richard Grubb failed Saturday to extend his Canadian record of seven consecutive thoroughbred victories at Woodbine Raceway but the day wasn't a complete loss.

Grubb, who set his record by winning the last seven of eight races on May 10, finished last with Harry Man in the first race Saturday but came back to win four races and place second twice on the remainder of the card.

The 18-year-old jockey, a native of Ridgeway, Ont., had been suspended for 10 days until Saturday for reckless riding. Grubb, who was an apprentice jockey when he set the Canadian record, became a full-fledged jockey Saturday.

He's A Smoothie, owned by Bill Beasley, won the $11,250 Eclipse stakes handicap and set a Canadian record with the time of 1:42 2-5 over the 1 1-16-mile distance. Victorian Era, last year's horse of the year, was third—behind Bye and Near. Grubb, after a disappointing showing in the first race, won the second with Chilkoot, the third with Big Rhobar and second in fourth with Saith Son, the fifth the eighth with Fast Answer.

Drama Festival Over

Canadian Theatre Still Evades Adjudicator's Definition

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Adjudicator Guy Beaulne had to resign Saturday night on a centennial-flavored promise a few nights earlier to give the final night audience at the 1967 Dominion Drama Festival his answer to the question "what is Canadian theatre?"

Although all six plays were written by Canadians—an unprecedented in the history requirement of the DDF this year —Mr. Beaulne said shortly before he handed out the coveted awards:

"I must admit that I do not know what is Canadian theatre. Because all that I have seen on this stage was part of a national drama festival of Canadian plays. And yet all these plays were so different.

"Some had a message. Some had none at all. Some were historical plays. Some had no special identification, no Canadian tag. Some were pure entertainment. . .

"Until this festival, I believe, has come closer to the answer. It could be that we will not know when is Canadian theatre until we've found ourselves as nation."

The festival did, he said, reveal talent "ready to give Canada cultural prestige unknown to this day if the country will give this talent an opportunity to develop and live."

One talented young Canadian playwright who doesn't strive for a distinctly Canadian "style" is Robert Gurik, 34, a Montrealer who saw his new work Le Pendu pick up eight of 14 awards Saturday night.

Mr. Gurik, interviewed Sunday, said it is normal that the author's familiar environment may show in his work, but he doesn't see Canadian authors striving for this type of Canadian stamp on their plays as a primary goal.

"Theatre is a reflection of a human being, how he thinks, and that is a complex thing," Mr. Gurik said. "For me, theatre is not a political task or a social task; for me it is simply an artistic thing."

Mr. Gurik's play, performed by Le Theatre de la Manderaye, a dramatic group which he formed a little more than a year ago with his wife and a few key personnel, was praised by the adjudicator as a "strong and virile performance." It was the only French-language entry among six performed.

It won top awards for best full-length production and best Canadian play, besides winning awards for its author, Mr. Gurik; director Roland Laroche; set and costumes designer—Mrs. Gurik. Pascal Desgranges received the best actor award for his portrayal of the father of Yoneli, a boy around whom the story revolves.

The production which took the second number of awards was The Broken Jug, an adaptation by Toronto author Donald Harron of a German Classic. In Mr. Beaulne's view, this was an example of the type of translation which receives too little attention from Canadian playwrights.

It won the festival plaque for best English play, excluding the winner of the top trophy given by the DDF.

In The Broken Jug, performed by the Guelph Little Theatre, Kathy O'Brien was named best supporting actress. The performance also took awards for its lighting and set design.

Terry Tweed, a 21-year-old Torontonian performing with the Central Ontario Drama League Players in Martin Benter's Out Flow The Web and Floated Wide, was named best performer under the age of 21.

John Destry Adams, playing the title role in the Vernon Little Theatre's production of Gilliam, won an award and bursary offered by the Banff School of Fine Arts to anyone between the ages of 17-35.

Gilliam brought special praise to its authors—Vancouver journalists Peter Wilson, Myles Murchison and Pat Loglo. The adjudicator said they ran a close second to Le Pendu in the competition for the best new Canadian play, and deserved "special mention."

TV-Radio Column

Letters From Viewers Rarely Influence Content of Program

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — So you sit down and wrote an angry letter suggesting changes in the television program. Did it have any effect.

Probably not.

Testimony from producers at all three major networks indicates viewers' letters rarely influence program content.

Says Paul Monash of ABC's Peyton Place: "We get an average of 1,000 letters a week about 20 of them with story suggestions and ideas about characters: 'If anything happens to so-and-so I'll never watch the show again.' 'Let Rodney and Betty get married.'

"They give us an idea of what some people in the audience are thinking, but basically I have to rely on my own instincts."

Has Monash ever followed a viewer's suggestion?

"Not really. For one thing, the shows are planned and written 15 weeks ahead of the air date. What the audience is responding to is something that already has been determined.

"Secondly, we're not allowed to adopt ideas for nothing. We could possibly be open to a lawsuit."

Next is Perry Lafferty, CBS-TV programming chief in Hollywood:

"If you get a number of complaints along the same line—like 50 letters a week, or 150 or 200 —and if the people have made a good suggestion, they may have some effect."

"The first time we used a little girl on the Danny Kaye show we got a lot of mail, which probably stopped up our ear for a week.

Gene Roddenberry, producer of NBC's Star Trek, recalls:

"At pickup time we were in danger of not being renewed, and NBC got a flood of mail. It was bound to have some effect, but I don't think that the work could be pushed into anything."

The show, filming for next season, draws about 4,000 letters a week, a surprising number, Roddenberry says, from scientists, teachers, professors and scientists. They offer compliments, challenge scientific slip-ups, or seek information.

Attitude Toward Mixed Marriages Changing Says Sammy Davis' Wife

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Seven years ago, Swedish actress May Britt married Negro entertainer Sammy Davis Jr., thus writing an apparent end to her promising career in films.

Today she is back in Hollywood to act in a television film, and her return to public performing has caused no particular stir.

"I think people have gotten used to us," she commented. "Also I think that people's attitude toward mixed marriages may have changed in seven years.

"And I'd like to think that the example of Sammy and me may have contributed to a more mature attitude."

The climate was different when she married Davis. May—pronounced My—Britt had been one of 20th Century-Fox's new stars. After five years under contract to Carlo Ponti in Italy, the willowy Swede had come to America to star in Murder, Inc., The Young Lions—the only film she recalls with pleasure—The Hunters and The Blue Angel—"I still don't know why they remade it."

Everyone agreed in Hollywood that her marriage to Davis made her unhirable for movies.

"Oh, no one came right out and said it," she remarked. "But I had my talents cut, and I could tell what was going on.

"My contract was dropped at the next option, which was the studio's privilege."

The actress retired to be Mrs. Sammy Davis Jr. and mother of Mark, now 7, Tracy, 6, and Jeff, 2. In the years following she added three or four artsy offers.

"But that may have partly been because most people believed I wasn't interested in acting again," she said. "And I wasn't particularly.

"I am not one of those frustrated housewives. I think career and husband and children is a lifetime job, and a challenging one. Also, I was married to a man who had in turn a great deal. Someone had to stay home and care for the children."

Recently Davis's agent brought her an offer of a starring role with Van Heflin and Horst Buchols in a drama for the new Danny Thomas anthology on NBC. She telephoned Davis, touring in Europe, and he gave his approval.

She believes that her hiring for a television drama reflects a more mature clientele in race matters. "I'm sure the producers must know that the sponsor will not protest," she said.

Skipping Breakfast Might Cause Ulcer

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you comment on the advisability of skipping breakfast as an aid in reducing? Couldn't this lead to ulcers, as the stomach is left empty? Many young people think skipping is the easiest way to cut calories. — E. F.

It could contribute to ulcers in folks who have a tendency in that direction, but I'm not convinced that even that is the best argument against skipping breakfast.

Breakfast is an important meal — the first meal after a night of fasting. It provides energy to start the day. Many a tired individual who has been a breakfast-skipper or a poor breakfast eater finds vigor much improved just by getting the habit of a regular breakfast.

It needn't be a large meal, or high in calories. A boiled or poached egg provides protein. Fruit juice adds vitamins and some energy. Crisp bacon, with the grease blotted away, is another source of protein. Even talking some of the low-calorie food supplements is better than no breakfast at all.

But skipping breakfast or any other meal is not necessarily the high road to losing weight. You may eat more at the next meal, or be forced into doing some snacking or candy - munching between meals.

Furthermore, successful reducing is not achieved by partly starving yourself in spurts. Effective reducing means getting enough of the foods you need for energy, body building and health, but not eating anything extra which will be stored in the body as fat.

Having regular meals, but smaller quantities, and limiting of foods which are exceptionally high in calories, is the one wise pattern for reducing and staying reduced.

Dear Dr. Molner: Do you have a pacemaker on bunions? Mine is worse this year than ever. — Mrs. E. S.

No, I haven't felt that a bookiet on bunions would be of any great benefit. A bunion is a form of bursitis. A joint of the toe (usually the big toe) has been pushed out of position until the bones, or sac which protects the joint, has become inflamed and swollen.

As a rule the distortion of the joint is such that no home remedy will get it back to normal. Sometimes special braces or "toe posts" are used to try to work the toe back towards its original position, but when a bunion has developed to a chronically painful extent, surgery is usually required. You will limp for some time afterward, but it is worth it. And then make certain that you do not wear shoes which crowd the toe to start the trouble over again.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor has put me on a diet for cholesterol, and I would like to know what foods I can and cannot eat. Everyone I talk to has a different suggestion. — L. F. C.

Stop talking to everybody and stick to the diet your doctor told you to follow. When in doubt, call him.

Dear Dr. Molner: I had a hysterotomy 3½ years ago because a Pap test discovered cancer of the cervix. I have been having hot flashes and other symptoms of change of life, although I am only 38.

The doctor gave me hormones, which have done wonders, but I remember reading that hormones will make a cancer grow if it is present. What is your opinion? — A. R.

I assume that you had a complete hysterectomy, including removal of the ovaries, causing what we call "surgical menopause."

Removal of the ovaries deprived you, a little sooner than Nature would have, of some of your natural hormone supply. The hormones your doctor is giving you merely replace that loss.

The cervix has been removed; I see no reason for you to worry.

Welfare Department Report Ready in Three Weeks Time

The report of Reginald Tucker, provincial welfare department official, now making an investigation into the operation of the Belleville welfare department is not expected to be ready for at least another three weeks.

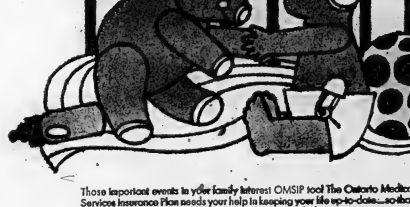
Mayor Jack Ellis said this morning that Mr. Tucker has been in the city for about two weeks and will likely be another two weeks before making his report.

Mr. Tucker is making a very thorough study of our welfare department operation and will send to analyze his findings before making his report to the department deputy minister," the mayor said.

If Mayor Ellis said council will have to wait for the report from the provincial welfare department.

City council voted to have Mr. Tucker come to the city after it received reports from the special mayor's committee which last winter investigated complaints regarding the city department.

The minority committee report submitted by Alderman Enos David recommended that the tenure of office of the Belleville welfare administrator be reviewed.



Kenneth LaPalm Re-elected As Director

North American Van Lines Canada Ltd. announced today that Kenneth LaPalm of R. LaPalm Movers Ltd., Belleville has re-elected a director of the North American Van Lines at a recent annual meeting at Toronto.

They also reported a 16 per cent increase in 1966 and a record-breaking first quarter for 1967.

OMSIP needs to know... Whats new in your family?

Those important events in your family interest OMSIP too! The Ontario Medical Services Insurance Plan needs your help in keeping your life up-to-date...so that, for instance, you get instant coverage of your new baby...or your own, once age when you lose twenty-one...perhaps even reduced rates if you should lose your income!

We suggest you tear out this check-list and keep it handy—and do let us know about these changes in your family.

A Change of Address. Moving's a busy time, but please take a minute to drop us a line.

Marital Status. When you get married, you'll want to put your wife on your own OMSIP contract.

Birth. Please advise OMSIP within 30 days after the baby is born, or adopted, so you'll get effective coverage immediately. Otherwise, there's a 3 month waiting period after notification.

Turning twenty-one. When a dependant comes of age, he is no longer covered by his parent's contract and must take out his own coverage. Again, let us know within 30 days for continuous coverage, or you must expect a 3 month waiting period after notification.

Loss in Income. If your income is reduced or stopped because of unemployment, illness, disability or retirement, you may be eligible for premium assistance. Please make special application to OMSIP.

Old Age Pension. If you are receiving Federal Old Age Security, you do not receive OMSIP coverage automatically. So if you wish to join OMSIP, please apply.

Death. Upon the death of a contract holder, the new head of household should notify OMSIP. Please let us know as well if a dependant dies.

This information, kept up-to-date in your file, helps make sure your OMSIP claims are settled fast. But whenever you write OMSIP, be sure to include your name, address and contract number. Address all OMSIP correspondence to OMSIP, 135 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto 7, Ontario.

Nova Scotia Electoral Campaign Fails to Generate Wide Issues

HALIFAX (CP)—Leaders of Nova Scotia's three political parties wound up their campaigns for Tuesday's provincial election during the weekend as the weatherman promised mostly sunny skies and warmer temperatures for the 405,000 eligible voters.

Their generally - quiet campaign ended almost as it started with Premier Robert L. Stanfield claiming his Conservative government is moving as fast possible to cure the province's economic ills and opposition spokesmen retorting the government is moving too slowly.

Mr. Stanfield's Conservatives, who held 39 of the 43 seats in the last legislature, have campaigned mainly on the government's record and much of their campaign literature has been focused on the 53-year-old premier.

Liberal Leader Gerald Regan, who resigned his Commons seat before the last federal election to take over the provincial party, has centred his campaign on the party's promise to assume all operating costs of education.

The Liberals held the only four opposition seats in the last legislature.

The New Democrats, led by James Aitchison, Dalhousie University political scientist, have fielded both old - line parties have been issuing promises for the last 100 years but have not delivered Nova Scotia from its economic troubles.

As the campaign closed, speeches by the three leaders reflected claims made almost since the election was called.

Mr. Stanfield told a party rally in the county Nova Scotia town of Truro that, say turn to Liberalism by the electorate would mean "certain disaster" for the province's economy. A Liberal victory would immediately plunge the province into a deficit of $50,000,000.

"Contrary to what opposition spokesmen has been saying, we have no revenue available this year which is not being spent," he said.

Mr. Regan, who said earlier the government has been underestimating revenue available, told a rally in the east shore town of Sheet Harbor that campaign promises made by the Conservatives would cost just as much as the Liberals.'

Although both platforms were expensive, the Liberals' was better because it recognizes priorities and would be paid for on a more just and flexible level.

Mr. Aitchison told a meeting in the Cape Breton town of Glace Bay, centre of the coal-mining where he is running, the NDP candidates would be willing to put up a vigorous fight for Cape Breton's rights.

"We are scrappers to a man," he said. "We need fighters for the people of Cape Breton, not people who go to Halifax just for the ride."

No major rallies are scheduled today.

The Conservatives are seeking their fourth straight mandate after ending 23 years of Liberal rule in 1956.

Redistribution since the last election has added three seats to the Halifax area, bringing to 43 the number in contention.

Polls are open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. ADT.

Lightning Sets Bed Afire

LONDON, Ont. (CP)— Lightning hit a row of townhouses in a London subdivision Saturday afternoon, striking a bed where a woman slept and setting a bedroom alight in another of the 16 units.

In the same brief, electrical storm, a lightning bolt bounced into a house in another subdivision.

No one was injured.

Mrs. Harold Hyatt, 51, was sleeping when lightning cracked the chimney, flashed into the bedroom and hit the bed.

Mrs. Bell said a bomb - like noise awakened her.

Mrs. Bell left the room to call her son-in-law and when they returned they found the mattress was burning, and there was a saucer-sized hole in the ceiling beside the chimney.

The lightning simultaneously hit the chimney three units away, and two beds caught fire immediately.

A lightning bolt struck the driveway and bounced into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burns punching two holes in the ceiling.

"It was like a streak of red fire!" Mr. Burns said.

Mr. Burns, who had been watching the storm, said the lightning bolt knocked him back from the window.

In Stratford lightning struck the home of Mrs. George Herman, setting bedclothes in an upstairs bedroom on fire.

For one London couple, it was the ninth time lightning had struck a home in which they were living.

Lightning Saturday struck the chimney of the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Marsh, set fire to two beds and knocked out their hydro service.

They have lived in three houses in the London area in the last 15 years.

"The first time we were hit by lightning . . . it came down the chimney . . . and melted a metal lamp," Mrs. Marsh said.

They lived in their next home for nine years and lightning struck seven times.

"One time it took out the doorbell and the radio, another the stove and the lights and once the TV," Mrs. Marsh said.

The family is moving into a new house again next month.

Ambulance Act Said Mockery

CHATHAM (CP)—The president of the Ontario Ambulance Operators Association charged Sunday that the new Ontario Ambulance Act makes a mockery of the hoped-for standardization of ambulance services across the province.

Douglas Arbour, who said he worked for months with provincial officials in designing the legislation, said more than half the ambulances in the province would be exempted under "escape clauses" in the Act.

Ambulance services which do not receive municipal grants will be exempted, he said. This includes more than half the ambulances in Ontario.

Also, if a municipality certifies an ambulance service is adequate, the Minister of Health may exempt the service from the rules.

"If this regulation is allowed to stand, any municipal clerk in Ontario can, without any knowledge of the service and the municipality will never itself from any expenditure in this important area," he said.

Mr. Arbour has asked for an immediate meeting with Health Minister Matthew Dymond to protests.

Bethel Zion

BETHEL-ZION — Mr. and Mrs. John Minister spent last Saturday in Ottawa attending convocation at the Eastern Ontario Institute of Technology where their son Gerald was graduated with honors in Chemical Technology. Gerald has accepted a position with the National Research Council in Ottawa.

The fireworks display and wiener roast on Monday evening was enjoyed by a large crowd at the community hall.

Mrs. Allen Lott has returned from Belleville Hospital where she was a patient for some time.

Mrs. Harry McCreary and Mrs. Murney Simmons of Belleville called on Mrs. Ish and Mr. William Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ketcheson have returned to Ontario after having spent the winter months in Florida.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For May 30

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Private affairs take precedence over external matters. Important now to be quiet within. Solution to problem is within. Know this and be receptive. Avoid confusion.

Hellyer at Trenton

Recall Home Irks Guardians of Peace

By MAURICE SWITZER
Staff Writer

TRENTON—The initial group of Canadian troops withdrawing from the Middle East are irked about the "bum's rush" treatment some of them feel they have received.

A number of the first arrivals this morning expressed obvious displeasure at being "ordered" from their peace-keeping task by Egyptian president Gamel Nasser. The prevailing mood seemed to be actually a mixture of relief and resentment.

Relief that they were home again, but resentment because, as one soldier put it, "It's just as if the United Nations Force had wasted several years there."

The men were among the 720 Canadians serving with the United Nations Emergency Force in the Gaza Strip. Their evacuation was demanded this week by United Arab Republic president Nasser.

The first of seven Yukon aircraft flights arrived at 5.45 this morning, circling the base to time their arrival soon after that of Defence Minister Paul Hellyer.

Also on hand to greet the first 128 troops as they disembarked was Gen. Jean V. Allard, chief of the defence staff, who were the new green armed forces uniform.

Commending the party for their Middle East duty, Mr. Hellyer said "I know just how difficult a passing you have had -away from your homes and families for such a long period of time, and operating under such difficult circumstances."

"For that reason it has been all the more appreciated that you have been doing everything within your power to try to maintain peace in the world and to prevent war from breaking out."

The defence minister flew from Ottawa to greet the contingent and returned immediately following the arrival of the second party at 7.20 a.m.

The troops, many of whom were carrying rifles and submachine guns, passed through customs after the usual debriefing. Several of them living in eastern Ontario and Quebec were greeted by members of their families. The remainder dispersed to their homes all across Canada.

An army corporal, when questioned about a set of golf clubs slung over his shoulder, told newsmen the Canadian contingent in Gaza enjoyed the pastime to avoid boredom, and had organized a club. "When we had to leave on such short notice we split up all the club's assets, and rattled off the equipment."

Handshakes Are in Order

The first group of 720 Canadian troops evacuating the Gaza Strip are greeted at Trenton's Canadian Forces Base this morning by Defence Minister Paul Hellyer.

Firemen Fight Blaze At Chinese Pavilion

MONTREAL (CP) — A three-alarm fire today heavily damaged the interior of the Nationalist Chinese pavilion at Expo 67.

There was no immediate estimate of damages, but reports from the scene said the contents of the colorful pavilion appeared to be a total loss.

Expo's own fire - fighting force and additional men and equipment from Montreal battled the outbreak in the pavilion located on the St. Helen's Island part of the world exhibition site.

There were no reports of any injuries.

Other pavilions in the area of the outbreak include those of the Brewers' Association of Canada, the Bell Telephone Company of Canada Ltd., Air Canada, and Iran, but at no time were they in danger.

The Chinese pavilion was sponsored by the government of Chiang Kai-shek. The Communist government of mainland China is not among the 62 countries represented at the fair.

The fire was believed to have started in an upstairs theatre of the two - storey pavilion. There were a watchman and three employees in the building at the time. They smelled smoke and gave the alarm. This was shortly after 7 a.m.

Flames were pouring out the front door when the first of the 120 firemen from 12 stations answered the alarm. They were unable to gain entrance to the building for some time. Aerial ladders were brought into play to allow them to get at the flames from above.

Firemen believed that any art treasures in the building would be found destroyed or at least severely damaged by smoke and water.

U.S. Planes Attack North Vietnam Bases

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force Thunderchief jets attacked one of North Vietnam's major MIG bases again today, cratering the runway and thwarting efforts to get the field back in operation.

The raid on the Hoa Lac airfield, 20 miles west of Hanoi, was the ninth since it was first hit April 24th.

Ground action was light.

U.S. military headquarters said initial reports of the Hoa Lac raid indicated the field again was made unusable. Returning pilots said anti-aircraft fire around the field was heavy but no North Vietnamese MIGs rose to challenge the raiders.

A spokesman said the raiders flew through generally clearing skies in the Hanoi-Haiphong area, which has been covered by clouds for the last few days.

The spokesman said 120 missions were flown over the north Monday, concentrating on rail, road and water traffic from the Hanoi area south to the border.

Scattered ground fighting was reported in the Mekong Delta, the Central Highlands and in the U.S. marine area just below the demilitarized zone.

In the delta, U.S. infantry killed 3 Viet Cong soldiers in several sharp fights. The Viet Cong succeeded in hitting three helicopters, downing two of them.

U. S. Officials Silent On Middle East Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States clung today to a policy of silence on the Middle East crisis, with officials hoping secret diplomacy would find a way to avoid an Israeli-Arab war.

A state department spokesman said his silence was "merely designed not to tilt the balance of diplomacy which we've worked so hard to achieve."

He was understood to mean diplomacy and restraint on both sides so far had staved off a showdown and created time in which a solution to the underlying problem may be found.

Today's Chuckle

Mother to finicky child: "Eat it, dear. Just pretend it's mud."

Egypt has threatened a blockade of the entrance of the Gulf of Aqaba against Israeli ships and any ships carrying what Egypt describes as strategic cargo in terms of their blockade policy.

Normally, it is said here, Israel has obtained 90 per cent of its oil from Iranian fields on a reverse arrangement with refineries at air-day intervals by four Liberian-flag tankers.

From Eilath the oil has been piped to Haifa on the Mediterranean coast where it is processed in a refinery.

Whether Israel might find alternative sources of supply temporarily or arrange for shipments directly to Haifa is a question which authorities here are either unwilling or unable to answer.

Nasser also said he had Russia's support for his blockade of the gulf.

Soviet Premier Kosygin, The Associated Press quoted Nasser as saying, promised that Russia will "use any country to interfere until things return as they were in 1956."

That was the year of the invasion of Egypt by Britain, France and Israel in an attempt to seize the Suez Canal after Nasser had nationalized it.

In Jerusalem, Premier Levi Eshkol told Israel's Parliament he expects the big Western powers to make a combined effort to keep the gulf open for international shipping without discrimination.

The United States and Britain urged the UN Security Council to ask all sides in the mounting dispute to shun belligerence and stressed their belief that the Egyptian blockade was a belligerent act.

In Washington, the state department said it had no confirmation of the reports and that it did not believe there were any U.S.-owned ships carrying Liberian registration in the area.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: A large high pressure system over Northern Ontario will maintain clear skies over most of the province for the next two days. A pattern of daytime temperatures in the 60s and overnight lows in the 30s will continue over the forecast district for several days.

Douglas Hails Byelection Win

OTTAWA (CP) — New Democratic Leader Douglas said Monday night his party's triumph in the Sudbury byelection and strong showing in Montreal Outremont - St. Jean indicate growing support for the NDP across Canada.

"This seems to support the opinion polls that have been taken across the country," he said in an interview. "We've increased our percentage of the vote in all these byelections."

He noted that the 1965 Liberal majority of 8,000 votes in Outremont - St. Jean was cut to 1,300 by the NDP candidate in the byelection.

Mr. Douglas hailed the NDP upset win in Sudbury as an indication that his party "could make some real gains in a provincial election in Northern Ontario."

"Let's take no chances. Stock up on both Vodka and Bourbon!"

Dymond's Help Not Asked

TORONTO — Provincial government agencies have not been asked to intervene in the Naspanee hospital dispute, Health Minister Dymond said last night.

The year-old hospital recently was organized by the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario — the first time such action has ever been taken against a hospital by the nurses' group.

The action followed breakdown of negotiations over dismissal of three nurses by the hospital.

Dr. Dymond said neither his department nor the Ontario Hospital Services Commission had been asked for assistance in resolving the dispute.

Inquest Underway

TORONTO (CP) — Patients and a hospital guard Monday gave conflicting evidence on where fire alarms were sounded during a blaze at a Workmen's Compensation Board hospital here March 21 in which one man died.

They were testifying at the inquest into the death of Francesco Gualtieri, 36, victim of the early-morning fire.

Gualtieri's death touched off a controversy when Dr. Morton Shulman, then Metropolitan Toronto chief coroner, accused the government of covering up evidence in the case.

Egyptian Navy Ships Fire on U.S. Tanker

CAIRO (CP)—Egyptian Navy ships fired a warning shot across the bows of an American-owned Liberian tanker trying to run the blockaded Gulf of Aqaba Monday and forced it to turn back down the Red Sea, the authoritative newspaper Al Ahram said today.

This was the first report of the Egyptian navy firing or turning back a vessel from the gulf since President Nasser more than a week ago cut off Israel's vital sea outlet through its port of Eilath on the gulf.

The Egyptian president claimed the gulf and the Straits of Tiran leading up to it are Egyptian territorial waters.

NDP Wins Sudbury Seat Liberals Hold Others

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New Democratic Party door knocking cost the minority Liberal government an Ontario seat in one of five federal byelections Monday, but the Liberals had little trouble retaining four in Quebec.

Melville (Mel) Germa, 47, an armature winder at Copper Cliff, Ont., for the International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd., won Sudbury for the New Democrats in his second try for a seat in the Commons.

His edge over James Jerome, 34, a Liberal lawyer, was slim.

Mr. Germa, who ran second to Liberal Rodger Mitchell in the last federal general election in 1965, conducted a house-to-house campaign that has become an NDP trademark. He advertised, as the campaign neared an end, that his knuckles were sore.

Progressive Conservative Colin Carwell, Social Credit candidate Donald Land and independent G. W. Rae were on the outside looking in at the Liberal-NDP fight.

Liberals elected in Quebec were: Pierre Caron, Hull; Andre Ouellet, Montreal Papineau; Aurelien Noel, Montreal Outremont - St. Jean; and Jacques R. Tremblay, Richelieu Verchieres.

The Liberals gained 34 per cent of the total vote in the five ridings, exactly the same percentage as in the 1965 election. The NDP percentage rose to 24 per cent from 16 per cent while the Progressive Conservatives, with one less candidate than in 1965, dropped to nine per cent from 14 per cent. The Creditiste-Social Credit percentage was down to 12 per cent from 13 and the total for other candidates was one per cent compared with three per cent in 1965.

The total vote in the Quebec ridings was 60,802, only 38 per cent of the 104,755 who voted in 1965. The Sudbury total was 29,126, 36 per cent of the 1965 total of 29,671.

Over-all total vote was 89,801 or 69 per cent of the 1965 total of 134,42 .

The results left the Liberals with 131 seats in the 265-seat Commons—still a minority.

Trial Uniforms

These new uniforms of Canada's armed forces are to be tested for a trial period of nine months, beginning immediately. From the left are the uniforms of an air force sergeant, an army captain. The uniform is dark green in color. Officers' caps will have gold trim on the peak.

Nursing Tested in Times of Chaos, Graduates Told

By RETA LAWRENCE

Thirty-seven dreams came true on Monday evening when graduation exercises took place at Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School. In uniforms of spotless white, costlier than any gown 37 young women received their diplomas from the Belleville General Hospital School of Nursing. The atmosphere of the auditorium was fraught with pride as parents, relatives, friends, sweethearts and teachers watched the graduating class of 1967 take its place on the platform.

W. A. Shannon, warden of the County of Hastings, introduced the guest speaker, Miss Louise Jamieson, consultant of nursing services to the Ontario Hospital Services Commission.

Miss Jamieson has worked under the Canada Colombo Plan in India, and during World War II served with the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps in Camp Borden, Africa and Italy.

The speaker said: "Nurses must be able to cope with complex and exacting techniques brought about by automation. It is not enough to know, when using an electronic pacemaker that you push a button to put it in motion. They must be able to understand the underlying scientific principle in order to use it safely and efficiently.

"Nurses should also be able to assume responsibility for leadership in view of the fact numerous categories of auxiliary nursing personnel will depend on her for guidance and instruction.

"We must not allow the pendulum to swing too far in the direction of academic learning to the detriment of those values of humaneness. Science is not an alternative to humanism, nor is it inconsistent with it. We can give a medication concentrating on techniques or the response to a drug and the patient will be safely nursed — but will not be well nursed. He will feel lost, alone and frightened because he will sense that our interest is focused on techniques and not on his needs as he sees them.

"Only when we combine the two qualities — intellect on the one side, humanism on the other — can we have a true balance. This is not easy to do, it is an art that can be cultivated only with attention and practice.

"Don't let anyone tell you the pioneer days in nursing are over; nursing in its two threes of change — the horizons are unlimited. A new reformation has started. In times of chaos, medicine and nursing have made their greatest strides."

D. W. Davenport officiated at the organ during the processional, recessional and for the musical numbers presented by the school of nursing choir under the directorship of Mrs. D. Reilly.

Dr. H. M. Davis, minister of Bridge Street United Church pronounced the invocation. H. A. Hamilton, chairman of the hospital board of governors, took charge of the ceremonies.

Greetings to the graduating class were tendered by His Worship, Mayor J. R. Ellis, on behalf of the city of Belleville; Dr. J. N. Hart, president, for the Medical Staff Association; Mrs. W. G. Harvey, president, for the Women's Hospital Auxiliary; F. C. Richard, administrator for Belleville General Hospital, and by Mrs. K. M. Flindall, director, on behalf of the School of Nursing.

Mrs. Flindall said, "Your class has the distinction of being the graduating class of the centennial year. This school of nursing is honored, also by being given the opportunity to send a student nurse to Expo to be a delegate at the Intensive Observation Nurses' Station at Expo 67. The student chosen for this by the student body is Miss Elizabeth Pelton of the class of 1968."

"It is 82 years since the Belleville General Hospital School of Nursing graduated its first five students. Nursing education has changed tremendously since then but there will be even more dramatic changes in the years ahead, with the establishment of regional schools, the new two years plus one year internership nursing course and eventually a two-year course.

"Each of you in the graduating class brought with you the potential required to become a professional nurse. Tonight, we are happy to see you receive this recognition. Each one of you will be an asset to whatever community you live in during the years to come. Be proud of your profession be proud of your school be proud of yourselves."

The Canadian Nurse award, presented by Miss Doreen Lowery, is given to a student who has been the most outstanding in her work during the first year of training.

Miss Ruth Geen of Maple, Ontario, was the valedictorian.

Miss Andrea Green dedicated this year's "Torch" to Mrs. Allison Ruglic.

Lone Goal To Promote Well-being

Valedictorian at last night's graduation of the 1967 class of the school of nursing, Belleville General Hospital, was Ruth Geen of Maple Ont.

Miss Geen's remarks, in part follow:

"In the past three years we have grown from immature apprehensive junior student nurses to more mature, professional women. We have seen the wonder of birth, and the mystery of death. Each with God's help, enabling us to serve our fellow - man, to the best of our ability.

"Tonight, we have reached our goal. For some this is the end of three years of hard work. For others it is merely the beginning. For all, our common aim is to promote the health and well-being of man. There are many people who deserve a note of thanks.

"To you, Mrs. Flindall may we never forget a woman who has worked hard to obtain the highest standards in nursing.

"To our teachers, may we thank you for your never - ending guidance, encourage-

Nursing Graduates Entertained at Tea

The graduating class of 1967 of Belleville General Hospital School of Nursing was entertained at a mother and daughter tea Saturday afternoon in Edmunston Hall by the executive of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary.

As guests arrived they were welcomed by Auxiliary president Mrs. W. Grass Harvey. The hall was decorated with apple blossoms and spring flowers for the event.

Presiding at the flower - centred tea table were Mrs. F. A. Beeby, and Mrs. Philip Richard. Members of the executive committee who assisted in serving were Mrs. Ben E. Burley, Mrs. M. F. L. Jones, Mrs. E. Fairman, Mrs. J. R. Blackhouse and Mrs. W. J. Leslie. The tea was conveened by Mrs. W. S. Greaves and her committee of Mrs. J. I. Vesterfelt, Mrs. C. E. Scott and Mrs. E. V. Doherty.

On behalf of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary the president extended congratulations to the graduating class and wished them success in their careers. Mrs. Harvey presented each graduate with a stirling silver coffee spoon a gift of the auxiliary. Mrs. Barbara Scott, class leader, thanked the Auxiliary.

ment and support during our three years of training.

"To the doctors, may we thank you for your patience and confidence in us for our knowledge gained from you. To the graduate nurses of past years, may you always endeavor to uphold your standards. To our housemothers, how can we really thank you? It is with regret that we will be leaving a mother who always had time to listen to our sorrows and joys and whose comfort we could lean upon in time of need. To the future graduates - we wish success and happiness. May your graduation mean as much to you as ours has to us.

"At last to our parents, your prayers and your faith in us have enabled us to be here tonight. May you always be as proud of us as you are tonight."

Horticulturists View Spring Blooms in Ottawa

The Belleville Horticultural Society sponsored a bus trip to Ottawa recently and 41 people took advantage of the opportunity to view the spring flowers there.

They visited the Experimental Farm, where they saw early tulips and daffodils and, then, had lunch at Hog's Back Park near the Rideau River.

In the afternoon, they drove by the many beds of late tulips, which were still in tight buds, and on to Rockliffe Park where they were rewarded by a sight which they will never forget— large yellow or white daffodils and jonquils and little blue grape hyacinths.

The peony tulips, in clumps of red, yellow, white and pink, were at their best in front of the Parliament Buildings where an extra treat was to see the Canadian Youth Rally which took place on the lawn.

Attend Drama Festival

Four Belleville people, Dr. Joan Bronskill, Mrs. Roy Finlayson, honorary governors; Mrs. Charles Wilson, chairman of the Eastern Ontario Region, and Mrs. Wilson, attended the Dominion Drama Festival at St. John's Newfoundland last week.

All attended the Governor's Court for the Festival. The group was entertained by Lieut.-Gov. F. O'Dea and Mrs. O'Dea at a reception at Government House, by the Premier and members of the cabinet at a Provincial luncheon, by the Mayor and City Council of St. John's, by the Festival chairman, John Perlin at an opening night "at home" and by Dominion Drama Festival president, John Brook and Mrs. Brook at a reception.

Few Employees Pay Mothers While on Maternity Leave

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians can't make up their minds whether working mothers are hard - hearted gold - diggers or brave little women.

The author of a pamphlet published by the women's bureau of the federal labor department says this ambivalent attitude is reflected in employers' policies, especially on maternity leave.

Sheila Woodsworth says many employers think mothers should stay home with their children, yet find them hard to replace as workers.

Canadian working mothers rarely receive protection in the form of cash and medical benefits, though a study of five countries including France and England showed it was customary elsewhere.

In France for instance, a woman who declares her pregnancy in the first three months and goes through prescribed medical examinations is entitled to an allowance equal to nine times the monthly family allowance for a dependent child.

This, kind of benefit is especially helpful where the mother's salary is necessary to support the family.

While 12 weeks' maternity leave is common practice among Canadian employers, few pay their employees while they are on leave. Where they are paid, the benefits are not usually equal to the woman's salary.

Medical coverage for maternity is fairly common in Canada because of group medical insurance.

Seniority is usually retained by women on maternity leave, but reinstatement at the same level of employment is not always guaranteed.

Mrs. Woodsworth suggests that working mothers should be thought of not as women who are neglecting their families, but as "employed women with family responsibilities," trying to combine two jobs in a heavy new way.

Copies of the 63-page study are available from the Queen's Printer, Ottawa, for 35 cents.

Prior to her marriage Mrs. Thomas J. Burkitt (nee Linda Kirkham) was honored at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Marjorie Shepherd; at a kitchen tea shower given by Mrs. Jean Schofield with co-hostess Mrs. Anne Hicks both held in Belleville, and at a linen shower given by Mrs. Joyce Wilson in Marmora.

* * *

Previous to the marriage of Mrs. Max Turner (nee Evelyn Pascoe) she was honored at showers in Melrose and Belleville. Mrs. H. Domille and Mrs. K. McMechan were co-hostesses at a "linen shower" at the home of the former; also one was held at the home of Mrs. B. Waters in Belleville when her fellow-employees at the Reitman Stores presented her with many lovely gifts.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS JAMES BURKITT

Burkitt — Kirkham

Linda Violet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William George Kirkham, Belleville, and Thomas James Burkitt, Kingston, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jacob Burkitt, Belleville, were married by Canon R. B. Wright in Christ Church, Belleville, May 20, 1967, at 4 p.m. John Withers was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white crepe gown with straight skirt, bolero bodice, lace sleeves, Empire waistline and detachable train flowing from the waist. Her shoulder-length veil was held with a diadem of net circlets centred with aurora borealis and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Her attendants, Miss Joan Kirkham, maid of honor and Mrs. Jan Archer, bridesmaid, were dressed alike in gowns of turquoise spray taffeta with high bodices in Guipure lace and matching coat with lace sleeves. Their headpieces were of matching turquoise petals with seed pearls and they carried cascade bouquets of yellow carnations.

Robert Burkitt attended the bridegroom and the ushers were William Kirkham and James Gordon.

The bride's mother wore a powder blue shantung ensemble of sheath dress and three-quarter length coat, matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a sleeveless, floral in centennial rose shantung with matching three-quarter length coat, a three-tiered flowered pillbox hat and corsage of white carnations sprayed with pink.

Following a reception at the Sun Valley Motor Inn, the couple left on a trip to Niagara Falls. For travelling the bride chose a suit of yellow plaid with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. On their return, they will live in Belleville.

U.C.W. Meetings

WOOLER UCW

WOOLER — A general meeting of Wooler UCW was held in the church hall recently with an attendance of 22. The president Mrs. Lorne Redcliffe opened the meeting and welcomed everyone.

The devotional period followed and Mrs. Erven Scott led in the worship. She was assisted by Mrs. R. Hubbs and Mrs. A. Arthur who gave readings and by Mrs. W. Adam who gave an interesting meditation on "The Praying Hands".

Interesting reports were given by the leaders of the various units and the treasurer's report given by Mrs. A. Easter was most encouraging. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. R. A. Hubbs, the secretary's report was read by Mrs. L. Dorland.

The program was in charge of Mrs. W. Adam who led in a play dealing with senior citizens, the retirement and the future of senior citizens. Those taking part were: Mrs. D. Fox, Mrs. W. McColl, Mrs. L. Dorland and Mrs. Adam. A discussion followed the play.

Members were reminded of the next general meeting to be held July 18 and Mrs. Adam reminded everyone to save their used stamps which this year will go to help care for those with Leprosy.

Mrs. Hubbs closed the meeting during lunch which was in charge of Mrs. L. E. Bryant.

Tender, Loving Care Needed For Children With Autism

TORONTO (CP)—Fearful, illogical, uncontrolled—these are adjectives used to describe the child suffering from a mental ailment whose main symptom is withdrawal.

Dr. Miloslo Havelikova of the Hospital for Sick Children describes it as "withdrawal into himself away from others; a complete isolation from the outside world which he seems either to fear, reject or be unable to comprehend."

These are children suffering from autism, a mental ailment first known as childhood psychosis or childhood schizophrenia.

Dr. Michael Rutter of the Institute of Psychiatry, Maudsley Hospital, London, estimates that four or five out of every 10,000 children develop it—the majority being boys.

It rarely shows up after the age of five and usually appears within a few months of birth.

Although its cause has not yet been discovered, several theories are advanced for its outbreak. They are brain damage to adults that it may not be detected; a chemical imbalance in the body, or refrigerator mothers—mothers who care for their children in tender, loving care.

But it isn't all that easy.

"The mother gets no feedback from the child," says Dr. Rosenfeld. "She may be so resentful at the child not giving anything back that she cuts off from the child."

"It's hard on them because autistic children can't give back rewards," says Mrs. Brown. "It's hard to love a child who doesn't love you back."

But for the parents there are many confusing factors. The child often grows physically in keeping (with his age but not emotionally. Often they go into hairraising behavior they fear strangers, animals, or strangers. It's very difficult for a parent when a child starts screaming in a department store or a restaurant, says Dr. Havelikova.

To a passerby, however, the child is just a spoiled brat spoiled and many don't hesitate to tell the parents.

The tender-loving care treatment demands that someone give the child complete emotional commitment for more than a couple of hours a day.

"It's a hell of a messy job," says Mrs. Brown. "You have to sweat it out for three or four or five or six years. You just don't do this alone."

And in spite of all this there is always the feeling of the child will improve. Many do improve as they grow older and may adjust to reasonably life and earn a living. Others become complete mental defectives even though their intelligence had normal potential.

Even as an adult, however, there is no guarantee that the autistic victim, no matter how successful outwardly, won't have problems relating to other people.

But with patience and persistence it is often surprising what good results can be obtained," says Dr. Havelikova.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Three-egg Buttery-tasting Cake

By MARY MOORE

Mrs. M. E. J. wrote: "My mother used to make this cake many years ago and never had a failure, but mine does not turn out light and high. The butter made the cake taste delicious. What is wrong?"

With a few minor adjustments I made a light, high delicious buttery-tasting cake that I am sure all of our readers will enjoy and that corrects Mrs. M. E. J.'s recipe.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

Lightning Casserole from Leftover Sunday Roast (see Monday); Individual Bowl Salads: Lettuce and Sliced Cucumber with Rose Olive, Mayonnaise; Baked Apple Crisp with Whipped Cream or Topping; Coffee.

BUTTERY THREE-EGG CAKE and FROSTING

2-3 cup butter or 1-3 cup butter and 1-3 cup shortening
1¼ cups granulated sugar
2 eggs
2½ cups sifted cake flour
3 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 cup milk
1½ tsps. vanilla.

In heavier bowl cream together the butter (or butter and shortening)" and sugar until very light. Add eggs and beat on high speed for 5 min. Sift together the sifted flour, baking powder and salt. Add vanilla to milk. Fold in sifted dry ingredients in thirds, alternately with the milk and vanilla in thirds, until smoothly blended.

Have ready two 8 x 8 x 2" pans lined with buttered wax paper. (Or you may use three 8" layer cake tins, lined on bottoms with buttered wax paper.) Turn in batter and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 to 35 min. Three 8" layers would take only 25 min. to bake.) Allow to stand in pans for at least 5 min., then turn out on cake racks, peel off wax paper at once and cool.

NOTE: We used this cake as a 13th Wedding Anniversary cake at Marianne's and Herbie's home. Nine-year - old Davey filled and frosted it. The filling was "Lemon Cheese" bought in a jar (delicious) and the Frosting:

¼ cup butter,
2 cups icing sugar
3 tbsps. cream
½ tsp. vanilla
Shake of salt

Beat together until of spreading consistency. After frosting the top and sides with this butter icing, Davey added some yellow food coloring to some remaining frosting in the bowl and piped it through his cake decorator, making a border around the top edges and a huge "12" in the centre. All yellow pipings were studded with "silvers". Very gala.

Above is a three - egg butter cake recipe that every baker of aristocratic cakes should clip and have in her file.

U.C.W. Meetings

MOUNT PLEASANT-RAWDON UCW

RAWDON — Mrs. Burton Sharpe presided at the May meeting of Mount Pleasant-Rawdon UCW at the church hall Wednesday night. Guests were present from Stirling, Carmel, Rylstone, Wellman's, Hoard's, Bethel and River Valley. Mrs. Mac Sharp was pianist.

Mrs. Marguerite McMullen and Mrs. Stanley Williams were in charge of the program on the theme of the garden of God. Giving readings on the theme were Mrs. Kenneth Keyser, Mrs. Robert Merrick, Mrs. William Mcadam, Mrs. Wm. Jeffs, Mrs. Burton Sharpe, Mrs. Ira David and Mrs. Robert M. Hoard. Mrs. Harry McAdam read the Scripture. Mrs. Marguerite McMullen gave the meditation. Mrs. Carleton Potts and Mrs. Garth Joslin sang a duet. Mrs. Percy MacMullen read two poems. Mrs. Mac Sharp played a piano selection. Mrs. Robert Hoard sang a solo and Mrs. Herbert Smith read the story of the water-lily.

Mrs. Carleton Potts showed a film on mental health in children and Mrs. Raymond McConnell conducted a contest on the names of villages and towns in the area. Mrs. Ross Jeffs was in charge of an old-fashioned geography match.

Guest speaker on June 3 at the church hall will be John Matheson of Leeds.

Gift of Sight May Be Pledged

DEAR DORIS: The following poem may inspire some of your misty readers to pledge their eyes to the Eye Bank of Canada. It is contributed by Carol Smart, Burlington, Ontario.

ONE CHANCE

What a wondrous gift you have,
To share with friend or, passer-by;
When your days, numbered, reach their sum,
What need, when closed, will be your eye?

The twinkle of an evening star,
The innocence of spring's first bloom,
The calm of newly fallen snow,
The splendor of a sun-filled room.

These things you often read about
And live and recollect,
What joy to offer all these things,
To one you've never met.

One Chance, consider the waste,
It selfishly bone gifts you keep
Unused, unloved, unseeing, covered
With you in that final sleep.

SADIE BENDING, Canadian Council of the Blind.

DEAR SADIE: Thank you. Many thoughtful Canadians have already made this arrangement. For the information of others, the address of the Eye Bank of Canada is 1920 Bayview Avenue, Toronto, or your local branch of the C.N.I.B. can help you with details.

* * *

DEAR DORIS: My girl friend and I are both going to register for university, and were wondering about living conditions. We could live in residence, but we think it would be too difficult to study with so many girls to talk to.

We are thinking about renting an apartment. Is it safe for girls at 18 years of age to live on their own? We can't ride behind our mothers' skirts all of our lives, and we do want some excitement and freedom before we settle down and get married.

We'd also like some rules concerning how to treat boys, without parents by our side. — TAKING THE PLUNGE.

DEAR TAKING: Freedom and excitement, yes. But the chores that go with renting your own apartment — I wonder. They aren't exactly the same thing. And built-in chaperones come in handy.

College girls who live in residence have it all over their living-out pals like a tent. When you are living on campus you are "living in" things.

As for study, I'd say you have more chance to concentrate in residence, where you are all in the same boat, and rules are pretty flexible about quiet hours, evening snack-breaks, boy friend hootenanny.

Find out more about the residences at the university you will be attending. I'm cagey about apartments for girls 18. With the best of intentions, you could meet up with situations beyond your handling. Later on, maybe.

* * *

Confidential to TEARFUL SESSIONS: Don't forget for one minute that in years to come, your daughter's fiance's family is going to be her family; his mother, her mother-in-law. She can make or well-nigh break that relationship right now.

It goes hard with the mother of an only son to lose him at all. By giving her a spot of honor at the wedding, by yielding at least a little about the relatives she'd like invited, your girl will help her to relax. —Not to let her rule the new roost, mind you!

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Boisterous shouting and chasing can spread like an epidemic through a group of children. The running and roughhousing is almost sure to end in an accident and tears.

When you see your child and his visitors growing restless, this is the time to drop what you're doing and read a story, bring out a snack or divert them with a new game.

It's much easier to keep things under control at a gathering of young children than it is to restore a shattered calm.

Ann Landers

Senior Citizens Enjoy Ann Landers' Column

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I work in a nursing home that has 125 elderly residents. Every morning at breakfast our executive director reads at the microphone and reads, . . . first, the news bulletin, and then your column. You can't imagine how much everyone looks forward to that morning treat. When the director says, "And now let's see what Ann Landers has to say," you can hear a pin drop.

I am sure the folks would be thrilled if you would say a special good morning to them one of these days. I wouldn't expect you to mention the name of the home, but it's in Kansas City and we'll know you mean us. — MRS. W.

* * *

GOOD MORNING, FRIENDS IN KANSAS CITY: I am happy you enjoy my column. And for those of you who can still get into mischief, I hope you are paying attention to my advice.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is what the neighbors call a wonderful husband and father, and I guess he is — between hunting and fishing trips, stock car races, bowling league and the inevitable Friday night card game with the boys.

He says he is happy. Well, I'd be happy too, if I were free to come and go as I please, had a lovely place to live, someone to cook my meals and make love to me when I am in the mood. My husband would stay home if I asked him to, but who wants a man home if he is here by request?

Don't tell me to join a club or find a hobby. I'm plenty busy with four sons. It's those hours between midnight and 2:00 a.m. that get to me.

I know he's not cheating, it's just that he'd rather be with the boys than at home — and this is hard to take. Is there a solution? — LONELY.

DEAR LONELY: I get this same letter 50 times every day. Only the signatures are different.

My advice is (1) don't nag; (2) Don't beg for his presence; (3) Keep yourself busy and (4) Turn on the charm.

You've got an immature kid on your hands, but kids do grow up with the proper guidance and adult behavior to imitate. In the meantime, be patient. Immaturity is not curable by anything short of years of living. Be sure to read tomorrow's column for more on this subject.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are a retired couple who have found an ideal apartment. We've lived here two years and love it.

In October a women (about 50) moved in directly above us. This girl has a string of male visitors and quit nearly every one hour to three days. Her telephone rings day and night. She runs the bath water at three in the morning. Her radio and TV could wake the dead.

Would it do any good to ask the landlord to throw her out? Or should we look for another place to live? We will never be able to find an apartment as good in this neighborhood at this price. — SENIOR COUPLE.

DEAR COUPLE: Move. It could be that this dilly entertains only her friends — and she doesn't have an enemy in the world.

You'd have a difficult time proving she is what you think she is. If you are wrong, she could sue you for defamation of character. I say, take a worm it.

Club Activities

ALPHA LAMBDA CHAPTER

The opening meeting of the new season for Alpha Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Tom Meeker.

Mrs. Hugh Ketcheson who has been associated with Alpha Lambda for many years as social sponsor and for the past three terms as director and Mrs. Edward Drumm, social sponsor, were appointed honorary members upon their retiring from office. They were presented with pin guards of their respective offices. Mrs. Gord Brown made the presentations.

Committees were selected for the coming year and plans were discussed for the annual black and Gold Ball to be held in the fall.

Mrs. Bob Walton, speaker for the evening, presented a program on The Trust, with a lively discussion period following.

Mr., Mrs. F. W. Brennan Wed for 50 Years

MARYSVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Brennan of Marysville celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently. They renewed their wedding vows at an anniversary Mass celebrated by their nephew, Father James J. Farrell, S.J., in Holy Name of Mary Church, Marysville.

The couple was attended by Clare Brennan, Mrs. Clare Brennan, and Mrs. Pat Jordan. Serving the Mass were Larry Brennan, Richard Farrell and Jim Farrell.

Present in the sanctuary was Rev. Father Hamilton of Read Parish. Accompanying the organist Anne McAlpine, was Rev. Father O'Neill and choir of Marysville Parish.

Following the Mass a dinner was held in Melrose Hall, catered by the women of Melrose. The reception was held in the afternoon, catered by the women of the Marysville CWL.

Later in the evening friends gathered at their home for a social get-together.

Mr. and Mrs. Brennan were married in Holy Name of Mary Church on April 16, 1917 by Father Michael Meagher. Their attendants were Clare Brennan, and Mrs. Chester Paul (deceased).

Mr. Brennan was a cheesemaker all his life until retiring in 1958.

Mr. and Mrs. Brennan had seven children, Mrs. Bill (Helen) Whalen, Belleville; Mrs. Lorne (Ione) Jarrell, R.R., Belleville; Mrs. Ed. (Millie) McDermott, Belleville; Mrs. Ted (Joan) Cavanaugh, Scarborough; Mrs. Percy (Shirley) Milligan, Belleville; Kenneth of Belleville, another son (Wilfred) died in 1946. They have 16 grandchildren.

The couple received many gifts and greetings.

A special apostolic blessings from Pope Paul was read at the Mass.

Telegrams were received from Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, Rt. Hon. John Diefenbaker, Premier John Roberts, Clarke Rollins MP, Lee Grills MP, Robert Temple and Douglas Aikenbrack MP.

International Politics Hit Expo -- Kuwait Pavilion Closes

MONTREAL (CP) — International politics hit Expo 67 for the first time Monday when the oil sheikhdom of Kuwait closed its tiny pavilion over what was termed Canada's attitude in the Middle East crisis.

Less than 24 hours after President Nasser of Egypt criticized Canada for being biased toward Israel in the Middle East dispute, the commissioner-general of Kuwait's pavilion received a telegram ordering him to close.

Except in the offices of Expo, however, the closing caused scarcely a ripple. Crowds continued to flock into the pavilions of other Arab countries, those of the United Arab Republic, Algeria, Morocco and Tunisia, which kept their doors open.

The crowds filled other pavilions too. By 12 midnight, Expo's turnstiles had counted 265,482 visitors compared with an expected 165,000 for a total of 8,319,173 since the fair opened.

An expo spokesman said the action of Kuwait had been taken "unilaterally" and the fair's management had received no advance notice of the planned closing.

Michael Dibbon, head of the press, radio and TV division, said there was regret at the fair "that politics had been brought into the arena of Expo 67 after they had been kept out of it with great success."

The $200,000 Kuwait and the other Arab pavilions are on Notre Dame Island in roughly the same area as the pavilion of Judaism.

There was a hint that the closing might not be permanent. It was believed Canadian authorities were getting in touch with the Kuwait mission in Washington. Kuwait has no representation in Canada. A spokesman for the pavilion said its commissioner-general, F. M. Fahad Sarawi, did not know if the pavilion would be closed permanently.

But life was not all solemn on the fairgrounds Monday. Some of the stars of the Australian review Pop Goes Australia, which had its premiere at Expo Theatre Monday night, cavorted over the site.

Frank Donellan, who claims the world boomerang - throwing title, demonstrated his skill for newspaper r n by throwing his boomerang f om over the St. Lawrence River, with the weapon returning to a spot 10 feet from him.

Then Rolf Harris, who won fame singing Tie Me Kangaroo Down, Sport, put on his three-legged act for photographers and tried to get through an Expo turnstile.

Even Dairy Industry Day, which opened with a speech by Forestry Minister Sauvé, let it lapse even a little. After Mr. Sauvé read a solemn pronouncement from Prime Minister Pearson on the "nutritional and economic value of milk," dairy princess Gaylene Miller of Daimeade, Alta., led a procession to Man the Provider pavilion where thousands of children received free scoops of ice cream.

Today the Israeli pavilion returns to the publicity spotlight with the launching of its Bible quiz. Forms, with true-or-false questions, will be distributed to visitors and there will be monthly drawings for trips for two to Israel throughout Expo's six months.

Pop Goes Australia Good Show

By ROBERT TANNER

MONTREAL — Just as modern mass production factories have to rely on sampling to inspect their manifold products, so must a critic faced with the superhuman task of reviewing the talent assembled for the Expo world festival. Last night my sample was Pop Goes Australia, a variety show from down under which is playing this week at the Expo theatre.

In common parlance with Canada, Australia has not until now figured prominently in the entertainment world, but this show and the Australian ballet which appeared last week in La Salle Wilfrid Pelletier are her contribution to the festival.

Pop Goes Australia is built around a seven piece band, Bobby Limb and the All Stars, with Mister Limb also acting as master of ceremonies. Other acts include Rolf Harris, Normie Rowe, Cathy Lloyd, Frank Donellan and the interpationally known Seekers.

It must be confessed this is a somewhat mediocre variety show, but with two high spots so outstanding as to make the rest of the evening worth while.

Rolf Harris is a comedian of such rare talent that he had his audience eating out of his hands almost from the moment of his entry as the man with the extra leg. This hilarious turn was followed (on only two legs) by version of his c-o-w song, Tie Me Kangaroo Down, Sport — first in English and then in a number of foreign translations. A sincere rendering of If I Were a Rich Man from Fiddler on the Roof was followed by a side splitting demonstration of the Australian aborigines musical instrument the didgeridoo.

As Mr. Harris said, it looks an impossible instrument to play and it is actually harder than it looks.

The quality of the show hit the heights again when the Seekers took over the stage. Varying their repertoire from the spiritual My Lord What a Morning to the swinging Australian song With My Swag All On My Shoulder. They showed themselves to be a highly competent and professional group.

So if you are at Expo, by all means go and see Pop Goes Australia. Rolf Harris and the Seekers are well worth the price of admission.

Dymond Favors Cutting Six-year Doctors' Course

TORONTO (CP)—Health Minister Matthew Dymond Monday described as an "excellent idea" a proposal that the present six-year course for training doctors in Ontario be shortened.

The proposal was made last week by Dr. John Evans, dean of a planned medical school for McMaster University in Hamilton.

Dr. Dymond told the legislature the matter is being studied by the manpower committee of Ontario's council of health.

He was replying to Eddie Sargent (L—Grey North), who suggested that if the minister approved of the idea he should force medical schools to take a small town.

Anne Baxter's Marital Venture Ending Up in Divorce Court

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Any regrets over the interruption in her career?

"No," said Anne Baxter. "Regret is absolutely pointless."

Of her three years as an Australian farm wife, the 1946 Oscar winner for The Razor's Edge said Monday:

"I gave up my career because I was fascinated by love. My husband didn't want me to give it up. I think he was wiser than I was.

"I took a hiatus from work for some very personal productions"—daughters Melissa, 5½, and Maginel, 4.

Of life on husband Randolph Galt's 34,000-acre cattle farm 180 miles from Sydney, she said:

"I was terribly busy physically, scrubbing floors, cooking. Radio reception was almost impossible. Sometimes, when my husband was away, I'd go without speaking to anybody for maybe nine hours."

The Galts returned to the United States, she said, for the children's education. Katrina, 13, Miss Baxter's daughter by her marriage to the late actor John Hodiak, is in boarding school in California.

Anne's rustic marital venture reached a further note of finality with the announcement in February of the Galt's separation. There will be a divorce, she said.

Green Belt I

Harbor Commission Reclaims Shoreline

A pocket of green is being hatched onto Belleville's bayshore line as a bonus piece of parkland.

In actual fact, its a land reclamation project being carried out by the Belleville Harbor Commission to expand its port facilities.

However, such expansion is in the future. Meantime, thanks to co-operation and a dash of civic-mindness, the project is being prepared as open parkland for public pleasure until such time as it's needed commercially.

The area is immediately east of the tank farm used by oil companies leasing property from the commission.

Further expansion is seen in the area some time in the future and this called for more land.

"We only way to move was east — along a swampy area of shoreline that also was a resting place for sludge and refuse.

The commissioners began plotting the project — then had the idea to add to the city's green belt area at the same time.

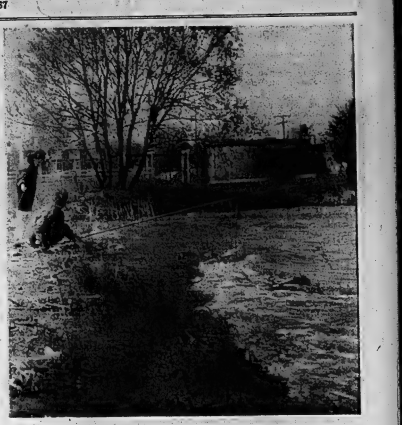
"We decided it could be reclaimed for future use for the harbor, but basically it could now be used for a park," explains harbor master Don Barrett, a moving force behind the inspiration.

The inspiration also drew response from local contractors and land fill from various big excavation projects around the city has been pouring down on the site.

"Their co - operation showed real civic spirit and helped make the idea a success," says the harbor master.

A palm - size piece of green had always sprouted on firmer ground in the area and here the city's parks board three years ago installed some swings and slides.

Yesterday, a harbor commission workman was mowing the grass in the area, while behind a whole new big excavation was added by bulldozers and dump trucks.



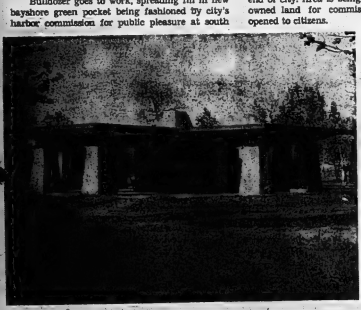
Where once the odd fisherman came to catch muskrats in the shallows and marsh was being rapidly plugged with dirt.

Here and there trees which once sprouted in a swamp — now were giving shade on firm ground. Soon they will be an integral part of the latest button in the city's greenbelt area.

Probably next week the commission plans on having picnic tables scattered under the branches.

For the harbor commission it adds more solid territory to the lands it administers for the Crown. (The territory, incidentally, is greater than usually realized. The Belleville commission's work runs on both sides of the bay from Point Anne to Sidney Street).

"But now its available for all the citizens to use — and we hope they will," said harbor master Barrett. "We'll try to make it look as pleasant as possible and groom it as well as we can with the manpower at our disposal."



Wasteland Reclaimed

Reclamation project was once swampy, washed by sludge-filled shallow water, a spot for some fishermen (like couple above) to try luck landing mudcats.

Scene Changes--Color It Green

Bulldozer goes to work, spreading fill in new bayshore green pocket being fashioned by city's harbor commission for public pleasure at south end of city. Area is being reclaimed from Crown-owned land for commission use but is being opened to citizens.

Barbeque Setting at Zwick's Island

The weather so far this year has been a bit chilly, but the new barbeque pavilion at Belleville's Zwick's Island Centennial Park is already for the summer's activity.

Anyone for Tennis?

Local tennis enthusiasts, Dick Herrington, George Pugh, Meta Kitchen, Bob Cretney and Joan Walters, pause to discuss their game at the new courts at Zwick's Island Centennial Park.

Green Belt II

Tennis Courts Used On Zwick's Island

With the official opening of Belleville's new Zwick's Island Centennial Park just a little more than a month away, city parks board workmen are pulling out all the stops in greening the area for the big event.

Planting of shrubbery and trees is currently underway and is expected to be completed within the week.

Park playground equipment, some of it donated by local organizations, has been installed, and preparations are being made with the view of locating a Golden Hawk Sabre jet aircraft and a CN steam locomotive as park attractions. A football field is also being laid out.

But the work currently being carried on at the park is sort of an anti-climax to the big push of last year when the entire park area was graded and seeded.

Also completed last year was the barbeque pavilion atop the Zwick's Island knoll, additional work on the park canteen and construction of children's and tiny tots wading pools.

It's still a bit early for the wading pools to go into use, but the double tennis courts which were also built last year are already seeing regular use.

Every evening (between showers) for the past week or so tennis lovers have been showing up at the park with the courts seeing almost continuous use until dark.

The park canteen has also been open for the past week or so.

The Belleville Lions Club have dug the pit for the location of the concrete base which will support the Golden Hawk Sabre jet which will remain on permanent display at the park. The local service club has acquired the obsolete jet and will set it up on the park as a Centennial Year project.

The base for the Sabre jet will be situated about half way up the island knoll and almost directly opposite the main entrance to the park.

Parks Superintendent Lloyd Eyer hopes that the plane can be floodlit to make it stand out at night.

Preparations are also going ahead for moving the big CN steam locomotive to the park.

Current plans call for the locomotive to be situated near the south end of the park and close to the No. 14 highway route running past the park area.

The old 135-ton locomotive has been at the local CN yards for the past several weeks where city firemen have been hard at work polishing and painting.

The locomotive is now almost ready to be moved to the island but the big problem seems to be just how its going to be put there.

Plans are to tow the locomotive over the CPR track to near the No. 14 highway crossing at the north end of the Zwick's Island Park.

There it will be lifted off the tracks by cranes loaned by Wilson Concrete.

But just how the big locomotive will be moved from there to the park proper hasn't been completely worked out.

Man at Work

Land-fill project already has its shady green corner of grass — here being mowed by harbor commission employee Eugene Rosebush.

Fraffly Mayfair Talk

LONDON (CP) — Self - styled Professor Alfarbeck Lauder, the Australian who discovered that his fellow - countrymen talked Strine, is about to do a similar job on the various "languages" spoken in England.

His first discovery is Fraffly, the plum-in-mouth speech heard around Mayfair. Examples: "Fraffly glave twaf mate chew" — "frightfully glad to have met you" and "Fraffly caned a few" — "frightfully kind of you."

Lauder, in real life a designer called Alistair Morrison, found sudden fame two years ago when he wrote a letter to a Sydney newspaper spoofing the Aussie way of speech. The thing became a national game and Morrison followed it up with a best-selling book, How to Talk Strine.

The idea came to him after a incident in a Sydney bookshop where English novelist Monica Dickens was signing copies of her new book. A woman came up to her and said "Emma Chisit." Miss Dickens began inscribing a copy to Emma Chisit when it turned out the woman was simply asking in her Australian accent: "How much is it?"

Morrison's pseudonym Afferbeck Lauder is Strine for "alphabetical order." He called himself a "professor of Sinney Universky" and it was months before his identity leaked out through radio and TV shows.

He was recently in London to launch his second Strine book, Nose Tone Unturned.

Pasternak's 'Zhivago' May Appear in Russia

MOSCOW (CP)—There has been a new burst of speculation that Boris Pasternak's controversial novel Doctor Zhivago will be published in the Soviet Union. Such an event would be an important milestone in creative expression here.

The novel, a love story set against the background of the Russian revolution and civil war, won Pasternak the 1958 Nobel Prize for literature. However he was forced to renounce the prize under pressure from the Soviet government, which called it anti-Communist and has never permitted it to be published in the homeland of its author.

Pasternak died in 1960.

Speculation that the ban may be lifted goes back at least two years. It gained impetus recently with the disclosure that a literary commission had recommended that the complete works of Pasternak, including Doctor Zhivago, be printed.

Author Ilya Ehrenburg is said to be one of a group of influential writers involved in trying to get the novel published.

Pasternak the poet has already been fully rehabilitated —and it was as a poet that he made a literary name for himself long before he wrote his famous novel. In recent years a number of volumes of his poetry have been published, one of which included verses from Doctor Zhivago.

Sources close to the movement aimed at restoring Pasternak to respectability say they have won a promise that, once printing of his poetic works is complete, consideration will be given to publishing Doctor Zhivago.

A possible sign that Zhivago may be published here is that it has recently been discussed openly in the Soviet press, possibly for the first time since 1958.

The book was banned, to be sure, by Galina Serebryakova in Literaturnaya Gazeta—Literary Gazette. She called it "unsuccessful and dull." Her treatment was supposed to be of its artistic merits rather than as a political tract.

Giving her reminiscences of Pasternak personally, Mrs. Serebryakova wrote that he was "a man of great talent who, in his own way, sincerely loved his country. . . .

Don't look now but Boom-Boom Geoffrion's decision to retire from playing if he is subjected to the National League draft may have started something in the ranks of the league greybeards.

Said the Boom-Boomer: — "I just want to warn the new clubs that if they draft me I won't play. When I signed with the Rangers last June 10 was with the understanding that I remain for three years with the club. I intend to fulfill that contract either in a player or an executive capacity role."

Manager-coach Emile Francis of the Rangers came up with an interesting statement. "If a new club drafts Geoffrion and he retires as an active player, that club will lose a draft choice and will not be permitted a substitute selection."

Geoffrion's words may have lingered in Toronto's Red Kelly's mind but were left unspoken. The redhead probably guessing or knowing he would not be protected on the Leafs' list, took the bull by the horns and decided to take the way out and dicker for a top job with a new National League entry.

And Geoffrion's action may have taken root in the mental gardens of several veterans who could decide to shorten their playing years in the NHL instead of meeting luck, steal and talent at the fairway pastures for only a few years at the most.

For, as Dink Carroll of the Montreal Gazette points out: — "There are quite a few veteran players in the league who do not want to move at this stage of the game. They are married men with families, some of them with business interests besides hockey in the cities they represent on the ice and it would be a major upheaval for them to move. Now they may have found a way to prevent being drafted if they are left off the protected list."

The new system will have quite an effect on Punch Imlach's theory that old heads are as good and perhaps better than young legs if mixed. It is no secret or perhaps a good guess that Imlach will protect Hillman, Horton, Pronovost, Ellis, Stemkowski, Keon, Wallen, Pappin, Pulford, Coaghey and Mahovlich.

Subject to the draft will be Armstrong, Stanley, Baun and either Bower or Sawchuk, all veterans with the Leafs hopes that no club will take them.

But this retire-instead-of-play gimmick may cast a new light on the subject. Clubs won't take a chance on losing a draft choice if they are certain the player won't sport.

Carrell says the Canadiens have a few in the same category. The players Coach Toe Blake is expected to protect are Laperriere, J. C. Tremblay, Jean Beliveau, Henri Richard, Ralph Backstrom, Gilles Tremblay, Yvan Cournoyer, John Ferguson, Terry Harper, Bobby Rousseau and either Claude Larose or Ted Harris.

The Habs veterans exposed to the draft will likely be Jean-Guy Talbot, Claude Provost, Dick Duff and either Charlie Hodge or Gump Worsley. There are similar cases if not quite so many on the other four clubs.

None of them will give up without a struggle. Even Imlach is reported as saying that although Kelly has announced his retirement the Los Angeles Kings, even if they have signed him as coach, will have to draft him first.

For two million bucks a throw the six new clubs are entitled to something out of the player pot. But, they are not going to get what they want without a battle from the six mighty moguls of the eastern empire.

It could wind up with all veterans unprotected tossing in the active player towel and accepting executive jobs with the old club — if there are enough to go around.

That wouldn't leave the six new clubs with any other choice than to recruit their teams with farm club talent and over-age juniors. If such is the case it leads one to believe that Bobby Hull shouldn't have much trouble scoring those 70 goals next season.

GOLF

I'm told the course of the Bay of Quinte Country Club is now in excellent condition and all it needs is a few more members to play on it.

Potential golfers should "get in on the act" right away as this year looks like the best season in years. The new pro shop and club facilities are proving very popular and any golfer beginner or veteran who has not yet done so should join the "family" immediately.

Reds' Rose Blossoming With Hits

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

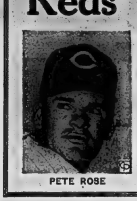
The Pete Rose-Tony Perez entry is giving Cincinnati's first-place Reds that wire-to-wire look in the National League derby.

Rose and Perez kept long hitting streaks alive Monday night as the Reds divided a doubleheader with St. Louis to remain 1½ games ahead of the second-place Cardinals.

Perez' ninth-inning triple and a sacrifice fly by Dick Simpson gave Cincinnati a 7-6 victory in the nightcap after the Cards captured the 11-inning opener 2-1 on Bob Gibson's six-hitter.

Rose stroked five hits—including three doubles—in the twin bill, running his hit string to 25 games. Perez had an 11th-inning single in the first game and two hits in the nightcap, extending his streak to 18 games.

Tom Haller, sent into the game as a pinch hitter in the fifth inning, wound up driving in five runs and leading San Francisco Giants past Philadelphia Phillies 12-9 while Len Gabrielson hammered a three - run homer, powering Los Angeles Dodgers to a 7-2 victory over New York Mets in the only other games on the schedule.



Cards' centre - fielder Curt Flood drove in five runs with a homer and two singles in the second game before being sidelined by a pulled hamstring.

Flood's two - run homer in the seventh tied the score at 6-6, but the Reds won it in the ninth on Perez' leadoff triple, a pair of intentional walks and Simpson's run-scoring fly to centre.

The Cardinals broke a 1-1 deadlock in the 11 inning opener with doubles by Tim McCarver and Julian Javier.

At San Francisco, Haller sparked the Giants to a 12-3 lead.

The Phillies closed the gap with a six-run burst in the ninth before Lindy McDaniel got the last out.

Western Horse Show Success

The Quinte Western Horse Association held its annual spring show at Trenton's Bain Park on Sunday and termed the event most successful.

The next show is scheduled for June 18, at Napanee, No. 2 Highways 41 and 401 junction. The public is invited.

Fine performances by club members made the successful show Sunday, appreciated by a number of spectators. Winner of the saddle, main prize of the show, was Charles Parm, of Canniffton.

The high point horse of the show was "King's Crystal" ridden by Joanne McVerin while the high point pony was "Buttermilk" ridden by Janet Wilson.

Shuffleboard Champions Seek Ontario Title

The Belleville and District shuffleboard champions, Central Hotel, will travel to Kitchener this weekend to take part in the all-Ontario championships on June 2 and 3.

FOLLOCK BECOMES V-P

MONTREAL (CP)— Sam Pollock, general manager of Montreal Canadiens for the last seven years, has also become the National Hockey League team's vice - president. It was announced Monday by David Molson, president of the Canadiens. Howard Hamilton, vice - president of the Canadian Arena Co., who also becomes general manager for that parent organization, said he expects prices to be scaled upward next season. with the top $6 instead of $5.

SUSPEND PLAYER

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Colcain, player-coach of Detroit Cougars of the United Soccer Association, drew an indefinite suspension Monday following an incident in his team's opening game at Boston Sunday night. Referee Dan Graven disallowed a goal "because Immense Bobby" Jack signalled that the Cougars were offside on the play." Commissioner Dick Walsh said. During an argument that followed, Walsh said, Colcain struck Jack in the face.

300,000 Will See Indy 500

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)— Wear and tear, as well as fair, is not a factor of uncertain favorites as well as sparkling motor-ized "field horses" of an approximate 3-to-1 potential finishers in the Memorial Day 500-mile Auto Race.

Chances brightened for continuance of the Big Indy's fabulous weather luck with a record forecast of only possible showers threatening the 51st motor classic before more than 300,000 thrill hungry fans.

If the pattern of past gruelling tests of 3 dare-devil drivers and finely-tuned costly racing machines prevails, the chase after a record $700,000 total purse will become a sort of motorized Custer's Last Stand after the 12 noon EDT blastoff.

Two of the last three races had catastrophic mishaps at the start of the scheduled 200 whirls around the 2½ - mile asphalt oval.

Last year, when a bizarre chain reaction crash at the start knocked out 11 cars, only six other cars were running as England's Graham Hill scored the second straight victory by a foreign driver with a modest 144.317 m.p.h. average.

In 1965, Scotland's Jim Clark won an almost mishap-free race in the prescott record time of 150.686 m.p.h. But only 12 of the original 3 starters survived mechanical trouble and spin outs to be still throttling at the finish.

In 1966, a tragic flaming crash killed Eddie Sachs and Dave MacDonald and knocked seven cars out of the race on the first lap before A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., won his second title with a 147.350 m.p.h. record time.

Get Richert For Two

Birds Nest Vet Hurler

BALTIMORE (AP) — Harry Dalton, engineering his second major baseball deal in less than 18 months, may have traded Baltimore Orioles to their second successive American League pennant.

Moving to bolster Baltimore's struggling pitching staff, the Orioles' vice - president and general manager got Dick Simpson, youngsters Mike Epstein and Frank Bertaina to Washington Monday for veteran left-hander Pete Richert.

The Orioles added to their starting rotation a pitcher who won 28 games during the last two seasons with eight-place Washington. His record this year is 2-5 with a 4.64 earned run average.

Richert, 27, was rated by Dalton as "one of the top left-handers in baseball . . . the quality pitcher we have been looking for since last fall."

Bertaina, 23, has appeared in 16 games for the Orioles during the past four seasons, and has a 1-1 record this year.

Dalton maintained that the Orioles were not forced into the deal because of Epstein's refusal to return to Rochester of the International League where he played last season and joined minor league player of the year honors.

The 24-year-old Epstein had been unable to dislodge 25-year-old Boog Powell from first base and failed in a trial as an outfielder.

It was Dalton who made the final decision in the trade which brought superstar Frank Robinson to the Orioles Dec. 9, 1965, —two days after he was named director of player personnel.

There was plenty of action in the B.M.S.A.'s tyke division last night with an unmolested triple play highlighting the games.

Pirates stopped A. and W. Drive-In 16-4 but third baseman Fraser Pringle of the losers turned in the rare triple play.

In other East Hill games, Bowl-O-Drome nipped I.O.A. Red Sox 20-18 and Kinmen topped Canadiens 19-13.

On the West Hill, Kinsmen defeated the Wings 23-19, Bears edged Rangers 21-20 and Leafs tamed the Tigers 28-11.

Rain Halts Davis Cup Matches

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The heaviest rain and hail storm in bit the Chapultepec Sports Centre this year forced the suspension of the final Davis Cup match after Arriba had defeated veterans Roland Garros to give the United States the American semi-final zone Davis Cup matches. The U.S. leads the best-of-five series 3-1.

Ashe's 8-6, 6-3, 6-2 victory Monday put the United States in the finals against Ecuador in Guayaquil June 16-18. Ashe will not play, however, because of army commitments.

Cliff Richey was tied with Mexico's Marcelo Lara when the rain began falling at ten-reats. Each had won a set and Richey had a 3-2 lead in the third set with Lara serving.

The game was suspended when the heavy rain inundated the court and forced about 2,500 persons to flee the stadium.

Richey and Lara were to play the rest of their match today.

Read Ties Cannifton

Cannifton Plane's and Read battled to a 2-2 deadlock in a South Hastings Baseball League game last night. The game had been postponed by rain on Saturday.

Read jumped ahead 1-0 in the first but had to score once in the fifth to tie after Plane's netted a second inning pair. Darkness halted play after seven innings.

Frank Farrell pitched four - hit ball for the home Read squad, striking out seven and walking half a dozen.

Pat O'Connor allowed five hits on the Cannifton robbers. He fanned one and walked one.

Ken Abrams paced Read at bat with a double and single. Pat Steele singled twice and Carm Millagan once.

Hugh Petrie doubled for Cranifton with Court Bradley, Pat O'Connor and John Tweedy adding base hits.

Whitey Ford Retires

'Winningest' Yankee Hangs 'Em Up!

WHITEY FORD

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitey Ford, the winningest Yankee of them all and the pitching ace of a one - time baseball dynasty, was expected to call it a career today.

New York Yankees called a press conference — they said to their doubleheader with Minnesota Twins today. Published reports that Ford would announce his retirement were general and widespread.

Neither Ford nor the Yankees bothered to deny it. They simply declined comment.

Ford has had two operations on his pitching shoulder, the last Aug. 25, 1965, after he had only a 2-5 season record.

The club recently disclosed that he has developed a bone spur on his left elbow.

Ford, 38 , came to the Yankees mid - way in the 1950 season, posted a 9-1 record, won a game in the Yankees 4-0 World Series sweep of Philadelphia Phillies and then spent two years in military service.

When he returned, he forged one of the greatest pitching records in history. His 236 career victories is the best in Yankee history and his career 236-106 won-loss record represents one of the best percentage marks ever achieved in the majors.

Ford pitched on 11 Yankee pennant winners and holds a flock of World Series records. Included are most victories (10) starts (22) and strikouts (94). One of his major accomplishments, and one that pleased Ford the most, was smashing Babe Ruth's World Series pitching record for consecutive scoreless innings.

He broke the record with consecutive shutouts in the 1961 Series against Pittsburgh Pirates and added another in 1962, running his string to 33 2-3 consecutive scoreless innings.

The stocky, 5-foot-10 blonde won 20 games or more only twice (25-4 in 1961 and 24-7 in 1963) but was long the mainstay of the Yankee pitching staff and the man called on when the team had one of those must-win situations.

On The Way

Robby Eyes 2nd Triple

FRANK ROBINSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Robinson, Baltimore Orioles' most important factor in winning baseball's world championship last season, seems to have designs on winning a triple crown again.

The hard hitting outfielder paces the American League in home runs while occupying the runner - up position in batting and runs batted in. He took the triple crown in the American League in 1966 with a .316 batting mark, 49 homers and 122 RBI.

Rogers Hornsby of St. Louis Cardinals and Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox have been the only players to capture two triple crowns, Hornsby in 1922 and 1925 and Williams in 1942 and 1947.

Robinson slammed four homers in last week's games and took over the lead with 13. His drove in nine runs, boosting his total to 33 and climbed to within two of Detroit's Al Kaline, the leader.

Kaline's batting average dropped 16 points to .345. Robinson has a .295 mark while Rico Petrocelli of Boston and Rod Carew of Minnesota Twins are tied for third at .319.

Roberto Clemente of Pittsburg Pirates continues to lead the National League batting race although he slipped three points to .385 with a 10-for-27 performance.

Minor Hockey Names Officers

The Belleville Minor Hockey Association has an executive for the 1967-68 season — on the second try.

Tom Neill was named president; Drury Denyes 1st. vice-president; Ray Barbeau 2nd. vice-president; and Ed James 3rd. vice-president at a meeting attended by 24 persons Monday night.

Paul Wall, who was to start his second year of a two-year term as secretary-treasurer, resigned. Lorne Williams accepted the position on a provision basis.

An earlier meeting was called off during the election of officers when no one would stand for office.

PLANNING ATOM POWER

Japan has inaugurated a 20-year plan to develop 9,300,000 kilowatts of power generation.

Will Hold Lacrosse Clinic Here

In an effort to revive interest in lacrosse in the city, the Belleville Recreation Commission has planned, with the Ontario Lacrosse Association a clinic to be held at the recreation centre on Saturday, June 3rd.

The clinic will begin at 9.30 a.m. through 4.30 p.m.

Instructors for the clinic will be Denny Peterson and Roy Wood.

Mr. Peterson has played the game from a very young age through to the senior's and has refereed for the Ontario Lacrosse Association for the past 10 years. He has instructed for the Ontario Lacrosse Association and the Canadian Lacrosse Association for the past five years.

Mr. Wood who is chief of the physical education department of the Norwood District High School has played lacrosse since his minor days in Peterborough and also has been conducting lacrosse clinics for the past few years.

Minor Baseball Results

In a pair of BMBA peewee division games last night, Barrages clipped Tip Top 8-6 on two runs in the final frame while Sine Shell defeated Bad Boys 9-3.

Greg Duffy pitched three-hit ball for Barrages, fanning eight and walking six, while David Smith and Dean Lang allowed six hits for Tip Top, with six strikeouts and nine walks.

Mark Coates and Rick Bell slammed doubles, Bob Moore, Greg Duffy, Tom Coughlin and Terry Cowie singles on the winners' behalf. Dean Lang hit a triple, Dave Sullivan and David Smith a single each for Tip Top in defeat.

Ron McTaggart, Bobby Menard and Robin Guest shared Sine's pitching chore and stopped Bad Boys on just two hits. They struck out eight and walked nine. Brian Cousins and Mike Bell allowed 11 hits in defeat, fanning five and passing five.

Bobby Menard clouted a triple and two singles for Sine Shell with Grant Geegan claiming one of each. Ron McTaggart singled twice, Don McTaggart, Bob Salisbury, Blaine Mullins and Bruce Nickle one each. Brian Cousins and Andy Ricketts had Bad Boys safeties.

Commercial Softball League

Black Diamond Cheese blanked Tkil Club 3-0 while Stinson's built an early lead and defeated Lightfoots 8-4 in a pair of Commercial Softball League games last night.

The Cheesemen plated both runs in the first frame as winning pitcher Sonny Holoway and loser Gary Matier hooked up in a tight battle. They allowed just three hits each. Holoway struck out 10 and passed three while Matier fanned one and walked one.

Five errors by Tiki proved costly while Holoway pitched steady ball, working a change-up well, for the winners.

Stan Ahrens, Ross Empey and Don Holoway had the Black Diamond hits while Dave Duval, Wayne McTaggart and Beecher hit safely for Tiki.

Stinson's, chalking up their second win in as many starts to stay even with Black Diamond, led 4-0 before Lightfoots came back to tie it. Two runs in the bottom of the fifth frame en by Doug Reid's triple, won it for Stinson's.

Ken Genereaux clouted a three-run homer for Stinson's in the opening frame and Lyle Thompson's double led to another marker in the fourth. Terry Casselman doubled for Lightfoots in the fourth. No other hitters were listed for either club.

Bob Boyle started and gave way to Larry Hull in the fifth on Stinson's pitching mound. They struck out eight and walked three while allowing seven hits. John Preech also gave up seven hits for Lightfoots, whiffing three and walking four.

Kingston Defeats Kinsmen

Picton Kinsmen failed to hold a 4-0 lead and suffered a 7-4 Quinte-KSA softball loss to Prince George Regals in Kingston last night.

The losers opened with two runs in the first and made it 4-0 on Dedille's home run in the sixth. Kingston got a pair back in the seventh then combined hits and errors for five in the eighth and the 7-4 triumph.

Rube VanHooser was the winning pitcher after replacing Ron Brown in the third frame. They gave up 10 hits, blowing third strikes past 13 and not walking a batter.

The shorthanded Kinsmen went with Ken Dedille all the way. He gave up 12 hits, struck out eight and passed a pair, tiring in the late innings.

Lee Masters led Kingston's attack with a double and two singles. VanHooser, Ron Spooner and Bob Senior had a double and single each, Brown two singles and Haven Ferguson one.

Leo St. Denis stroked three Picton safeties and Dedille had the two-run homer. Keith Stacey doubled and singled, Merve Stacey singled twice, Jim Guernsey doubled and Dave Lockwood had the other base hit.

Picton plays at home Wednesday to Kingston's LaVerne Clippers in an 8.15 game.

Richmond Eclipses Suns 3-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Richmond's Ron Reed, a fastballing right-hander, was working on a no-hitter in the International League Monday night but in the ninth inning Terry Christman of Jacksonville Suns broke his spell with a lead-off single.

Reed, however, maintained his control, giving up the only hit to lead the Virginians to a 3-0 baseball victory over the Suns.

In the only other IL game, Jack Diliauro pitched his second straight complete game of the season, fashioning a five-hitter to lead Toledo Mud Hens to a 3-0 victory over Columbus Jets.

Reed was given early support with Gil Garrido's three-run homer in the second inning. The homer came after Tommy Aaron had singled and Del Bates had drawn a walk from John Miller, the loser.

Cementmen Ground Flyers 6-1

Ronnie Marcelle and the Point Anne Cementmen continue to set a blistering pace in the Trent Valley Softball League after the first week of play.

The Cementmen chalked up their third consecutive victory in as many starts in Trenton last night by shooting down the RCAF Flyers 6-1.

Point Anne exploded for three runs in each of the third and fourth frames and that was more than enough for young Marcelle.

The Co-pilot ace struck out 17 batters and gave up four hits in all after throwing six - innings of one - hit ball. He walked six and received errorless support aided from his mates.

An outfield error opened the door in the winners' first trio of runs and before the inning was over, G. Maher and Carr had singled and R. Marcelle tripled to open up the contest.

E. Maher and MacDonald rapped doubles with one gone in the fourth and Vern Whalen made it 6-0 by slamming a solid home run to left field.

The Flyers broke Marcelle's shutout bid in the seventh when Tupin led off with a stinging home run shot. A walk and double in the same inning kept RCAF hopes alive but not for long.

Vern Whalen's circuit clout, a double and single by Claude Carr, two singles each by Dennis Maher, Glen Marcelle and Tom MacDonald and Ron Marcelle's triple were the Pointer's big hits. Eric Maher and Gerry Maher added leaners.

Tupin's homer, Hargraves' double and singles by Larock and Mc Intyre accounted for RCAF's runs.

Al McIntyre pitched the route in defeat, striking out five and passing but one.

Girl Athlete Best In Meet

Girl pupils of the city's public schools are not regarding their boy counterparts as the "stronger sex" after Saturday's inaugural Belleville Public Schools Field Day.

For a 13-year-old Pauline Ray of King George School was judged the top athlete with 23 out of 25 points while Mike Rollins, 12, of Queen Alexandra School was best boy athlete with 19 out of 25 points.

Pauline won the running broad jump, the high jump and the 100-yard dash besides being a member of the second place King George senior relay team.

Mike took the running broad jump, the high jump and the 100-yard dash in 12.08, the second fastest time of the meet.

The meet was considered an outstanding success by the Belleville Principals' and Vice-Principals' Associations, sponsors of the event. Hundreds of children from all city and district schools were entered in the meet, which is estimated at 1,300 watched the young athletes go through their paces.

Since it was the first meet of its kind held in the city the best times will go into the books as records.

Ruth Kollars, 10, of Queen Alexandra School is the broad jump record holder with a mark of 10 feet, five inches. Mike Rollins (QA), David Barriage (SMB) and David Royals (SMB) are joint holders of the high jump with leaps of four feet eight inches.

Dave Weskitt (HJC) is the 100-yard dash record holder with a mark of 12.2.

Queen Elizabeth School won the junior boys' 400-yard relay in 58 seconds. Sir Winston Churchill won the junior girls' relay with a mark of 58.8. King George took the senior girls' relay in 54.7 while S. M. Bowell captured the senior boys' relay in 48.

Prince of Wales won the junior boys' tug-of-war with Sir Winston Churchill taking the junior girls' event.

King George won the senior girls' tug-of-war and also the senior boys' event.

Events were confined to the running broad jump, the high jump, 100-yard dash, the relays and tugs-of-war.

The meet was excellently handled by the principals and vice-principals assisted by a large number of teachers of the city and others.

To Your Good Health

Old Ear Infection Needs Attention

Dear Dr. Molner: My boy friend went swimming three years ago and developed serious ear trouble. His doctor said he had a perforated ear drum, and gave him some pills which he said might or might not stop the running from his ear.

He also told him an operation could be performed but might damage his hearing.

He used the pills for a while but noted no change and discontinued using them. He has stopped going to the doctor, and just puts cotton in his ear to absorb the running.

He will soon be 21 and many opportunities are closed to him. He cannot enlist in any of the armed services and cannot be a policeman as he wants to be. Is there anything that will help besides a hearing aid? — Miss G. M. G.

Your reference to a hearing aid indicates that his hearing already is affected, but he is running a greater risk than that.

The running ear indicates that a chronic infection is present. There is no reason to expect it to get better by itself. It may get worse, and this sort of infection can cost a person totally deaf. There is even the risk of the infection spreading and becoming extremely dangerous.

I would guess that the doctor self-occluded the idea of an operation three years ago because he wanted to see whether the infection could first be controlled medically. That's doubtless what I would have done — then.

But now, after the infection has persisted for three years, it's an entirely different matter. I'd send the young man off to an ear specialist without delay.

Immediate and thorough care now, perhaps an operation, may save his hearing, and may save him more worry and trouble.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the purpose of cutting the vagus nerve in a case of a duodenal ulcer, to eliminate pain, or to reduce acid in the stomach? — A. S.

Neither, directly. The purpose is to reduce the excessive activity of the stomach and give the ulcer a chance to heal. For further explanation, I think you would benefit from reading my booklet, "How to heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed," which you can have by sending to Dr. Molner care of The Observer Syndicate, 730 Ninth St., P. O. Box 138, Dundee, Ill., 20 cents in coin and a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does a person 70 or older get much benefit from dry milk? — C.G.

I think you mean powdered milk, which is then mixed with water. It has essentially the same values as the ordinary milk from which the powder was made. Both the protein and calcium content are of value at any age — and it's my opinion that a good many older people can trace some of their physical ailments to lack of calcium. One glass of milk a day can be very useful to older folks — more if they like it.

Dear Dr. Molner: I offered to write to you for the answer to an unusual question that came up. Can a person innocently squire lice or "crabs" in the public area? Does there have to be sexual contact or can they be picked up in other ways? — Mrs. F. McC.

Crab lice are small insects. While sexual contact is obviously one means of transmitting them, they can be acquired innocently, just as any insect parasite may be unwittingly picked up. Public toilet seats can be offenders.

Retarded Children's Authority Seeks School in Hallowell

PICTON (Staff) — The two-room Yerexville school (Hallowell SS 4) located about 2½ miles North of Picton has been the objective of the Town of Picton's Retarded Children's Education Authority as a new home. It was disclosed at the monthly meeting of the Association Monday night, that at a recent meeting with Hallowell Township with regard to leasing the said school, he met there with little success. President of the local Association said last night that he hopes the township council would reconsider, in the event they do not and put the present building up for tender the association will have to raise the money somehow to pay for it.

The building is ideally suited for the Association's purpose, it comprises two rooms, has full basement and is heated by furnace. The school, eagerly sought by the association was built in 1857., only ten years ago and is one of the newer country schools in Prince Edward County to be vacated in favor of the new central school system. At present the School for the Mentally Retarded has been meeting in the basement of the First Baptist Church in Picton. At Monday night's meeting a report was read by the secretary, of the Ottawa Conference held in that city April 27 to 29.

The president, Harry Holston, also disclosed that the School for the retarded here will have a new teacher in the fall, she is Leone Gibson of Belleville who has been teaching retarded children in Belleville for the past seven years. She brings also a background of some 20 years teaching experience. The school will have a larger enrollment as the fall, at present nine students are being accommodated and another five or more are expected for the next term. Mrs. Vanskiver is the present teacher, it is not known at this time if she will continue her work with the children or not.

The local Association will be aided by provincial government grants of 80% to help with operating expenses, transportation, heat, light, maintenance, insurance etc. The other 20% will have to come from Picton and the townships concerned. A 50% Federal grant may be obtained as well, this applies to purchase of property only. The Association has to supply everything for the operating of school. The Prince Edward Association for the Mentally Retarded is now involved in its annual "Flowers of Hope" campaign. "We have not had the response from Picton citizens that we had hoped for," said Mr. Holston. "We will keep trying though," he added, as financial help at this time is greatly needed. There were 25 bands plus marching troops on parade and the Duke of Edinburgh Unit Pipe Band again carried off the best marching Pipe Band Trophy for the fourth year in succession. As the Unit had presented this trophy for annual competition after retaining the previous trophy by winning it three years in succession, it was a proud moment for them to have the Unit's name inscribed on the trophy in its first year of competition and the Cubs in like manner for the cup for accomplishing this. The weatherman was not too good for the parade but there were big crowds.

The sick chairmanship has been taken over until the next general meeting by Cdr. Ray Fletcher and the report is that it is reported that Coc Chapman is being allowed to return to his home some time this week. Odon Coss, in hospital are Ron Jamieson, Bert Herrington, George Frechette and Hank Boyle.

ANAF News

Membership Chairman Ron Baker states that he is organizing an Initiation night that will include the presentation of 25-year pins and Unit Life membership. He wants your cooperation, however, by submitting your names if you consider you are eligible for any of the above categories. The qualifications are as follows: All those who have so far, never been initiated. Any member who became a member before and during 1943 and has had continuous service since then. This is for the 25-year pin. All members who have reached the age of seventy and have had continuous membership for at least ten years for life membership in the Duke of Edinburgh Unit. Cdr. Ron hopes to have the ceremonies soon after Victoria Day so if you please submit your names as soon as possible and get set for a big meeting.

Sports chairman, Russ Bland, states that the Unit is sponsoring a banana ball team again this year. The Provincial Sports "meet is in London this year and he is hoping to be able to get a strong team together to protect the championship that the Unit won last year. The meet will be held on Saturday, June 24th. Also the Grand Centennial Year Sports Day will be held on Saturday, June 17th. Cdr. Ross would like anyone wishing to compete in Darts, Shuffleboard or Cribbage to hand in their names to the sports committee or the chairman. This will be quite a day with plenty of good prizes and trophies.

Entertainment chairman Jack Fitzgerald reports that the Belgian Veterans Centennial Ball is being planned for June 24th as the big one of the year. It will be held in the Memorial Hall on Front St. with the well known Doug Acadiane Quartet supplying the music. In addition there will be good entertainment, prizes galore and refreshments. Anyone with Centennial Tickets are asked to wear them for this event. Tickets will shortly be on sale by the executive. A Centennial Committee is limited only 50 tickets will be available. Get yours early and avoid being disappointed by missing out on all the fun.

The big International Good - will Day with band and marching competitions is over and the Kingston residents say there has been nothing to compare to it. There were 25 bands plus marching troops on parade and the Duke of Edinburgh Unit Pipe Band again carried off the best

Nova Scotians Voting Today After Dull Six-Week Campaign

HALIFAX (CP)—A dull six-week campaign behind them, Nova Scotia's politicians today were awaiting the voters' decision in a general election.

Three parties are contesting the province's 30th election since Confederation. An estimated 405,000 were eligible to vote between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Favorable weather was forecast for all areas of the province. Temperatures were expected to range from the high 50s to low 60s.

Some political observers expected only a moderate turnout at the polls.

Others, however, predicted a heavy vote, pointing out that more than 30,000 voters cast ballots in 1963 following a lackluster campaign.

A total of 118 candidates are seeking the 46 seats in the legislature. Both the Progressive Conservatives—in office since 1956—and the Liberals have candidates running for all seats. The New Democratic Party has 24 candidates in the field and there are two independents.

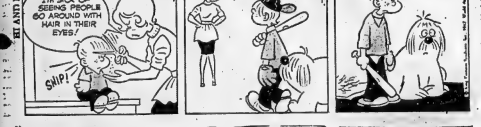
The Conservatives, headed by Premier Robert L. Stanfield will be seeking their fourth straight term. They were swept back into office in the last election—Oct. 8, 1963—with 39 members in a house that then had 43 seats. The Liberals won nine seats. The 78-4 standoff remained unchanged until a solution this spring.

Three seats were added by redistribution in the Halifax area this year.

Late in the campaign all three parties denied a published report that vote-buying with money and liquor was still practised in Nova Scotia. Attorney-General R. A. Donahoe said he doubted there was any factual basis for the report but he ordered police on politically-active duty today to watch closely for any irregularities.

Mr. Stanfield has led Nova Scotia PCs for 10 years while Liberal Leader Gerald Regan and NDP Leader James Aitchison are both heading their parties in a provincial campaign for the first time. Both were named party leaders after previous hardcore were defeated in personal election attempts in 1963.

Few new issues emerged from the campaign. Education became the hottest topic after the Liberals promised to pay all operating costs of the provincial education program from governmental money. This, the Liberals said, would save the municipalities millions of dollars and the saving would be passed on to property owners.



Response Pleases Robarts

MONTEBELLO, Que. (CP)—Ontario Premier John Robarts said Monday night he is "pleased and encouraged" at the response to his proposal that Ontario convene a Confederation of Tomorrow conference this year.

Mr. Robarts defended the proposed convention and Ontario's position on the reframing of Canada's constitution in a speech to the annual meeting of the Canadian Life Insurance Association.

A text of the speech repudiated provincial - supremacy views espoused by his attorney - general, Arthur Wishart, said:

"The government of Ontario is firmly committed to the principle of a strong central government with all powers necessary to provide the national policies to ensure a unified, prosperous Canada."

Mr. Robarts said the federal government became a new and senior level of government in Canada 100 years ago.

"This fact Ontario honors and respects," he said. "No chance can be made in this status without the participation of the federal government itself."

The premier said he does not intend the conference to "provide the provinces with an opportunity to attack the federal government.

"To avoid this we have excluded from the agenda discussion of fiscal arrangements and specific suggestions of constitutional change."

Topics on the agenda are a review of the problems of Confederation, consideration of the federation's objectives, relations between English- and French - speaking Canadians, and relations between the federal and provincial governments and among the provinces.

Dief Is Annoyed

Uniform Unveiling Date 'Provocative'

OTTAWA (CP)—The armed forces everyday "common denominator" uniform was publicly launched Monday with an angry Commons exchange arising from the timing.

Conservative Leader Diefenbaker said the choice of date was both inappropriate and provocative because right now Canadian troops were being "driven out" of their peacekeeping role in the Middle East.

Defence Minister Hellyer said the beginning of the trial run for the dark-green uniform and the Middle East withdrawal were coincidental. The date for the uniform-unveiling was two weeks ago to accommodate complicated arrangements.

Cut and cloth is the same for all—regardless of rank and branch of service. To date, officers' uniforms have traditionally had better cut, quality and color than the men.

Mr. Hellyer told reporters outside the House the "common-denominator" uniform is in keeping with Canada's classless society. Civilians wore the same cut and quality of clothes.

"We don't see why they shouldn't when they are in uniform as well," he said.

Mr. Hellyer, calling himself a liberal "in spirit as well as in name," said there was no reason to carry over a system designed in Europe when there was a class society.

That was when the officer class represented a certain strata in society and the other ranks represented a different class."

"Our society isn't built that way and I don't think we should perpetuate this import from overseas."

Mr. Hellyer said a professional designer is examining the best styles for "good-looking young women" in the armed forces. Only male uniforms have been designed so far, but the Minister said he is "smart" as the government can arrange.

Miniskirts are not planned. Morale is high in the forces "and I don't think we have to go to such devices as miniskirts to prove it."

Mr. Hellyer thought that alienation of a variety of rank insignia in favor of a single simple system would help a civilian understand people's jobs and lead to the other uniform differences.

Other insignia, badges, colored flashes, medals and headgear bands have been wiped out to reduce further the costumy differences in the standardization move.

Some 430 servicemen at home and abroad have been selected to give the model a nine-month trial. Among them is Canada's top soldier, Gen. Jean V. Allard, chief of the defence staff.

Community Colleges Will Not Be Temporary Universities

TORONTO (CP)— Education Minister William Davis said Monday the provincial government does not plan to make Ontario's community colleges a pathway to university degrees.

Community colleges in some states of the U.S. perform this function, he told the legislature in a speech introducing spending estimates for the department of education, because their universities find it impossible to accept all eligible students.

Mr. Davis said Ontario has been able to expand its universities fast enough to handle the load.

He said he could not predict what type of courses the community colleges would be offering five years from now.

"Things are changing far too rapidly," he said. The aim was to keep the courses flexible.

New Democratic Party leader Donald MacDonald said the courses should be flexible, and designed to meet the needs of the community the college serves.

Mr. Davis said some general courses were outlined by the government, but only in the interest of getting the colleges under way with a minimum of delay. It was expected the courses would be changed locally.

Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said the community colleges should offer courses parallel to university course so students can go on to university to complete their degree.

This would result in a saving to the student by enabling him to take two years of university training in a community college close to his home.

He also urged the government to establish community colleges in centres with populations of 60,000 or more. He said Brantford was an example.

Mr. Davis said it would be "very difficult" to provide postsecondary education for every community of that size. He also said that at least 75 per cent of young people in Ontario are within 25 miles of a university.

Urge to Dispense With Trial Both Dangerous and Ignorant

The day that the "Guilty" verdict was brought in by the Speck jury, I overheard a group of people at the luncheon table next to mine discussing the trial and conviction.

"Why does the state go to all the trouble, time and expense?" asked one of them. "He's guilty — everybody knew it — so why not give him the electric chair, or put him away for life and forget it?" Everyone else at the table nodded in strong agreement.

I didn't nod in agreement, even mentally. One must recognize that there is the attitude of most people, but I happen to think it is a wrong, dangerous, and ignorant attitude.

Quite apart, from the civil rights involved in the matter — and the blackest villain is entitled to the same trial rights as a church, or the law means nothing — there is another equally important consideration: We learn absolutely nothing socially by sending a man to the chair, or even by putting him away to rot in prison for a lifetime.

If he is mad, we should study the causes and course of his madness; if he is bad, we should study the origins and evolution of his badness. If he is a mixture of both — as we might suspect — we should study the relationship between moral character and emotional sickness.

Society hates, fears and resents such men, and wants to obliterate them. But such obliteration does not deter or prevent similar occurrences, nor does it help us to detect, in the early stages, the behavior patterns of other men who might do likewise.

It seems painfully obvious to me that if we understood more about such matters, not only might the child nurses be alive today, but also the young sniper who committed mass-murder from his tower in Texas could have been spotted as a potential menace long before that dreadful day. Such actions are almost always premeditated in early behavior—if we are alert to the deeper meaning of such behavior.

Acts of wilful violence and senseless violence are increasing enormously in this age. But though such acts may seem senseless to us, they make a kind of insane sense to the persons who perpetrate them; and if we obtained a better grasp of their convoluted mental processes, it might help us prevent incidents of this tragic kind — just as an improved knowledge of symptoms enables us to prevent physical illness from worsening to the incurable stage.

What is a "waste" is not the long and cumbersome trial, but the fact that after the trial little is done to probe the psychic cancers of such men. Simply to execute them or shut them away is the surest guarantee that future tragedies will be neither prevented nor anticipated. If we handled physical disease the same way, who would be alive?

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For May 31

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): If you insist on pressing point you arouse enmity. Know that peace and harmony are attainable. Strive for this goal. Don't encourage people to lash out at you when it is not necessary.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Some friends are in contrary mood. Realize this is temporary condition. Ride with the tide. If you agree, you gain respect. Accent today on your ability to remain neutral.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Diz deep for information. What appears solid may have imperfections. Applies to real estate, conditions at home and work. Wait for the facts. Don't depend on rumors.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Schedules are open to revision. Feel lightly. Not good time for journeys. Take care with what you say, put in writing. Don't be attracted to do so as not necessarily constructive.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Responsibility is highlighted. Overcome obstacles by sticking to duties. Some are not so fantastic claims. Take these with proverbial grain of salt. Believe what you know—not what you hear.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Underlined need for giving and receiving. Don't try to completely win any agreement. Realize need for face-saving. If you respect those with opposing opinions . . . then you avoid real trouble.

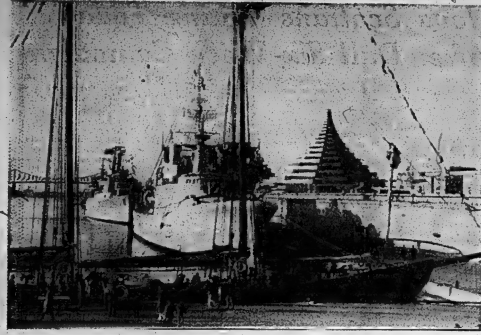
LIBRA (Sept. 23—Oct. 22): Tension results if you insist on getting involved in other people's disputes. Know that some are waiting to trap you. Be aloof without being rude. Stick to principles.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): A social event could be transformed into debating society. Your position is strong . . . it will be gracious. Important to display fact that you need not, always get your way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): How you react to criticism is important. Permit family member to express himself. Listen, be attentive. Later you can speak and you could receive applause.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): You are wary of you delay important travel, communication plans. Don't be in too much of a hurry. Some things are best to see you trip up. Know this and watch words, actions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Don't permit pride to lead to foolish expenses. If sensitivity, you make valuable discoveries. Check sources, facts. Take nothing for granted. One who gives wants, is able to make amends.



PISCESS (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Key is self-reliance. Others may not know what you want, need. Be available. Stress independent research. Don't be bogged down by tradition, rumors or theories.

Transportation Report Released

OTTAWA (CP)— Summaries of a 12-volume report on transportation problems in the Atlantic region will be released today as Nova Scotians go to vote in a provincial election.

The announcement was the high point of a Commons speech Monday by Transport Minister Pickersgill that lested more than an hour and touched upon dozens of major problems across the country.

The Commons today turns its attention to the 1967-68 spending estimates of the state secretary's department — this includes the always-controversial CBC — and will come back to complete the transport estimates at a later date.

The main preoccupation was with the evacuation of Canadian troops from Egypt.

During the transport debate, Mr. Pickersgill reported that the major part of the Atlantic study has been completed.

The 18-month Atlantic study was made by independent consultants hired by the federal transport department and the Atlantic development board.

Mr. Pickersgill said the conclusions "give particular emphasis to the need for further development and improvement of highways in the region."

Mr. Pickersgill mentioned the Burin Peninsula and northwest coast of Newfoundland and "the project for a highway across Labrador;" development of the New Brunswick highway running from Moncton to the Quebec border via Bathurst and Campbellton, and development of data on roads in Quebec's Gaspe region.

He said special studies were made of the possible effects of building a corridor road across Maine to connect New Brunswick and Quebec, and of the seasonal problem in the ports of Halifax and Saint John, N.B.

Mr. Pickersgill said the report involves "new approaches to transportation between the mainland and Newfoundland.

Mr. Pickersgill said he made a list of the following areas—beyond the "urgent problems" in the Atlantic region—in need of special attention:

1. The problem of an additional crossing of Vancouver harbor and that of the expansion of harbor developments in a port he described as "the funnel" to one-third of Canada;

2. The question of an additional approach to Vancouver International Airport on Sea Island. Ottawa was trying to work access to Vancouver without having to go to Lulu Island first;

3. Road construction on the Prairies "and elsewhere" where needed to offset railway branch line abandonment;

4. "Substantial additional spending and development" if the Welland Canal and St. Lawrence Seaway are to be expanded to meet future requirements;

5. Improving and deepening the St. Lawrence ship channel below Montreal;

6. Major airport and terminal expansion at Toronto and Montreal to meet the coming needs of jumbo jet and supersonic aircraft;

7. Better ground transportation to and from major metropolitan airports;

8. The possible need for railway expansion in the northern and northwestern areas of Canada for natural resource exploitation.

Centennial Hospital Week Is Planned

NAPANEE — Plans for Centennial Hospital Week, June 5 through 11, are nearing completion, Mrs. Linda Quevillon, chairman of the committee, reports. Other members are Mrs. Flora Barr and Mrs. Helen Loucks. All are members of the nursing staff of the Lennox and Addington County General Hospital.

Members of the administrative staff will wear centennial dress throughout the week, and the nursing staff will be in the uniforms of olden days. The nurses are finding it a bit difficult to locate these, and would be happy to hear where others can be secured.

Saturday June 10 will be the big day, with proceedings in the Prince Charles' School. All day there will be a display of antiques.

Heirloom gowns, too frail to be worn, will be displayed on forms, and other centennial apparel will be worn by models in the fashion show which will feature the afternoon entertainment.

Pre - confederation articles will also be displayed, as Melville Hill of the Tyendinaga Reserve will be there with a collection of Indian artifacts selected from his museum.

Throughout the day members of the nursing staff will be on hand to describe the display of household articles and medical and hospital equipment.

A sale of baked goods will take place in the afternoon, also.

During the evening, in addition to viewing the antiques, the public will hear and see a variety show, with many numbers contributed by members of the hospital staff. Mrs. Quevillon states that a surprising amount of talent has come to light among the staff members. Hospital talent will be supplemented by numbers contributed by outside talent.

All proceeds of the all-day activities will be given to the Lennox and Addington Centennial Committee.

This will be one more opportunity for people to wear their centennial costumes, and perhaps win a prize in the parade in the afternoon.

Many Take Part In Fish Derby

NAPANEE — There was a big time on the Napanee River Saturday when the Rod and Gun Club held its fishing derby for the young folk of the vicinity. About 120 of them took part, and at least ten were girls.

The boy who really struck it rich was Peter Stevens, winner of several prizes. He pulled in 48 fish during the day, winning prizes for the most fish, the largest silver bass and the most perch. He was awarded the trophy as the best fisherman.

Ralph Denison allowed the use of the docks at his cottage area as in other years, and about 30 boats were volunteered to take the youngsters out to try their luck. E. W. Ferguson and James Ives of the Department of Lands and Forests were on hand and had helped with the planning. Bob Wilson, the president, and Bill Hanna were only two of the many helpers. Morley Tropping and Derward Waddingham were in charge of the boats.

Many people came to the aid of the club with contributions of food, milk and. prizes. The Rod and Gun Club annual fishing derby has become a popular event in this area.

There were many prize winners, Randy Phelps hauled in the largest walleye, and Ab Warnke the largest fish, a 17½-pound carp. Calvin Storey was the youngest boy and Lori Ives the youngest girl. She was also the girl who caught the most fish. Gordon Walker got the most walleyes and John Munro and Harry Snider the biggest muskeats. Eric Allenbrock caught the smallest fish, and Robert Parks the biggest eel.

Tax Increase Hinted in Sharp's Pre-budget Survey of 1966

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance minister Sharp drew a picture Tuesday of an economy still moving ahead, but more slowly than in 1965, and still requiring delicate treatment.

He tabled a pre-budget white paper in the Commons that may carry a hint of tax increases as part of the treatment.

The white paper said Canada faces the same crucial question this year that it did last: Can the growth of incomes be moderated, and the growth of productivity improved, to stem price increases?

The answer in 1965 was no. Wages, salaries and supplementary labor income jumped 12½ per cent, biggest gain of the expansion begun in 1961. Output increased 5.9 per cent, but because the labor force grew rapidly at the same time, output per worker improved less than one per cent.

When all sectors of the economy combined to demand more than it would yield, prices rose 4.6 per cent.

If the answer in 1967 is yes, Mr. Sharp says it will "provide a profitable basis for a continuing and steady growth in investment, and improve Canada's international economic position.

A tax increase seemed predictable on several counts.

The white paper revealed a budget deficit for the 1965-67 fiscal year ended March 31 of $428,000,000, up sharply from a deficit of $39,000,000 last year and $38,000,000 two years ago.

As late as his supplementary budget last December, Mr. Sharp had predicted a deficit of $320,000,000. His prediction in the budget of last March was for a $150,000,000 deficit.

When Mr. Sharp brings down his budget Thursday night, he will have to provide for new revenues to cover a previously announced spending program of $9,535,132,584, and this does not include supplementary estimates that come in later and usually amount to several hundred millions.

Last year the government spent $8,794,000,000 and collected $8,366,000,000.

The white paper says governments may tax away other savings. The white paper says it is important when intended investment falls short of potential savings to absorb the savings "if resources are not to be wasted in idleness."

Consumer spending would remain strong. All governments would increase spending again, but at a more moderate rate in 1966, highest since the Korean war.

Experts would enjoy another marked increase, but not by 17 per cent as they did last year.

Ten Soviet Warships On Way to Mid East

CAIRO (CP)—A Soviet fleet was reported headed for the eastern Mediterranean and a possible confrontation with Western naval forces as the Middle East crisis continued to swirl today in the wake of diplomatic and military activity.

While a new ordnance-Egyptian alliance tightened the Arab ring around Israel, Syria's government propaganda machine ignored the feud and kept up virulent attacks on King Hussein of Jordan, long an arch foe of the Syrians.

Informed sources in Ankara said the Soviet government has told Turkey it would send 10 more warships through the Turkish straits into the Mediterranean where the powerful U.S. 6th Fleet is deployed. The sources said five Soviet ships of heavy tonnage and five auxiliary vessels are expected to pass through the Bosporus and the Dardanelles before June 7.

One source said even if these ships joined a Soviet flotilla of about a dozen ships already in the Mediterranean, the naval balance there would remain strongly in favor of the United States.

"We will do whatever we are directed to do by the president and that includes a whole range of options," said Rear-Admiral Lawrence Geis, commander of the 6th Fleet's Task Force 60.

A buildup of Western naval power also appeared under way in the Red Sea as British government pondered ways to join action with the United States and other maritime powers to beat Egypt's blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba, Israel's access to the Red Sea.

The British were reported considering formation of a naval force to escort ships through the Strait of Tiran into the gulf, where Israel's chief oil importing port of Elath is located.

A British foreign office spokesman in London stressed, however, that Britain and other Western powers are still concentrating on a search for a diplomatic settlement.

Informants said a naval escort would not necessarily them be use of force.

The British aircraft carrier Hermes, two frigates and five minesweepers of the Royal Navy were reported in the vicinity of Aden, at the southern entrance to the Red Sea area.

British newspapers have reported that two U.S. destroyers also are in the Red Sea area.

The U.S. carrier Intrepid will pass through the Suez Canal today from the Mediterranean to the Red Sea, a U.S. spokesman said at Cairo.

He declined to say where the 33,000-ton carrier was headed or where it was coming from.

Admiral Geis said his amphibious force, which includes 1,500 marines and five M-48 tanks, will remain near Crete for the time being and await developments.

Syria Consults De Gaulle

DAMASCUS (CP - Reuters)—Syria's foreign minister, Ibrahim Makhous, flew to Paris today with a message for President de Gaulle.

Makhous was to give a verbal message from President Nureddin el-Atassi of Syria to the French president about the Middle East crisis, it was announced here.

The announcement said Makhous would fly from Paris to Algiers to see Algerian Premier Houari Boumedienne after meeting de Gaulle Thursday night.

Jordan Pact Irks Syria

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A deep split in the Arab ranks against Israel appeared to be developing today with the Socialist regime in Syria holding out against the defence pact signed Tuesday between Egypt and Jordan.

Syria's government - controlled press, radio and television refused to acknowledge the dramatic new agreement which tightened the Arab ring around Israel.

They continued virulent propaganda attacks against King Hussein of Jordan.

Damascus radio and the newspapers in this Syrian capital made no mention of the Jordanian-Egyptian defence pact, ignored news of King Hussein's visit to Cairo and reported widespread discontent in the Jordanian armed forces.

Damascus newspapers, reporting that trouble was brewing in the Jordanian Army, claimed that two regiments quelled another one that mutinied.

Euromart Agrees To Hear Britain

ROME (AP) — Representatives of five of the Common Market Nations think their summit meeting in Rome gave a significant push forward to Britain's application to join the European Economic Community, The French disagree.

The two-day meeting of government chiefs from France, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg ended Tuesday night with an agreement that their foreign ministers discuss applications from Britain, the Republic of Ireland and Denmark at a meeting in Brussels June 5-6.

Provincial Trade Missions Are Criticized

TORONTO (CP)—D. W. Ambridge, president of Abitibi Paper Co. Ltd., Monday criticized Canadian provincial trade missions.

In an address to the Canadian Manufacturers Association, Mr. Ambridge said these missions have led to "provincial authorities running around the world offering price concessions they could only qualified people to come and establish industries in their provinces without the slightest idea what the end will be."

Washington Reports Say Vietnam Raids Curbed

SAIGON (Reuters) — American planes have bombed targets within four miles of the centre of the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong, a U.S. spokesman here reported.

Press reports from Washington Tuesday said the United States had imposed new restrictions on the bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong and suggested they might apply to areas within a 10-mile radius of the two cities.

The spokesman said navy jets from the carrier Hancock attacked two fuel storage installations on opposite sides of the Cam Cua River, 3½ and four miles from downtown Haiphong.

There were no reports of any planes' lost.

Today was the first time U.S. planes struck the Cong My storage complex made up of railroads, piers and offshore loading platforms.

North Vietnamese gunners Tuesday downed two American jets, the spokesman said.

One was an air force F-4C Phantom shot down as U.S. planes raided a MiG airfield at Hon Lac, 30 miles west of Hanoi. Its two crew members were rescued, but the pilot of a navy A-4 Skyhawk is missing.

In Thua Thien province a marine helicopter was also shot down by ground fire and destroyed but its crew members rescued, he said.

U.S. planes also struck rail yards between 28 and 44 miles northeast of Hanoi.

They left Kep railyard with smoke rising to 3,000 feet after bombs tore up rail track and damaged cars, the spokesman said.

At Bac Giang railroad, bombs shattered a railway and highway bridge.

Heavy ground fighting was reported in the South. U.S. marines were fighting near the demilitarized zone, troops of the 1st Cavalry Division had a rough fight south of Da Nang, and South Vietnamese forces reported they killed 106 Communists, also south of Da Nang, and 41 Viet Cong in a battle 35 miles southwest of Saigon.

Flute Tooters Were in the Groove Then Fussy Fuzz Gave Order, 'Move'

NEW YORK (AP) — The flute tooters, the Buddhist love chanters, the bongo whackers and the sitar strummers emerged from the underground onto the scruffy grass and dust of a Lower East Side park and grooved their sound at the world.

To police cars, the incantation for the "No Generation," grated. "Please stop," a policeman said.

The reply, from amidst the beards, bush jackets, regimental coats and Mother Hubbard hats, came back as laughter.

Suddenly, the pulse of Hare Krishna, a Buddhist chant used as a hippie love ritual song, was gone — overwhelmed by the grunts of a scuffle, the thud of nightsticks on heads and finally the rising cacophony of a beer can, bottle and rock throwing fight that matched about 200 hippies and 100 policemen.

Tuesday's encounter, the first pitched battle in the city between law enforcement and the "love people," saw police snap a human chain with a nightstick assault and arrest 28 persons before it was over. 16 women, who refused to leave Tompkins Square Park. At least two hippies and a patrolman were injured.

Nova Scotia Sweep Makes Stanfield Hot Prospect for PC Federal Chief

OTTAWA (CP)—Robert Stanfield's fourth sweep of Nova Scotia in the provincial election Tuesday night was greeted here with speculation that he may now enter the Conservative party's national leadership contest.

Premier Stanfield has consistently stated that he is not interested in stepping into the federal scene but some Conservative MPs here evidently would like to see him do so.

His party won 40 seats in the general election against six for the Liberals—a gain of one seat for the Conservative government and a gain of two for the Liberals. Redistribution had added three seats to the legislature.

Heath Macquarrie (PC—Queens) said he was delighted by the victory and added that it is bound to increase pressure on Mr. Stanfield, a Nova Scotia industrialist-politician, to enter the federal race.

Russell Crouse (PC—Queens-Lunenburg), who was active in the Stanfield campaign, was more reserved.

The Nova Scotia MP said the 40-seat mandate "to me indicates he has a responsibility to the people of Nova Scotia."

Health Minister MacEachen, who was here, had no comment.

A spokesman for Prime Minister Pearson said he found it encouraging that the Liberals had gained two seats.

David Lewis (NDP — York South) described it as a Stanfield sweep in which the Liberals "didn't do notably well."

Belleville Builder Succeeds in Britain

LONDON (Special) — Chalet homes in Switzerland, one-family dwellings in France and municipal housing in Britain — all built using Ontario timber frame construction methods — are among the first fruits of a British-Canadian manufacturing venture that began in 1966.

MAURICE H. ROLLINS

In less than a year, Fontaberry Insulated Homes Ltd., Aylesham, Kent, owned jointly with Maurice H. Rollins Construction Ltd., Belleville, has tooled up sales worth $300,000, and next year expect to more than double this figure, selling about 150 homes worth an estimated $625,000.

During an interview at Ontario House, London, Maurice Rollins, head of the Belleville company reported a contract for ten four-person houses just received by Fontaberry from Kent County Council. "It was their first order in the municipal housing field," he said, and augured well for the future as more than half Britain's yearly housing total of about 450,000 were built by local municipalities.

The company's new factory, located near Dover, Britain's main channel port, has helped to give Fontaberry homes a price edge in Continental Europe. So far 40 have been constructed in France and Switzerland and Mr. Rollins reports bright prospects in the Netherlands and West Germany.

In the past three years the number of timber frame houses built in the U.K. has trebled to reach 15,000 and further substantial growth is expected in the next few years. With an annual capacity of 750 housing units, Fontaberry is well placed to compete for an increasing share of timber frame housing business.

A Serious Game!

Youngsters at Harmony School near Corbyville get preview of new game emphasizing traffic safety. It was directed by OPP Corporal Dennis Robson, (left) second-in-command of force's safety programs, seen here with Constable Bill Willis, Belleville detachment.

Foster Homes Needed

A shortage of homes for foster children has developed in the Belleville area.

According to Mrs. Janette Thompson of the Children's Aid Society Centre here she is urgently needed at its present time. "We are trying to utilize all the homes we have but more will be needed throughout the summer months".

Married women between the ages of 25 and 55 can qualify as foster mothers. They receive $1.35 per day for the care of infants and children up to the age of seven, $1.50 per day for children from eight to twelve; and $2. per day for teenagers.

The Children's Aid Society cover all medical and other incidental expenses.

Anyone interested should call the Belleville Children's Aid Society.

Model Cars Used to Teach Fundamentals of Safe Driving

The deadly serious business of traffic safety can also be a fun game — as one group of Belleville-district school students learned yesterday.

At the same time, the single session probably drove home safety pointers more vividly than any lecture twice as long.

If so, it's all to the original thinking of OPP Corporal Dennis Robson, second-in-command of the force's traffic division.

Now marshalling OPP officers to bring safety-consciousness into the schools, the corporal yesterday unveiled the latest project to be taught province-wide next September.

Chosen for the event was Harmony public school near Corbyville, where the students were given model cars to play with while the corporal made telling traffic points.

"Basically, the children are taught the fundamentals of driver attitudes by the use of the model cars," explains Corporal Robson.

First, there "is half-hour classroom session where the students are taught the rules of the road. This is followed by a 40-minute game with the model automobiles, where they put the rules into practice.

"We hope it develops proper driving attitudes from a young age," says Corporal Robson, and that the youngsters will be better drivers, and as pedestrians, aware of driving problems in this mechanized age."

Actually, there is a touch of irony in yesterday's unveiling in the Belleville area. The new safety program for next year's school students, was devised in Belleville.

Corporal Robson was the city's first full - time safety instructor, being brought here from Simcoe.

As Sergeant Robson, he rapidly became a popular bit with thousands of city young fry in 1958-60. Among his approvations at that time was the city traffic bureau. Also a proud boy however, he quit the Belleville force, joined the OPP and was posted to Brockville.

In February last year he was promoted to corporal and sent to Toronto headquarters as second-in-command of the forces safety program.

The latest innovation he says, requires 800 model cars. All of them have been supplied by three of the top automobile manufacturers and will be distributed to all OPP detachments for use in local schools.

Mrs. Shirley Post, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Alyea, Belleville received her Bachelor of Nursing Science degree with honors in the Nursing Education course at the University of Ottawa, at convocation held May 28. Mrs. Post who received her Reg. N. degree from Toronto Western Hospital is a graduate of Belleville Collegiate Institute and has accepted a position as lecturer in medical-surgical nursing at the University of Ottawa for the coming year. Mrs. Post is the wife of Dr. George E. Post, formerly of West Huntingdon and they with their three children reside in Ottawa.

Accused Elects Trial by Judge, Jury

William P. White, a Belleville area man charged with robbery with violence, was committed for trial yesterday by Magistrate T. Y. Willis. White elected trial by judge and jury.

White was charged after he allegedly left the City Hotel with John H. Sagriff of 19 North Front street. "Outside," Mr. Sagriff says, "he told me he wanted my purse. We fought over it and he took it."

White was arrested when he returned to the City Hotel the same night. About $100 was stolen.

Automatic Water Filtration Equipment Installed in Belleville

If Belleville ever finds it necessary to draw its water supply from Lake Ontario, much of the present equipment could be relegated to a "standby" role. As far as the local public utilities commission is concerned the new $185,000 chemical building, at the water filtration plant in the west end of the city, hasn't come a bit too soon.

The new equipment, just now going into use, will fully automate the introduction of the necessary chemicals into the city water supply.

And in the case of alum, the new equipment will replace now obsolete machinery which has been in use at the Belleville plant for nearly 40 years.

In fact the old alum equipment is so old that parts are no longer available. It has been necessary to rob one machine to keep a second one in operation.

But automated equipment is only one of the benefits of the new chemical building. The addition will provide much needed storage space and, through bulk purchase of supplies, will cut about $12,000 per year from the utilities' chemical bill.

The new equipment at the filtration plant allows for the purchase of liquid chlorine in one ton containers instead of the 150 pound cylinders now being used.

As a result, chlorine costs are cut by approximately 30 per cent and time spent connecting and disconnecting cylinders is reduced by more than 80 per cent.

Chlorine is a vital application to the city water supply. It kills any remaining bacteria following the filtration process.

In the case of alum (used to clarify water) chemicals were formerly purchased in powder form in 200 pound sacks. Dumping the sacks into the storage was a dusty and extremely dusty job.

Now liquid alum is purchased in 11.5 delivered by tank truck and stored in two 6,000 gallon rubber lined tanks in the basement of the new chemical building.

Also in the basement is a 4,000 gallon tank for fluoride. (That's the chemical introduced into the water supply to reduce tooth decay.)

Public Utilities manager E. L. Burnham says that bulk purchase of chlorine and fluoride will reduce costs for these chemicals by about 50 percent or around $12,000 per year.

Costs for liquid alum as opposed to the use of powdered alum will see little change.

But one of the big features of the new equipment is that the introduction of chemicals to the water can be more accurately controlled — and done automatically.

For instance, in the case of chlorine the correct ratio of its introduction into the water supply is controlled automatically according to the number of gallons of water being pumped each day. And the the whole process, including the rate of water pumpage, is recorded automatically on a chlorine residual recorder.

Currently Belleville's 33,000 residents are using between 4½ and 5 million gallons of water a day.

But in the hot summer months ahead the rate of pumpage will jump to a high of 10 million gallons per day.

And it is this rate of pumpage which is causing public utilities officials much concern.

Pumping this amount of water is almost up to the capacity of the plant's filtering beds and a plant addition will be necessary within the next few years.

This is where the possibility of piping water from Lake Ontario comes in.

The Ontario Water Resources Commission, some months ago, authorized a survey into the feasibility and costs of piping Lake Ontario water for use in the Quinte area. Possible customers for the service would be Belleville, Trenton and the neighboring townships.

If Lake Ontario water was available at a reasonable cost, it would no longer be necessary for expansion at the Belleville filtration plant.

Consulting engineers, Gore and Storrie, of Toronto, did the survey and their report is in the hands of the OWRC. No word as to when the report will be available to city council.

According to Mayor Jack Ellis, if Lake Ontario water was available to Belleville, all necessary filtration and the addition of certain chemicals would be done at a processing plant near the lake front.

This would mean the present filtration plant at Belleville would become little more than a pumping station.

Storage facilities at Belleville would be increased so that the filtered water could be received from Lake Ontario at a steady rate of pumpage.

Then, all that would be necessary would be to add fluoride and possibly some chlorine as an additional safeguard.

The addition of fluoride would be necessary at Belleville, only if other municipalities using Lake Ontario water did not allow introduction of fluorine into the water supply.

Filtration beds at the Belleville plant would be used to make room for more storage facilities.

It is not likely that the re-equipment would be scrapped.

Rather, the likelihood is, that it would be retained as "standby" equipment in case of a temporary shutdown of the pipeline from Lake Ontario.

One of the major present day problems of filtration plants — and particularly in Belleville — is the amount of algae in water supplies.

This foul smelling algae not only gives water a disagreeable taste, but also serves to clog the filterbeds making frequent backwashing necessary.

Approximately 10 years ago the Belleville Utilities Commission moved to partially conquer the problem of backwashing, although it couldn't do anything about the algae.

The solution was the installation of special micro filter strainers at the filtration plant.

These units (there are four of them at Belleville) strain the algae out of the water before it reaches the filter beds. Not all the water supply is micro strained but sufficient volume is done to comfortably reduce the filter backwash problem.

The micro strainers have been in use since 1965 and the screens which have 80,000 openings to the square inch are beginning to deteriorate.

Replacing the stainless steel screening on the four micro strainers — a $15,000 job — is currently underway at the Belleville plant.

When the job is completed the strainers will be ready to combat the annual summer algae problem.

Chlorine by the Ton

James Scriven, superintendent at the city water filtration plant checks the amount of chlorine remaining in "ton" containers. Purchase of chemicals in larger quantities will mean a saving of $12,000 per year.

Algae Strainer

Micro strainers with screen openings of 80,000 to the square inch, are used in the filtration plant to remove algae from the water supply. Here undergraduate Cam Macpherson works at replacing micro screen in one of the four strainer units at the plant.

Alum by the Tank Truck Load

With the installation of new storage facilities at the water filtration plant, bulk delivery of liquid alum is now made by tank truck instead of in 100 pound bags. Picture shows section of new chemical building at the pumphouse.

Wishart Service Thursday

Funeral service will be held Thursday afternoon for 18-year-old Harold James Wishart, Belleville university student whose three-month disappearance was tragically solved yesterday with the discovery of his drowning in Toronto.

The 18-year-old youth — studying at the University of Waterloo — had been missing since March 5.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Wishart, 45 MacDonald Gardens. Mr. Wishart is general manager of the Wood Johnson of Canada plant in Belleville.

The youth's body was found Tuesday morning in Toronto Bay.

The family have lived in Belleville for 12 years, coming here from Hamilton.

Harold received his earlier education at Queen Elizabeth public school and Bayside secondary school. He was a member of St. Margaret's-in-the-Hill church.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a brother, Gerard Scott Wishart and a sister Jean Elizabeth, both at home.

The funeral service will be held at the John R. Bush Funeral Home. Rev. J. Wm. Lamb officiated. Interment was in Belleville Cemetery.

The bearers were A. Anton, M. McKenzie, A. Kilner, L. Hall, K. Baker and M. Wager.

Underwriters Hear Talk On Selling

The Ray of Quinte Life Underwriters were told that attitude is more important than ability at their recent monthly dinner meeting held in the Shopping Plaza.

Jim Sutherland, director of agencies with Sovereign Life Assurance Company, Toronto, said that to become a successful agent in today's business world, one must have a sincere interest in people. He added that 25 per cent of all promotions are the result of a person's technical knowledge, whereas 75 per cent are due to ability to get along with others. Enthusiasm is still the most essential quality for a salesman.

The speaker was introduced by Verne Armstrong, Picton, and thanked by Gordon Miller, Belleville.

Plans were outlined for the coming sports day at Trenton Golf Club following the June meeting. Qualified recipients will be presented with the coveted national quality awards.

Funeral

MRS. VERNA PHILLIPS

The funeral for Mrs. Verna Phillips was held yesterday in the chapel of the John R. Bush Funeral Home. Rev. J. Wm. Lamb officiated. Interment was in Belleville Cemetery.

The bearers were J. Anton, M. McKenzie, A. Kilner, L. Hall, K. Baker and M. Wager.

NDP Edge Reduced

SUDBURY (CP) — Revised figures in Monday's federal by-election put the New Democratic Party's margin of victory to 121 votes.

When counting was completed Monday night in Sudbury riding's 181 polling stations, Melville C. (Dad) Germa, the NDP candidate, had 13,206 votes to 13,085 for Liberal James Jerome—a margin of 280.

Engineer Educated In City

Dr. Joseph H. G. Howard, associate professor of mechanical engineering at the University of Waterloo, was awarded the Algue Medal by the Engineering Institute of Canada yesterday. The presentation was made at the annual awards luncheon of the E.I.C.

Professor Howard was educated in Belleville and is a graduate of R.M.C. and Queen's University. He earned his master's and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Birmingham, England. Dr. Howard's paper was judged the best original contribution on a mechanical engineering subject.

Committee to Inspect Airport in Kitchener

Three members of the Quinte area municipal airport committee, headed by Belleville Alderman Dr. J. Russell Scott are visiting Kitchener - Waterloo today where they will inspect airport facilities in that municipality.

The committee, made up of two members each from Belleville, Trenton, Hastings County and Prince Edward county, flew from Picton today to the Waterloo area. The group flew in a private plane piloted by Howard Booth of Belleville. The other committee member making the trip is Reeve J. N. Brown of Bancroft.

At a meeting some weeks ago, the airport committee was told the Belleville area was in need of a commercial air field capable of handling executive and other commercial aircraft.

The committee feels that the Mountain View Air Station presently owned by the RCAF would make an ideal commercial fields for the Quinte area and investigations are being made to determine if the field can be acquired for use by commercial aircraft.

Uniforms and Individuals

Uniforms are in the news these days. And while uniforms suggest "oneness" and conformity that is not always the case.

However, conformity is strongly in evidence in the controversial new uniform of Canada's armed services.

With all servicemen to be garbed in the same dark-green package, only rank insignia and badges differing, much of the outward symbolism of the three services will disappear. There is even a suggestion that ceremonial garb eventually may be replaced by the new uniform or a variation of it.

An Ottawa report is eloquent of the uniform's conformist character. Keynote of the new crease-resistant uniform, it says, is simplicity.

"To a civilian, the general will look remarkably like the private, a ship commander like the man who scrubs the deck and the air commodore like the plane mechanic."

In other words, rather like the men of the United States forces, but substituting dark green for khaki. Unlikely, it is, that uniform should find acceptance. At least it sounds as if it has been designed more with the servicemen's collective figures in mind. In the current crop of uniforms those long-corded topcoats and raincoats of khaki or blue do little for the military bearing of the men wearing them.

Thus conformity is the aim on the armed services scene. And if that sounds typically Canadian it is amazing just how non-conformist the contemporary scene is in this country. All one needs to do is look around. Our young people look pretty good these days — and of course it is the girls who are making the scene as the summer weather (hesitant as it may be) brings out the bright prints and mod designs.

Now and again someone brings up the perennial question of uniforms for the students. Some schools favor them, but not by any means all and generally speaking the idea has never taken hold in Canada. Clothes do reflect individuality and there is no denying many of the young people, in both the public and high schools, help to brighten the daily scene.

A Brighton girl encountered in a city store recently was wearing a red blazer and blue skirt, and her way of commemorating Centennial year was a medallion on her blazer bearing the name of her home town and 1867-1967. Once again one finds quaint evidence of individualism that Canadians tend to cultivate more assiduously.

One group whose uniforms have not changed much over the years, and yet still contrive to look attractive are the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and Brownies. Last Sunday they held their annual parade. For all the restlessness of our time, the principles for which these young people's organizations stand for still valid and the uniforms they wear somehow reflect their permanence in an uncertain world.

Expo "Bugs"

After a surprisingly smooth start Expo seems to be settling down to a summer of continuing excitement as the nations of the world unfold the best of their creative talents to visitors from many lands.

Yet problems crop up and these are tackled as they arise. For instance, there have been those lineups at various pavilions — and as everyone knows time is of the essence at the big fair.

To assist the public in this regard Expo has begun a computerized ticket service. This enables visitors to pick up advance tickets in the morning for attractions to be shown later. If a show is sold out the computer indicates when tickets will be available.

A less encouraging aspect of Expo, from the viewpoint of the guides and hostesses at least, is the lack of intelligent questioning by visitors. A Toronto reporter says the fair has become a "land of four questions:"

Where is the washroom? Where is the restaurant? Where can I get my passport stamped? and how do you get out of here?

Thus instead of helping the visitor understand exhibits, the guides and hostesses are being transformed into glorified attendants — and in the case of the attractive hostesses, exhibits in their own right.

The British pavilion, rated one of the best, boasts some of the best-looking and most highly-trained girls at the fair. Yet they, too, are finding their knowledge going largely to waste. As one of them said: "People do tend to push and prod and even step on toes. I dislike being treated as an exhibit."

"Push and prod . . ." What a perfect summation of the manners of a crowd anywhere. Why do crowds behave like this? Why do people have to act like boors? You see it getting in and out of elevators and public vehicles and while going through turnstiles. And it makes you irritated and ashamed of your fellow man.

Onus on Israel

Nasser Holds Early Advantage in "War of Nerves"

WASHINGTON (CP)—So far, so good for President Nasser of the United Arab Republic in the Middle East crisis.

Most scorecards give him the first round against Israel, under heavy Western pressure to exercise restraint.

Virtually all parties involved in the explosive situation have fallen in line with what Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations calls the need for a "breathing spell" to allow tensions to subside.

The first shooting incident between Arabs and Israelis Monday, plus some border bombings, show how fragile hopes for such a breathing spell may be.

But, as of now, Nasser's gains seem considerable and perhaps substantially more than he had intended at the start.

Without firing a shot, he has reimposed an Arab blockade on the Gulf of Aqaba, which Israel seized in five days in the 1956 Suez affair and which has become a vital shipping route to Israel.

He has at least delayed an Israeli military reaction. Meanwhile building up his own forces sharply in the area and robbing the Israelis of their favorite military element of surprise and quick thrust.

He has put the onus on Israel for opening hostilities and re-established his dwindling prestige as the paramount and dynamic leader of a divided Arab alliance.

Finally, he has confronted the pro - Western and anti - Nasser leaders of Jordan and Saudi Arabia with the necessity of following him in the name of the holy war of anti-Zionism. This is despite their fears that Nasser's ultimate intent is to oust them.

As the crisis now stands, he can continue to talk tough about the eventual overthrow of Israel and so he did Sunday, or contend the Arabs have always been friendly to the U.S.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union has been left to harvest some points in an area it long has courted. The U.S., deeply preoccupied with and committed in Vietnam, has the unwelcome prospect of conducting a second front operation if war does break out.

It is not a prospect to be relished. Although U.S. forces do exist for the job, officials here insist.

Illiteracy Is Rampant

Victoria Times

Conventional thought on the population explosion throughout the world centres generally on the problems of providing enough food for sustenance and enough room to make living some years hence tolerable for the individual.

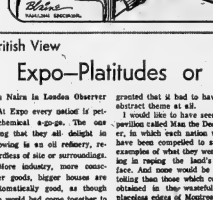
A recent United Nations report brings another factor to public attention. Illiteracy is also on the increase. According to statistics compiled by the world body the number has gone up by 300,000,000 in the last six years. The total may be misleading. Few children born since 1961 — and there are millions of them — are competent in reading and writing yet. But offsetting this consideration is the report that of 373,000,000 school-age children, 79 per cent are not in school and almost 250,000,000 adults have received no schooling.

There are countries where the illiteracy rate is high which are now engaged in birth control campaigns. India is cited frequently in the category. But current belief inclines to the idea that there is a relationship between literacy and family planning — that informed people adequately schooled will be better able voluntarily to check population growth to the limits imposed by food production.

The fundamental fact is United Nations report are that as the human family grows in number more people are without the valuable tools of education and thereby handicapped in the struggle for survival. It is a trend which will have to receive as much attention as the explosion in the physical total of mankind.

Twiggy or Sophia?

The Professor and the Model



Bruce West in The Globe and Mail

What's Marshall McLuhan trying to do to love and romance, anyway? Some critic once said, with commendable zest, that the rash of dirty books, that sex was a much too important matter to be left in the hands of writers. If McLuhan keeps on talking at best women the way he does, I'll be led to the conclusion that ideals in the female form are much too important to be left to professors.

The trouble is that Professor McLuhan's theories are evidently accepted as gospel by the Madison Avenue advertising boys. And you know how they can act when they get a little panicky. They may start pushing the Twiggy-type image in all those advertisements and television commercials. Imagine, for instance, the TV cigaret commercial in which the two-man and the beautiful doll puff luxuriously at their gaspers and then go bounding hand-in-hand across the meadows. With a gal like Twiggy, she'd be hidden behind a blade of grass before she'd walked five steps from the camera.

Mind you, I haven't anything personal against those wan models like Twiggy and the Shrimp. They might be real good kids if they were just taken in some kind and fattened up a bit. (Some of the ones in Vogue are shown wearing quite a bit though they are suffering from severe stomach cramp and I think they should see a doctor).

I'd gladly chip in on a fund to buy them a brace or two of pork chops, with a little cottage cheese and chittlins on the side. I wouldn't mind my grandson going to school with one of them, mind you, but I'm darned if I'd want him to marry one.

British View

Expo—Platitudes or Greatness?

Ian Nairn in London Observer

At Expo every nation is petrochemical e-go-ge. The one thing that they all delight in showing is an oil refinery, regardless of site or surroundings.

More industry, more consumer goods, bigger houses are automatically good, as though the world had come together to celebrate the American way of life — and none more effectively than the Russians.

Even Italy proudly displays a collection of landscapes all by heroes ravaged by their engineers in the cause of progress.

I saw only two challenges to this assumption in the whole buoyant sea of plastiddom.

One was a minor part of the Czech pavilion, which overall is the most thoughtful at Expo. He other was a splendid slap in the face administered by the Indians of Canada.

Their forthright remarks have already called forth pained response from the relevant government agency — thank goodness Canada is free enough to allow this kind of public ding-dong.

The Indian point, put simply, was: you have taken our land and now treat us as quaint pets. What are you going to do about it?

And incorporated in this is a formidable challenge to the materialist mish-mash served up in the rest of Expo. "We killed only what we needed. We paid honor to the spirit of all living things by wasting nothing."

That isn't platitude, it is the level at which the whole Expo should have been conducted.

It's imaginative, it's bright, it's exciting.

Considering the flat - footed, heavy - handed and paunchy government we are blessed with at Queen's Park, this Indian show at Expo isn't just surprising; it's little short of seditious.

It shatters the image of the provincial people as tight-lipped, conservative, crabbed, their vision restricted by a palisade of dollar bills and a posse of United Empire Loyalists. It's as though that lovelorn Premier Roberts and Co. seemed seductively to cultivate.

Yet the same government commissioned the building with its vinyl-covered tent-like peaks, its lagoons, amusing paintings, giant cubes, animated displays and touches of whimsy. Has the government got a hidden nature that it feels it can safely reveal only in Montreal?

Whatever the reason for the tone and quality of the province's Expo achievement, we and the government for giving them the scope to create it.

The pavilion's 570-seat free theatre is particularly popular. The 15-minute multimedia show about Ontario ways and people is superb — fast, ingenious, informative, entertaining, really believe, with the film's gay theme song Ontar-ar-ar-io, that this is a wonderful land.

If the government brought some of the flair and competence displayed by the Expo pavilion to the operation of the province we could indeed become the showplace of Canada.

Minis And The Greeks

Ottawa Journal

According to legend, there was a time when Greek gods and goddesses roamed the shores of the Mediterranean in — forgive the expression — miniskirts. What's more, their hair was long.

So how come, a 14-year-old American girl recently asked Greece's interior minister in a letter, the reigning military junta has banned long hair and mini-skirts?

The junta's order was aimed at eliminating "beatnik" tourists from that troubled country.

The minister, Brig. Stylianos Patakos, apparently saw the link to the past in these twentieth century styles when he answered the query. "If you are so beautiful as our goddesses," he wrote, "you can wear a mini."

Gaza Vacuum

UN Force's Ouster Leaves Many Arabs Unemployed

By CARL MOLLINS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Several thousand Arabs in the crowded Gaza Strip go unemployed with the removal of the United Nations Emergency Force from the Arab-Israel border.

The loss of jobs by these Palestine refugees will exact more pressure on the thinly-stretched resources of the UN Relief and Works Agency and generally add tension in an explosive situation.

UNEF, withdrawn from border posts in the Gaza Strip, the Sinai Desert and on the Gulf of Aqaba at Egypt's demand, has employed directly about 1,300 Gaza Arabs. Possibly five times that many have depended on UNEF wages for food, shelter and clothing.

The Gaza Strip, a left-over piece of Palestine from the 1948-49 Arab - Israel war, has more than 300,000 Palestine refugees in a total population of about 400,000. On a sliver of sandy land, 28 miles long and three to seven miles wide beside the Mediterranean, most of them live an indolent existence in eight, mud-brick refugee villages.

Combined UN and Egyptian irrigation and development programs have made most of the strip fertile and green for crops. There are orchards, grain, some fodder for the camels and donkeys that compete for dusty road space with rickety taxi-buses between Rafah, near the Egyptian border, and Gaza town, where the Egyptian military government has its headquarters.

Common gossip in Gaza has it that 22 millionaires live in the strip. As a political entity separate from the United Arab Republic, a duty-free enclave and cosmopolitan with UN personnel from a dozen countries, the strip offers opportunities for black-market currency deals, smuggling and the narcotics trade.

The Bedouin people of Sinai are notorious for ignoring minor modern nuisances like international frontiers, UN border patrols, the semi-military Gaza police and, the military, kibbutzes on the Israel side.

But only a tiny proportion of the strip's inhabitants make a living from the marketplace, on the land or in the UN-sponsored efforts to develop commercial fishing.

Four - fifths of the refugees earn less than $5 a month—and that qualify for UNRWA rations. A fortnightly dole of flour, sugar, oil, rice, beans and soap, but no meat or fruit. Children and expectant mothers in danger of malnutrition sometimes qualify for a supplementary meal at special centres.

When recently introduced resources and an expanding population, UNRWA's rations have been withheld from some who qualify. Last year, 23,000 infants were denied ration cards, meaning the family's rations had to be spread more thinly.

UNRWA, established as an emergency operation in 1950, attempts to feed, shelter, educate and look after the health of 1,300,000 refugees in Gaza, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon on a budget of about $35,000,000 a year.

The United States provides most of the hand—about $23,000,000 a year — British about $5,000,000 and Canada just over $1,100,000. The Communist countries give nothing. Other countries have reduced their small contributions in recent years.

Disappointing Productivity Reported By Sharp in Pre-budget Talk to House

OTTAWA (CP) — The year 1966 left Canada with a legacy of disappointing productivity, sustained price increases and a large federal budget deficit, Finance Minister Sharp reported Tuesday.

His said the crucial question in 1967 is whether output can grow in step with incomes. If it can, Canada may enjoy "a rapid and smooth adjustment as between prices and costs."

Mr. Sharp's pre-budget background paper on the state of the economy said such an adjustment would provide a favorable basis for a continuing and steady growth in investment and an improved international economic position.

His white paper revealed an estimated federal budgetary deficit for 1966-67 of $428,000,000, fully $108,000,000 more than he predicted as late as five months ago.

The finance minister said business will make less cash this year on the savings of the economy.

Increased housing activity will use up some of the savings, and governments may absorb some increase in government revenues, reflecting a more moderate growth in incomes, but not match the increase in planned expenditures."

His estimated total federal revenues of $5,368,000,000 in the 1966-67 fiscal year and expenditures of $5,796,000,000.

The deficit of $428,000,000 was $67,000 last year and one of $35,-000,000 two years ago.

The government's initial spending program, announced March 13, totals $9,335,132,584, with supplementary estimates still to come. In his budget speech Thursday, Mr. Sharp will reveal how he intends to raise the money.

Last year's deficit brings the net national debt to $15,971,400,-000 or $785 for each Canadian, compared with $753 a head last year.

Summing up 1966, Mr. Sharp said the economy could not meet the party spending demands of consumers, governments and business. The result was a 46-per-cent increase in prices.

Total employment grew rapidly and unemployment dropped to an average 3.6 per cent from 4.4 through the first quarter. Output jumped 12 per cent, non-farm output grew only 6.3 per cent and the employment increase was an unimpressive gain in output per worker of less than one per cent.

Higher wage rates spread from construction to other industries and combined with the small productivity advance to of 5.2 per cent, accelerating a trend that began in 1965.

Looking ahead, Mr. Sharp anticipated a smaller growth in the economy's ability to supply goods and services, perhaps of only four per cent. It was 5.9 per cent last year.

Prices and costs would increase again, although not reaching the 1966 rate.

Consumer spending would continue strong. All governmental would increase spending but at a more moderate rate than the 16.4-per-cent jump of 1966, largest since the Korean War.

"Capital expenditures on schools, hospitals and universities are likely to rise substantially, while departmental outlays on public works such as buildings and highways are expected to continue at present levels."

Exports, up 17 per cent last year, would increase more moderately in 1967 and private investment would taper off as already predicted, although the worldwide monetary "ease" might change these plans.

The finance minister predicted 150,000 housing starts in 1967, an improvement over the 135,000 starts of 1965, with the increased late-year momentum presaging a high level of building activity in 1968.

Last year's 12½ - per - cent growth in total wages, salaries and supplementary labor income was the largest annual gain of the expansion that began in 1961.

Mr. Sharp said a strong demand for labor will continue, featuring high wages to attract workers into particular industries and reflecting long-term contract settlements won in 1966.

These built-in increases, together with the unsatisfactory record of productivity, "indicate a continuing rise in unit wage costs in coming months, and hence a continuing, though more moderate, increase in the general level of prices."

The finance minister said the earlier years of the expansion finally moved all governments from a deficit position to a surplus of $248,000,000 in 1965, calculated on a national-accounts basis.

This same method of calculation, which takes into account all cash flows, turned up an all-government surplus of $280,000,-000 last year.

But the surplus needs special interpretation in view of the Canada and Quebec pension plans, under which collections began last year and provided $714,000,000 in revenue.

Without the pension plans, the all - government position would have been a deficit of $434,000,-000.

The white paper recorded a rapid turn-around in the federal position during 1965 and 1966.

As late as the second quarter of 1965, Ottawa was running a surplus on a national-accounts basis of $690,000,000 at seasonally-adjusted annual rates.

By the fourth quarter of 1966 that had turned into a deficit of more than $360,000,000.

The paper explained that during the period the government encountered higher payments for old age security, armed services raises, intergovernmental assistance and grants to universities and railways. Several tax revenues fell, notably the personal income tax as Ottawa increased abatements to the provinces.

Total national saving last year was $11,800,000,000, up $1,-300,000,000 from 1965. Within this total the level of personal saving—the difference between personal income after taxes and spending on goods and services —increased 17.5 per cent to $2,-400,000,000.

The white paper said this saving represented rises per cent of personal disposable income, compared with 4.4 per cent a year earlier, and was the highest level in the current expansion.

Highlights

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Estimated budgetary deficit of $428,000,000 for 1966-67 fiscal year, well above original forecast of $320,000,000 in March last year and revised forecast of $320,000,000 in December.

Net national debt increased by deficit to $15,971,400,000 or $785 per person compared with $753 a year previous.

Further cost and price increases predicted this year but down from price rise of 4.6 per cent in 1966.

House-building activity expected to reach 150,000 units this year, up from 135,000 last year.

Favorable prospects for substantial growth in exports.

Production Costs and Prices Will Rise But at Slower Rate

OTTAWA (CP) — Production costs and prices can be expected to continue upward in 1967, but with some moderation from last year's pace, Finance Minister Sharp reported Tuesday paper.

Prices rose 4.6 per cent in 1966.

"The extent of the increase is uncertain," the white paper said. "It will be less than in 1966, because of reduced pressures of demand, but larger than is desirable from a long-term point of view."

Economists generally hold that a desirable annual price gain is 2.5 per cent.

Mr. Sharp's economic report predicts "a rise in real of non-farm output showed a decline last year. "In such circumstances, even price increases usually follow."

The price rise last year had been most noticeable in the first quarter, moderating as the year went on. But increases in costs continued at high rates even after demand pressures had moderated.

It was difficult to predict how long the process of adjustment among costs, prices and profits would continue, "but further increases in costs and prices can be expected in 1967."

Much of the situation was due to wage increases already scheduled in industrial contracts, resulting in a continued rise in unit labor costs.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — Prices continued to take a beating in light morning trading today on the Toronto Stock Exchange as the market's slump moved well into its fifth consecutive week.

Selling pressure was evident from the opening and as a result the industrial index slid 27 to 183.77. It has declined more than 6½ points since the end of April.

The New York Stock Exchange was also down sharply due to continuing tension in the Middle East.

Banks continued to take it on the chin for the third consecutive week. Some analysts have suggested that bank profits may be reduced because they are offering higher interest rates on some of their savings accounts.

Imperial - Commerce and Montreal were down ¼ each to 56 and 62¼ and Royal ¼ to 77¼. Toronto - Dominion and Nova Scotia, which recently split their shares on a five-for - one basis, eased ¼ each to 13¼ and 14¼.

Industrial paper fell 1¼ to 25¼ and Consinco ⅛ to 32¼ and CPR ⅛ to 69¾.

On index, golds were off 1.21 to 167.18, western oils .33 to 151.64 while base metals edged up .29 to 86.66. Volume by 11 a.m. was 316,000, compared with 408,000 at the same time Tuesday.

The market continued to be hampered by a lack of leadership Tuesday as prices drifted lower in one of the lightest days of trading this year.

The industrial index slipped .13 to 183.64. Since April it has dropped more than 5½ points.

The New York Stock Exchange, traditional North American pace-setter, was closed in observance of the United States Memorial Day holiday. As a result, investors skewed caution and 2,128,000 shares were traded compared with 1,982,000 Monday.

Bank issues continued to feel the brunt of the decline, extending their losses into the third consecutive week. Analysts have been unable to explain the drop.

Royal was down 1¼ to 77¼ and Montreal 1 to 63.

Western Canada oils fell 1.27 to 152.22. Golds rose 1.29 to 168.39 and base metals .30 to 86.37.

Excellent Conditions

Long, Hard Winter Proves Boon to Prairie Farmers

EDMONTON (CP)—The long, hard 1966-67 winter may have distressed Prairie city-dwellers, but for the region's grain farmers it has proved a boon.

Heavy snowfall and a late spring have helped produce excellent spring moisture conditions and the prospects for this year's grain crop now are good.

At the same time, the late onset of dry summer weather delayed seeding operations and farmers are just winding up a last-minute rush to get crops planted in time to allow them to mature and be harvested before the first frost strikes in the fall.

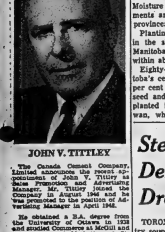
Once seeding is completed, the hope will be for June rains to get the crops off to a good start. Farmers have an extra-large stake in good weather this year as a result of the successful conclusion of Kennedy round tariff negotiations in Geneva.

An international wheat agreement concluded at Geneva will increase the price farmers obtain for their wheat, though great the increase will be is not yet clear.

In Saskatchewan, where the biggest share of the grain crop is produced, farmers last week needed 12,000,000 acres, a one-week record.

E. H. Evans, supervisor of statistics for the Saskatchewan agriculture department, said "a great percentage of the snow melt water is still with us, giving the crop an excellent chance for early growth. However, we will still need June rains to ensure a crop for our farmers." Moisture conditions and requirements are similar in the other provinces.

Planting should be completed in the lowest areas, such as Manitoba's Interlake District, within about 10 days.



Eighty-five per cent of Manitoba's cereal grain crop and 50 per cent of the province's rapeseed and flax crops have been planted to date. In Saskatchewan, wheat seeding is 87-per-cent completed and planting of other grains is nearing completion. The Alberta wheat pool reported about 60 per cent of wheat planted to date and about 25 per cent of oats, barley and flax. Seeding operations in Alberta have been delayed over the last week by rain and wet snow.

The only major problem now facing Prairie grain farmers is weeds.

Prairie farmers are expected to seed a total of about 29,800,-000 acres of wheat this year. In 1966 total wheat acreage was 29,780,000, producing a whopping record of 824,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Anticipated Prairie acreages this year of other major grains (1966 acreages in brackets):

	1967	1966
Oats	4,800,000 (5,240,000)
Barley	7,350,000 (6,810,000)
Flax	1,470,00 (2,029,000)
Rapeseed	1,472,000 (1,388,000)

Ann Landers
Adolescent Habit Continues in Marriage

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I never dreamed I'd write to a newspaper columnist for help, but I can't find the answers alone anymore.

ANN LANDERS

My husband and I are both college graduates. We have three handsome sons, I am ashamed to tell you, but my husband started to collect pornography during adolescence and he can't break the habit.

I have found dozens of obscene pictures and "toys" stuffed between the rafters in the attic, in shoe boxes, in silverware drawers, under the carpets and even in the trunk of his car. Everytime I find something new I get sick to my stomach. It is almost as if he plants this junk around where I'm sure to run into it.

Whenever I confront him with a new discovery, he tells the most bizzarre lies — insists someone is trying to frame him — that he never saw the stuff before. Then he breaks down and cries and promises he'll never do it again.

Yesterday our 13-year-old son found some pictures and asked me whose they were. I said I didn't know. Please tell me what to do about this problem before I crack up. — CAN'T SIGN MY NAME.

DEAR CAN'T: Your husband's hang-up dates back to childhood and you must treat it as an illness, which it is most assuredly.

Stop registering shock, disappointment and anger. Tell your husband, calmly, that he must select one hiding place for his collection, that it must be kept locked, that you will keep one key and he will keep the other. Explain that when you find bits and pieces of his collection around You'll put it where it belongs. Then do it and say nothing.

Part of your husband's sick kick is witnessing you over-react when you discover the junk. When you reduce your hysteria he'll probably be less interested in his collection.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My father and mother are divorced. My father has a lady friend and he spends whatever spare time he has with her. He really doesn't have much spare time, though, because he works two jobs, which add up to 16 hours a day.

My mother works a double shift and puts in 15 hours a day. I am just getting into my teens and it seems I have lots of problems and nobody to talk to. I can't call my mother at work because it's against the rules. My father doesn't want to hear from me about my troubles because he has already told me he has plenty of his own.

I have gone to my teachers so many times already I am ashamed to bother them anymore. I need some grown-up help. The future frightens me. — LONESOME GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Don't be ashamed to continue to go to your teachers for counsel. Teachers can be wonderfully helpful and, thank heavens, there are many who want to help. And don't forget about me, Toots. I'll listen anytime you want to unload. That's what I'm here for.

Confidential to WHAT SHALL I SAY?: Say so and make it clear that nothing is going to happen until he comes up with a license. That he'd like, of course, is a learner's permit which is a very old story, my dear. Don't buy it.

Light Dessert Made with Oranges

By MARY MOORE

Orange Meringue Surprise could be called a light dessert, but de-light-ful would be more descriptive.

More than a year ago it was served to a travelling group of food editors at Carefree Inn, near Phoenix, Arizona. When the waiters marched in, holding their loaded trays high, a hush fell over our crowd. "Whatever can it be?"

Eventually the recipe and pictures reached me and I decided it was a beautiful dessert to feature for showers or other bridal festivities, before our Canadian fruits come in to their peak season.

WEDNESDAY

Dinner Menu

Corned Beef and Cabbage; Mustard Relish; Whole Parsleyed Potatoes; Waldorf Salad; Buttery Three-Egg Cake (see Tuesday); Tea.

ORANGE MERINGUE SURPRISE (serves 8)

8 large oranges (see below)
1½ pts. best quality vanilla ice cream
1 tbsp. freshly grated orange rind (from an additional orange)
¼ cup chilled cointreau or Grand Marnier liqueur
2 egg whites
⅛ tsp. cream of tartar
¼ cup granulated sugar

Wash and dry oranges and slice about ⅛ from blossom end. (My oranges measured nearly 3" in diameter). Reserve caps for garnish later if desired. Carefully squeeze juice from the rest of the oranges, leaving shells intact and being careful not to split edges. Freeze 1 1-3 cups of the squeezed-out orange juice to a firm mush in refrigerator tray. (Drink remaining juice!) Carefully scrape insides of orange shells "clean" using a large spoon. A say-tipped grapefruit spoon and saw-edged curved grapefruit knife were good tools, too. Arrange shells in muffin pans to make handling easy and chill them.

Remove ice cream from freezer to soften it a little. Chill mixing bowl. In chilled bowl mix ice cream with grated rind and mushy frozen orange juice and chilled Cointreau or Grand Marnier. Quickly fill chilled orange shells to within ¼" of top with this mixture. Cover with sheet of foil tucked under rim of muffin pan and freeze firm. About 5 min. before dessert-serving time turn broiler burner on to 475 deg. Fahr. Beat egg whites until frothy; add cream of tartar, beat until soft peaks form, then slowly add sugar until meringue is very stiff. At once pile on top of frozen filled orange shells, making carefully at edges and brown meringue under hot broiler about 5" from heat until deep gold — about 30 to 60 seconds — watching it all of the time.

If desired top with reserved orange caps and serve at once in stemmed glasses, preferably on crushed ice.

The post-dessert comments: "Mary how can you top this?" "What will she think of next?" I said "Let tomorrow take care of itself."

MR. AND MRS. WAYNE F. TWIDDY

Twiddy — Browning

Rev. L. Sutherland officiated at the ceremony in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville on Saturday, May 20, when Janice Martha Browning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Browning, Belleville was united in marriage to Wayne Francis Twiddy, son of Mrs. F. Twiddy and the late Mr. F. Twiddy. Mr. Porter played traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Empire styled gown of pure silk organza over taffeta featuring a bodice of re-embroidered French lace with cap sleeves and a scalloped neckline edged with dainty lace. The top of the dress was enhanced with a cape train of organza with extending side panels of lace. A double bouffant veil was caught to an organza petalled headdress. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and baby pink roses.

Mrs. Barry (Joyce) Arnott, sister of the bridegroom as matron of honor and the bridesmaid Linda Collins were dressed alike in rose-colored coat and dress ensembles consisting of floor-length Empire styled dresses with sheath skirts and lace bodices and floor-length coats with elbow-length sleeves. Their headdresses were of roses and self bows with silk illusion veils. The flower girl was little Tammy Twiddy, niece of the bridegroom wearing a rose colored floor length frock of silk organza over taffeta. The waist was accented with a white velvet ribbon. Her headdress was a band of roses.

Mr. Robert Bennett was groomsman, while the ushers were Mr. Rayburn Twiddy and Mr. Edward Browning. Ring-bearer was Master Stewart Knox Jr.

At the reception held in the church hall, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a sheli pink dress and coat ensemble of pure silk shantung, navy and white accessories and a corsage of white flowers. Assisting was the bridegroom's mother who chose an aqua pure silk crepe suit, white and blue accessories and a corsage of white flowers.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, the bride donned a pink coat and dress ensemble with pink and black patent accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

On return Mr. and Mrs. Twiddy will reside at 8 Cedar Street, Belleville.

VOTA VITA MISSION CIRCLE

Members of the Vota Vita Mission Circle met recently at Victoria Ave. Baptist Church, with the president, Miss N. Hales, conducting the business meeting. Plans were made for a family supper in June. A special silver anniversary meeting will be held in the fall. Mrs. F. Travis aroused interest by giving a quiz on stories and information in "The Link and Visitor", Mrs. A. Wynne presented Mrs. Travis with a circle life membership.

A group under Mrs. Wynne's leadership directed the remainder of the program. Miss J. Thompson based the devotional message on "The Light Men Fail to Recognize." Mrs. Hough sang a solo, after which Mrs. Wynne presented the topic, "Northern Lights," on Baptist centres in Northern Ontario.

A question-and-answer period gave pertinent information on size, industries and natural resources of "this large area.

Baptist churches began about 1900 and grew slowly, partly because of isolation. Presently there are Northern and Thunder Bay Associations with many supporting churches. Some of these are Nipigon Bay, Port William, Fort Arthur, Kenora, Fort Francis, Dryden, Sarwich, Rice, New Liskeard, Sudbury, Cochrane, Sault Ste. Marie, Cobalt, Haileybury, Kirkland Lake, Elliot Lake, Capreol and Englehart.

A brief history of some of the churches was given, leading up to present day organization. Northern centres have difficulty in keeping young workers in the church, as many depart to live in more central areas.

A series of slides with commentary was viewed giving an even clearer view of the northern organization.

A social hour followed.

Carried on Classes From Hospital Bed

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP) — Angela Taylor is a pucky 17 - year - old who has spent the last 10 months in hospital but will still graduate with her high school class of June 16.

The pretty, brown-eyed brunette was hit by a runaway car last August and suffered a broken back, a broken leg and chest injuries. Her right leg had to be amputated above the knee. She has been fitted with an artificial leg and still wears a cast on her back.

Angela carried out her studies from her Lions Gate Hospital bed through a telephone hookup paid for by her family and the North Vancouver School Board. She was released from hospital late in May and is looking forward to participating in graduation ceremonies at Carson Graham Secondary School.

"All I had to do was flip a switch by my bed and I was tuned into my classes," says Angela. "It was just wonderful.

"I can walk quite well. I was able to discard my crutches some time ago."

The stay in hospital has reshaped her future.

"Before the accident I wanted to be a clerk but now I want to be a social worker. People were so good to me when I was in hospital, I now want to help others."

SOME CARD DECLINE

Sales of religious greetings cards are falling off steadily although the market for all cards is growing.

Wedding Ceremony Made As Ecumenical as Possible

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP)— Mary Robinson and Donald Kerr planned their own wedding ceremony, and it was about as ecumenical as possible.

It was conducted in a Mennonite chapel by a Unitarian minister. Roman Catholic and Jewish friends took part, and bits of ancient Chinese, Egyptian and centuries-old European symbolism and tradition were incorporated.

"We are not going against tradition, we incorporated it in a personal contemporary liturgical service," Mary says.

"Today, individuals are constantly faced with problems of choice and for a marriage to be meaningful, it is not necessary to follow inherited ways."

The bride wore a simple mod dress with flowing Norman style sleeves. She plaited her hair in the mode of the Norman era and wore daisies twined in it. The daisies symbolize innocence. Plaiting signifies the joining of two souls, in tradition first known to Egypt.

The couple's hands were bound by the matron of honor with white and red ribbon in ancient Chinese Yin and Yang symbolism representing the conjunction of opposites—male and female.

After the exchange of rings, Dr. Lenry Cummage of St. Jerome's College, Kitchener, read a ring poem by Robert Herrick. The couple replaced the traditional "I do" with excerpts from poems by Leonard Cohen.

Mrs. Zaiman Schacter read a wedding prayer he had composed for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Kerr signed the wedding certificate in front of their guests, then signed a parchment document designed and lettered by the groom to be reminiscent of 14th century documents. Later, at the reception all of the guests signed it.

Background music — renaissance and contemporary — was played on a harpsichord and recorder.

At the reception at the bride's apartment, the groom carried her over the threshold which had been strewn with rushes as a protection against evil spirits.

Both bride and groom are artists, Mrs. Kerr has a fine arts degree, Mr. Kerr is an architect. They both work for a design consultant firm in Waterloo.

MR. AND MRS. IVO J. REGENT

Regent — Finnegan

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville was the scene of the wedding on Saturday May 20, when Patricia Ann Finnegan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Finnegan, Belleville was united in marriage to Ivo Joseph Regent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Regent, also of Belleville.

Rev. Father T. Boyle officiated at the ceremony and music was rendered by Miss Dorothy Grant. The vows were also accompanied on the soloist Mr. Robert Burke.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length taffeta gown with the fitted bodice featuring elbow length sleeves and enhanced with appliques of re-embroidered pearls. A matching train edged with Chantilly lace flowed from the shoulders and a four - tier shoulder length veil was caught to a floral headdress. She carried a cascade bouquet of white baby roses mingled with carnations and ivy.

Miss Lois Masterson, Belleville cousin of the bride as maid of honor wore a soft peach rayon chiffon Empire styled dress with the bodice having an overlay of white lace; matching pillbox headdress with peach-on veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies and carnations. The bridesmaids Miss Lisa McCarthy of Ottawa and Mrs. Maureen Finnegan, sister-in-law of the bride were attired identically to the maid of honor. The little flower girls Miss Erin Finnegan and Miss Monica Neuwirth were dressed alike in dotted Swiss over peach floor length dresses and carried baskets of white daisies and green ivy.

Groomsman was Mr. Alexander Casey, while the ushers were Mr. Edward Finnegan Belleville, brother of the bride, and Mr. Gottlieb Neuwirth of New York, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

At the reception in the Knights of Columbus Hall, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a navy blue two - piece crepe ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. Assisting was the bridegroom's mother who wore a beige peau de soie dress and small matching three - quarter jacket, matching accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

For the wedding trip to New York State, the bride chose a peacock blue suit with navy accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Regent will reside at Don Mills, Toronto.

WEDDING

FOBERT — BURROWS

St. Margaret's Catholic Church, Toronto, was the scene of the recent marriage of Margaret Irene Burrows and Bernard Joseph Fobert, Toronto. She is the daughter of Mrs. Christian Surridge, Trenton, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fobert, Belleville. Rev. Neil performed the ceremony. Jack Kirk was organist and Mrs. Grace Surridge, sister-in-law of the bride, was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Keith Surridge, wore a floor-length gown of baby pink silk organza featuring an overlay of scalloped Chantilly lace with long flip-point sleeves. A chapel train of Chantilly lace edged with two tiers of organza was held by two bows and her four-tier scalloped veil of silk illusion fell from an organza rose and lace bow headdress. She carried a cascade bouquet of an orchid, pink and white sweetheart roses and ivy.

Mrs. Barbara Bonin, Belleville, also of the bridegroom was matron of honor. She was gowned in a floor length dress of rose pink crepe with Empire bodice and elbow length sleeves of Guipure lace. Her headpiece was a matching bow and she carried a nosegay of pink sweetheart roses circled with white button mums and pink carnations. The bride's niece, Miss Sharon Stewart, Toronto and her sister, Mrs. Eleanor Thompson, Trenton, were bridesmaids. They were attired identically to the matron of honor. Norbert Fobert, Belleville, brother of the bridegroom was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Robert Belleville, brother-in-law, Larry Belleville, was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Edward Edwards, Toronto, and Wayne Buchanan, Trenton, nephew of the bride. Alan Thompson of Trenton, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

At the reception at Lawrence Plaza Restaurant, Toronto, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a suit of coral bouclé with white accessories and a corsage of coral carnations and white sweetheart roses. To assist, the bride's mother wore a two-piece ensemble of aqua blue cotton lace with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations and sweetheart roses.

For her wedding trip to the eastern provinces the bride chose a lemon yellow shantung A-line dress and matching coat with long sleeves of Guipure lace and white accessories and an orchid corsage.

On their return the couple will live at 44 Saranac Blvd., Toronto.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way to slimmer days by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More slim, youthful appearing and active.

CARMEL WI

The May meeting of Carmel WI was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Treverton with Mrs. J. Lucas, president, in charge.

It was decided to give a donation to the little league ball team. Plans were made for a centennial tea June 27 at the church hall.

Mrs. Harold Pound was in charge of the program. The 4-H girls modelled their dresses and displayed their record books. Mrs. Clayton Sullivan gave a history of Pauline Johnson and read two poems. Mrs. Pound gave a reading on women's increasing participation in activities outside the home and Mrs. J. Lucas read a poem. A contest was conducted on jumbled Canadian place names.

The Experts Say

Canada Expects to Have Many State Visitors This Summer

OTTAWA (CP)—It's almost impossible to get away from the global hordes of state visitors beaming in on Canada this summer.

If you don't trip over an official motorcade at Expo, you'll probably find a dignitary clambering up your photographs of Parliament Hill or invading your igloo at Frobisher Bay.

A lot of Canadians will be involved with the kind of protocol they never knew existed when a king or queen or emperor pays a visit to their organization or place of business.

But there's no need to fuss about what to do, and wear when you meet one. Government greeters, in the state visits committee have researched the problem from every angle. They will brief you and brief you.

What to say, for instance. The protocol people have listed everyone's proper title, from Your Imperial Majesty and Your Serene Highness to Mr. Federal President.

You call your dignitary by his full title the first time you speak to him, and "sir" after that.

And don't bother working up too much light conversation. In the long presentation lineup you don't speak unless questioned. The drill is shake hands and move on to the reception.

About curtseying. Some, including Governor - General Michener and Queen Juliana of The Netherlands said they did not want women to perform the formal reverence.

For others, such as Queen Elizabeth, the curtsy is still required. But again, you'll be told.

Now for clothes. If you're invited to an official occasion, printed instructions will be available specifying what to wear. For women that can be afternoon dress, cocktail or long gown for state dinners. For men, the range is cloaked lounge suit, uniform or black tie.

The organizers chose black tie — short tuxedo jacket — rather than white tie—long tail coat—because of the relative accessibility of the two outfits, and because Canada's hot summers make long jackets a bit too stuffy.

Women wear gloves on all occasions to shake the famous hand, and hats according to the demands of their costume.

Headgear has already been a problem for some of the official visitors. The wife of Belgian Prime Minister Willy de Clercq chose a lightbrimmed model for her Parliament Hill debut and topped it with a keep it on in gusting winds.

Confederation Theme Of Eastern Star Tea

Belleville Chapter 55 of the Order of the Eastern Star held a tea Wednesday at the Masonic Temple. Conveners were Mrs. Wanda Clare and Mrs. Marjorie Gray.

In keeping with the theme, Confederation, the entrance was a replica of an old-fashioned parlor with a doll dressed in a costume of 75 years ago sitting a century-old settee. Included in the setting was a family Bible with brass clasp, a stereoscope and a kerosene lamp. Antiques were also arranged as a table display.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Margaret Booth, WP and Mrs. Marjorie Gray, wife of the Worthy Patron. Both were in centennial costume.

The candy booth, in charge of Bev Shaw and Mary Preston, was decorated with bright flowers and streamers. Leah Pitt and Frances Van Clief convened the apron booth. The business girls group had their usual display of cards. The home baking table was convened by Dorothy Jones and Ann Cook.

The archway to the tea room was covered with roses and spring flowers and the fence surrounding it was entwined with centennial roses and ferns. The individual tea tables were covered with white cloths and centred with miniature covered wagons. At the centre table a large covered wagon was filled with spring flowers. Centennial and provincial flower emblem posters and bouquets of artificial flowers were arranged against the walls. Pearl Jones and Irene Brown were in charge of the tearoom and those pouring tea were Lillian McEwen, Margaret Stalker, Ruth Crews, Dorothy Fraser, Marone Morgan, Pearl Ewing, Luella Brickman, Dorothy Ellis and Bobbie Locke. Cross and Pearl Kerr were kitchen conveners.

Lottie Faulkner sold tickets on a quilt won by Miss Dianne Dowell, Toronto. Margaret Sherry and Muriel Huffman sold tickets on grocery baskets won by Mrs. A. Hall, Miss Helen Selman, Mrs. J. Roth, Miss Marylin Parks and Mrs. C. McMullin. George Pound was the lucky winner of the candy.

U.C.W. Meetings

TABERNACLE UCW

"Very often when the phrase, service to others, is mentioned, we hear people say, 'but what can I do?' " using the theme of Service the leader of the worship quoted these words at the May meeting of Tabernacle UCW. Her assisting group cited many cases of ordinary people quietly giving loving service to the handicapped, orphans, the aged and lonely and many others in need of assistance.

The president, Mrs. E. Corlish, conducted the business. Mrs. Wessels was appointed delegate to the regional conference at Kemptville, June 28 - 18.

Mrs. W. Slavin introduced the speaker, Mrs. P. Kelly, a member of the local branch of the Mental Health Association. Mrs. Kelly is chairman of the Committee of Homes for Special Care.

The mother of four small children and a registered nurse, Mrs. Kelly rounds out a busy life by giving many hours of service to the local branch of the Mental Health Association.

In her speech, Mrs. Kelly laid stress on two vital points. She said everyone has a duty to declare to his member of Parliament his dissatisfaction with crowded conditions, lack of facilities and the understaffing of mental hospitals. Strong petitions should be presented in the Federal and Provincial governments for the allocation and proper distribution of funds for training and research.

Hospitals lacking in proper facilities receive many patients for repeat treatments because they cannot be properly treated on first admission Mrs. Kelly said. Canada is spending more on military bands than on mental health research.

There is a great need for volunteer workers in the Homes for Special Care, into which the chronically mentally ill are released from hospitals, there are many who have been left alone or forgotten and who cannot cope with life outside. They are without possessions and need companionship and the interest volunteers can provide. Visits, little gifts, drives in a car, would be life to these people to whom life as we know it has been denied.

Mrs. J. Aitcheson thanked the speaker.

CHIHUAHUA FENCE

One of the first customers of a Georgia aluminum supermarket was a woman who wanted railings to build a low fence for her chihuahua.

Some have religious or cultural taboos. The Shah of Iran, for example, is a Moslem who because of religious fidelity here may not eat pork or seafood.

The files reveal, however, that he and his wife are fond of lamb, beef, fresh fruits and vegetable salads, though the Shah doesn't like chocolate.

Menus prepared by the chefs at Government House here for state dinners are forwarded to the other places where visitors will be wined and dined to make sure they don't have coq-au-vin four times in three days.

Not so lucky are the prime minister and the Governor-General, who are pretty sure to find the dinner menus a bit tedious somewhere around dinner number 20.

Already they have been served maple-flavored desserts at meals for several successive guests, and the national sweet looks like being a fixture for dinners to come.

Doris Gives Packing Hints

Dear Doris: My husband and I are taking a three-week trip to Japan. Having never travelled before, I have no idea of what type of clothes to take and also what amount of clothes.

We will be going on tours and will be entertained in the evenings. We have found out the temperature will be 50 to 60 degrees.

Would it be proper to take a slack suit or is it considered bad taste in Japan? What would be the best way to pack clothes? I have two large suitcases and a flight bag. — Flying High.

Dear High Flyer: Lucky you!

One tripper says take half as many clothes as you planned to and twice as much money and you'll come out about right.

Slacks are o.k. anywhere for tramping around — but I prefer light sports dresses. Have rubber-soled walking shoes. Dinner dresses are more generally useful than too much in the way of formal wear.

Discard the separation panels in your suitcase use polythene sheets to separate dresses from cosmetics, jewellery, lingerie. Pack shoes away from the flat crushable things. Use tissue generously between folds of dresses to prevent creasing.

I'm sending you a copy of the handy Air Canada leaflet "For the Woman Who's Going Places", which is full of travel hints.

Dear Doris: My mother and I disagreed over a certain subject. One evening I told her I was going out and would be home by nine o'clock. She told me I would be home by eight, or else. After this I just forgot about it.

We had an argument and she claimed that decent, respectable boys shouldn't be out after dark and that only boys who steal, cheat, and make a regular nuisance of themselves do. I realize that to an extent this is true, but isn't eight o'clock a bit unreasonable?

Who is right, and would you give me some advice to follow? I'm 12 years of age. — Not Trusted.

Dear Not Trusted: Point Number One: If you weren't so blessed important in your mother she wouldn't give two hoots how late you stayed out.

Next: No self-respecting 12-yearold announces what time he'll be home and walks out.

Much depends on what you will be doing. A Scouts meeting might be later than eight, and she'd understand. But if you were just out wandering aimlessly around, eight is late enough, especially when it is dark.

But this is all matter for discussion. Probably marks the beginning of a long line of disagreements so be prepared to do some talking over and plain-yielding. She will too.

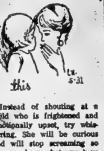
Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON



Child: "I won't go. You can't make me. I don't like to go to the doctor."

Mother: "Stop yelling at me. You won't get any shots today."

Child: "The doctor will give me a shot. I won't go."

It's pretty hard to gain the attention of a screaming distraught child. If you scream back, it only upsets her more.

Instead of shouting at a child who is frightened and emotionally upset, try whispering. She will be curious and will stop screaming so she can hear what you have to say.

Hong Kong Analysis

British Firmness Whips Communist Purge in Asia Colony

HONG KONG (AP)—Chinese Communists in Hong Kong are badly split, with moderates accusing their foes of inviting disaster by trying to import Red China's purge to the British colony, informed sources said Tuesday.

The split and the firmness with which British authorities put down Communist-led riots and anti-British demonstrations have set back communism so badly that some say it may take years to recover.

Most of the 4,000,000 Chinese in the colony at the edge of China have pledged their support to British authorities, who succeeded in putting down disorders earlier this month without killing or seriously wounding a demonstrator.

The Communists organized riots and demonstrations after police broke up a strikers' demonstration, and China promptly accused Britain of "Fascist atrocities" and "bloody racial suppression."

Peking's charges that hundreds of Chinese were killed or seriously wounded produced laughter among most of the Chinese population.

The Communist moderates—many of them businessmen who have lived luxury-filled lives while growing rich in Hong Kong—are accusing colony supporters of China's Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung of trying to import Mao's "cultural revolution," or purge.

They charge that the purge has wrecked large areas of China and has no business in Hong Kong, informants said.

They bitterly charge that Maoist radicals badly misjudged the temper of Hong Kong's Chinese and grossly exaggerated their local strength in agitating and getting Peking's support for the riots and demonstrations.

The hard-core Maoists blame the Communist defeat on the moderates, failure to take a hard line in whipping up mob violence, the informants said.

In private counsels, reported by Communist sources, the Maoist elements have accused the moderates of being anti-Mao and of supporting President Liu Shao-chi, Mao's enemy in China's power struggle.

Even more damaging to the Communist cause in Hong Kong than the leadership split is the ever - increasing evidence that communism has lost its prestige.

Before the outbreak of rioting May 11, British colonial officials estimated 400,000 Hong Kong Chinese—one out of every 10—were Communists, pro-Communists or Communist sympathizers.

A highly-placed Hong Kong official now lists a few thousand Communists and pro - Communists. He said the rest are former Communists who have been "corrupted" by the freedom and relative prosperity they enjoy and "who are not ready—no matter what the Communist leadership says—to lose that to a Communist - dominated society."

Small Town Dilemma

Doctors Leave, Wingham Feels Pinch

WINGHAM, Ont. (CP) —This community of 3,000 has suddenly found itself facing the dilemma of much of small-town Ontario as two of its four doctors plan to leave their practices.

Dr. B. N. Corrin and Dr. A. R. Klasbon, who are an estimated 50 to 75 patients a day, close their office today to move to London, Ont., 60 miles away. Behind them they leave Dr. W. A. McKibbon, recovering from his third coronary attack brought on by overwork, and Dr. W. A. Crawford, the local coroner, who waits to retire.

The 106-bed Wingham District Hospital has no resident doctor. Area physicians pay visits here only in the mornings.

Mrs. I. E. Morrey, hospital administrator, is worried that she won't be able to get a doctor in time in a real emergency. In addition to the two remaining Wingham doctors, she can call on a doctor in Towcester or two in Lucknow, both communities 11 miles away.

A special town committee has been scouring Ontario without success for replacements for its two departing doctors.

Dr. Corrin, who has practised here since 1946, is going to the Ontario Hospital at London to work in psychiatry. Dr. Klasbon, who has been with him for six years, is becoming an anesthetist.

No one blames them for leaving. Mrs. Robert Keeler of Lakelet, 12 miles out of town, says no men could have been more dedicated.

Mayor Dewitt Miller says Health Minister Matheson Dymond had promised to do what he could for the town, but there have been no results yet.

Mrs. Morrey has written to 33 hospitals in Ontario that train interns, and Barry Wenger publisher of the weekly Advocate Times, has been telephoning his contacts everywhere. There has been no response.

Mrs. Morrey thinks Wingham will have to adopt the clinic idea which is being tried in nearby Brussels as a centennial project. The village is building a medical clinic to be staffed by one doctor and one dentist.

MP's Bill Attacks Abortion Bungling

OTTAWA (CP) — A women MP introduced a Commons bill Tuesday to make abortion legal in some cases and end "illegal and bungling methods" that endangered the life and health of growing numbers of women.

The bill was introduced by Grace MacInnis.

Mrs. MacInnis said abortion now is widespread in Canada and elsewhere and the present law is brought into disrepute because it cannot be enforced.

Her bill would amend the Criminal Code to allow abortion in three instances:

1. Where there is serious risk to the life or health of the mother unless the pregnancy is terminated.
2. Where there is serious danger that the child will be defective.
3. Where the pregnancy is a result of rape or incest.

Fairweather Makes Impassioned Plea to Leave CBC Alone

OTTAWA (CP) — Culture came to the Commons Tuesday through the medium of wide-ranging debate on the secretary of state department estimates, which embrace most federal fields of communications and the arts.

Opening State Secretary LaMarsh's broad portfolio to debate cleared the way for MPs to hurl bouquets and brickbats at agencies such as the CBC, Canada Council, National Arts Centre, gallery and museum.

The favorite topic was the CBC and the most - applauded speech was by R. G. L. Fairweather (PC—Royal) who observed that, generally speaking, the CBC has done a "terrific job" for the country."

On the other hand Auguste Choquette (L — Lotbiniere) called for an investigation into claims that separatists control CBC French news.

And L. R. (Bud) Sherman (PC—Winnipeg South) charged that the network's public affairs programming is anti-American and shows "censorship by omission."

The Commons spent the whole day on the $133,372,000 estimates of the secretary of state's department. Today it moves on to consideration of a bill designed to remove some inequalities between native-born and naturalized Canadians in the Citizenship Act.

Mr. Fairweather, a New Brunswick lawyer, at one point in his praise of the CBC was asked to name one example of good programming by the network.

He responded by listing some of his CBC favorites. These included: Quentin Durgens MP; recent coverage of the Middle East crisis; radio farm broadcasts, and the irreverent Nightcap program.

Mr. Fairweather said an ironic thing about Quebec's tailed-of move to bring French TV to the province via satellite is that "no account has been taken of the very poor quality of French television."

It was subject to severe censoring and "it is boring."

He also had praise for the CBC's former This Hour Has Seven Days program. The House broadcasting committee had found that out of 500 items presented on the show, only five were held up to some public scrutiny.

One was "the matter of the forming of the bread of the go-go dancer of San Francisco."

He said that if anything, the whole debate should be televised on a special channel.

The question came up during debate on spending estimates of the secretary of state's department, which has jurisdiction over broadcasting.

Prime Minister Pearson said early this month that television might be introduced in Parliament on an experimental basis.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker has called in the past for TV coverage of the Commons.

This had been one of the most "poignant and sad events. . . because it was the sale, not of any erotic or obscene thing, but of a person's dignity."

Mr. Fairweather begged his fellow MPs to "keep their hands off" National Gallery acquisitions. Purchases such as those of costly paintings are not being bought for this year but for future generations.

Earlier, Miss LaMarsh said her department estimates were higher mainly because of salary increases and construction and a new museum.

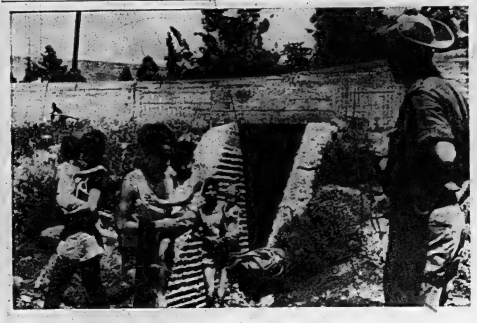
CBC spending alone rose to $143,960,000 from $114,464,000 a year earlier due to salary raises, increased color TV, and coverage of centennial events and Expo 67.

A new CBC president would be named to replace retiring J. Alphonse Ouimet before Parliament dealt with broadcasting legislation.

Some MPs devoted their speeches to the aspects of the minister's portfolio that touch on citizenship.

Robert Prittie (NDP — Burnaby-Richmond) said he did not think that membership in any Communist party in the past should be a reason for denying Canadian citizenship.

Asked by Miss LaMarsh what he advocated for those who are party members at present, he replied: "I am not sure that membership in the Communist party at the present time should be sufficient grounds for denying citizenship."



Socreds Veto TV Coverage

OTTAWA (CP) — The Social Credit blocs in the Commons in effect turned thumbs down Tuesday on televised coverage of parliamentary debates.

"We have not been sent here to become stars on TV," said Howard Johnston (SC—Okanagan - Revelstoke).

"We have been sent here to debate and legislate."

Creditiste MP Gerard Laprise (Chapleau) attacked the idea of selective TV coverage.

Bomb Scare

No Arson in Pavilion Fire

MONTREAL (CP)—Expo 67 security officials were kept hopping Tuesday in a series of incidents that started with a serious fire in the Nationalist Chinese pavilion and ended up with a paper-bag bomb near the Cuban showhouse.

The fire, discovered 2½ hours before Expo opened for the day injured no one, but caused an estimated $200,000 damage to the interior of the Chinese building and uncounted loss among some works of art on display there.

Expo security chief Herve Foudreite said preliminary police investigation indicated no arson in the fire but it was a serious loss to the Chinese, whose ornate $500,000 pavilion has been well attended.

Nationalist Chinese Ambassador Yu-Chi Hsieh came from Ottawa to promise that rebuilding and restocking of the pavilion would begin immediately.

While "no very precious national treasures" from Taiwan had been lost, the ambassador said he could not estimate the full extent of the damage.

There was some doubt whether the contents of the pavilion were insured and, at a press conference, a newsman was asked without getting an adequate answer whether it was true that unsigned insurance papers had been destroyed in the fire.

Security officials were still keeping crowds away from the burned-out pavilion when a gendarme operator reported two suspicious-looking men had left his boat near the Cuban pavilion, without a brown paper bag they carried when they boarded.

A half-hour later the bag was found only yards from the Cuban showhouse. A security official picked up the bag but dropped it when he saw a clock device inside. Seconds later it exploded in a flare of flame and a small bang.

Investigating police found the remains of three magnesium capsules, two batteries, a clock and some wire.

They described the incident as "a prank."

There was no comment from the Cubans who are sensitive about such incidents since a bomb was detonated before the fair opened outside a Montreal building where objets d'art seized by the Castro regime were being auctioned off.

A few nights ago men working on a radio device which broadcasts commentary about the fair to visitors who rent small radios from a concession-aire were alerted by Cubans lurking outside their pavilion. The Cubans had noticed a suspicious - looking box with wires trailing from it.

The concessionaire's men had to do some fast talking before they were allowed to go.

Today the riots of Vermont comes to the fair and there will will visits by heads of state on national days—but Vermont will have a little touch of its own.

After the ceremony at Place des Nations where the flag of the neighboring New England state will be saluted, Expo's Commissioner - General Pierre Dupuy and Governor Philip H. Pavilion in a carriage drawn by two Morgans, the famous little black horses bred in Vermont.

Canada Will Play Part if UN Sends Force to Middle East

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday Canada would play a part if the United Nations sent a force to the Middle East to halt aggression.

He made the commitment in a nationally televised CBC interview program. He did not advocate such a force, nor did he take sides in the crisis during the question-and-answer session.

But he said that if the UN decided "there is an aggressor and the aggressor should be stopped, then we will have to play our part. We sent troops to Korea for that purpose."

After this comment, one of the interviewers — Charles Lynch, chief of Southam News Services—asked whether Canada still had the "fibre" for that kind of involvement.

"We have as much fibre as we have ever had," Mr. Pearson said. "If there was an open-and-shut case of aggression so designated by the United Nations which called on members of the UN to form a force to go out and stop that aggression so designated by the Security Council, we've got enough fibre to take a very active and useful part."

He also said Canada would be careful to get stronger UN authority in the future for any peacekeeping force to which it contributed. He would seek an authorizing resolution from the UN's Security Council rather than the less-powerful General Assembly.

The United Nations peacekeeping force, ordered withdrawn by the United Arab Republic in the latest crisis, was set up by the assembly.

Mr. Pearson also said there was no justification for the U.A.R. verbal attacks on Canada's role in the current crisis. For instance, Canada had not sent ships to the Mediterranean to help re-open the Gulf of Aquba after the U.A.R. closed it to Israeli shipping.

If the final statement of Arab policy is to obliterate Israel, Mr. Pearson said, then they will never be a political settlement in the Middle East.

He also observed that the French position in the search for a solution to the present crisis is "absolutely crucial."

The French understand the Israeli position, he said but have recently "become a little closer" to the other side and have access to places that Washington and London cannot reach.

Mr. Pearson said the most frightening aspect of all is the possibility of Russia lining up behind the Arabs while the U.S. supports Israel. It could lead to total war.

Mr. Pearson said he favors neither side in the Middle East dispute.

A 1967 Milestone for Trenton

Artist's concept of Trenton's Centennial Park shows plans for modern marina facilities fronting the Bay of Quinte. To the east, are planned swimming and wading pools, playground areas, and a bandshell. The three light areas to the north will accommodate campers, and north of a perimeter road lie a soccer field, ball diamonds, and a pair of bowling greens. Extensive parking areas are situated at the northwest corner of the site, near the community arena.

A Project With Imagination

Centennial projects in many communities are frequently of a one-shot proposition.

Not so in Trenton.

Here it is only the first part of a long range plan which is designed to benefit Trenton residents in the years ahead.

And at the same time it could serve as a vital attraction which could lure visitors and tourist dollars into the economy of the area.

Trenton bureau staff reporter Maurice Switzer takes a look at the ambitious project.

Garbage Dump Becomes Scenic Park Facilities

TRENTON — This town's official centennial project is similar to that of Belleville in two respects — both have been rescued from ignominy as garbage dumps, and both are being moulded into scenic waterfront park facilities.

About 40,000 tons of top-soil, several miles of curbing and about $84,000 are some of the totals behind what is hoped to be a successful Trenton park opening June 14. The Trenton site 1967 plans, however, are only part of a long-range scheme designed to transform a dingy stretch of bayfront into a mecca for Bay of Quinte boaters and tourists.

Town fathers have obtained a planning consultants' estimate which projects the cost of completing park-marina installations in excess of $300,000. There has already been set aside $7,000 in next year's capital budget to go towards the dredging and shoreline improvements needed to launch the docking project.

The allotment for the park itself includes some $27,000 in federal grants and $10,000 from other sources, bringing the net cost to the town to about $46,000. These figures will cover costs of grading, paving parking areas and walkways, laying out and levelling sports fields, extensive lighting, installation of waterworks — in effect, all the essentials required to facelift what has been a swamp into a park.

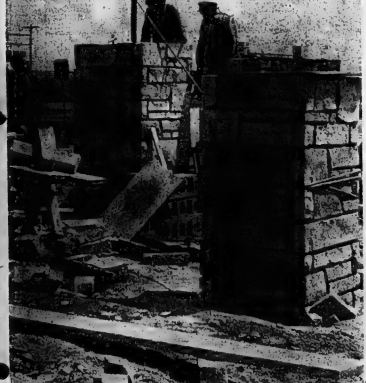
"Extras" contributed to date have included entrance gates (Rotary Club), softball park (Kiwanis Club), and a sorority's donation of a retired Golden Hawk aircraft to match the one purchased for Belleville's Zwicks Island Park. Future provisions are being made for wading and swimming pools and a bandshell.

Planning along for the network of renovations has cost to the neighborhood of $4,000 thus far. The entire property, some 30 acres in all, was purchased by the town for $3,000.

Work on the park project actually began in 1965, after the site had been used by the town as land-fill area for 10 years. The reclaimed land was once the site of a major Trenton industry, the historic Gilmour lumber company mill.

Impetus to the undertaking has come from a number of quarters: town planning officer Arie Hoornweg has had the mammoth task of co-ordinating the park's development, and town engineer Eric Aldersey is constantly called on to provide vital technical advice. Another all-important ingredient, enthusiasm, has been provided in good measure by south town residents as K. J. "Ken" Couch, chairman of the Centennial Park committee.

Frenzied work on the site has at times involved as many as half a dozen Quinte area contracting firms at once, as the opening deadline draws to within two weeks away.



One civic official remarks: "Most people will look at the special calm and plaque in the park's centre and not realize how much planning and effort have gone before. But this scheme has tremendous potential.

"It can double as a much-needed playground for town children, and it could be the hub for countless other activities — providing we take advantage of its existence."

Details, Details!

Much of the technical advice for the project comes from Trenton engineer Eric Aldersey (at right.)

Park Portals in Preparation

Town planning officer Arie Hoornweg, co-ordinator of the Centennial Park project, talks with workmen constructing entrance gates, which were donated by Trenton's Rotary Club.

This Park's Not for Relaxation... Yet!

The frenzied construction activity at Trenton's Centennial Park is seen above as the deadline for the official opening draws to within two weeks. The project carries a total tab of some $4,000.

Firms Prepare for Seventies

Canadian-owned Communications Satellite System Proposed

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's telecommunications industry today proposed an immediate start on a Canadian - owned, multi - purpose communications satellite system to be operational by 1970.

They said the $80,000,000 space system should be fully integrated with existing networks to carry television, telephone calls, data and other telecommunications services.

It would involve 54 earth stations, purchase of three communications satellites and launching of two into stationary orbit.

The eight major companies of the Trans - Canada Telephone System, and Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Telecommunications, made their proposal to Transport Minister Pickersgill and other government officials.

They undertook as a group "to accept financial responsibility for this satellite system—in full or to whatever degree national policy may suggest."

A brief said the system is urgently needed "to ensure that Canada's place in space— our proper share of the limited number of good orbital positions — is not lost by default."

Z. H. Krupski, chairman of the Trans - Canada Telephone System, said in a further statement:

"This carefully phased program will result in a system of communications system covering the whole country, integrating all types of communication, integrated effectively with existing facilities, operating at the earliest possible date and provided at the most reasonable cost."

The satellite system would expand existing communications facilities, particularly to the far North. It would be designed to accommodate educational and all other anticipated television requirements well into the 1970s.

Three channels would be allocated for telephone calls and other message types of service. The rest would be devoted to national television coverage.

The sponsors said Bell Canada's planned experimental earth station at Bouchette, Que., about 75 miles north of Ottawa, could serve as the key element in a common carrier system bringing TV to the North via satellite.

Members of the Trans-Canada Telephone System are: Alberta Government Telephones; British Columbia Telephone Co.; Manitoba Telephone System; Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Co. Ltd.; Saskatchewan Government Telephones; Avalon Telephone Co. Ltd.; Bell Telephone Co. of Canada; and New Brunswick Telephone Co. Ltd.

The brief says the CBC has reviewed the broad outlines of the proposal and judged it "not only adequate to meet presently foreseen requirements, but to provide as well the flexibility needed for future growth patterns of both English and French national services."

The brief says the need for new long - haul telephone service will increase to 7,000 circuits in 1980 from 1,000 in 1962 - Only by an integrated, multi-purpose system can this country of relatively limited capital, manpower and market resources "match the telecommunications standards set in the U.S. and demanded by Canadian customers," says the brief.

The earth stations would have an estimated capital cost of $38,000,000 and the space stations $17,000,000. The rockets and launching services to place two space stations in stationary satellite orbit would cost $25,500,000. One of the orbiting satellites would be active, one standby. The third would be ready for launching in reserve.

Just whatsoll do those brolly-toting bowler-hatted buckaroos of London's Fleet Street think they are? .

The other day after guzzling their "elevenses" gins and tonic and lightin' up their woodbines they trained their typewriter machine guns on Canada's Expo '67 soccer tournament.

This is a six-country event with England, Russia, Mexico, West Germany, Austria and Belgium taking part in the week-long tourney.

But the Fleet Street Algies and Horatios known to their trade as soccer experts were not impressed.

They spoke of the tournament as a "confidence trick and a "sophisticated con trick" and also said the English team was being sent "to the backwoods" as a duty is sell soccer to "the football illiterates of Montreal".

Come, come, me brolly Chollies, you're being downright nawty to us poor 'eathen overs 'ere. Why we wouldn't 'arm a 'air of your bleedin' soccer 'eads.

And your precious reputation as a soccer worldbeater won't be damaged if one of the other teams defeat your blokes in Montreal even if only four of your world champions will be playing on the squad.

The Expo '67 tournament was not originated with the idea of taking any of the glory-from Perfidious Albion's soccer darlings. In fact it was tabled long before the English team emerged from that world soccer schmozzle held in your tight little Island.

Let's be fair about this, me 'earties. Your pet pastime is striving to gain a big foothold bolt-in this country and the United States and it was with this in mind that Expo '67 decided to stage the international tournament. You ain't bein' grateful, mates.

As an Expo official points out, me buckos, "Granted soccer has not the overwhelming appeal here that it enjoys overseas but we are not entirely ignorant of it. By bringing in players who are ranked among the best in the world, we think we may be helping to stimulate a fine sport."

"At no time" he added, "has anyone attempted to give the impression the Expo tournament is a clash of national teams. We set our targets on the best talent possible and I think we have come up with six excellent teams."

As for us being "illiterates" you chappies should have been in that London arena when the 1st Canadian hockey team played there. The local Andy Capps and Florries sat aghast with their gaspers hangin' on their lips and wonderin' what the blokes were trying to do to that piece of rubber with a funny-looking stick.

No, me blokes, you've got it all wrong. Over here in the "backwoods" we're trying to give your game a helping hand and foot.

And down in the United States professional soccer is getting a foothold despite the alleged analytical blatherskiting of one of your countrymen, a bloke named Danny Blanchflower, a former 'Otspur said to be one of the best Ole Lannos ever produced.

Blanchflower uses a half-cockney, half Newcastle accent describing the "plers" and the "fine points" of the game. In this "illiteracie" mind, he spends too much time in dwelling on what the "pler" should have done instead of what he was trying to do.

So rest easy, mates. Your team will be well protected from the bears, lions and wolves that roam the backwoods of Montreal a lot better than the Canucks got from the peccadillos of Picadilly in days of yore.

Bunning Stops Marichal

Reds Nip Cards With Triple Play

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

After watching eight years for his first big break, Jim Bunning was prepared to wait 55 minutes for the chance of a lifetime.

His patience proved to be a virtue—but his fast ball let him down just a wee steps short of the Hall of Fame.

Hughes, a 29 - year - old-St. Louis rookie, pitched seven perfect innings against Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night, striking out 12 and weathering a 55-minute rain delay after the sixth.

But hot - hitting Tony Perez ruined Hughes bid for a shutout, igniting a two-run rally, and the National League leaders nailed a 2-1 victory over the Cardinals by pulling off a triple play in the sixth.

In another cliff-hanger at San Francisco, Philadelphia's Jim Bunning ended opposing pitcher Juan Marichal's eight - game winning string with a ninth inning homer, lifting the Phillies past the Giants 3-2.

Pittsburgh Pirates divided a doubleheader with Houston Astros, winning the nightcap 4-3 after the Astros took the first game 3-2. Atlanta split with Chicago Cubs, bowing 3-2 in the opener before rebounding for a 4-1 victory, and Los Angeles Dodgers slugged New York Mets 12 to 4 in single games.

Perez tripled off the centre field wall, extending his hitting streak to 12 games, after Hughes retired the first 21 batters he faced in a bid for the 11th perfect game in baseball history.

One out later, Vada Pinson lied the score 1-1 with a double and then scored the deciding run on a single by Cardenas.

Hughes wound up with a three-hitter, 13 strikeouts and his second loss in four decisions.

Bunning's second homer of the year broke up a 4-4 duel with Marichal, who had won eight in a row after dropping his first three decisions. Tom Haller hit two homers for the Giants, tying the score with a home-erupty blast in the eighth.

Donn Clendenon's double in the eighth inning scored the winning run for Pittsburgh in the nightcap after Rusty Staub's sixth inning homer gave the Astros their first-game victory.

Rookie Don Wilson checked the Pirates on seven hits in the opener and Ed Mathews hit his first three decisions. Tom Haller hit two homers for the Giants.

Mack Jones drove in three runs with a triple and his second homer of the day, powering the Braves past the Cubs in their nightcap. Two-run homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo, coupled with Ferguson Jenkins' 12 - strikeout pitching, helped the Cubs breeze home in the first game.

Don Sutton stopped the Mets on five hits and the Dodgers slapped out 10, including two-run singles by Lee Gabrielson and Willie Davis.

Chiefs Clip Wings

Leafs, Bisons Split

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dave Vineyard, who last week threw the first no-hitter of the International League season Tuesday night celebrated Memorial Day by giving Toronto Maple Leafs a split in a twinbill doubleheader with Buffalo Bisons.

The tall, righthander didn't have nearly the success he had in his no-hitter—giving up a two-run, second-inning homer to Larry Baughman in the second game—but he brought his won-lost record to 4-2 and drove home the third Leaf run with a two-bagger single that led to a 4-3 victory after a 1-0 firstgame loss.

League-leading Rochester Red Wings dropped a 2-1 decision in second - place Syracuse Chiefs. Jacksonville Suns blanked Richmond Braves 2-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Floyd Weaver and Frank Kasbeta and Toledo Mud Hens slipped Columbus Jets 1-0 in other league action.

Frank Obergon whipped a line-drive, run - scoring single into centre field in the 13th inning of the first game to give Buffalo their victory.

Leafs did most of their scoring in the fourth inning of the second game when Sid O'Brien and Bob Montgomery singled, runs home ahead of Vineyard. John Ryan sent home the insurance run with a double in the fifth.

Kingston Lombanks Tonight!

The age-old sports rivalry between Belleville and Kingston will be renewed on the senior baseball level here tonight.

Kingston Lakeview Indians will come looking for Belleville Lombank scalps in an EOBA senior fixture slated for 8.00 p.m. at the Fairgrounds.

The Indians are said to be an experienced squad with such well-known names as Pester, Senior, Earl, Leeman, Gilmour, White and McIlroy dotting the lineup. Kingston won its only start to date by a 4-2 count over Oshawa Juniors on Sunday.

Lombanks own a 1-1 record and coach Fiori Gorgan realizes he must field a strong lineup tonight if he hopes to turn back the Kingston squad and climb above the .500 won-and-lost level.

Cool weather kept the crowd down in last week's opener here but the Lombanks are hoping for a larger turnout tonight.

AGREEMENT VOID

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Houston Oilers said Tuesday the president of the American Football League has ruled invalid an agreement the club had with quarterback Joe Kapp of British Columbia Lions. Reports had indicated that Kapp, former University of California star, signed a contract with the Oilers for 1968. Houston general manager Don Klosterman said his club had a future agreement with Kapp but American League president Hit Woodward voided it three weeks ago.

Symbol Of Old Dynasty

Ford Held Many Records!

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitey Ford retired Tuesday at the age of 38 because of a bone spur in his left elbow after winning more games for the New York Yankees than any other pitcher.

The witty left - hander, born and raised in New York, finished with a 236-106 won-lost record and a .690 percentage, baseball.

One of the last symbols of the old Yankee dynasty, Ford had been with the club since July, 1950, pitched on 11 pennant winners and held a flock of World Series records.

In addition to most victories, 10, starts, 22, and strikeouts, 94, Ford broke Babe Ruth's World Series record for consecutive scoreless innings with a 33 2-3 streak in March, said:

After paying his respects to the Yankee organization and the managers under whom he had played, Whitey said: "I came here in 1950, wearing $50 suits. So I guess I'm doing all right."

After a pause, he added: "And I'm getting them for $80."

It was a sad day for the Yanks, who had hoped for a comeback by Whitey after his fine showing in early season. For the first time since he had undergone two operations on his left shoulder, he was throwing the ball hard and still outdid the other acted up May 21 at Detroit.

Ford, who had gone to camp with the organization as a scout, "I wish I could have played a few more years to be part of the rebuilding program. One things I'm going to miss most are the players, the games and the road trips."

Ford had a 2-4 record and a 2.84 earned-run average in 44 innings in seven games this season. Along the way from his first game, July 1, 1950, a relief job against Boston Red Sox, through his last appearance 50 days ago, Ford was the Yankee stopper. He was 25-4 in 1961 and 24-7 in 1963 and won the Cy Young Award as the outstanding pitcher in the majors in 1961.

Mike Burke, president of the Yanks, said Ford would remain tract but signed for about $50,-

Jones Leads Pack; Sets 4 Records

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)— The 51st 500 mile race field was called back at 11 a.m. EDT today to resume the contest postponed by a raincut Tuesday after 45 miles. It was the first overnight recess ever for the historic event.

The order of line, single file instead of the initial three-abreast, changed considerably after the Memorial Day sprint, dominated completely by a new type of car.

Parnelli Jones and his glowing red turbine car, sixth in the original lineup, were in first place with four track records already.

Mario Andretti, who started first Tuesday after smashing all records in the 10-mile elimination heats, not only was down to 32nd but actually was six laps behind Jones. His crew had to change his clutch Tuesday.

Lloyd Ruby, one of the favorites and a leader in most of the 1966 event, had disappeared entirely with a burned piston.

Graham Hill of London, the 1966 winner, was an early visitor to the pits after a delayed start and said "something serious" seemed to be wrong with his Lotus-Ford.

Jones's STP-Pratt and Whitney turbine, developed in Montreal, merely proved what Andretti, Dan Gurney and other veteran drivers had been saying: The conventional piston engine cars couldn't keep up with it.

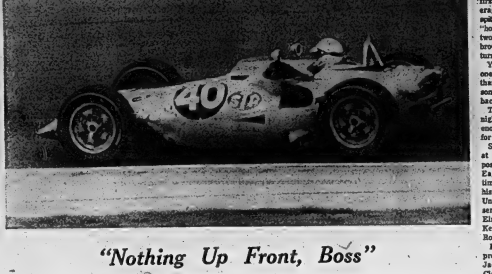
Parnelli, the 1963 winner, ran the fifth lap of the Tuesday session at a fantastic 164.926 m.p.h., compared with the previous one lap competitive record of 159.179 set last year by Scotsman Jimmy Clark in a Lotus-Ford.



Jones, in addition to his single best lap for the race, set a first lap mark of 154.374, 153.156 for two laps and 154.477 for the first 10. He had hiked his average to 155.117 for 12 laps in spite of the fact the yellow "hold position" light was on two minutes after Lee Roy Yarbrough spun in the northwest turn.

Yarbrough was not hurt but one car missed him by no more than two feet. He had to change some flattened tires but was back in today's lineup.

There had been rain overnight Monday, but it let up long enough for the track to dry and for 17 minutes of running.

Still very much in contention at the resumption were second-position Dan Gurney in his own Eagle Ford, followed by two-time winner A. J. Foyt Jr. and his team-mate Joe Leonard, Al Unser, Art Pollard, Bobby Unser, Gordon Johncock, Jim McElreath, Roger McCluskey, Al Keuyon, Cale Yarborough and Ronnie Duman.

Farther back were such proven contenders as Scot Jackie Stewart, 1965 winner Jim Clark and his Grand Prix associates, new to Indianapolis, New Zealander Denis Hulme and Austrian Jochen Rindt.

The British Empire Motor Club will hold the spring trophy races at Mosport Park north of Bowmanville, on Saturday June 3, 1967. Eleven races are scheduled for all classes of sports cars and sedans, with the first race getting under way at 10 a.m. Feature race of the day is the second race in a series of ten races across Canada to determine the Canadian sports car driving champion.

British Amateur

Unknown Stops Favorite

FORMBY, England (AP)—A little-known Englishman, Tim Bull, startled the experts Tuesday by upsetting favored Bill Campbell, the 44-year-old U.S. Walker Cup star, in the British amateur golf championships.

Although disappointed with his showing after going down 4 and 3, Campbell immediately predicted victory for another U.S. Walker Cup player star, 23-year-old Bob Dickson.

Campbell was trying for his ninth British amateur crown.

Dickson, who entered today's third round match play with a 4 and 2 victory over England's John Cook, nearly won the U.S. amateur title two years ago when he discovered he had been carrying an extra club for two holes.

He reported the mysterious appearance of the club to officials and was penalized four holes. He wound up losing the 72-hole medal play event by one stroke to Bob Murphy.

Campbell feels they Englishmen to watch on Formby's 6,854-yard, par 72 layout are Joe Carr, Mike Bonallack and Ronnie Slade.

City Archers Win Honors In Zone Shoot

Four members of the Belleville Archery Club moved a step closer to selection for Canada's national team by winning honors at the Eastern Zone elimination shoot here the other day.

They will attend the provincial elimination shoot slated for Hamilton on June 10 or thereabouts.

Three of the winners were women members of the club.

Eileen Gordon was the high scorer with Leola Dextator and Carol Armstrong following in that order.

Floyd Armstrong was the top men's scorer. Joan Sargeston was the Women's Instinctive Shoot with John Widdicks taking the men's event in the same class.

Winners of the Provincial Eliminations will participate in an elimination tournament scheduled for Port Arthur later on where the national team will be selected.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Jockey Chris Rowe, handed a 10-day suspension Tuesday for interference during a race Monday, banned in long-shot Tenaski in the third race at Woodbine to pay $83.30, $25.90, and $17.40 across the board.

It was the first win of the season for the four-year-old filly, owned by Del Kissner of Kitchener.

In the seventh race, favorite Arctic Canuck, son of Nearctic, defeated Mr. Mascott by three-quarters of a length to pay $2.20 with an exacta payoff of $10.70.

Nardoo combined with runner up Fabland in the fifth for a $55.70 Exacta, and the Daily Double of Pat's Honey and Dula Gail returned $69.10.

15th Straight Victory

Buckpasser Fattens Bank Roll

NEW YORK (AP) — Horse racing buffs were talking today of Buckpasser, of Dr. Fager and what is to come when Kentucky Derby winner Proud Clarion and Preakness winner Damascus hook up Saturday in the 99th running of the 1¼ miles of the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct.

If there ever was any doubt that Buckpasser rates among the turf's all-time greats, the four-year-old son of Tom Fool-Busanda dispelled them Tuesday when he carried 130 pounds over the one-mile of the $100,000 Metropolitan Handicap in 1:34 3-5 at Aqueduct for his 15th straight victory and third place on the all-time money winning list.

The first place purse of $70,200 boosted the bank account of the Ogden Phipps ace to -1,342,204. Ahead of him are Kelso, No. 1 with $1,977,809 and Round Table, No. 2 with $1,749,869.

By contrast, Dr. Fager was placed out of the money for the first time in his career after chalking up six victories and one second in seven starts with a victory Damascus among his conquests.

The three - year - old son of Rough 'N Tumble from W. L. McKnight's Tartan Stable beat in Reality by 6½ lengths as he tied the stake record for the 1¼ miles of the $119,200 Jersey Derby at Garden State Park with a clocking of 1:48.

But Mauuel Ycaza, astride Dr. Fager in his last ride before starting a 20-day suspension for foul riding at Aqueduct last Saturday, was found guilty of interference at the first turn with lightly regarded Gallant Moment.

As the result, Dr. Fager was dropped to last place in the field of four and in Reality, runner-up in the Preakness, was moved into first place and the purse of $77,480.

Damascus and Proud Clarion will settle their argument as to triple crown honors Saturday with seven probable opponents.

Departmental Softball

An eight - run fifth inning powered the Fire Department to a 16-6 Departmental Softball League win over last year's league champions. The ineligible, last night.

The win left the Firemen atop the loop standing with a 2-0 record.

Firemen led 6-4 when they broke the game open and coasted to the decision. They play the Combines at Prince Charles tonight at 6:30.

Grant Parks sparked the victors' attack with two home runs and a double while Stan Pepin hit a triple and two singles and Roque Davis homered. Numerous Intelligencer errors also helped the cause.

Bill Cooney doubled home two losers' runs, Ron Culloden tripled, Don Wood singled twice and Bob Beare doubled.

Bob Davenport pitched the victory and Ron Culloden the loss, with Steve Ling also seeing brief mound duty.

Later, at a league meeting, the teams upheld an Intelligencer protest 4-1 against the Combines for the use of an ineligible player in the season's opening game. The league executive will hand down a fixed decision on the game ticket. A counter - protest by the Combines was defeated 3-2.

A motion was passed to allow the Police Department to use Scott Reid to pitch and another passed which allows the league executive to forfeit any game to a team when the other club uses a player recognized to be ineligible.

Commercial Softball

Stewart Warner slipped the Tiki Club 4-3 on two last-inning runs while City Hotel whipped Brant's-Mountain View 11-4 in last night's Commercial Softball League twin bill at Alemite Park.

Tiki, suffering their third narrow defeat, led 3-0 after two frames but the winners got two back in the third and won it with the seventh-frame pair.

Doug Ellis for Stewart Warner and Tiki's Bill Wickens matched five-hitters over the route. Ellis struck out six and passed two while Wickens issued three and walked one.

Lyle Wannamaker doubled and other winners' hits were singles by Rod Turner, Jim Sopha, Gary Gow and David Reid. Dale Duvall had a triple. Bill Wickens two singles, C. Scott and Jim Parks one each in defeat.

Eight runs in the first three innings put City Hotel well up and after Brant's cut the margin to 8-4, three in the sixth sewed up the decision.

Gerry Genereaux, hurled four innings and Dave Feeney three, combining for a nine-hitter with five strikeouts and four walks on the City mound. Jim Spinks gave up nine hits while going the route in defeat. He whiffed three and walked five and was hurt by eight errors.

Doug Hill and Bob Lloyd had two singles each and Jack Hughes a double for the Brant-men. Brian Smith, Gerry Genereaux, B. Brooks and Doug Murray also hit safely.

B. Richardson had a homer and single and S. Scrimshaw also homered for Brant's Mountain View. T. Drumm had a double and single, W. Bunnett two singles, B. Fraser a double and H. Scrimshaw a single.

Says Billy Harris

New Teams Glorified Minors

TORONTO (CP) — The National Hockey League's six new entries next fall will not be as strong as three American Hockey teams, Billy Harris, former National Hockey League center, said Tuesday.

Harris, former Toronto Maple Leaf and Detroit Red Wing who played with Pittsburgh Hornets of the AHL last season, was critical of the draft formula which will be used to stock the new teams with talent.

The draft takes place next week in Montreal with the established teams allowed to protect one goaltender and 11 other players. Harris, 31, is considered a likely early - round pick.

"They (the established teams) certainly didn't hurt themselves, did they? All they are giving up are a couple of guys who sit on the end of the bench. Personally, I think that three of this year's (AHL) teams—Pittsburgh, Hershey and Rochester —will be better teams than any six of the expansion teams.

"They have the nucleus and have been playing together for years. The new teams will be strangers playing together.

"The new league will be a glamorized AHL. Instead of going by bus to Springfield, we'll be flying to the West Coast. Let's face it, the present team's oldest give the new guys a fair shake."

Harris, who contemplated retirement after the 1965-66 season, said he decided to play last season primarily because of the NHL's decision to expand. He scored 34 goals and assisted on 36.

British Still Griping

MONTREAL (CP)— Four of the six teams competing in Expo's 67 international soccer tournament June 3-11 have arrived, and three of the four on hand appeared settled in to await Saturday's opening kick off.

The Russian team arrived Tuesday and Col. Ed McLelland, head of Expo sports, said the visiting Soviet side expressed satisfaction at being here and with the accommodations supplied.

The English team arrived last Sunday and since then British newspapers have had a field day reporting the "hardships" experienced by their club since its arrival.

The Leon Sports Club of the Mexican league and Standard Liege of Belgium also are on hand, with the First Vienna Club of Austria and Borussia of Dortmund, West Germany, arriving this weekend to complete the slate.

English papers have been critical of the fact that their team has been "billeted in a 2-mail college dormitory rather than the accustomed four-star hotels of their European trips."

Actually, the teams are quartered in a 200-room, $3,000,000 residence of Loyola College, just three years old. Only 30 of the rooms in one section are currently in use and these will be reserved for the visiting soccer clubs, visiting officials and reporters.

Halloway Defeats Stirling

Scoring eight runs in the fifth and sixth innings, Halloway whipped Stirling 10-2 for their initial win of the year in the Thurlow Sidney Softball League Hat night.

Steve three-hit pitching by Ron Denyes, who struck out four and did not walk a man, backed by the winners. Doug Burkitt gave up nine hits, fanned six and passed five for Stirling.

Gale Allen and Andy Faulkner clouted a triple and single each for winner Halloway. Denyes and Don Harris also had two hits each and Ray Emerson hit a three-run double. G. Thompson, Boyle and Cook split Stirling's safeties.

Other teams in the league, which opened May 22, are Crookston, Johnstown, Glen Ross, Foxboro, Cordonay and Wallbridge.

EOBA Minors Win Twice In City Tilts

Holy Rosary peewees hammered Cobourg 14-6 and Ellis Midgets defeated Port Hope 8-3 in two EOBA minor games here played in the city last night.

Due to exams, Sunday's Belleville - Port Hope midget game has been postponed.

A seven-run third inning shoved Holy Rosary into a comfortable 11-1 lead while pitchers David Smith and John Mufel-ti combined to toss five-hit ball. They struck out nine but walked eight. T. Lewis and K. Keirsgieter were combed for 15 hits in defeat, fanning five and walking nine.

David Smith led Belleville's hit parade with 4 triple and two singles, John Mulvihill and Tracey Lepenetta had one each and Jim Richardson singled three times. Allen Wood tripled, Mike Burke singled twice, Brian Cousins and Wayne Andrews once each. M. Smith and T. Lewis had two hits each for Cobourg.

Belleville's midgets were held to three hits but led from the first when they jumped ahead 3-1.

Ted Shaw and Terry McTaggart threw six-hit ball for the winners and Port Hope gave up 15 batters. They did not walk a man. Hillis and Benima tossed the three-hitter for Port Hope, fanning eight and walking four.

Mike Healey tripled, Ted Shaw doubled and Doug Green singled for the victors. Creagor had all of Port Hope's hits and Jiggins got a pair.

CHUVALO SIGNS

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Promoter Elmer Boyce said Tuesday he had signed Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo of Toronto to appear on a June 22 boxing card in Adams Fieldhouse. He said Chuvalo's opponent will be named within a few days.

Woman Fight Promoter

TORONTO (CP)— A woman has been licensed as Toronto's fourth boxing promoter, Ontario athletic commissioner Merv McKenzie announced Tuesday.

Marion Bassett, a widow, said she intends to promote regularly — possibly once a month.

"I'm pleased to endorse Mrs. Bassett," said McKenzie. "She paid $500 for a promoter's license and she has proved she has the experience of cards she has in mind."

"I want to have honest and straight fights in a respectable arena where wives can go with their husbands," Mrs. Bassett said.

Mrs. Bassett, whose husband John was with the Metropolitan Toronto police department, George Chuvalo of Toronto to appear on a June 22 boxing card in Adams Fieldhouse. He said Chuvalo's opponent will be named within a few days.

Argonauts Sign Seven

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian football League Tuesday announced the signing of seven players, bringing their pre-season roster to 45—30 imports and 15 Canadians.

Latest signings were those of linebacker Gene Donaldson; Canadian end Al Irwin; La Baie an import halfback; Jim Copeland and Barry Rowland, Canadian defensive halfbacks; Walt Baleshik, Canadian defensive lineman, and John Reykdal, Canadian centre.

All except Bain and Rowland were with the club in 1966. Bain was dropped by Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference at the end of last season. Rowland is a former University of Toronto player.

Minor Softball

Five games were played in the Belleville Minor Softball Association's peewee division last night.

Cozy Grill clipped the OASA Squirts 19-15, Booth TV topped the Giants 16-8, ANAF Vets hurled Woodland Cleaners 15-8, Athletics downed the Senators 17-9 and Barrett Furniture defeated Western Tire 20-3.

Tigers Trip Chisox Twice; Grab Lead

WILLIE HORTON

Detroit Tigers are going to have to teach Willie Horton how to slide and Chicago White Sox are going to have to teach Ron Hansen how to keep his mouth shut.

Horton, the burly Tiger outfielder, drove in a key run with a single in the first game of his club's doubleheader victory over the Sox Tuesday, but when he tried to stretch it into a double, he was out on a throw from catcher J. C. Martin to Hansen despite an attempt at a slide.

Hansen said something to Willie who went after the infielder with a vengeance. It took the entire Detroit team the better part of five minutes to calm him down.

In the eighth inning of the nightcap, Horton hit a tremendous home run to the upper deck in right field, tying the game and setting the stage for the eventual victory.

The Tigers moved into first place in the American League, 1½ games ahead of the White Sox with their double triumph, 4-2 and 4-3. In other Memorial Day doubleheader action, Baltimore Orioles split with Cleveland Indians, 5-4, and 2-3, Washington Senators swept two from Kansas City Athletics 6-2 and 4-3 in 11 innings, Boston Red Sox won a pair from California Angels 5-4 and 6-1 and New York Yankees split with Minnesota Twins 4-3 and 6-3.

The second Detroit - Chicago game had its disagreements too, with Chicago manager Eddie Stanky playing the game under protest apparently because Tiger pilot Mayo Smith made two trips to the mound in one inning to see pitcher Joe Sparma, in violation of the rules.

Sam McDowell completed his first game of the season in Cleveland's second game victory over the Orioles, giving up the only runs on Frank Robinson's 16th homer. Russ Snyder led Baltimore in its first-game triumph, scoring twice after starting early rallies with hits and driving in a run.

Frank Howard drove in all six of the Senators' runs in the first game with a grand-slam homer and a two-run shot. Cap Peterson's homer with two out in the 11th of the nightcap gave Washington the sweep.

Boston won its third doubleheader in 13 days before the largest Fenway Park crowd in five years, 32,812. Tony Horne's two-scoring double made the difference in the first game

Minor Baseball Results

In EOBA games last night, Deseronto whipped Roker's Little Giants 18-8 in tyke wtilte Golden Mile and Belle Food Service beat 1-1 and CWH blanked Syl-ves 4-0 in the tadpole division.

DeMilles scored in every inning and pitcher Tim Wheelan threw an eight - hitter, striking out 17 batters and walking three. Robert Webb and Ricky Sweet were racked for 18 hits despite whiffing 14 and passing seven.

Greg Bradshaw and Scott Sturgeon had four hits each, Pat McKinney and Wheelan three. Brian McLeod two, Fred Galpin and Bob Armitage losers. Scott Bowes, Rick Bowes and Bob Cronkright, with pairs, Robert Webb and Robert Delnie, hit in defeat.

Randy Hutchinson pitched one - hit ball for the CNR and kept his mates' offensive in check ing. 14. He fanned six. Paul Weeks and Peter Barriage gave up only three hits each. 15 and whiffed 14 for Jaycees.

Tony Simard doubled, Gary Gorgan and Lyle Cassidy singled for the winners and Paul Weeks had the losers' lone base knock.

Strikeouts were fantastic in the 1-1 7 - inning tie as Belle's Food Sundry and Mike Kirby struck out 21 while Mile's Peter Hall and Rob Cunningham claimed 20 victims. Each side walked once and Belle outhit Golden Mile 7-4. It was hot a bitters' game!

Clyde Routley doubled twice, Peter Hall two triples, Mike Kirby and Paul Coates singled twice each for Food Service. Peter Hall had two Mile doubles, Mike Groh one and Mike Christopher a single.

Carmel Nips Frankford 2-1

Carmel All - Stars shaded Frankford 2-1 in an EOBA peewee pitching battle at Carmel last night.

John Masterson of Carmel and Frankford's Kyle Conley hooked up in the pitching battle deluxe before a good crowd.

Masterson threw a one-hitter at the Frankford squad while Conley spun a two-hitter in defeat, losing his no-hit bid in the sixth inning when opposing pitcher Masterson doubled home both Carmel runs.

The only other Carmel hit was a single by Carm McCoffrey.

Billy Hoyle collected Frankford's lone safety, a single.

Easy Winner Loses

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP)— Mrs. Frances A. Genter's In Reality, a badly beaten second place finisher, was declared winner of the $119,200 Jersey Derby Tuesday when the easy winner, Dr. Fager, was disqualified for interference on the first turn.

Dr. Fager won the race by 6¼ lengths in handy fashion and the interference actually had little to do with the original result of the race.

The stewards, however, said the films showed Manny Ycaza twice moved in on the other three horses in the field of four. After the stewards finished shuffling the numbers on the board, In Reality had earned $77,480.

Smashing Victory

Stanfield Crushes Liberals' Hopes for Nova Scotia Revival

HALIFAX (CP) — Twenty years after his first awkward steps as leader of a lame-duck party, Robert L. Stanfield Tuesday becomes the first Progressive Conservative premier in Nova Scotia history to win a record consecutive mandate from the voters.

The 53-year-old premier, who politics' scientists say projects a father-image to the electorate, led his PCs to a smashing victory in the province's 26th general election since Confederation.

The Conservatives, have been in office since 1956 when Mr. Stanfield stepped from the political wings to centre-stage position. They lost a little ground in the popular vote Tuesday but made a net gain of one seat.

The victory was decisive enough to prompt the premier to say he was "very delighted."

Final standings:

	1967	1963
PCs	30	29
Liberals	6	4
Total	36	33

Membership in the new house rose to 46 from 43 when three seats were added by redistribution this year.

Mr. Stanfield, who once said he wanted to devote his life—in this order—to his family and public life, was at his unflappable best as he watched the Conservatives pile up the lead. Receiving reports of the landslide in his home riding of Colchester, the green-thumb premier said his first hope is to "get in a little bit of gardening."

Even in the heat of the campaign—during which he travelled to all corners of the province—the premier displayed his interest in his family. He often drove 100 miles or more after a late-ending rally to return to Ms home in Halifax.

Once, moments before he was to address a meeting in Windsor, N.S., he made a hasty sidetrip to a girls' school for a brief visit with one of his daughters.

His "father - image" is acknowledged even by the Liberals. Gerald Regan, the 39-year-old Liberal leader who won personal election in Halifax Needham after three unsuccessful attempts in other provincial ridings, told reporters during the campaign that Mr. Stanfield amounted to a "one-man party" whose image was so strong that even weak PC candidates "ride in on his coat-tails."

For Mr. Regan, a former Halifax MP and a former sportscaster whose ad - lib abilities were often displayed during the six-week campaign, the result was a bitter disappointment. Party workers said he had hoped to win 12 to 15 seats.

For the second straight election the NDP "was shut, out. Given party Leader James Aitchison, a 37-year-old Dalhousie University political scientist, was an early loser. He was beaten in Cape Breton East by a Conservative.

Dr. Aitchison chose the coalmining constituency because it once was a CCF stronghold. He pledged to keep the area's collieries in operation until alternative employment for 5,000 coal miners could be found.

It was the second decisive win by a Canadian provincial government in eight days. Alberta's Social Credit government won re-election easily May 23.

Mr. Stanfield's cabinet was returned to a man.

The Conservative share of the popular vote slipped three points to 53 per cent from 56 in 1963. The Liberals share rose to 42 per cent from 40 while the NDP moved to five per cent from four.

A total of 118 candidates were in the race. Both PCs and Liberals fielded 46. The NDP offered 24 and there were two independents.

Dr. Aitchison was the only NDP candidate who didn't lose his $200 deposit. Three Liberals and the two independents lost theirs.

All four women candidates—two Liberals and two NDP members were defeated as were two Negro contenders. The only woman ever elected to the Nova Scotia legislature, Conservative Gladys Porter, died earlier this year. There has never been a Negro MLA in the province.

The Conservative victory rallied anew the old speculation that Mr. Stanfield may enter the race for national leadership of the PC party. But the premier, who has shown increasing annoyance at continued questioning on this point, would say only:

"I have been elected premier of the province. That's all I wish to say."

Mr. Stanfield was named PC leader in 1948 at the height of Liberal Angus L. Macdonald's long popularity at the polls. Eight years later, after methodically rebuilding his party, he ended 23 years of Liberal administration with an upset-victory. Mr. Macdonald died in 1954.

The new Conservative premier increased his strength to 27 seats in 1960, cutting the Liberals to 15 and holding the CCF party to one. In 1963, the Conservatives practically obliterated the opposition—cutting the Liberals to four seats and blanking the NDP.

Recounts appeared possible in four ridings, three of which were won by Conservatives in election-night counting — Antigonish, Kings West, Pictou East and in Halifax Needham.

"Another bad day at the office . . . he's just trying to get our sympathy."

Many people are asking us about Upper Canada Village, wishing to take visitors there this summer. It is 135 miles from Belleville—at Morrisburg. The Ontario Government created and Upper Canada Village to preserve the flavor of early Ontario. The beautiful park itself commemorates the men who fought in the Battle of Crysler's Farm in 1813, the pioneer settlers of the area, and the Loyal British Regiments of America.

When you pass through the 1860 toll gate into Upper Canada Village, you step back a hundred years into Ontario's past. All the 40 or more buildings have been re-located in the village from their original sites in the St. Lawrence Valley.

You find a sleepy village peopled by millers, school teachers, farmers, merchants, housewives and deacons, each dressed in authentic 19th century costumes.

The most exciting daily occurrence is the arrival of the stagecoach carrying the mail, and the pace of life is set by a pair of oxen pulling a cart.

You can watch bread being baked in an ancient brick oven, blankets being made in a water-powered mill, horses on a tread mill threshing the grain in fall, and cheese being made in a 19th century factory.

The best time to visit Upper Canada Village is in the morning, before 20th century crowds arrive and destroy the illusion. Pause for lunch or dinner at Willard's Hotel in the cozy atmosphere of 1850, or visit Cook's Tavern in the colorful setting of 1825.

The village is open from 9.30 a.m. to 5 p.m. until mid-June, for the summer. Adults $2, children under 16 free.

QUESTION: Have you any information about the lilac show in Rochester, N.Y.?

ANSWER: You must be referring to the wonderful collection of lilacs, at Highland Park, Rochester. This 22-acre collection is probably the largest in the world.

It includes 500 varieties and species, including seven new ones this year. Show time is late this year, on account of the weather, and is expected to be early June.

Rochester is about 265 miles from Belleville and the best route is No. 81 from Ivy Lea Bridge to Syracuse and the New York Thruway to No. 490, which takes you into Rochester.

QUESTION: We have been having a discussion about minimum driving ages in different states and provinces and wondered, if you could settle it for us.

ANSWER: Minimum age of 18: Newfoundland, Arizona, New York and Pennsylvania.

Minimum age of 17: Quebec, Maine and New Jersey.

Minimum age of 15: Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi and Wyoming.

In all other provinces and states the minimum age is 16.

'Reckless' Talks on Constitution Hit

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Trudeau rebuked provincial politicians Tuesday for "reckless" statements about constitutional matters.

He did not specify which provinces or which politicians, but he said it is in the power of three or four provinces — not only Quebec — to "bust up" Canada.

Mr. Trudeau said some politicians obviously do not realize the delicate nature of a federal system of government.

He abhorred the psychology of constitutional crisis, he told a news conference following the announced appointment of two top lawyers to the federal program of constitutional study.

But at the same time, he said one of the purposes of hiring H. Carl Goldenberg of Montreal and Prof. Ivan L. Head of Edmonton would be to ensure that the federal government "is not caught short if a constitutional crisis occurs."

Mr. Goldenberg, 59, will become a special counsel on the constitution, directly responsible to Mr. Trudeau for co-ordinating and directing constitutional studies under way for more than a year.

The Montreal lawyer is one of Canada's best-known labor relations specialists with 30 years of experience in the federal-provincial field.

Prof. Head, 36, who will be a special counsel in a full-time role, teaches law at the University of Alberta and is a recognized authority on international and constitutional matters.

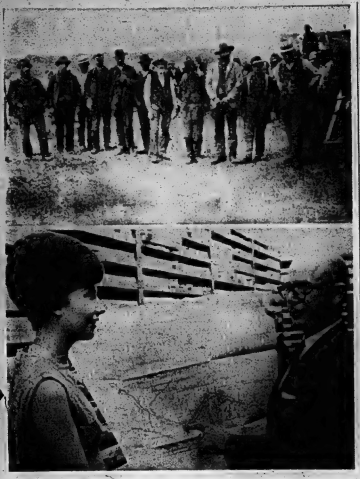
Mr. Trudeau said the new appointments should help the government step up and systematize its work.

Radioactive Wire Is Sown in Cancers

TORONTO (CP)—Tiny bits of radioactive chromium wire implanted in cancers which resist treatment by surgery or other radiation have been "promising" in controlling a variety of cancers in 25 patients at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Melvin Griem, chief of radiation therapy at the university hospitals, described the technique to a session of the American Radium Society convention Tuesday.

In a second paper, a team of New York physicians said treatment with tiny radioactive particles injected into arteries leading to body organs may control the spread of cancers.



Dr. Griem said one of his 22 patients is free of symptoms 7½ years after receiving wire implants for a cancer of the lower bowel. He said the patients received 31 separate implants for cancers of the head, neck, female reproductive organs, breasts and the lower bowel, with most showing good results on clinical examinations.

The advantages of the wire over other forms of radiation used for implantation is that the chromium does not have to be removed because it does not react with tissue.

The wire, which has a radiation life of 28 days, provides intensive radiation in a localized area without endangering surrounding tissue. After 28 days, radiation drops below a point of concern. Wire bits can be placed in the body before an incision is closed in areas where all cancer cannot be removed by surgery. Others can be placed without surgical procedure.

ELECTED CHURCH HEAD

Canadian Troops Praised

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian troops being evacuated from the Middle East were praised highly in a message sent Tuesday by U Thant, United Nations secretary - general, to Prime Minister Pearson.

"Irrespective of the circumstances of the withdrawal of the UN Emergency Force and the consequences of that withdrawal," the message said, "10½ years of successful service to peace is a historic achievement.

"Canada's large role in that achievement and your government's unfailing understanding of the requirements of UN peacekeeping operations are widely recognized and appreciated here."

Thant, who disbanded UNEF two weeks ago at the insistence of Egypt, recalled that Mr. Pearson was "the prime mover" for the creation of the force in the 1956 Suez crisis.

"Your plan for a truly international peace and police force, was at that time a pioneering innovation in international affairs which provided a means of overcoming a most threatening and dangerous crisis."

Electric Shocks Help Smokers to Quit

OTTAWA (CP) — Alcoholics and cigarette smokers are being helped to kick their habits by treatment with electric shock and blasts of loud noise, the Canadian Psychological Association was told Tuesday.

Dr. Ely Day of the Lakeshore Psychiatric Hospital, Toronto, told the association's annual meeting that problem drinking can be "unlearned" by linking it with something the alcoholic does not like.

Dr. Day and co - workers David Evans and Ron Langevin have helped alcoholics stop drinking completely by using blasts of "white noise."

In half-hour daily sessions in a laboratory, the drinkers were offered glasses of alcohol and mix, a soft drink and water. If they picked up the alcohol, they heard a blast of noise about as loud as a jet engine at close quarters.

The original group of six alcoholics finished the treatments about a year ago. Since then two have remained abstinent and two went back to heavy drinking. The centre lost contact with the other two.

Dr. Day says results could be improved by having the patients return for "booster shots" of the treatment at weekly and then monthly intervals after they have been released from hospital.

Paul Gendreau, a doctoral psychology student at Queen's University, said treatment with electric shock had helped a group of cigarette smokers give up smoking.

After one 20 - minute treatment, three of the 10 men being treated gave up smoking entirely for 250 days, the duration of the study. Three others cut down by 70 to 80 per cent and only two failed altogether. The researchers lost contact with the other man in the group.

During the treatment session the subject was asked to light up 10 cigarettes. Each time he lit one, he got a two - second shock through electrodes on his arms. If he put the cigarette out, the shock stopped.

Mr. Gendreau said results of the test were "very promising" and the federal health department is studying the method with a view to using it on a large-scale basis.

Nuclear Plant Makers Urged to Stress Quality

MONTREAL (CP) — Manufacturers selling nuclear power plants to developing nations have a moral obligation to concentrate on quality and not look for a fast dollar, the chairman of the Pakistan Atomic Energy Commission said Tuesday.

Dr. L. H. Usmani said countries like India and Pakistan desperately need power to develop industry and improve agriculture. With a lack of water power and fuels such as coal, oil and natural gas, nuclear power was the only answer.

"It is, therefore, extremely important for Canadian nuclear industry not to look to big chunks of profits on the reactor deals as their sole motive but to concentrate on the delivery of high-quality components and a reliable system design," he told the Canadian Nuclear Association.

"More than mere dollars is at stake," he added in a panel discussion on the advantages and problems of heavy water nuclear reactors.

He said India and Pakistan are the only developing nations now committed to Canadian reactors and their experience will greatly influence the decisions of other countries" in selecting Canadian-designed reactors.

Cypriots Worry Over Effects Of Mideast Trouble on Them

NICOSIA (CP)— Both Greek- and Turkish-Cypriots appear to be worried about what effect the Egypt-ordered withdrawal of the United Nations Emergency Force from Sinai might have in Cyprus.

Cypriots are telling senior officers of the force they want the UN to stay. They seem concerned that the UN or the countries contributing troops to the force might become fed up with peacekeeping after the Egyptian experience.

It is recognized by all concerned that the 4,000-man force here, including 870 Canadians, would have to leave if requested to do so by the Greek-Cypriot government. But there appears to be no inclination on the part of Archbishop Makarios, the president, to request such withdrawal in the next year or two at least.

The Cyprus force is the only large-scale UN peacekeeping effort still in existence.

Wayne Ford Gets Life For Killing His Mother

TORONTO (CP) — Wayne Ford, who last week admitted crushing his mother to death and dumping her body in a lake, Tuesday was convicted of non - capital murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

An Ontario Supreme Court jury deliberated almost seven hours before returning the verdict.

Mr. Justice D. R. Morand, who imposed the mandatory life sentence for non-capital murder, told the jurors before they retired at 3.45 p.m. that they could return with one of three verdicts: guilty of non-capital murder, guilty of manslaughter or not guilty of any of the charges.

He instructed them not to consider the original charge of capital murder because the Crown had admitted it had no evidence to indicate Ford planned the killing.

During the nine - day trial, Ford, 20, admitted killing his 55-year-old mother, Minnie Ford, during an argument at their suburban Willowdale home May 16, 1963.

He said the argument started when he asked his mother for use of the family car and ended when she attacked him with an ice-pick, forcing him to defend himself with a baseball bat.

He testified that during the 1963 Victoria Day weekend, he and two friends dumped her body in Lake Couchiching, 70 miles north of here.

Ford stood expressionless as the jury foreman delivered the verdict.

The only sound in the courtroom when the Supreme Court Justice read the sentence was a sob from Ford's girl friend, Linda Bounds, 19, who sat in the spectators' section behind the prisoners' dock.

About 70 persons were in the public gallery when the verdict was brought in.

Defence Counsel Donald H. Creighton said after the trial that he was not surprised by the verdict. He said he intended to confer with and advise Ford on whether to attempt an appeal.

With good behavior, Ford may be eligible for parole after serving seven years of his life sentence.

The Rural Scene

PICTON — Prince Edward County farmers are reminded that entries for the High Yield Corn Competition should be forwarded to the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, Box 470, Picton on or before June 1st. All corn growers who are growing a minimum of 10 acres of corn are eligible to enter. There is no entry fee for members of the Prince Edward Soil and Crop Improvement Association. However non-members are requested to forward the $1.00 Crop Improvement membership fee along with their application.

From June 20th to July 7th Prince Edward County Junior Farmers will be hosts to a young farmer delegate, Miss Judy Close from Gloucestershire, England. During her stay in this area Miss Close will live with two host families in different parts of the County. Miss Close has been a member of a Young Farmers' Club since 1961 and has held several offices since that time. She was educated at Secondary School and Technical College and is at present employed as a clerical officer with the Ministry of Public Buildings and Works. She helps on her father's farm in her spare time and has represented her County in several shows and competitions. While in Prince Edward Miss Close will have an opportunity to attend Junior Farmer and 4-H Club meetings as well as other community activities.

We are pleased to announce that George Black, R.R. 2, Belleville has been awarded the United Nations bus trip in 1967. The trip will take place from September 17 to 23 and the itinerary will include the cities of Washington and New York with a visit to the United Nations as a highlight. George has been particularly active in 4-H Agricultural Club work during the past several years and is a member of the 2 and A Junior Farmer Club. George has been awarded the trip for his outstanding contribution to the Junior program in Prince Edward County.

16 Persons Are Homeless After Cherry Valley Fire

PICTON (STAFF) — A fire which broke out in a one - storey three apartment frame house, about 4.30 Tuesday afternoon has left 16 persons homeless in the village of Cherry Valley. The house located near the northern limits of the village (which is about six miles south of Picton) was owned by Arthur Minaker. Mr. Minaker's own residence was situated next door to the building which burned.

Homeless families are Mrs. Rhoda MacDonald and her seven children, Mrs. Bill Peay and her three children and Mrs. John O'Daby and two - year - old child. Mr. Day a member of the Army is a serviceman presently traveling with the Canadian Forces Tattoo. Mr. O'Daby is also an army man and temporarily stationed in Kingston.

The firemen of Camp Picton brigade did a fine job of controlling the fire and preventing other buildings from burning. High north winds blew sparks across the street igniting the roof on the home of Frank Wiggins, where a large hole was burned. Other sparks caught on to a barn also located on the opposite side of the road.

Firemen were kept busy with the high winds and the flying sparks, and although there was ample water available they could not prevent the building from being levelled. All contents of the building were lost except a few items which were removed from the MacDonald section of the dwelling. It is not known at this time if the house or contents were insured and no cause of the fire has yet been determined.

Travel Program Retained

OTTAWA (CP) — Some federal centennial projects may be continued past the end of 1967, Stan Haidasz, Liberal MP, said Tuesday in the Commons.

The youth travel program, begun three years ago, will definitely be continued in the future, she said.

During Centennial Year 4,800 youths will visit different parts of the country under the federal-provincial plan and 78 private agencies conducting similar schemes will receive federal assistance.

Miss LaMarsh said she has received many suggestions for the use of Confederation train and the caravans for promotional work both in Canada and abroad.

The secretary of state said she sensed "a real increase in pride of country" among Canadians resulting from the centennial programs.

Fact-Finder for TV Industry Comes Up with the Answers

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The telephones in Keisam deForest's office rang busily.

Gunsmoke wanted to know: Could an Indian testify at a court trial in Kansas in 1873? He could.

I Spy asked: How is milk delivered to hotels in Morocco? Answer: In big cans.

DeForest, 40, a distant cousin of the late inventor Dr. Lee deForest, is a fast fact-finder to the television industry. He also is a professional bit-picker who finds flaws in scripts.

A Star Trek scenario discovered a planet without variations in surface temperature. In a seven-page analysis finding 32 points technical-minded viewers might challenge in this script alone, deForest reported: "A planet without variations in surface temperature is impossible."

Five thousand reference books in his offices range from Games and Songs of American Children to Executions—Legal and Death Throughout the World. Tables and shelves are piled high with magazines, 30 file drawers contain photos of almost anything imaginable, and the 1910 Encyclopaedia Britannica gets more use than the current edition.

"I wanted to get into show business but found you can't get anywhere in this town without something to sell," says deForest, whose only competitors are the major movie studios' libraries.

Since 1951 he has served 38 TV series, the greatest dozen including Get Smart, Wild, Wild West, Hogan's Heroes, Big Valley and Lucy. Charges are on a per-show or hourly basis.

Part of deForest research's job is to see that scripts that have characters in scripts don't bear real people's names, to forestall suits or simple embarrassment.

End-of-the-picture Parties Often Scenes of Fist Fights

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The end of a movie's shooting is like a small death.

An intimate association suddenly comes to an end. A hundred people who have worked, fought and created together find their lives now are asunder, and they may never see each other again.

End-of-the-picture parties are often the scenes of fistfights and sentiment. No sound party was more sentimental that the one held for the closing of Guess Who's Coming for Dinner.

This party was different because of the presence of Katharine Hepburn. Rarely seen at a party of any sort, she nevertheless mingled among all the guests, her hatchet sticking her been figure in the customary white sleek suit.

Another presence was felt: Her longtime co-star Spencer Tracy, frail from cold and bad skin almost anything, except attending a party.

Guess Who's Coming for Dinner has been announced as Tracy's swan song as a film actor—the end of a 37-year career that is unsurpassed in distinction.

"I want to tell you it was a touching moment when I directed Spencer Tracy in his last motion picture scene," said Stanley Kramer to a party guest. "It was a strong scene, in which he argues with an attendant at a drive-in.

"He did the scene just great. When it was all over, he was bawling, and so was I.

"So we finished the picture. It wasn't easy. I knew Spence wasn't up to working hard, so I kept him only three or four hours a day. It cost a little more, but let me tell you something: Three or four hours of Tracy is better than a full day of most other actors."

White's District

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mrs. Terry O'Connor of Oakville visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Millar, last week.

Tuesday evening she attended the Dorothy Dickey dance recital at Trenton High School. The ballet part included Carolyn Millar, Joanne Pallister, Janice Adams, Michelle Spence, Debbie White, Janice Caves, Sandra Scott, Kim Ellis and Jenny Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Westfall and Miss Betty Westfall, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hogle of Trenton, visited Perth during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Munro of Oshawa spent the holiday weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lindsey.

Grade 8 students of Bayside Public School accompanied by their teacher and three mothers went by school bus to Niagara Falls Friday.

Rest Inhaler at White's Church Sunday was Dr. Harold Lester, George Miller, Miss Gillian Miller and Debbie Harding were received into the church during the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowers visited Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Davis in Toronto during the weekend.

FILM APPROVED

TORONTO (CP) — Warrendale, controversial documentary by Toronto film - maker Allan King, has been approved by the Ontario board of censors for theatre distribution. It was given a restricted category, which means that only persons 21 years of age and over may see it. The board was concerned over some four-letter words spoken by a youngster while under treatment at Warrendale, a centre for emotionally disturbed children.

Oil Industry Is Better Able To Cope With Mideast Tangle

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The world petroleum industry is in a stronger position to cope with a Middle East emergency than it was in 1956 when the Israeli-British - French attack led to the closing of the Suez Canal.

Another closing of the canal would disrupt petroleum supply lines but new boom production in North Africa and a large surplus of supplies in the United States, Canada and other areas should minimize shortages.

Super tankers that were unavailable 11 years ago also would hurry oil to Western Europe by skirting South Africa. Some of the jumbo vessels are so large they must avoid the canal while hailing Middle East oil anyway.

Barring a major shutdown of the bulk of the Middle East's rich fields there is indication a gap could be filled for a long period if necessary. A wholesale shutdown was averted in 1956 but one could result from a major conflict or, possibly, sabotage.

The Middle East was producing 3,873,500 barrels of oil a day when the bombs fell the week of Nov. 2, 1956, and Egypt scuttled shipping to bottle up the canal. The Iraq-Mediterranean pipelines also were closed and the area's output dropped quickly to 2,142,800 barrels daily. With the reopening of the canal, all the loss was regained by June, 1957.

The area has continued to strengthen its dominant position as the world's leading oil producing area. Middle East output last year averaged 9,200,000 barrels a day.

With any disruption, Western Europe would be hit hardest. More than one half of its petroleum supplies came from the Middle East.

Crude oil output for all of Africa averaged less than 30,000 barrels daily in 1956 while 1960 production from Libya and Algeria alone exceed 2,100,000 barrels a day. New discoveries, particularly in Libya, continue. Many millions of dollars already have been poured into pipelines and Mediterranean tanker loading facilities.

During the 1956 emergency, the United States boosted its production within five months to 7,818,600 barrels a day from 6,961,000. A record level that was not surpassed until 1965.

Venezuela boosted its production to 2,968,800 barrels a day from 2,523,000. Since then, Venezuela's proved reserves have climbed to 17,000,000,000 barrels from 10,000,000,000.

There is indication the United States, despite the heavy petroleum requirements for the Vietnam conflict, could meet another Suez emergency by increasing production even more sharply than it did in 1956.

Existing U.S. wells as of Jan. 1 were estimated to have a capacity to produce 11,000,000 barrels of oil a day. Actual production amounted to 8,548,000 barrels daily.

History Books Give Iroquois Raw Deal

LONDON (CP)—A Canadian professor says the history books have given the Iroquois a raw deal.

"If it hadn't been for the Iroquois," says Professor George Fimore Reaman, "we wouldn't have our Canada as we see it today. The Iroquois saved Canada for the British Empire."

Reaman, 71, has spent three years of research to refute long-held arguments that the Iroquois were ferocious scalpers who heat their squaws and tortured their white victims with savage joy.

"The Iroquois were basically peace - loving," said Reaman, whose book, The Trail of the Iroquois Indians, now has been published in London by Frederick Muller. Editions also are to be printed in Canada and the United States.

"It was the white man who taught the Iroquois to scalp."

Reaman, who maintains the Jesuits gave the Iroquois the reputation of being ferocious, says his book on the tribe is the first written by a British-Canadian. A native of Concord, Ont., the author retired as head of the English department at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph in 1954. He later became director of adult education at the University of Waterloo.

There were at least two occasions in our history when the Iroquois, or the Six Nations as they now are called, held the balance of power, Reaman said in an interview.

"In the French war of 1755-63, they teamed up with Sir John Johnson, governor of New York, to stand against the French.

"And in the war of 1813, they teamed up with the British to stand against the Americans. Their contribution to our Canada has not been truly recognized."

Reaman maintains the Iroquois were in essence United Empire Loyalists.

"They were friends of our early settlers. About 2,000 of them came to Canada, the largest single group to come into place."

The Six Nations confederacy was the prototype on which Thomas Jefferson based on the principles of the American constitution, Reaman said.

"The Iroquois were basically organized farmers. They helped organize rural life in Upper Canada but they never got the credit for it.

"Our children have been taught that the Iroquois downgraded their women. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The women had more authority than the average woman of today. She owned the corn, selected the chiefs and deposed the chiefs and she decided who could be adopted by the tribe.

"It is true the women did heavy work but they only worked when they jolly well felt like it."

to the contractor who doesn't think a dime can prevent a $50,000 law suit

We know it sounds hard to believe. But we've proved it time and time again.
During the past few years we've been laying our cables underground. They now run up streets, down streets, across lots and under buildings. In fact, right now it's pretty hard to dig a hole in the ground without damaging a few of them.
Many of these cables are the major means of communication for large corporations, small companies and hospitals. The slightest damage to the smallest cable could result in death because patients were unable to contact their doctors at a hospital, or considerable financial losses to firms that had their service disrupted.
The people who suffered losses, as a result of the break in service, sometimes file suit for damages. Not against the Bell Telephone Company, since we are not responsible — but against the contractor.
It's very easy to prevent this from happening to you. Simply call our Repair Service before you start digging. We'll send someone out to locate any cables that might be on the site.
Incidentally, we'll also return the dime.

Caped Crusader Got Lost

A three-block trip from his London, Ont., home in search of adventure proved the undoing of this pseudo Batman — three-year-old Patrick MacKenzie. He got lost. A policeman and fellow crime fighter returned the caped crusader to his home where he confined his crime-fighting activities to jumping off the backyard fence. (CP Photo)

Present Ambulance Regulations Are Only Interim Measures

TORONTO (CP)—Health Minister Matthew Dymond said Tuesday regulations recently passed under Ontario's new Ambulance Act are only an interim measure designed to maintain essential services.

The regulations, which exempt private ambulance services from government control and permit municipal clerks to certify any service as adequate, have been criticized by officials of the Ontario Ambulance Operators' Association.

Under the Act, ambulance operators will be provincially licensed and required to use specified equipment and carry at least $30,000 insurance.

Dr. Dymond, replying in the legislature to Eddie Sargent (L—Grey North) said he expects to receive shortly the report of a "task force" set up to study the organization, administration and financing of ambulance services.

"In the meantime we will try to encourage the maintenance of arrangements to meet essential needs on an interim basis."

MLAs Want Action on Earlier Orders

TORONTO (CP)—The legislature's public accounts committee decided Tuesday to ask for progress reports on implementation of two long-standing recommendations, centralized purchasing and a new system for government spending estimates.

Ken Bryden (NDP—Toronto Woodbine) said committee reports in 1965 and 1966 called for centralized purchasing and a program format in which major items of proposed expenditure would be accompanied by explanatory notes giving details of objectives and functions.

He said treasury department officials, studying the recommendations "are dragging their feet."

In the initial draft of a report to the legislature the committee recommended:

1. A "more consistent and standard treatment of reimbursements" in both the estimates and public accounts books.

2. Inclusion of interim estimates for the current fiscal year and actual expenditures in the last previous fiscal year in the spending estimates "to facilitate a year - to - year comparison."

3. That the university affairs department try to advise applicants of approvals under the government's student awards program "as soon as approval has been given."

4. "Careful scrutiny of controllable costs" in the development of the Ontario Centennial Centre of Science and Technology, which could soar are "very substantially higher than the costs indicated in early estimates."

Departments should rely on lawyers in the attorney - general's department rather than retaining "outside" lawyers or employing their own legal staffs, it said.

Hal Banks Case Is Under Review

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Arthur Wishart said Tuesday officials of his department are reviewing the case of Hal C. Banks, former head of the Seafarers' International Union in Canada.

Mr. Wishart told the legislature that because of the review he could not comment on the possibility of seeking Banks' extradition from the United States on a perjury charge.

He was replying to questions from Vernon Singer (L — Toronto Downsview) and James Renwick (NDP—Toronto Riverdale).

Mr. Singer asked what steps the attorney-general was taking "in view of the fact that there appears to be good grounds to charge Banks with perjury."

Mr. Renwick asked: "Who is awaiting for whom to determine whether Mr. Banks is to be extradited for trial?"

Banks left Canada in 1964 while awaiting the appeal of a five-year conviction for conspiring to assault a rival unionist. The conspiracy charge was not extraditable.

Car Insurance To Be Improved

TORONTO (CP) — The assigned risk auto insurance system in Ontario will be improved within the next few weeks, says Leslie Rowntree, commercial affairs minister.

Mr. Rowntree told the legislature Tuesday that he was not satisfied with the operation of the assigned risk plan and had met leaders of the insurance industry to discuss changes.

Under the plan, motorists with bad records are given insurance at rates higher than normal.

Mr. Rowntree said outside the legislature that he was dissatisfied with both the rates charged and the criteria used by the companies to assign motorists to the plan.

Of Three Ways to be Young Two Dumb, Only One Smart

There are three ways to be young, and two of them are dumb.

The first dumb way is to be young-simple — trusting, accepting, believing, going along with the crowd.

The second dumb way is to be young-cynical — doubting, rejecting, suspecting, despising whatever the majority does or thinks or says.

The third way to be young is the only smart way — and, like most smart ways, it is a combination of the other two ways.

And this is to be trusting when you must, and doubting when you should.

To accept what has to be accepted, and reject what ought to be rejected.

To go along when it doesn't matter much, and to stand alone when it does.

To be young-simple today is to be a sap. To be young-cynical is to be a sucker for cranks and crackpots and spooks of all sort.

This is the way it is, baby — a mixed-up world of black and white and gray. With phonies on both sides of the fence — on the Establishment side and on the Rebel side. With patches of goodness, and blotches of badness, and huge globs of indifference between them.

How do you know when to trust and when to doubt, when to accept and when to reject?

You know in two ways — by looking into yourself, and by looking out at the world. If you concentrate on the world, you're a fool about yourself.

It's that simple. And that hard. It calls for balance, for judgment, for coolness, for honesty. Most of all, it calls for deciding things on their own merit, not because you read it or were told it or grew up believing it.

The young-simple way leads to stagnation, to dead people walking around repeating high-minded nonsense they don't really understand.

The young-cynical way leads to another kind of stagnation, to living for sensations that offer no possibility for growth.

Life is, if anything, the art of combination. Of discrimination. Of freely picking one's own personal pattern out of a hundred choices. Not letting it be picked for you — either by the Establishment, or by the Rebels. Conformity of Hip is no better than Conformity of Square.

This is the way it is, baby. The way it's always going to be.
